28 And the rest of the people, the Priests, the Levites, the porters, the Singers, the Nethinims, and all that were separated from the people of the lands vnto the Law of God, their wines, their sonnes, and their daughters, all that could vnderstand.

29 The chiefe of them received it for their brethren, and they came to the curse, and to the oth to walke in Gods Law, which was giuen by Moses the seruant of God, to obserue and to doe all the Commandements of the Lord our God, and his iudgements, and his statutes :

30 And that wee would not giue our daughters to the people of the land, neither take their daughters for our sonnes.

31 And if the people of the land brought ware on the Sabbath, or any viduals to sell, that wee would not take it of them on the Sabbath and on the holy daies : * and that wee would let the seruenth yeere be free, and the debts of euery person.

32 And we made statutes for ourselues to giue by the yeere the third part of a shekel for the seruice of the house of our God, 33 For the Shewbread, and for the dayly offering, and for the dayly burnt offering, the Sabbaths, the new Moones, for the solemne feastes, and for the things that were sanctified, and for the sin offerings to make an atonement for Israel, and for all the worke of the house of our God.

34 We cast also lots for the offering of the wood, when the Priests, the Levites, & the people to bring it into the house of our God by the house of our fathers, yeerly at the times appointed to burne it vpon the Altar of the Lord our God, as it is written in the Law,

35 And to bring the first fruits of our land, and the first of all the fruits of all trees, yeere by yeere into the house of the Lord,

36 And the first borne of our sonnes, and of our cattell, as it is written in the Law, and the first borne of our bullockes, and of our sheepe, to bring into the house of our God, vnto the Priests that minister in the house of God,

37 And that wee should bring the first fruit of our dough, and our offerings, and the fruit of euery tree, of wine, and of oyle, vnto the Priests, to the chambers of the house of our God : and the tithes of our land vnto the Levites, that the Levites might haue the tithes in all the cities of our trauell.

38 And the Priest the son of Aaron shall be with the Levites, when the Levites take tithes, and the Levites shall * bring vp the tenth part of the tithes vnto the house of our God, vnto the chambers of the treasure house.

Num. 18. 26.

39 For the children of Israel, and the children of Levi shall bring vp the offerings of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle vnto the chambers, and there shall bee the vessels of the Sanctuary: and the Priests that minister, and the porters, and the singers, and we will not forsake the house of our God.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who dwelled in Ierusalem after it was builded, and who in the cities of Iudah.

AND the rulers of the people dwelt in Ierusalem: the other people also cast lots, to bring one out of ten to dwell in Ierusalem the holy Citie, and nine parts to be in the cities.

2 And the people thanked all the men that were willing to dwell in Ierusalem.

3 These now are the chiefe of the prouince, that dwelt in Ierusalem, but in the cities of Iudah euery one dwelt in his owne possession, in their cities of Israel, the Priests and the Levites, and the Nethinims, and the sonnes of Salomons seruants.

4 And in Ierusalem dwelt certaine of the children of Iudah, and of the children of Benjamin. Of the sonnes of Iudah, Athaiah, the sonne of Vzaiiah, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Mahaleel, of the sonnes of Perez.

and eight and twenty: and their ouerſeer was Zabdieldiel the ſonne of Hagedolim.

15 And of the Levites, Shemaiah the ſonne of Hafnub, the ſonne of Azrikam, the ſonne of Hafhabiah, the ſonne of Bunni, 16 And Shabbethai, and Iozadab the chiefe of the Levites, were ouer the workes of the houſe of God without.

17 And Mattaniah, the ſonne of Micha, the ſon of Zabdi, the ſon of Aſaph was the chiefe to begin the thankſgiving and prayer: and Bakbukiah the ſecond of his brethren, and Abda the ſon of Shammua, the ſonne of Galal, the ſonne of Ieduthun.

18 All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred foureſcore and foure.

19 And the porters Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren that kept the gates, were an hundred twenty and two.

20 And the reſidue of Iſrael, of the Priests, and of the Levites dwell in all the cities of Iudah, every one in his inheritance.

21 And the Nethinims dwell in the ſtreſſetrefſe, and Ziha, and Giſſipa, was ouer the Nethinims.

22 And the ouerſeer of the Levites in Ieruſalem, was Yzza the ſonne of Bani, the ſonne of Ahabiah, the ſonne of Mattaniah, the ſonne of Micha: of the ſonnes of Aſaph Singers were ouer the work of the houſe of God.

23 For it was the Kings conuandement concerning them, that faithfull promiſſion ſhould be for the Singers every day.

24 And Pethahiah the ſonne of Meſhezabeel, of the ſonnes of Zerah, the ſonne of Iudah was at the Kings hand in all matters concerning the people.

25 And in the villages in their land, ſome of the children of Iudah dwell in Kiriath arba, and in the villages thereof, and in Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and in Iekabzeel, and in the villages thereof.

26 And in Ieſhua, and in Moladah, and in Bethpalet,

27 And in Hazer-ſhual, and in Beerſheba, and in the villages thereof,

28 And in Ziklag, and in Mechonah, and in the villages thereof,

29 And in En rimmon, and in Zareah, and in Yarmuth,

30 Zanoah, Adullam, and in their villages, in Lachiſh, and in the ſtreet thereof, at Azekah, and in the villages thereof: and they dwell from Beerſheba unto the valley of Hinnom.

31 And the ſonnes of Benjamin from Geba, in Michmash, and Aiia, and Beth-el, and in the villages thereof,

32 Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,

33 Hizor, Ramah, Gittaim,

34 Hadid, Zeboim, Nebalat,

35 Lod and Ono, in the carpenters valley.

36 And of the Levites were diuiſions in Iudah and in Benjamin.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Priests and Levites which came with Zerubbabel unto Ieruſalem are numbered, 27 and the wall is dedicated.

THEſe alſo are the Priests and the Levites that went vp with Zerubbabel, the ſonne of Sheciel, and Ieſhua: to wit, Seraiah, Ieremiah, Ezra,

2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattub,

3 Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,

4 Iddo, Ginnetho, Abiah,

5 Miamin, Madaiah, Bilgah,

6 Shemaiah, and Ioarib, Iedaiah,

7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiſah, Iedaiah: theſe were the chiefe of the Priests, and of their brethren, in the dayes of Ieſhua.

8 And the Levites, Ieſhua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Iudah, Mattaniah, were ouer the thankſgivings, he and his brethren.

9 And Bakbukiah, and Vnni, and their brethren were about them in the watches.

10 And Ieſhua begate Ioiakim: Ioiakim alſo begate Eliſhib, and Eliſhib begate Ioiada.

11 And Ioiada begate Ionathan, and Ionathan begate Iaddua.

12 And in the dayes of Ioiakim were theſe, the chiefe fathers of the Priests: vnder Seraiah was Meraiah, vnder Ieremiah, Hananiah,

13 Vnder Ezra, Meſhullam, vnder Amariah, Iehohanan,

14 Vnder Melicu, Ionathan, vnder Shebaniah, Ioseph,

15 Vnder Harim, Adna, vnder Meraioth, Helkai,

16 Vnder Iddo, Zechariah, vnder Ginnithon, Meſhullam,

17 Vnder Abiah, Zichri, vnder Miniamin, and vnder Moadiah, Piltai, 18 Vnder Bilgah, Shammua, vnder Shemaiah, Iehonathan,

19 Vnder Ioarib, Mattenai, vnder Iedaiah, Vzzi,

20 Vnder Shallai, Kallai, vnder Amok, Eber,

21 Vnder Hilkiſah, Haſhabiah, vnder Iedaiah, Nethaneel.

22 In the dayes of Eliſhib, Ioiada, and Iohnan, and Iaddua, were the chiefe fathers of the Levites written, and the Priests in the reigne of Darius the Perſian.

23 The ſonnes of Leui the chiefe fathers were written in the booke of the Chronicles euen vnto the dayes of Iohnan the ſonne of Eliſhib.

24 And the chiefe of the Levites were Kadmiel, Sherebiah, and Ieſhua the ſonne of Kadmiel, and their brethren about them to giue praiſe and thanks, according to the ordinance of Dauid the man of God, ward ouer againſt ward.

25 Mattaniah, and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meſhullam, Talmon, and Akkub were porters keeping the ward of the threshold of the gates.

26 Theſe were in the daies of Ioiakim the ſonne of Ieſhua, the ſonne of Iozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captaine, and of Ezra the Priests and Scribe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Ieruſalem they fought the Levites out of all their places to bring them to Ieruſalem to keep the dedication and gladneſſe, both with thankſgivings and with ſongs, cymbals, viols, and with harpes.

28 Then the ſingers gathered themſelves together both from the plaine country about Ieruſalem, and from the villages of Netopthathi, 29 And from the houſe of Gilgal and out of the countreys of Geba, and Azmaueh: for the Singers had built them villages round about Ieruſalem.

30 And the Priests and Levites were purified, and clenſed the people, and the gates and the wall.

31 And I brought vp the princes of Iudah vpon the wall, and appointed two great companies to giue thanks, and the one went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung-gate.

32 And after them went Hoſhaiah, and half of the princes of Iudah.

33 And Azariah, Ezra, and Meſhullam,

34 Iudah, Benjamin, & Shemaiah, and Ieremiah,

35 And of the Priests ſonnes with trumpets, Zechariah, the ſon of Iohnathan, the ſonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Michaiah, the sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Asaph.

36 And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Iudah, Hanani, with the musicall instruments of Dauid the man of God, and Ezra the Scribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer against them went they vp by the staires of the city of Dauid at the going vp of the wall beyond the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eastward.

38 And the second companie of them that gaue thanks, went on the other side, and 1 after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the tower of the fornaces, euen vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the old gate, and vpon the filigate, & the tower of Hananeel, & the tower of Meah, euen vnto the sheepgate: and they stood in the gate of the ward.

40 So stood the two companies of them that gaue thanks in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, 42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, & Eleazar, and Yzzi, and Iehohanan, and Malchiah, and Elam, and Ezer: and the fingers 7 sang loud, hauing Izrahiah which was the ouerser.

43 And the same day they offered great sacrifices and reioyced for God had giuen them great ioy, so that both the women and the children were ioyfull: and the ioy of Ierusalem was heard farre off.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed ouer the chambers of the store for the offerings, for the first fruits and for the tithes, to gather into them out of the fields of the cities, the portions of the Law for the Priests and the Leuites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priests, and for the Leuites that serued.

45 And both the fingers and the Leuites kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the purification according to the commandement of Dauid and Salomon his sonne.

46 *For in the dayes of Dauid and Asaph, of old were chiefes fingers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving vnto God.

47 And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did all Israel giue portions vnto the fingers and porters, euery day his portion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

C H A P. XIII.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproveth them that breake the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to serue God.

And on that day did they reade in the booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite and the Moabite should not enter into the Congregation of God,

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread, and with water, *but hired Balaam against them, that hee should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when they had heard the Law, they separated from Israel all those that were mixed.

4 ¶ And before this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being kinsman to Tobiah:

5 And hee had made him a great chamber, and there had they aforetime laid the offerings, the incence, and the vessels, & the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oile, (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, & the porters) and the offerings of the Priests.

6 But in all this time was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere of Artahastate king of Babel came I vnto the king, and 1 after certaine daies I obtined of the king.

Or, at the yeeres end.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vnderstood the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieved me fore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meat offering and the incense.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his land, euen the Leuites and fingers that executed the worke.

11 Then reproveth I the rulers, and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? and I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Iudah the tithes of corne, and of wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the Scribe, and of the Leuites Pedaiah, and vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull: and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my kindeste, that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes saw I in Iudah them that trode wine presses on the Sabbath, and that brought in sheaves, & which laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figs and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day. And I protested to them in the day that they sold viduals.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrs also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem.

17 Then reproveth I the rulers of Iudah, and said vnto them, What euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this citie? yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel in breacking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be dark before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, & some of my seruants let I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and merchants of all merchandise remained once or twice all night without Ierusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tarie ye all night about the wall? if ye doe it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I said vnto the Leuites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keepe the gates to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercie.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes that married wines of Ahdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24. And their children spake halfe in the speach of Ahdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reprocued them, and cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their haire, and tooke an othe of them by God, Ye shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

27 Shall we then obey vnto you to doe all this great euill, and to transgresse against our God, <sup>unto</sup> to marrie strange wiues?

28 And one of the sonnes of Ioiada the sonne of Eliashib the hie Priest, was the sonne in law of Sannabath the Horonite: but I chased him from me.

29 Remember them, O my God, that defile the Priesthood, and the couenant of the Priesthood, and of the Leuites.

30 Then closed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wards of the Priests, and of the Leuites, euery one in his office.

31 And for the offering of the wood at times appointed, and for the first fruits, Remember me, O my God, in goodnesse.

THE ARGUMENT.

BECAUSE of the diuersitie of names, whereby they used to name their Kings, and the supputation of yeres, wherein the Ebrewes and the Grecians doe varie diuers authors write diuersly as touching this Ahasuerus, but it seemeth Dan. 6. 1. and 9. 1. that he was Darius the King of the Medes, and sonne of Astages, called also Ahasuerus, which was a name of honour, and signifieth great and chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared also the great mercies of God toward his Church: who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, he euer stirreth up some, by whom he sendeth comfort and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride, and cruelty of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their sudden fall when they are at height: and how God preserveth and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue toward their brethren.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahasuerus maketh a royall feast, 12 wherein the Queene Vashti will not come. 19 For which cause she is diuorced. 20 The Kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

IN the dayes of Ahasuerus (this is Ahasuerus) that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahasuerus sat on his throne, which was in the palace of * Shulhan,

Nebe. 1. 1

3 In the third yere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes, & his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines, & gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That he might shew the riches and glory of his kingdom, and the honour of his great Maiestie many dayes, euen an hundred and fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the king made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shulhan: both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, Greene, and blew clothes, fastened with cords of fine linnen and purple, in silver rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold, and of silver, vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble, and alabastrer, and blew colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of gold, and changed vessell after vessell, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the king.

8 And the drinking was by an order, none might compel: for so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, so that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royall house of king Ahasuerus.

10 Vpon the seventh day when the king was merry with wine, hee commanded Mehuian, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen eunuches, that serued in the presence of king Ahasuerus, 11 To bring Queen Vashti before the king with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: for shee was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the kings word: which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the king was very angry, which was his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king said to y<sup>e</sup> wise men that knew the times (for so was the kings manner toward all that knew the law and the iudgment.

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, She-thar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marfena, & Memucan, the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which saw the kings face, & sat the first in the kingdom)

15 What shall we doe vnto the Queene Vashti according to the lawe, because shee did not according to the word of the king Ahasuerus, by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the king and the princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done euill against the King, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of king Ahasuerus.

17 For the act of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The King Ahasuerus hath commanded Vashti the Queene to bee brought in before him, but shee came not.

18 So shall the princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings princes when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despisefulness and wrath.

19 If it please the king, let a royall decree proceede from him, and let it bee written among the statutes of Persia and Media, (& let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come no more before king Ahasuerus:

is made Queene.

shuereth: and let the king giue her royal estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

20 And when the decree of the king which shall be made, (shalbe published thorowout all his kingdome (though it be great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour both great and small.

21 And this saying pleased the king & the princes, and the king did according to the word of Memucan.

22 For hee sent letters into all the prouinces of the king, into euery prouince according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language, that euery man should beare rule in his own house, & that he should publish it in the language of that same people.

C H A P. II.

2 After the Queene is put away, certaine young maidens are brought to the King. 17 Ester pleases the King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai discouers to the King those that would betray him.

After these things, when the wrath of king Ahasuerus had appeased, he remembred Vashti, and what shee had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 And the kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, Let them seeke for the King beautifull young virgins,

3 And let the king appoint officers thorow all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull young virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the kings eunuch, keeper of the women, to giue them their things for purification.

4 And the maide that shall please the king, let her reigne in the stead of Vashti. And this pleased the king, and he did so.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shushan there was a certaine Jew, whose name was Mordecai the sonne of Jair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish, a man of Iemini,

6 Which had bene caried away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was caried away with Iekoniah king of Iudah (whom Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried away)

7 And he nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vnckles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maide was faire, & beautifull to look on: and after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maidens were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the kings house vnder the hands of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maide pleased him, and she found fauour in his sight: therefore he caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, & her ffitte, and seuen comely maids to be giuen her out of the Kings house, and he gaue charge to her and to her maidens of the best in the house of the women.

10 Thus Ester shewed not her people, and her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her that shee should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked euery day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did well, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of euery maide came to goe in to king Ahasuerus, after that she had bin twelue moneths according to the manner of the women (for so were the daies of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrrhe, and sixe moneths with sweet odours, and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went 5 maids vnto the king) whatsoever he required, was giuen her to goe with her out of the womens house vnto the kings loue.

14 In the euening she went, and on the morrow shee returned into the second house of the women vnder the hand of Shaahgaz the kings eunuch, which kept the concubines: shee came into the King no more, except shee pleased the King, and that she were called by name.

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vnckle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that she should goe in to the King, she desired nothing, but what Hege the Kings eunuch the keeper of the women sayd: and Ester found fauour in the sight of al them that looked vpon her.

16 ¶ So Ester was taken vnto king Ahasuerus into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seuenth yeere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Ester aboue all the women, and she found grace & fauor in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Vashti.

18 Then the king made a great feast vnto al his princes and his seruants, which was the feast of Ester, and gaue rest vnto the prouinces, & gaue gifts, according to the power of a king.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the second time, then Mordecai sate in the kings gate.

20 Ester had not yett shewed her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Mordecai, as when shee was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sate in the kings gate, two of the kings eunuches, Bigthan and Tereh, which kept the doore, were wroth & sought to lay hand on the king Ahasuerus.

22 And the thing was knowne to Mordecai, and he told it vnto Queene Ester, and Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecai name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so, therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the king.

C H A P. III.

1 Haman after he was exalted, obtained of the king that all the Iewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

After these things did king Ahasuerus promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him and set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the kings seruants that were at the kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the kings seruants which were at the kings gate, said vnto Mordecai, Why transgressist thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake daily vnto him, yet he would not heare them, therefore they told Haman, that they might see how Mordecai matters would stand: for he had told them that he was a Jew.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now he thought it too little to lay hands on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahalueroth, euens the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelfth yeere of king Ahalueroth, they cast Pur (that is a lot) before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth Adar.

8 Then Haman said vnto king Ahalueroth, There is a people scattered, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not observe the kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse, to bring it into the kings treasurie.

10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand, and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Iewes aduersarie.

11 And the king said vnto Haman, Let the siluer bee thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the Kings scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, and to the capitaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, and to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people, according to their language: in the name of king Ahalueroth was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent by postes into all the kings prouinces to root out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both young and olde, children and women, in one day, vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoile them as a prey.

14 The contents of the writing was, That there should be given a commandement in al prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be readie against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sate drinking, but the citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

C H A P. IIII.

3 Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the king against the Iewes. 16 Shee willet what they pray for her.

NOW when Mordecai perceived all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth, and ashes, and went out into the mids of the citie, and cried with a great cry and a bitter.

2 And he came euen before the kings gate, but hee might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince and place, whither the Kings charge and his Commission came, there was great forow among the Iewes, and fasting, and weeping, and mourning, and many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

4 Then Esters maides and her eunuches came and told iher: therefore the Queene was very heavy, and shee sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but hee receiued it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatath one of the kings eunuches, whom hee had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatath went forth to Mordecai vnto the street of the city, which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai told him of all that which had come vnto him, & of the summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the kings treasures, because of the Iewes, for to destroy them.

8 Also he gaue him the copie of the writing, and Commission that was giuen at Shushan to destroy them, that hee might shew it vnto Ester, and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that shee should goe in to the king, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 So when Hatath came, hee tolde Ester the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester said vnto Hatath, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai.

11 All the kings seruants and the people of the kings prouinces doe know, that whosoever, man or woman, that cometh to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that hee shall die, except him to whome the king holdeth out the golden rod, that he may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the king these thirte dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters words.

13 And Mordecai said, that they should answer Ester thus, Thiuk not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, comfort and deliuerance shall appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou & thy fathers house shall perish, and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time?

15 Then Ester commanded to answer Mordecai,

16 Go, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast yee for mee, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night, I also and my maide will fast likewise, and so will goe in to the king, which is not according to the Law: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

C H A P. V.

1 Ester enueth in to the King, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 14 Haman prepareth a gallons for Mordecai.

AND on the third day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the Kings house, and the King sate vpon his royall throne in the Kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the King sawe Ester the Queene standing in the court, the found fauour in his sight: and the King held out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drew neere, and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Then said the king vnto her, What wilt thou Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the king, let the King and Haman come this day vnto the banquet that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king said, Cause Haman to make hast, that he may doe as Ester hath said. So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king said vnto Ester, at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed to the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, and said, My petition and my request is,

8 If I haue found fauor in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to giue me my petition, and to performe my request, let the King and Haman come to the banquet that I shal prepare for them, & I will do to morow according to the Kings saying.

9 ¶ Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull, and with a glad heart. But when Haman sawe Mordecai in the Kings gate, that hee stood not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheless Haman refrained himselfe: and when he came home, he sent and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife.

11 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had promoted him, and how that he had set him aboue the princes and seruants of the King.

12 Haman said Moreouer, Yea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the banquet that he had prepared, saue me: and to morow I am bidden vnto her also with the king.

13 But all this doth nothing auail me, as long as I see Mordecai the Iew sitting at the Kings gate.

14 Then said Zeresh his wife, and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fittie cubits hie, and to morow speake thou vnto the King that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the King vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, & he caused to make y tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The King turneth ouer the Chronicles and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai, 10 and commandeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

¶ The same night the King slept not, and he commanded to bring the booke of the records and the Chronicles: & they were read before the king.

2 Then it was found written, that Mordecai had told of Bigtana, and Teresh, two of the kings Eunuches, keepers of the doores, who sought to lay hands on the King Ahahuerosh.

3 Then the King said, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the King said, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the Kings house, that he might speake vnto the King to hang Mordecai on y tree, that he had prepared for him)

5 And the Kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the King said, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the King said vnto him, What shall be done vnto the man whome the King will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the King do honour more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the King, The man whome the King would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparel, which the King vseth to weare, and the horse that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head.

9 And let the raiment of the horse be deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man whom the King will honour, and cause him to ride vpon the horse thorow the street of the city, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it bee done vnto the man, whom the King will honour.

10 Then the King sayd to Haman, Make haste, take the raiment, and the horse, as thou hast said, and doe so vnto Mordecai the Iewe, that sitteth at the Kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman tooke the raiment, and the horse, and arayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke thorow the streete of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the King will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to the Kings gate, but Haman hasted home mourning, and his head couered.

13 And Haman told Zeresh his wife, and all his friends, al that had befallen him. Then said his wife men, and Zeresh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the seede of the Iewes, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the Kings eunuches, and hastied to bring Haman vnto the banquet that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene biddeth the King and Haman againe, and prayeth for her selfe and her people, 6 She accuseth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallows which he had prepared for Mordecai.

¶ O the King and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester.

2 And the King said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee: and what is thy request? It shall be euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdom.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life bee giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For we are folde, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slaine and to perish. but if wee were sold for seruants, and for handmaids, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduersary could not recompense the Kings losse.

5 Then King Ahahuerosh answered, and sayd vnto the Queene Ester, Who is hee? and where is he that presumeth to doe thus?

6 And Ester sayd, The aduersarie and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the King and the Queene.

7 And the King arose from the banquet of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for hee saw that there was a mischiefe prepared for him of the King.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sat: therefore the King said, Will hee force the Queene also before me in the house? As the word went out of the Kings mouth, they couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the Eunuches said in the presence of the King, Behold, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fifty cubits hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the king. Then the king said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree that hee had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 14 Comfortable letters are sent to the Iewes.

The

THe same day did King Ahahuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersary of the Iewes, vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai came before the King: for Ester told what he was vnto her.

2 And the King tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his foete weeping, and besought him that hee would put away the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that hee had imagined against the Iewes.

4 And the King held out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King,

5 And said, If it please the King, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the king, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the son of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all the Kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euill that shal come vnto my people? Or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred?

7 And the King Ahahuerosh sayd vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iew, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree, because hee laid hand vpon the Iewes.

8 Write ye also for the Iewes as it liketh you in the Kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring, (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the Kings ring, may no man reuoke)

9 Then were the Kings Scribes called at the same time, euen in y<sup>e</sup> third moneth, that is the moneth Suan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commanded vnto the Iewes, and to the princes, and captaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and seuen and twenty prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speech, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the King Ahahuerosh name, and sealed it with the Kings ring: and he sent letters by posts on horseback, and that rode on beasts of price, and dromedaries and colts of marcs,

11 Wherin the King granted the Iewes (in what cities soeuer they were) to gather themselves together, and to stand for their life, and to roote out, to slay and to destroy all the power of the people, and of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to spoile their good:

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahahuerosh, even in the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar.

13 The copie of the writing was, how there should be a commandement giuen in all euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes should be ready against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

14 So the postes rode vpon beasts of price, and dromedaries, and went forth with speed to execute the Kings commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the King in royal apparel of blew & white, & with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linnen, and purple, and the city of Shushan reioiced, and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light, and ioy, and gladnesse, and honour.

13 Also in all and euery prouince and in all and euery city and place, where the Kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnesse to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

C H A P. 1 X.

1 As the commandement of the King the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

SO in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drewe neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them, (but it turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Iewes gathered themselves together into their cities thorowout all the prouinces of the King Ahahuerosh, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes, and the captaines, and the officers of the King exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the Kings house, & the report of him went thorow all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword, and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those they hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace, slew the Iewes, and destroyed five hundred men.

7 And Parthandatha, & Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaiczatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha the aduersary of the Iewes, slew they: but they laid not their hands on the spoile.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King.

12 And the king said vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace and destroyed five hundred men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? or what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request morcouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then said Ester, If it please the king, let it be granted also to morrow to y<sup>e</sup> Iewes that are in Shushan, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans ten sonnes, 14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 So the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselves vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slew three hundred men in Shushan, but on the spoile they laid not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes that were in the kings prouinces, assembled themselves, and stood for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that hated them, seuentie and five thousand: but they layde not their hand on the spoile.

17 This they did on the thirteenth day of the month Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, of, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

For, went about to slay the Iewes.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, & they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages dwell in the vnwallled towne kept the fourteenth day of the month Adar with ioy and feasting, euery a ioyfull day, & euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the king Ahashuerosh, both heere and there,

21 Enioyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the month Adar, & the fifteenth day of the same, euery yere, 22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the month which was turned vnto them from sorow to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them 3 dayes of feasting and ioy, and to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to doe, as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them, 24 Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduerfari, had imagined against the Iewes to destroy them, and had caſt Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them.

25 And when the came before the king, he commanded by letters, let his wicked deuile (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him & his sons on the tree.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes also ordained and promised for them and for their seed and for all that ioynd vnto them, that they would not faile to obserue those two dayes euery yere, according to their writing, Or, transcribe. and according to their season, 28 And that these dayes should be remembered, and kept thorowout euery generation and euery family, and euery prouince, and euery citie: Or, strenghten. euen these dayes of Purim should not faile among the Iewes, and the memoriall of them should not perish from their seed.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail, & Mordecai the Iew wrote with all authority (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time.) Or, efficacy.

30 And he sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundredth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahashuerosh, with wordes of peace and trueth, 31 To confirme these daies of Purim, according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iew, and Ester the Queene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them 3 felues, and for their seed with fasting and prayer. † Ebr. Ioules.

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these wordes of Purim, and was written in the booke.

CHAP. X.

The estimation and authority of Mordecai.

¶ And the King Ahashuerosh laid a tribute vpon the land, and vpon the yles of the sea.

2 And all the acts of his power, & of his might, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai, wherewith the King magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia?

3 For Mordecai the Iewe was the second vnto king Ahashuerosh, and great among the Iewes, and accepted among the multitude of his brethren: who procured the wealth of his people, and spake peaceably to all his seed.

¶ IOB. THE ARGVMENT.

[In this history is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not only extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde and conscience by the sharpe sensation of his wife and chiefe friends: which by their vehement words and subtill disputations, brought him almost to despair: for they set forth God as a seuerer iudge and mortall enemy vnto him, which had caſt him off, shewre in vaine hee should seeke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding hee did constantly resist them, and at length had good success. In this story wee haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it craftily. For Iob helde that God did not alwayes punish men according to their finnes, but that he had secret iudgements, wherof man knew not the cause, and therefore man could not reason against God therein, but hee should be conuicted. Moreover, he was assured that God had not reiecte him, yet through his great torments and affliction, he brasteth forth into many inconueniences both of words and sentences, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and this is his good cause which he doeth not handle well. Again, the aduersaries maintaine with many goodly arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespasses, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans finnes, yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into despair, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14. 14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example. Iames 5. 11.]

CHAP. I.

1 The holiness, riches, and care of Iob for his children, 1. Satan hath permission to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance & his children. 20 His faith and patience.

Here was a man in the land of Vz, called Iob, and this man was an vp-right and iust man, one that feared God, and eschewed euill,

2 And he had seuen sonnes, and three daughters,

3 His substance also was seuen thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred three asses, and his family was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East.

4 And his sonnes went and banquetted in † Ebr. children. their houses, euery one his day, and sent and called there three sisters to eat and to drinke with them.

5 And when the dayes of their banquetting were gone about, Iob sent & sanctified them, and rose vp early early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings, according to the number of them. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes have sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob every day.

6 ¶ Nowe on a day when the children of God came and stood before the Lord, Satan came also among them.

7 Then the Lorde sayde vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill?

9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and sayde, Doest Iob feare God for nought?

10 Hast thou not made an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out now thine hand and touch all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

12 Then the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Loe, all that he hath is in thine hand: onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord.

13 ¶ And on a day when his sons and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and sayd, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

15 And the Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whiles hee was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 And whiles hee was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The Caldeaus set out three bandes, and fel vpon the camels, and haue taken them, and haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came another, and saide, Thy sonnes and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And behold, there came a great winde from beyond the wilderness, & smote the foure corners of the house, which fel vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Iob arose, & rent his garment, and shamed his head and fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, 21 And said, *Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: blessed bee the Name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God foolishly.

CHAP. II.

1 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friends visite him.

AND on a day the children of God came and stood before the Lord, and Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? *an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? for yet he continueth in his vprightnesse, although thou mouedest me i. i. against him, to destroy him without cause. Exe. 14. 12

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and said, Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will hee giue for his life.

5 But stretch now out thine hand, and touch his bones, and his flesh, to see if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Loe, he is in thine hand: but saue his life.

7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore boiles, from the sole of his foot vnto his crowne.

8 And he tooke a potteheard to scrape him, and he sat downe among the ashes.

9 Then sayde his wife vnto him, Dost thou continue yet in thine vprightnes? Blaspheme God and die.

10 But hee sayd vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receive good at the hand of God, and not reueue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his lips.

11 Now when Iobs three friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to viz, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes as farre off, they knew him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and sprinkled dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they sat by him vpon the ground seven daies and seven nights, and none spake a word vnto him: for they saw that the griefe was very great.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11 Hee desireth to die, as though death were the end of all mans miserie.

Afterward Iob opened his mouth, and cursed his day.

2 And Iob cryed out, and sayd, 3 Let the day perish, wherein I was borne, and the night when it was said, There is a man child conceived.

4 Let that day be darknesse, let not God regard it from above, neither let the light shine vpon it:

5 But let darknesse, and the shadow of death staine it: let the cloud remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day.

6 Let darknesse possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the dayes of the yeeere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

7 Yea, desolate be that night, and let no ioy be in it.

8 Let them that curse the day, (being ready to renew their mourning) curse it.

9 Let the stars of that twilight be dimme thorrow darknesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it see the dawning of the day.

10 Because it shut not vp the doores of my mothers wombe: nor hid forow from mine eyes.

11 Why died I not in the birth? or why dyed I ainy, not not*

102, when I came out of the wombe?

13 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I lacke the breasts?

14 For so should I now haue lien and bene quiet, I should haue slept then, and bene at rest,

15 With the kings and counsellors of the earth, which haue builded themselves desolate places:

16 Or, with the princes that had gold, and haue filled their houses with siluer.

17 Or, why was I not hid as an vntimely birth, either as infants which haue not seene the light?

18 The wicked haue there ceased from their tyrannie, and there they that laboured valiantly are at rest.

19 The prisoners rest together, and heare not the voice of the oppressour.

20 There are small and great, and the seruant is free from his master.

21 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miserie? and life vnto them that haue heauie hearts?

22 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen search it more then treasures:

23 Which ioy for gladnesse, and reioyce when they can find the graue.

24 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is hid, and whom God hath hedged in?

25 For my sighing commeth before I eate; and my roarings are powred out like the water.

26 For the thing I feared is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

27 I had no peace, neither had I quietnesse, neither had I rest, yet trouble is come.

CHAP. liij.

5 Job is reprehended of impatiencie, 7 and vniu-sice, 17 And of the presumption of his owne righte-ousnesse.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,
2 If wee assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieved? but who can withhold himselfe from speaking?

3 Behold, thou hast taught many, & hast strengthened the weary hands.

4 Thy words haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weak knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieved: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and the vprightness of thy wayes?

7 Remember I pray thee, who euer perished being an innocent? or where were the vpriight destroyed?

8 As I haue seene, they that plow iniquitie, and sow wickednesse, reape the same.

9 With the blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his noffrets they are consumed.

10 The roaring of the lion, and the voice of the lionesse, and the teeth of the lions whelpes are broken.

11 The lion perisheth for lacke of pray, and the lions whelpes are scattered abroad.

12 But a thing was brought to mee secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a litle thereof.

13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dread which made all my bones to tremble:

15 And the wind passed before mee, and made the haire of my flesh to stand vp.

16 Then stood one, and I knew not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in silence heard I voice, saying, 17 Shall man be more iust then God? or shall a man be more pure then his maker?

18 Behold, hee found no stedfastnesse in his seruants, and laid folly vpon his Angels.

19 How much more in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moeth?

20 They be destroyed from the morning vnto the evening: they perish for euer without regard.

21 Doth not their dignitie go away with them? doe they not die, and that without wisdom?

CHAP. v.

1. 2 Eliphaz sheweth the difference betwene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power, who destroyeth the wicked and deliuereth his.

All now, if any wil answer thee, and to which of the Saints wilt thou turne?

2 Doubtlesse anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idior.

3 I haue seene the foolish well rooted, and suddenly I cursed his habitation, saying,

4 His children shall be farre from saluation, and they shall bee destroyed in the gate, and none shall deliuer them.

5 The hungry shall eat vp his harvest: yea they shall take it from among the thorns, and the thirstie shall drinke vp their substance.

6 For misery commeth not forth of the dust, neither doth affliction spring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto trauaile, as the sparkes flie vpward.

8 But I would enquire at God, and turne my talke vnto God:

9 Which doeth great things and vnsearchable, and marueilous things without number.

10 He giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streets.

11 And setteth vp on high them that be low, that the sorrowfull may be exalted to saluation.

12 He scattereth the dewes of the crastie: so that their hands cannot accomplish that, which they doe enterprise.

13 *Hee taketh the wise in their craftinesse, and the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.

14 They meete with darkenesse in the day time, and grope at noone day, as in the night.

15 But hee saucth the poore from the sworde, from their mouth, and from the hand of the violent man,

16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquity shall stop her mouth, 17 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty.

18 For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vpon he smiteth and his hands make whole.

19 Hee shall deliuer thee in fixe troubles, and in the seuenth the euill shall not touch thee.

20 In famine hee shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.

21 Thou shalt be hidde from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not be afraid of destruction when it commeth, 22 But thou shalt laugh at destruction and dearch, and shalt not bee afraid of the beast of the earth.

23 For the stones of the field shall be in league with thee, & the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt know, that peace shall be in thy Tabernacle, and thou shalt visit thine habitation, x and

and shalt not sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also that thy seed shalbe great, and thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt goe to thy graue in a full age as a ricke of corne commeth in due season into the barn.

27 Loe, thus haue we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this and know it by thy selfe.

C H A P. VI.

1 Job answereth that his paine is more grieuous then his fault. 8 Hee wisheth death. 14 Hee complaineth of his friends.

B Ut Job answered, and said,
2 Oh that my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were laid together in the balance!

3 For it would be now heauier then the sand of the sea: therefore my words are swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in mee, the venime whereof doth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrors of God fight against me.

5 Doth the wild asse bray when he hath grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hath fodder?

6 That which is vnfaunery, shall it bee eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were forowes, are my meat.

8 Oh, that I might haue my desire, & that God would graunt me the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God would destroy me: that hee would let his hand goe and cut me off.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorow, let him not spare) because I haue not denyed the words of the Holy one.

11 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end, if I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brasse?

13 Is it not so, that there is in me no helpe? and that strength is taken from me?

Or, wife, dowe, or law.

14 Hee that is in misery, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a brooke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with yce, and wherein the snow is hid.

17 But in time they are dried vp with heate, and are confounded: and when it is hote, they faile out of their places, 18 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.

19 They that go to Tema, considered them, and they that goe to Sheba, waited for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like vnto it: ye haue scene my fearefull plague, and are afraide.

22 Was it because I said, Bring vnto me? or giue a reward to me of your substance?

23 And deliuer mee from the enemies hand, or rancome me out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach mee, and I will hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand, wherein I haue erred.

25 How stedfast are the words of righteousnes? and what can any of you iustly reprocue?

26 Doe ye imagine to reprocue words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde?

27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and digge a pit for your friend:

28 Now therefore be content to looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face, 29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquity: returne I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousnesse in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doeth not my mouth speele forowes?

C H A P. VII.

1 Job sheweth the shortnesse & misery of mans life. 5 There is not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an hireling?

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for the end of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the moneths of vanitie, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me.

4 If I layd me downe, I sayd, When shall I arise? and measuring the euening I am euens fall with toising to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust, my skinne is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then a weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a winde, and as mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eye that hath seene mee, shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, & I shalbe no longer.

9 As the cloud vanisheth and goeth away, so hee that goeth downe to the graue, shall come vp no more.

10 Hee shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and mule in the bitterness of my minde.

12 Am I a sea, or a whale fish, that thou keepest me in ward?

13 When I say, My couch shall relieue mee, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation, 14 Then fearest thou mee with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule chuseth rather to bee strangled and to die, then to be in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not liue alway: spare me then, for my dayes are but vanitie.

17 What is man that thou doest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him?

18 And doest visite him euery morning, and triest him euery moment?

19 How long will it bee yet thou depart from me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallow my spittle.

20 I haue sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? O thou preferuer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe?

21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespass? and take away mine iniquity? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest mee in the morning, I shall not be found.

C H A P. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Job is a sinner, because God punisheth the wicked, and preserueth the good.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 How long wilt thou talke of these things? and how long shall the words of thy mouth be as a mightie winde?

3 Doeth God peruert iudgement? or doeth the Almighty subuert iustice?

4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie:

5 Yet if thou wilt early seke vnto God, and pray to the Almighty;

6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vp vnto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteounesse prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

8 Enquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 (For wee are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow)

10 Shall not they teach thee, and tell thee, and utter the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush growe without myre? or can the graffe grow without water?

12 Though it were in greene and not cut down, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shall be cut off, and his trust shall be as the house of a spider.

15 He shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: hee shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The tree is greene before the Sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folded about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it denie saying, I haue not sene thee, 19 Behold, it will reioyce by this meanes, that it may grow in another mould.

20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Till he haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee shall bee clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mighty power of God, and that mans righteounesse is nothing.

Then Iob answered, and said,

2 I knowe verely that it is so: for how should man compared to God be iustified?

3 If he would dispute with mee, hee could not answer me one thing of a thousand.

4 He is wise in heart, and mightie in strength: who hath benee fierce against him, and hath prospered?

5 He remoueth the mountaines, and they feeble not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 He remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.

7 He commandeth the Sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres as vnder a signet.

8 He himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.

9 He maketh the starres Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climats of the South.

10 Hee doeth great things, and vnsearchable: yea, maruelous things without number.

11 Loe, when he goeth by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.

12 Behold, when hee taketh a pray, who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

13 God will not withdraw his anger, and the most mighty helpe doe stoupe vnder him.

14 How much lesse shall I answer him? or how should I finde out my words with him?

15 For though I were iust, yet could I not answer, but I would make supplication to my Iudge.

16 If I crye and he answer me, yet would I not beleene that he heard my voice.

17 For hee destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me without cause.

18 He will not suffer me to take my breath: but fillethe me with bitternesse.

19 If we speake of strength, behold, he is strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring mee in to pleade?

20 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine own mouth shall condemne me: if I would be perfect, he shall iudge me wicked.

21 Though I were perfect, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.

22 This is one point: therefore I said, Hee destroyeth the perfect and the wicked.

23 If the scourge should suddenly slay, should God laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: hee couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where is he, or who is he?

25 My dayes haue bene more swift then a poste, they haue fled, and haue sene no good thing.

26 They are passed as with the most swift ships, and as the eagle that flieth to the pray.

27 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me, 28 Then I am afraid of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

29 If I be wicked, why labour I thus in vaine?

30 If I wash my selfe with snow water, & purge my hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne clothes shall make me filthie.

32 For he is not a man as I am, that I should answer him if we come together to iudgement.

33 Neither is there any vmpire that might lay his hand vpon vs both.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me:

35 Then will I speake and feare him not: but because I am not so, I hold me still.

CHAP. X.

1 Iob is wearie of his life, and setteth out his fragility before God. 20 Hee desireth him to stay his hand. 22 A description of death.

My soule is cut off though I liue: I will leaue my complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitternesse of my soule.

2 I will say vnto God, Condemne me not: shewe me wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it good to oppresse me, and to cast off the labour of thine hands, and to fauour the counsell of the wicked?

4 Hast thou carnall eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans dayes? or thy yeres as the time of man,

6 That thou enquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne?

7 Thou knowest that I cannot doe wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

8 Thine hands haue made me, and fashioned me wholly round about, & wilt thou destroy me?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powred me out as milke? and turned me to curds like cheefe?

11 Thou hast clothed me with skinned and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen mee life and grace: and thy visitation hath preferred my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I know that it is so with thee.

14 If I have sinned, then thou wilt straitly looke vnto me, and wilt not holde me guiltlesse of mine iniquitie.

15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto me: If I haue done righteously, I will not lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shew thy selfe marvellous vpon me.

17 Thou renewest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: changes and armies of sorowes are against me.

18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me!

19 And that I were as I had not become, but brought from the wombe to the graue.

20 Are not my dayes fewe? let him cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort.

21 Before I go and shall not returne, euen to the land of darknesse and shadow of death:

22 Into a land, I say, darke as darknesse it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darknesse.

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is iustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant.

18 Their assurance that hee God.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, & said, 2 Should not the multitude of wordes be answered? or should a great talker be iustified?

3 Should men hold their peace at thy lies? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh that God would speake and open his lips against thee!

6 That he might shew thee the secrets of wisdom, how thou hast defered double, according to right: knowe therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou finde out the Almighty to his perfection?

8 The heauens are his, what canst thou doe? it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it?

9 The measure the roof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.

10 If he cut off, and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wilde asse colt.

13 If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands towards him:

14 If iniquitie be in thine hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy Tabernacle.

15 Then truly shalt thou lift vp thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare:

16 But thou shalt forget thy misery, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bold, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pits, and shalt lie downe safely.

19 * For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea many shall make sure vnto thee.

20 But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shall be sorrow of minde.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iob accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 He declares the might and power of God, 17 And how he changeth the course of things.

Then Iob answered, and said,

2 Indeed because that yee are the people only, wisdom must die with you.

3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferiour vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4 * I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorn.

5 He that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

6 The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safety that prouoke God, † whom God hath enriched with his hand.

7 Aske now the beastes, and they shall teach thee: and the fowles of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shew thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

10 In whose hand is the soule of every liuing thing, and the breath of all mankind?

11 Doeth not the eares discern the words? and the mouth taste meat for it selfe?

12 Among the ancient is wisdom, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him is wisdom and strength: he hath counsell and vnderstanding.

14 Behold, hee will breake downe, and it cannot be built: he shattereth a man vp, and hee cannot be loosed.

15 Behold, hee withholdeth the waters, and they drie vp: but when hee sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisdom: he that is deceived, and that deceiveth, are his.

17 He causeth the counsellers to goe as spoiled, and maketh the Iudges fooles.

18 Hee looseth the collar of kings, and girdeth their loines with a girdle.

19 Hee leadeth away the princes as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mightie.

20 He taketh away the speech from the faithfull counsellers, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mightie weak.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe places from their darknesse, and bringeth forth the shadow of death to light.

23 Hee increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 Hee taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wilderness out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitent shall be saved, and the hypocrite condemned. 2 He prayeth vnto God that he would not banish him rigorously.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitent shall be saved, and the hypocrite condemned. 2 He prayeth vnto God that he would not banish him rigorously.

2 He prayeth vnto God that he would not banish him rigorously.

2 He prayeth vnto God that he would not banish him rigorously.

2 He prayeth vnto God that he would not banish him rigorously.

2 He prayeth vnto God that he would not banish him rigorously.

LOve mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard and vnderstood it.

1 I know also as much as you know: I am not inferior vnto you.

2 But I will speake to the Almighty, and I desire to dispute with God.

3 For in deed ye forge lies, and all you are physicians of no value.

4 Oh that you would hold your tongue, that it might be imputed vnto you for wisdom!

5 Now heare my disputation, and give care to the arguments of my lips.

6 Will yee speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

7 Will yee accept his person? or will yee contend for God?

8 Is it well that hee should seeke of you? will you make a lie for him as one lieth for a man?

9 He will surely reprove you, if ye doe secretly accept any person.

10 Shall not his excellencie make you afraide? and his feare fall vpon you?

11 Your memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of clay.

12 Hold your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will.

13 Wherefore doe I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hand?

14 Loe, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and will reprove my wayes in his sight.

15 He shall be my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him.

16 Heare diligently my words, and marke my talke.

17 Behold now: if I prepare me to iudgement, I know that I shall be iustified.

18 Who is he that will plead with me? for if I hold my tongue, I die.

19 But doe not these two things vnto mee, then will I not hide my selfe from thee.

20 Withdraw thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraid.

21 Then call thou, and I will answer: or let mee speake, and answer thou me.

22 How many are mine iniquities and sinnes? shew me my rebellion and my sinne.

23 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemy?

24 Wilt thou breake a leafe driven to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the drier stubble?

25 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse the iniquities of my youth.

26 Thou puttest my feete also in the stocks, and lookest narrowly vnto all my paths, and makest me print thereof in the heeles of my feete.

27 Such one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is motheaten.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Job describeth the shortnesse and miserie of the life of man. 2 Hope susteineth the soule. 22 The consolation of mans life.

MAn that is borne of a woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.

2 Hee shooeth forth as a flower, and is cutte downe: he vanissheth also as a shadow, and continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causest me to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 * Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the number of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bounds, which he cannot passe.

6 Turne from him that he may cease vntill his desired day, as an hireling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not cease.

8 Though the root of it waxe olde in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in the ground,

9 Yet by the fent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughes like a plant.

10 But man is sicke and dieth, and man perissheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp,

12 So man sleepeeth, and riseth not: for hee shall not wake againe, nor be raysed from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, and keepe me secret vntill thy wrath were past, and wouldest giue me terme, and remember me!

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? Al the dayes of mine appointed time will I waite, till my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call me, and I shall answer thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.

16 But now thou * numbrest my steps, and dost not delay my sinnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp as in a bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth cometh to nought, and the rocke that is remooued from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones when thou ouerflowest the things which growe in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away, he changeth his face when thou castest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shall be honourable, neither shall hee vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall be of low degree:

22 But while his flesh is vpon him he shall be sorrowfull, & while his soule is in him it shall mourne.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Job, because hee ascribeth wisdom and purgess to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning ob so be one of the number.

Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

2 Shall a wife man speake wordes of the winde? and fill his belly with the East winde?

3 Shall hee dispute with words not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast off feare, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen the tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I: and thy lips testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the first man that was borne? and wast thou made before the hills?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God, and dost thou restraîne wisdom to thee?

9 What knowest thou that wee know not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seeme the consolations of God small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why doth thine heart take thee away? and what doe thine eyes meane,

Iob reprehended. His

the spirit.*

13 That thou answerest to God at thy pleasure, and bringest such words out of thy mouth?

14 What is man that he should be cleane? and he that is borne of woman that he should be iust?

15 Behold, he found no stedfastnesse in his saints: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I haue seene:

18 Which wise men haue told, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whom alone the land was giuen, and no stranger passed thorow them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that traueileth of child, and the number of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, & in his prosperitie the destroyer shall come vpon him.

22 He beleueth not to returne out of darknes: for he seeth the sword before him.

23 He wandreth to and fro for bread, where be may: he knoweth that the day of darknesse is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and anguish shall make him afraid: they shall preuaile against him as a King ready to the battell.

25 For hee hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe siting against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, even vpon his neck, and against the most thicke part of his shield, 27 Because hee hath couered his face with his fatnesse, and hath collops in his flanke.

28 Though he dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 Hee shall not bee rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof vpon the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darknesse: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and hee shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He beleeneth not that he errath in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall be his charge.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him, as the vine her sowe grape, and shall cast him off, as the oliue doeth her floure.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall bee desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of bribes.

35 For they conceiue mischief, and bring forth vanitie, and their belly hath prepared deceit.

C H A P. XVI.

1 Iob moued by the importunitie of his friends, 7 counteth in what extremitie he is, and taketh God to witness of his innocencie.

But Iob answered, and said,

2 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there be none end of wordes of wind? or what maketh thee bold for to answer?

4 I could also speake as yee doe: (but would God your soules were in my soules stead) I could keepe ye company in speaking, and could shake mine head at ye.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, & the comfort of my lips should assuage your sorrow.

6 Though I speake, my sorrow cannot be asswaged: though I cease, what releafe haue I?

7 But now he maketh mee weary: O God, thou hast made all my congregation desolate,

8 And hast made me full of wrinkles which is a witness thereof, and my leanness riseth vp in mee, testifying the same in my face.

9 His wrath hath torne me, and hee hateth me, and gnatheth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his eyes against me.

10 They haue opened their mouths vpon mee, and smitten me vpon the cheeke in reproch: they gather themselves together against me.

11 God hath deliuered mee to the vnjust, and hath made me to turn out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but he hath brought mee to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.

13 His archers compass me round about: hee cutteth my reines, and doth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a giant.

15 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skin, and haue abased my horne vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes.

17 Though there bee no wickednesse in mine hands, and my prayer be pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my blood, & let my crying find no place.

19 For loe, now my witness is in the heauen, and my record is on high.

20 My friends spake eloquently against me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might plead with God, as man with his neighbour.

22 For the yeres accounted come, and I shall go the way, whence I shall not returne.

C H A P. XVII.

1 Iob sayth that he consumeth away, and yet doeth patiently abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repentance, 13 shewing that he looketh but for death.

My breath is corrupt, my dayes are cut off, and the graue is ready for me.

2 There are none but mockets with mee, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness.

3 Lay down now, and put me in surety for thee: who is he that will touch mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid thine heart from vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not see them vp on him.

5 For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speaketh flattery to his friends.

6 He hath also made me a by-word of the people, and I am as a tabret before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.

8 The righteous shall be asstonied at this, and the innocent shall be moued against the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous will hold his way, and hee whose hands are pure shall increase his strength.

10 All you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not find one wife among you.

11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart.

12 Haue changed the night for the day, and the light that approached, for darknesse.

13 Though I hope, yet the graue shall bee mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.

14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then now mine hope? or who shall consider the thing that I hoped for?
16 They shall goe downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

C H A P. XVIII.

1 Bildad rebeargeth the paynes of the unfaithfull and wicked.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 When wil ye make an end of your words? cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and are vile in your sight?

4 Thou art as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall be quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

6 The light shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

7 The steps of his strength shall be restrained, & his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

8 For he is taken in the net by his feet, and hee walketh vpon the snares.

9 The Greene shall take him by the heele, and the thiefe shall come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

11 Fearefullnesse shall make him afraid on euery side, and shall driue him to his feere.

12 His strength shall be famine: and destruction shall be ready at his side.

13 He shall deuoure the inner parts of his skin: & the first borne of death shall deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the king of feare.

15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his), and brimstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His roots shall be dried vp beneath, & about shall his branch be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shall perishe from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the street.

18 They shall drie him out of the light vnto darkness, and chase him out of the world.

19 He shall neither haue son nor nephew among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posterity shall be astonied at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

C H A P. XIX.

2 Job reponeth his friends, 15 and reciteth his miseries and grievous paynes. 25 He assureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

But Job answered, and said,
2 How long will ye vex me with words?

3 Ye haue now ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: ye are impudent toward me.

4 And though I had indeed erred, mine error remaineth with me.

5 But indeede if yee will aduance your felues against me, and rebuke me for my reproch,

6 Know now that God hath ouerthrowen me, and hath compassed me with his net.

7 Behold, I crye out of violence, but I haue none answer: I crye, but there is no iudgement.

8 Hee hath hedged vp my way that I cannot passe, and he hath set darkness in my paths.

9 He hath spoyled me of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from my head.

10 He hath destroyed me on euery side, and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a tree.

11 And hee hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His armies came together, & made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 He hath remoued my brethren far from me, & also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 They that dwell in my house, and my maids, took me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my seruant, but hee would not answer, though I praied him with my mouth.

17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body.

18 The wicked also despised mee, and when I rose, they spake against me.

19 All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whom I loued are turned against me.

20 My boxe cleaueth to my skin & to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skin of my teeth.

21 Haue pity vpon me: haue pity vpon me (O ye my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.

22 Why doe ye persecute me as God? and are not satisfied with my flesh?

23 Oh that my wordes were now written! Oh that they were written euen in a booke, 24 And grauen with an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!

25 For I am sure that my redeemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.

26 And though after my skinne worms destroy this body, yet shall I see God in my flesh.

27 Whom I my selfe shall see, & mine eyes shall behold, and none other for me, though my reins are consumed within me.

28 But ye said, Why is he persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me.

29 Be ye afraid of the sword: for the sword will be auenged of wickednesse, that ye may know that there is a iudgement.

C H A P. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth that the wicked and the courteous shall haue a short end, 22 Though for a time they flourish.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, & said,
2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause me to answer, and therefore I make haste.

3 I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answer.

4 Knowest thou not this of old? and since God placed man vpon the earth?

5 That the reioicing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment?

6 Though his excellency mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the clouds, 7 Yet shall he perish for euer, like his dung, and they which haue seene him shall say, Where is he?

8 He shall see away as a dreame, and they shall not find him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night.

9 So that the eye which had seene him shall do so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance.

11 His bones are full of the fine of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednesse was sweete in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 14 Then his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Alpes was in the mids of him.

15 He hath deuoured substance, and he shall vomit it: for God shall draw it out of his belly.

16 Hee shall sucke the gall of Alpes, and the Vipers tongue shall lay him.

17 He shall not see the riuers, nor the floods, and streames of hony and butter.

18 He shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more, euē according to the substance shalbe his exchange, and he shall enioy it no more.

19 For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoyled houses which he builded not.

20 Surely he shall feelee no quietnesse in his body, neither shall he referue of that which hee desired.

21 There shall none of his meate be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When he shall be filled with his abundance, he shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall assaile him.

23 He shall be about to fill his belly, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to raine vpon him, euē vpon his meate.

24 He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of Steele shall strike him thorow.

25 The arrow is drawn out and commeth forth of the body, and thineeth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him.

26 All darkenesse shall bee hid in his secret places: the hre that is not blown, shall deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his Tabernacle shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The increafe of his house shall goe away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that he shall haue of God for his words.

CHAP. XXI.

7 Iob declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proud, 15 in so much that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be indged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

But Iob answered and sayd,
2 Heare diligently my words, and this shall be instead of your consolations.

3 Suffer me that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should not my spirite be troubled?

5 Marke me, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your mouth.

6 Euē when I remember, I am afraide, & feare taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore doe the wicked liue and waxe old and grow in wealth?

8 Their seed is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendereth, and fayleth not: their cow calueth and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children like sheepe, and their fennes dance.

12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serue him? and what profit shall we haue, if wee should pray vnto him?

16 Lo, their wealth is not in their hand: therefore let the counsell of the wicked be far from me.

17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he will diuide their liues in his wrath.

18 They shall be as stubble before the wind, and as chaffe that the storme carieth away.

19 God will lay vp the sorow of the fisher for his children: when he rewardeth him he shall know it.

20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shall any teach God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?

23 One dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

24 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones run full of marrow.

25 And another dieth in the bitternesse of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both in the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises wherewith ye doe me wrong.

28 For ye say, Where is the princes house? and where is the tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?

29 May ye not aske them that goe by the way? and ye cannot deny their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way to his face: and who shall reward him for that he hath done?

32 Yet shall he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.

33 The slimy valley shall be sweet vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort ye me in vaine, seeing in your answers there remaine but lies?

CHAP. XXII.

2 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinne, 6 He accuseth him of vnnecessaries. 13 and that he denied Gods providence. 21 He exhorts him to repentance.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said,
2 May a man be profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe?

3 *Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him that thou makest thy wayes vpright?

4 Is it for feare of thee that he will accuse thee? or goe with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoyled the clothes of the naked.

7 To such as were weary thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawn bread from the hungry.

8 But the mighty man had the earth, & he that was in authority dwelt in it, 9 Thou hast cast out widowes empty, and the armes of the fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee.

11 Or darkenes that thou shouldest not see, and abundance of water shall coner thee.

12 Is not God on hie in the heaven? and behold the height of the starres how high they are.

13 But thou sayest, How should God know? can he iudge thorow the darke cloud?

14 The cloudes hide him that he cannot see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the worlde, wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were cut down before? time, whose foundation was as a river that ouerflowed:

17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could do for them.

18 Yet he filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked bee farre from mee.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioice, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorn.

20 Surely our substance is hid, but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the lawe of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be built vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp gold for dust, and the gold of Ophir as the flints of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue plenty of filer.

26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and hee shall establish it vnto thee, and the light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the yland, and it shall be preferred by the purenesse of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob affirmeth that hee both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 and that hee is not punished onely for his sinnes.

BUt Iob answered, and sayd,

2 Though my talke be this day in bitterness, and my plague greater then my groning,

3 Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would plead the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would know the words that hee would answer me, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.

6 Would he plead against mee with his great power? No, but he would put strength in mee.

7 There the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for ener from my Iudge.

8 Behold, if I goe to the East, he is not there, if to the West, yet I can not perceiue him:

9 If to the North, where he worketh yet I cannot see him, he will hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.

10 But he knoweth my way, and trieth me, and I shall come forth like the gold.

11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.

12 Neither haue I departed from the commandment of his lips, and I haue esteemed the words of his mouth more then mine appoynted food.

13 Yet he is in one minde, and who can turne him? yea, he doth what his mind desireth.

14 For he will performe that which is decreed of me, and many such things are with him.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him.

16 For God hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me.

17 For I am not cut off in darknesse, but he hath hid the darkenesse from my face.

CHAP. XXIIII.

2 Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 12 how all things are governed by Gods providence, 17 and the destruction of the wicked.

HOW should not the times bee hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which know him see not his dayes?

2 Some remooue the land markes, that rob the flockes and feede thereof.

3 They leade away the asse of the fatherlesse, and take the widowes oxe to pledge.

5 They make the poore to turne out of this way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselves together.

5 Behold, others as wild asses in the wildernes, go forth to their businesse, and rise early for a pray:

6 They reape his promise in the field, but they gather the late vintage of the wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the cold.

8 They are wet with the shewes of the mountains, and they embrace the rocke for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherlesse from the brest, and take the pledge of the poore.

10 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the gleanings from the hungry.

11 They that make oyle betweene their walles, and tread their winepresses, suffer thirst.

12 Men cry out of the city, and the fowles of the skaine cry out: yet God doth not charge them with folly.

13 These are they that abhorre the light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the pathes thereof.

14 The murderrer riseth early, and killeth the poore and the needy: and in the night kee is as a thief.

15 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and saith, None eye shall see me, and disguiseth his face.

16 They digge thorow houses in the dark which they marked for themselves in the day: they know not the light.

17 But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death.

18 Hee is swift vpon the waters: their portion shall be curied in the earth: he wil not behold the way of the vineyards.

19 As the drie ground and heate consume the snow waters, so shall the graue the sinners.

20 The pitifull man shall forget him: the worme shall shall feele his sweetnes: he shalbe no more remembred, and the wicked shall be broken like a tree.

21 He doeth euil intreat the barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth he good to the widow.

22 Hee draweth also the mightie by his power, and when he riseth vp none is sure of life.

23 Though men giue him assurance to bee in safetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 They are exalted for a litle, but they are gone, and are brought low as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off, as the top of an eare of corne.

25 But if it be not so, where is hee? or who will pouce me a liar, and make my words of no value?

C H A P. XXV.

Bilad proueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

Then answered Bilad the Shuhite, and sayd, 1 Power and feare is with him, that maketh peace in his hie places.

2 Is there any number in his armies? and vpon whom shall his light arise?

3 And how may a man be iustified with God? or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman?

4 Behold, hee will giue no light to the moone, and the starres are vncleane in his sight.

5 How much more man, a worme, euen the sonne of man, which is but a worme?

C H A P. XXVI.

Job sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and prometh it by his miracles.

But lo answered and sayd, 1 Whom helpeth thou? him that hath no power? fauest thou the arme that hath no strength?

2 Whom counseleth thou? him that hath no wifedome? thou shewest right well as the thing is.

3 To whom doest thou declare these wordes? or whose spirit cometh out of thee?

4 The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and necre vnto them.

5 The graue is naked before him, and there is no couering for destruction.

6 He stretcheth out the North ouer the empty place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

7 He bindeth the waters in his clouds, and the cloud is not broken vnder them.

8 He holdeth backe the face of his throne: and spreadeth his cloud vpon it.

9 He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the day and night come to an end.

10 The pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

11 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding, he smiteth the pride thereof.

12 His spirit hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked serpent.

13 Loe these are part of his wayes: but how litle a portion heare wee of him? and who can vnderstand his secretfull power?

C H A P. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perswecution of Job. 13 The remanent of the wicked and of the tyrants.

Moreouer Job proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

1 The liuing God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitterness.

2 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the spirit of God in my nostrils,

3 My lips surely shall speake no wickednes, and my tongue shall utter no deceit.

4 God forbid that I should iustifie you; vntill

I die, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe.

5 I will keepe my righteousness, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not repute me of my dayes.

6 Mine enimie shall be as the wicked, and hee that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.

7 For what hope hath the hypocrite when hee hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his foule?

8 Will God heare his crye, when trouble cometh vpon him?

9 Will hee set his delight on the Almighty, will he call vpon God at all times?

10 I will teach you what is in the hand of God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

11 Behold, all ye your selues haue seene it: why then doe ye thus vanish in vanitie?

12 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almighty.

13 If his children be in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

14 His remnant shall be buried in death: and his widowes shall not weepe.

15 Though hee should heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare rayment as the clay, 16 He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.

17 Hee buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

18 When the rich man sleepeth, he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

19 Terrors shall take him as waters: and a tempest shall cary him away by night.

20 The East winde shall take him away, and he shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.

21 And God shall cast vpon him, and not spare, though he would faine flee out of his hand.

22 Every man shall clap their hands at him, and hide at him out of their place.

C H A P. XXVIII.

Job sheweth that the wifedome of God is vnsearchable.

The siluer surely hath his veine, and the golde his place where they take it.

2 Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasie is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an end to darkenesse, and begetteth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bond of darkenesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood bracketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotten of the foot, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth cometh bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place of Saphires, and the dust of it is gold.

7 There is a path which no foule hath knownen, neither hath the kytes eye seene it.

8 The lions whyles haue not walked it, nor the lion passed thereby:

9 He putteth his hand vpon the rockes, and ouerthroweth the mountaines by the roots.

10 He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods, that they do not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wifedome found? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also saith, It is not with me.

15 Gold shall not be giuen for it, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not bee valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the Saphir.

17 The gold nor the Chryftall shalbe equal vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine gold.

18 No mention shall be made of corall, nor of the gabail: for wisdom is more precious then perles.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not bee equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure gold.

20 Whence then cometh wisdom, & where is the place of vnderstanding, 21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of al the liuing, and is hid from the foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, Wee haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth the ends of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders.

27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it, and also considered it.

28 And vnto man he said, Behold,* the feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

C H A P. XXIX.

1 Job complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past, 7. 21 His authoritie, 12 iustice and equitie.

CO Job proceeded, and continued his parable, saying,

2 Oh that I were as I in time past, when God preferred me!

3 When his light shined vpon mine head, and when by his light I walked through the darknesse,

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almighty was yet with mee, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my paths with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, even to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the streete.

8 The young men saw me, and hid themselves, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

9 The princes stayed talke, and laid their hand on their mouth.

10 The voice of princes was hid, & their tongue deaued to the rooofe of their mouth.

11 And when the eare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye saw me, it gaue witness to me.

12 For I deliuered the poore that cried, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 The blessing of him that was ready to perishe, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the feet to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and as I stand knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the iawes of the vnrighteous man, and plucked the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I sayd, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my roote is spread out by the water, and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glory shall renew toward mee, and my bow shall be restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my words they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them.

23 And they waited for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.

24 If I laughed on them, they beleueed it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance to fall.

25 I appointed out their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a King in the army, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

C H A P. XXX.

1 Job complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11. 21 because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

B Vt now they that are younger then I, mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the dogs of my flockes.

2 For whereto should the strength of their hand haue serued me? seeing age perished in them?

3 For pouertie and famine they were solitarie, fleeing into the wildernesse, which is darke, desolate, and waste.

4 They cut vp nettles by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meate.

5 They were chased forth from among men, they shouted at them as at a thiefe.

6 Therefore they dwelt in the cliffs of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselves.

8 They were the children of sooles, and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their song, & I am their talke.

10 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my corde and humbled me, they haue loosed the bridle before mee.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pusht my teete and haue troden on mee, as the paths of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my pathes: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.

14 They came as a great breach of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heaps.

15 Feare is turned vpon me: and they pursue my soule as the wiude, and mine health passeth away as a cloud.

16 Therefore my soule is now powred out vpon mee, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.

17 It pearceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the collar of my coate.

19 He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I crie vnto thee thou dost not heare me, neither regardest me, when I stand vp.

21 Thou

For, wife dome, or Law.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, and art enemy vnto me with the strength of thine hand.
22 Thou takest me vp, and caulest me to ride vpon the wind, and makest my strength to faile.
23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring mee to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.
24 Doubtles none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they crie in his destruction.
25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore?
26 Yet when I looked for good, euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darknesse.
27 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vnto me.
28 I went mourning without shame: I stood vp in the congregation and cried.
29 I am a brother vnto the dragons, and a companion vnto the ostriches.
30 My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heat.
31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocencie of his liuing and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to bee the life of the faithfull.

I Made a couenant with mine eyes: why then shold I thinke on a maide?

2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almighty from him?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to the workers of iniquitie?

4 Doeth not he behold my wayes, and tell all my steps?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceite,

6 Let God weigh me in the iust ballance, and he shall know mine vprightnesse.

7 If my steppes hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands,

8 Let me sowe, and let another eate: yea, let thy plants be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laide waite at the doore of my neighbour,

10 Let my wife grind vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her:

11 For this is a wickednesse, and iniquitie to be condemned:

12 Yea, this is a fire that shal deuoure to destruction, and which shal roote out all mine increase.

13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruauant, and of my maide, when they did contend with me, 14 What then shall I doe when God standeth vp? and when hee shall visite mee, what shall I answer?

15 He that hath made mee in the wombe, hath he not made him? hath not hee alone fashioned vs in the wombe?

16 If I restrained the doore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile,

17 Or haue eaten my moriels alone, and the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof,

18 (For from my youth he hath growen vp with me as with a father, and from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her.)

19 If I haue scene any perissh for want of clothing, or any poore without couering,

20 If his loynes haue not blessed me, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe,

21 If I haue lift vp mine hande against the fatherlesse, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.

23 For Gods punishment was feareful vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his Highnesse.

24 If I made gold mine hope, or haue said to the wedge of gold, Thou art my confidence,

25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,

26 If I did behold the sunne when it thined, or the moone walking in her brightnesse,

27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine hand,

28 (This also had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denied the God aboue.)

29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued to ioy when euill came vpon him, 30 Neither haue I suffered my mouth to sinne by wishing a curse vnto his soule.

31 Did not the men of my tabernacle say, Who shall giue vs of his fleshe we cannot be satisfied.

32 The stranger did not lodge in the freete, but I opened my doores vnto him that went by the way.

33 If I haue hid my sinne as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bosome, 34 Though I could haue made afraide a great multitude: yet the most contemptible of the families did feare me: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore.

35 Oh that I had some to heare me! behold my signe that the Almighty wiitnes for me: though mine aduersarie should write a booke against me, 36 Would not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a crowne vnto me?

37 I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a prince.

38 If my land crie against mee, or the furrowes thereof complaine together,

39 If I haue eaten the fruites thereof without siluer: or if I haue grieved the soules of the masters thereof, 40 Let thistles grow in stead of wheat, and cockle in the stead of barley.

THE WORDS OF IOB ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 Elihu reprooueth them of folly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the spirit of God.

3 O these three men ceased to answer Iob, because he had esteemed himselfe iust.

4 Then the wrath of Elihu, the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified himselfe more then God.

5 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not find an answer, and yet condemned Iob.

6 (Now Elihu had waited till Iob had spoken for they were more ancient in yeeres then he.)

7 So when Elihu saw that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

8 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite answered, and said, I am yong in yeeres and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to shew you mine opinion.

7 For I sayd, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teach wisdom.
8 Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giueth vnderstanding.
9 Great men are not alway wise, neither do the aged alway vnderstand iudgement.
10 Therefore, I say, heare me, and I will shewe also mine opinion.
11 Behold, I did wait vpon your wordes, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, while you sought out reasons.
12 Yea, when I had considered you, loe, there was none of you that reproofed Iob, nor answered his words:
13 Tell ye should say, We haue found wisdom: for God hath cast him downe, and no man.
14 Yet hath hee not directed his words to me, neither will I answer him by your words.
15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke.
16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stood still, and answered no more) 17 Then answered I in my tyme, and I shewed mine opinion.
18 For I am full of matter, and the spirit within me compelleth me.
19 Behold, my belly is as the wine which hath no vent, and like the new bottels that brast.
20 Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answer.
21 I will not now accept the person of man, neither will I giue titles to man.
22 For I may not giue titles, lest my Maker should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuers means to instruct man, and to draw him from sinne. 19. 29 He affirmeth man and suddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered giueth thanks to God.

1 Therefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my words.
2 Behold now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.
3 My wordes are in the vprightnesse of mine heart, and my lips shall speake pure knowledge.
4 The Spirit of God hath made mee, and the breath of the Almighty hath giuen me life.
5 If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe, and stand before me.
6 Behold, I am according to thy wish, in Gods hand: I am also formed of the clay.
7 Behold, my terror shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be heauie vpon thee.
8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voice of thy words:
9 I am cleane without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.
10 Loe, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemy.
11 He hath put my feet in the stocks, and looeth narrowly vnto all my paths.
12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man.
13 Why doest thou strue against him? for hee doeth not giue account of all his matters.
14 For God speaketh once or twise, and one heere it not.
15 In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon their beddes, 16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he had sealed,

17 That he might caue man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the pride of man,
18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.
19 He is also stricken with sorrow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is fore, 20 So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meate.
21 His flesh faileth that it cannot be seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter.
22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers.
23 If there bee a messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man his righteousnesse,
24 Then will he haue mercy vpon him, and will say, Deliuer him, that he go not downe into the pits for I haue received a reconciliation.
25 Then shall his flesh be as fresh as a child, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.
26 Hee shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, & he shall see his face with ioy a fer he will render vnto man his righteousnesse.
27 He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and peruerced righteousnesse, and it did not profit me, 28 He will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.
29 Loe, all the things will God worke twice or thrice with a man, 30 That he may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.
31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare me: keepe silence, and I will speake.
32 If there be matter, answer me, and speake: for I desire to iustifie thee.
33 If thou hast not, heare me: hold thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Elihu chargeth Iob, that he calleth himselfe righteous. 12 Hee sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.
1 Or once, Elihu answered, and said,
2 Heare my wordes ye wise men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.
3 For the care tryeth the wordes, as the mouth telleth meate.
4 Let vs seeke iudgement among vs, and let vs know among our selues what is good.
5 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement.
6 Should I lie in my right? my wound of the arrow is grievous without my sinne.
7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh scornfullnesse like water?
8 Which goeth in the company of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men?
9 For hee hath said, It profiteth a man nothing that he should walke with God.
10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdom, God forbid that wickednesse should bee in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty.
11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.
12 And certainly God will not doe wickedly, neither will the Almighty peruerce iudgement.
13 Whom hath he appointed ouer y earth beside himselfe? or who hath placed y whole world?
14 If

14 If he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this, and hearken to the voice of my words.

17 Shal he that hateth iudgement gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 How much less to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shall die suddenly, and the people shal be troubled at midnight, and they shall passe forth and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darknesse nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For he will not lay on man so much that hee should enter into iudgement with God.

24 He shal breake the mightie without seeking, and shall set vp others in their stead.

25 Therefore shall he declare their workes: he shall turne the night, and they shall be destroyed.

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the seers,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

28 So that they haue caused the voice of the poore to come vnto him, and he hath heard the cry of the afflicted.

29 And when hee giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because the hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are sured.

31 Surely it appertaineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 But if I see not, teach thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I will doo no more.

33 Will he performe the thing through thee? for thou hast reprooued it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I. Now speake what thou knowest.

34 Let men of vnderstanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.

35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his words according to wisdom.

36 I desire that Iob may be tried vnto the end, touching the answer for wicked men.

37 For he addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: hee clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplyeth his words against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godlinesse profite, or vngodlinesse hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked cry vnto God, and are not heard.

Elihu spake morcouer, and said,
2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast sayd. I am more righteous then God?

3 For thou hast said, What profiteeth it thee, and what auaileth it me, to purge me from my sinne?

4 Therefore will I answer thee, and thy companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, and seee and behold the clouds, which are higher then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him? yea when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giueth thou vnto him? or what receiveth he at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednesse may hurt: a man as thou art: and thy righteousness may profite the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed to cry, which cry out for the violence of the mighty.

10 But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beasts of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdom then the fowles of the heauen.

12 Then they cry because of the violence of the wicked, but he answereth not.

13 Surely God will not heare vanitie, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the euill with great extremity, 16 Therefore Iob openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God, 6 and his iustice, 9 and wherefore he punisheth. 13 The propriety of the wicked.

Elihu also proceeded, and said,
2 Suffer me a little, and I will instruct thee, for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.

3 I will fetch my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteousness vnto my Maker.

4 For truly my words shall not be false, and hee that is perfect in knowledge, speakeb with thee.

5 Behold, the mighty God casteth away none that is mighty, and valiant of courage.

6 He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters, and tied with the cords of affliction, 9 Then will hee shewe them their worke and their finnes, because they haue bene proud.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 **If* they obey & serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeeres in pleasures.

12 But if they will not obey, they shall passe by the sword, and perish without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites of heart increase the wrath: for they call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their foule dieth in youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 He deliuereeth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the strait place into a broad place, and not that vp beneath, and that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaineth all things.

18 For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? he regardeth no gold, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 Be not carefull in the night: how he destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede, look not to iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.

25 All men see it, and men behold it a farre off.

26 Behold, God is excellent, and we know him not, neither can the number of his yeeres be searched out.

27 When he restraineth the drops of water, the raine powreth downe by the vapour thereof.

28 Which raine the cloudes do droppe and let fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can know the diuisions of the cloudes, and the thunders of his Tabernacle?

30 Behold, he spreadeth his light vpon it, and covereth the bottom of the sea.

31 For thereby hee iudgeth the people, and giueth meate abundantly.

32 Hee covereth the light with the cloudes, and commandeth them to goe against it.

33 His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

CHAP. XXXVII.

3 Elihu prometh that the vnsearchable wisdom of God is manifest by his workes, 4 as by the thunders, 6 the snow, 9 the whirlwind, 11 and the raine.

AT this also mine heart is astonied, and is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the sound of his voice, and the noise that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4 After it a noise foundeth: he thundreth with the voice of his maiestie, and he will not stay them when his voice is heard.

5 God thundreth marueilously with his voice: he worketh great things, which we know not.

6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou vpon the earth: likewise to the small raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force thereof he shutteth vp euery man, that all men may know his worke.

8 Then the beasts goe into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirlwind commeth out of the South, and the cold from the North winde.

10 At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters is made narrow.

11 He maketh also the clouds to labour to water the earth, and scattereth the cloud of his light.

12 And it is turned about by his government, that they may doe whatsoever hee commandeth them vpon the whole world.

13 Whether it bee for punishment, or for his land, or of mercy, he causeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob: stand & consider the wondrous workes of God.

15 Didst thou know when God disposed them and caused the light of his cloud to shine?

16 Hast thou known the variety of the cloud, and the wondrous workes of him that is perfect in knowledge?

17 Or how thy clothes are warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through the South wind?

18 Hast thou stretched out the heauens, which are strong, and as a molten glasse?

19 Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for wee cannot dispose our matter because of darkenesse.

20 Shall it be told him when I speake? or shall man speake when he shall be destroyed?

21 And now men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde palleth and clenseth them.

22 The brightnesse commeth out of the North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible.

23 Is not the Almighty: we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iustice: he afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for he will not regard any that are wise in their owne conceit.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the weaknesse of man in the consideration of his creatures, by whose excellencie the power, iustice, and providence of the Creator is knowne.

Then answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the whirlwinde, and said,

2 Who is this that darkeneth the counsell by wordes without knowledge?

3 Glrde vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

4 Where wast thou when I laide the foundations of the earth? declare if thou hast vnderstanding.

5 Who hath laid the measures thereof, if thou knowest, or who hath stretched the line ouer it?

6 Whereupon are the foundations thereof sett or who laid the corner stone thereof?

7 When the starres of the morning praised mee together, and all the children of God reioiced?

8 Or who hath shut vp the sea with doores, when it issued and came forth as out of the wombe?

9 When I made the clouds as a couering thereof, and darkenesse, as the swadling bands thereof?

10 When I established my commandment vpon it, and set barres and doores, 11 And said, Hitherto shalt thou come, but no farther, and here shall it stay thy proude waues.

12 Hast thou commanded the morning since thy dayes: hast thou caused the morning to know his place?

13 That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be shaken out of it?

14 It is turned as clay to fashion, and all stand vp as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light shall be taken away, and the high arme shall be broken.

16 Hast thou entred into the bottomes of the sea? or hast thou walked to seeke out the depth?

17 Haue the gates of death bin opened vnto thee? or hast thou seen the gates of the shadow of death?

18 Hast thou perceiued the bredth of the earth? tell if thou knowest all this.

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkenesse, 20 That thou shouldest receiue it in the bounds thereof, and that thou shouldest know the paths to the house thereof?

21 Knewest thou it, because thou wast then borne, and because the number of thy dayes is great?

22 Hast thou entred into the treasures of the snow? or hast thou seen the treasures of the haire, 23 Which I haue hid against the time of trouble, against the day of warre and battell?

24 By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the East winde vpon the earth?

25 Who hath diuided the spouts for the raine, or the way for the lightning of the thunders, 26 To cause it to raine on the earth, where no man is, & in the wilderness, where there is no man?

27 To

27 To fulfill the wilde and waste place, and to cause the bud of the herbe to spring forth?

28 Who is the father of the raine? or who hath begotten the drops of the dew?

29 Out of whose wombe came the yce? who hath ingendred the frost of the heauen?

30 The waters are hid as with a stone: and the face of the depth is frozen.

31 Canst thou restraine the sweet influences of the Pleiades? or loose the bands of Orion?

32 Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in their time? canst thou also guide Arcturus with his sonnes?

33 Knowest thou the course of heauen? or canst thou set the rule thereof in the earth?

34 Canst thou lift vp thy voice to the cloudes, that the abundance of water may couer thee?

35 Canst thou send the lightnings that they may walke, and say vnto thee, Loe, here we are?

36 Who hath put wisdom in the reins? or who hath giuen the heart vnderstanding?

37 Who can number cloudes by wisdom? or who can cause to cease the bottels of heauen, 38 When the earth groweth into hardnesse, and the clots are fast together?

CHAP. XXXIX.

The bounty and providence of God, which extendeth euen to the young rauen, giueth man full occasion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob confesseth and bumbleth himselfe.

Wilt thou hunt the pray for the lion? or fill the appetite of the lions whelpes,

2 When they couch in their places, and reaine in the court to lie in waite?

3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meat, when his birds cry vnto God, wandering for lack of meat?

4 Knowest thou the time when the wild goates bring forth young? or doest thou marke when the hindes doe calue?

5 Canst thou number the moneths that they fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?

6 They bow themselves: they bruiſe their yong and cast out their forowes:

7 Yet their yong waxe fat, and grow vp with corne: they goe forth and returne not vnto them.

8 Who hath set the wilde asse at libertie? or who hath loosed the bonds of the wilde asse?

9 It is I which haue made the wildernesſe his house, and the salt places his dwellings.

10 He derideth the multitude of the citie: hee heareth not the cry of the druer.

11 Hee seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.

12 Will the unicorne serue thee? or will hee tarry by thy crib?

13 Canst thou bind the unicorne with his band to labour in the furrow? or will hee plow the valleys after thee?

14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him?

15 Wilt thou beleue him that hee will bring home thy seed, and gather it vnto thy barn?

16 Hast thou seen the pleasant wings vnto the peacocks? or wings and feathers vnto y ostrich?

17 Which leaueth his eggs in the earth, and maketh them hot in the dust, 18 And forgetteth that the foote might scatter them, or that the wild beast might breake them.

19 Hee sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if hee traueiled in vaine.

20 For God hath deprined him of wisdom, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding.

21 When time is, he moueth on high: hee mocketh the horse and his rider.

22 Hast thou giuen the horse strength? or couered his necke with neighing?

23 Hast thou made him afraid, as the grasnoper? his strong neighing is fearefull.

24 He diggeth in the valley, and reioyceth in his strength: he goeth forth to meet the haruſt man.

25 He mocketh at feare, and is not afraide, and turneth not backe from the sword, 26 Though the quieter rattle against him, the glittering speare and the shield.

27 He swalloweth the ground for fierceness and rage, and hee beleueth not that it is the noise of the trumpet.

28 He sayeth among the trumpets, Ha, ha: hee smelleth the battell as farre off, and the noise of the captaines, and the shouting.

29 Shall the hawke flie by thy wisdom, stretching out his wing toward the South?

30 Doth the eagle mount vp at thy commandment, or make his nest on high?

31 Shee abideth and remaineth in the rocke, euen vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.

32 From thence the spiech for meat, and her eyes behold a farre off.

33 His yong ones also sucke vp blood: and where the flaine are, there is the he.

34 Moreover, the Lord spake vnto Iob, and said, 35 Is this to learne, to situate with the Almighty?

36 ¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,

37 Behold, I am vile: what shall I answer thee? I will lay my hand vpon my mouth.

38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answer no more, yea, twice, but I will proceed no further.

CHAP. XL.

2 How man's power is, being compared to the workes of God: 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and governing of the great beasts.

A Gaiue the Lorde answered Iob out of * the whirlwind, and said,

2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

3 Wilt thou disanull my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne mee, that thou mayest be iustified?

4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voice like him?

5 Decke thy selfe now with maiestie, and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beauty and glory.

6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proud, and abase him.

7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him low: and destroy the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in the dust together, and binde their faces in a secret place.

9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can saue thee.

10 ¶ Behold now Behemoth, (whome I made with thee) which eateth grasſe as an oxe.

11 Behold now his strength in his loynes, and his force in the naull of his belly.

12 When he taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedar, the finewes of his stones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are like itaues of brasſe, and his small bones like stauens of yron.

14 He is the chiefe of y wayes of God: hee that made him, wil make his sword to approach vnto him, 15 Surely  $\S$  mountaines bring him forth grasse, where all the beasts of the field play.

16 Lich he vnder the trees in the court of the reede and fennes?

17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willows of  $\S$  riuier compasse him about?

18 Beholde, hee spoyleth the riuier, and hasteth not: hee trusteth that hee can draw vp Iorden into his mouth.

19 Hee taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his nose thorow whatsoeuer meeteth him.

20 ¶ Canst thou draw out Limiathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?

21 Canst thou cast a hooke into his nose? canst thou pearce his iawes with an angle?

22 Will hee make many prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?

23 Will he make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy maids?

25 Shall the companions banquet with him? shall they diuide him among the merchants?

26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinnie? or the fishpanier with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the basnell, and doe no more so.

28 Behold, his hope is in vaine: for shall not one perishe euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatnesse of this monster Limiathan God sheweth his greatnes and his power, which nothing can resist.

¶ One is so fierce that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can stand before me?

2 Who hath preuented me that I should make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.

3 I will not keepe silence concerning his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

4 Who can discouer the face of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double bridle?

5 Who shall open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.

6 The maiestie of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure scaled.

7 One is set to another, that no wind can come betwene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they sticket together, that they cannot be sundred.

9 His needings make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out.

11 Out of his nostrils commeth out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.

12 His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

13 In his necke remaineth strength, and labor is reiected before his face.

14 The members of his body are ioyned, they are strong in themselves and cannot be moued.

15 He heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the aether millstone.

16 The mighty are afraid of his maiesty, and for feare they faint in themselves.

17 When the sword doth touch him, he wil not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart, nor habergion.

18 Hee esteemeth yron as straw, and brasie as rotten wood.

19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.

20 The darts are counted as straw: & he laugheth at the shaking of the speare.

21 Sharp stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the mire.

22 He maketh the depth to boile like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of oymnt.

23 Hee maketh a path to shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.

24 In  $\S$  earth there is none like him: he is made without feare.

25 He beholdeth all high things: he is a king o'uer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Job. 9 Hee prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him.

13 His children, age and death.

¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, and said, I know that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.

3 Who is hee that hideth counsell without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things too wonderfull for mee, and which I knew not.

4 Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I wil demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

5 I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 ¶ Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lorde also said vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for yee haue not spoken of meethe thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes, and goe to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your felues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall pray for you: for I will accept him, lest I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of mee the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had said vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

10 ¶ Then the Lord turned the captivity of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twife so much as he had before.

11 Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bin of his acquaintance before, and did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and euery one an earring of gold.

12 So the Lord blessed the last daies of Iob more then the first: for he had fourteene thousand sheep, and fixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses.

13 Hee had also seuen sonnes and three daughters.

14 And he called the name of one Iemimah, and the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Keren-happuch.

15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this Iued Iob an hundred & forty yeeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.

17 So Iob died being old, and full of dayes.

THE PSALMES OF DAVID.

THE ARGVMENT.

This booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherin all things are contained that appertaine to true felicity, as well in this life present, as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heavenly wisdom are here set open for vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and his maiesty of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most cleerly. If we would seek his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his infinite countie, and approach neere thereunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here we may haue a most timely and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, how to attaine to life euerm-lasting, here in Christ our onely redeemer, and mediator most evidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true ioy, and how to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecutors of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is euerm against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in so much as they cannot touch a haire of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here we may haue most present remedies against all tentations, and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, lue in the true fcare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is laid up for all them that loue the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSAL I.

Whether it was Esdras, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it seemeth hee did set this Psalme first in manner of a Preface, to exhort all godly men to study and meditate the heavenly wisdom. For the effect thereof is, 1 That they be blessed which giue themselves wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures: 2 And that the wicked conseruers of God, though they seeme for a while happy, yet as long as shall come to miserable destruction.

Blessed is the man that doth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornfull:

2 But his delight is in the law of the Lord, & in his law doth he meditate day & night

3 For he shall be like a tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due season: whose leaf shall not fade: so whatsoever he shall doe shall prosper.

4 The wicked are not so, but as y<sup>e</sup> chaffe, which the wind drineth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

PSAL II.

1 The Prophet David reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer, and aduance it euen to the ende of the world, 20 And therefore exhorteth Kings and rulers, that they would humbly submit themselves vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christs kingdome.

Why doe the heathen *rage, and the people murmur in vaine?

2 The Kings of the earth band themselves, and the Princes are assembled together against the Lord and against his Christ.

3 Let vs breake their bands, & cast their cords away from vs.

4 *But hee that dwelleth in the heauen shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.

5 Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and vexe them in his fore displeasure, saying,

6 Euen I haue set my king vpon Zion mine holy Mountaine.

7 I will declare the decree: that is, the Lorde hath said vnto me, *Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the ends of the earth for thy possession.

9 *Thou shalt crush them with a scepter of yron, and breake them in peeces like a potters vessel.

10 Be wise now therefore ye kings, bee learned, ye iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

12 Kisse the Sonne, lest he be angry, and ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne. Blessed are all that trust in him.

PSAL III.

1 David driven forth of his kingdome, was greatly tormented in mind for his finnes against God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, & waxeth bold through his promises against the great railings and terrors of his enemies, yea, against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally, he reioyceth for the good successe that God gave him and all the Church.

¶ A Psalme of David, when he fled from his foene Abisalom.

Lord, how are mine aduersaries increased? how many rise against me?

2 Many

1 Many say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. Selah.

2 But thou Lord art a buckler for me: my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head.

3 I did call vnto the Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

4 I laid me down and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord sustained me.

5 I will not bee afraid for ten thousand of the people that should beset me round about.

6 O Lord, arise: helpe me: my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

8 Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing vpon thy people. Selah.

P S A L. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and therefore boldly reprooeth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion, 7 And finally preferreth the fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

¶ To him that excelleth on Negiath.

A Psalme of Dauid.

1 Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou hast let me at libertie, when I was in distresse: haue mercy vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.

2 O yee sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lies? Selah.

3 For be yee sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

4 Tremble, and sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be still. Selah.

5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and trust in the Lord.

6 Many say, Who will shew vs any good? but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheat and their wine did abound.

8 I will lay me downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou, Lord, onely makest me dwell in safety.

P S A L. V.

1 Dauid oppressed with the cruelty of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, he conceiveth comfort, 12 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shall be partakers of the same mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon Nehiloth.

A Psalme of Dauid.

1 Hear me words, O Lord: vaderstand my meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voice of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Hear me voice in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct me vnto thee, and I will waite.

4 For thou art not a God that loueth wickednesse, neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stand in thy fight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceiptfull.

7 But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Leade me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, & couer thou them: and let them that loue thy Name reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt bleesse the righteous, and with fauour wilt compass him, as with a shield.

P S A L. VI.

1 When Dauid by his sinnes had provoked Gods wrath, and now felt not only his band against him, but also conceived the horrors of death everlasting, he desireth forgiveness, 6 Bemoaning that if God took him away in his indignation, he should lacke occasion to praise him as he was wont to doe, whiles he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercy, he sharply rebuketh his enemies, which reioiced in his affliction.

¶ To him that excelleth on Negiath vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

2 Haue mercy vpon me, O Lord, for I am weake, O Lord heale me: for my bones are vexed.

3 My soule is also fore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall praise thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I causely be d every night to swim, and water my couch with my teares.

7 Mine eye is dimmed for despite, and sunke in becaufe of al mine enemies.

8 Away from me all yee workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.

9 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer.

10 All mine enemies shall bee confounded and fore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame suddenly.

P S A L. VII.

1 Being falsely accused by Chulth one of Sauls bisnessmen he calleth to God to be his defender, 5 To whom hee commendeth his innocencie, 9 First shewing that his conscience did not accuse him of any euill toward Saul 12 Next, that is touched Gods glory to award sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entering into the consideration of Gods mercies & promise, he maxeth bold, and derideth the vaine enterprises of his enemies, 16 Threatning that that shall fall on their owne necks, which they haue purposed for others.

1 O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust: saue me from all that persecute me, and deliuer me.

2 Left hee deuoure my soule like a lyon, and teare it in pieces, whiles there is none to helpe.

3 O Lord my God, if I haue done this thing, if there be any wickednesse in mine hands,

4 If I haue rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with mee, (yea, I haue deliuered him that vexed me without cause)

5 Then let the enemy persecute my soule and take it: yea, let him tread my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah.

I will praise the Lord with my whole heart: I will speake of all thy marvellous workes.

2 I will be glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most High,

3 For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall and perish at thy presence.

4 For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudgeth right.

5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.

6 O enemy, destructions are come to a perpea refuge in due time, even in affliction.

10 And they that know thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seeke thee.

11 Sing praises to the Lord which dwelleth in Zion: shew the people his workes.

12 For when hee maketh inquisition for blood, he remembreth it, & forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.

13 Haue mercy vpon me, O Lord: consider my

1 He complainer of the fraud, rapine, tyranny, and all kinde of wrong which worldly men use, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore sitting poore: let them bee taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the couetous blesseth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord.

4 The wicked is so proud, that he seeketh not

P S A L. XI.

1 This Psalme containeth two parts. In the first David sheweth how hard assaults of tentations he sustained, and in how great anguish of mind he was when Saul did persecute him. 2 Then next he reioyceth that God sent him succour in his needfull, declaring his iustice as well in governing the good, and the wicked men, as the whole world.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. In the Lord put I my trust, how say ye then to my soule, Flee to your mountaine as a bird?

2 For loe, the wicked bend their bow: and make ready their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoot at them which are vpright in heart.

3 For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done?

4 The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lords Throne is in the heauen: his eyes will consider: his eye-lids will trie the children of men.

5 The Lord will trie the righteous: but the wicked & him that loueth iniquity doth his soule hate.

6 Vpon the wicked he shall raine snares, fire and brimstone, and stormie tempests: this is the portion of their cup.

7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteoufnes: his countenance doth behold the iust.

P S A L. XII. 2

1 The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people and the decay of all good order, desireth God speedily to send succour to his children. 7 Then comforting himselfe and other with the assurance of Gods helpe, he commendeth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune, A Psalme of David.

HELPE Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed fro among the children of men.

2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbor, flattering with their lips, and speake with a double heart.

3 The Lord cut off all flattering lippes, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:

4 Which haue said, With our tongue will we preuaile: our lips are our own: who is Lord ouer vs?

5 Now for the oppression of the needie, and for the sighes of the poore I will vp, saith the Lord, and will set at libertie him whom the wicked hath snared.

6 The words of the Lord are pure words, as the siluer, tried in a fornace of earth, fined seuen fold.

7 Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preferue him from this generation for euer.

8 The wicked walke on euery side: when they are exalted, it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

P S A L. XIII.

1 David as it were ouercome with sundrie and new afflictions, fleeth to God as his onely refuge, 3 and so as the length being encouraged though Gods promises, he conceiue must sure confidence against the extreame horrors of death.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. How long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for euer? how long wilt thou hide thy face from me?

2 How long shall I take counsel within my selfe, hauing wearinesse dayly in mine heart? how long shall mine enemy be exalted aboue me?

3 Beholde, and heare mee, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes that I sleepe not in death:

4 Left mine enemy say, I haue preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide.

5 But I trust in thy mercy: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: I will sing vnto the Lord, because he hath dealt lovingly with me.

P S A L. XIII.

1 He describeth the persequenace of men, which were so gotten to licentiousnes, that God was brought to utter contempt. 7 For the which thing although hee was greatly grieved, yet being perswaded that God would send some present remedie, he comforteth himselfe and others.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

THE foole hath said in his heart, There is no God: they haue corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.

2 The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand and seeke God.

3 All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

4 Doe not all the workers of iniquitie know that they eat vp my people, as they eat bread: they call not vpon the Lord.

5 There they shall be taken with feare, because God is in the generation of the iust.

6 You haue made a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lord is his trust.

7 Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iacob shall reioyce, and Israel shall bee glad.

¶ Note that of this 14. Psalme the 5, 6, and 7. verses, which are put into the common Translation, and may seeme to some to be left out in this, are not in the same Psalme in the Hebrew text, but are put in more fullie to expresse the manners of the wicked: and are gathered out of the 5, 14. and 10. Psalms, the 59. of the Prophet Isaiah, and the 36. Psalme, and are alleged by S. Paul, and placed together in the third to the Romans.

P S A L. XV. 3

1 This Psalme teacheth on what condition God did chuse the Iewes for his peculiar people, and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by liuing vprightly, and godly, might witness that they were his speciall and holy people.

¶ A Psalme

A Psalm of Dauid.

Lord who shal dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shal rest in thine holy mountaine?

2 He that walketh vprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart.

3 He that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiuech a false report against his neighbour.

4 In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but hee honoureth them that feare the Lord: hee that sweareth to his own hinderance, and changeth not.

5 He that giueth not his money vnto vsury, nor taketh reward against the innocent: hee that doeth these things shall neuer be moued.

P S A L. XVI.

1 Dauid prayeth to God for succour, not for his works, but for his faiths sake, 4. professing that he hateth idolatrie, taking God only for his comfort and felicitie, 8. who suffereth him to lacke nothing.

¶ Micham of Dauid.

For a certain issue.

Reserue me, O God: for in thee doe I trust:
2 O my soule, thou hast said vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my well doing extendeth not to thee,

3 But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delight is in them.

4 The forrowes of them that offer to another god, shall be multiplied: their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make * mention of their names with my lips.

Exod. 23. 13.

5 The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt maintaine my lot.

6 The lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.

7 I will praise the Lord, who hath giuen mee counsell: his reines also teach me in the nights.

8 I haue set the Lord alwaies before me: for he is at my right hand, therefore I shall not slide.

9 Wherefore mine heart is glad, & my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doth rest in hope.

10 For thou wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: neither wilt thou suffer thine holy One to see corruption.

11 Thou wilt shew mee the path of life: in thy presence is the fullnesse of ioy: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

P S A L. XVII.

1 Here hee complaineth to God of the cruell pride and arrogancie of Saul, and the rest of his enemies, who thus ragged without any cause giuen on his part. 6. Therefore he desireth God to reuenge his innocency, and deliuer him.

¶ The prayer of Dauid.

Hear the right, O Lord, consider my cry: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfaigned.

2 Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes behold equitie.

3 Thou hast proued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed mee, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth should not offend.

4 Concerning the works of men, by the words of thy lips I kept me from paths of the cruel man.

5 Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feete doe not slide.

6 I haue called vpon thee: surely thou wilt heare me, O God: encline thine eare to mee, and hearken vnto my words.

7 Shew thy marvellous mercies, shew that art the Saviour of them that trust in thee, from such as resist thy right hand.

8 Keepe mee as the apple of the eye: hide mee vnder the shadow of thy wings,

9 From the wicked that oppress me, from mine enemies which compass me round about for my soule.

10 They are inclosed in their owne fat, and they haue spoken proudly with their mouth.

11 They haue compassed vs now in our steppes: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the ground.

12 Like as a Lion that is greedy of pray, and as it were a Lions whelpes lurking in secret places.

13 Vp Lord, disaioynt him, cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked: with thy sword, 14 From men by thine hand, O Lord, from men in thy world, who haue their portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: for their children haue enough, and leaue the rest of wealth to their substance for their children.

15 Still I will behold thy face in righteousness, when I awake, I shall be satisfied with thine image.

P S A L. XVIII.

1 This Psalm is the first beginning of his translation & thanksgiving in the entering into his kingdom, wherein he extollet and praiseth most highly the marvellous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserved and defended him. 32. Also he setteth forth the image of Christs kingdom, that the faithful may be assured that Christ shall alwaies conquer and overcome by the unspeakable power of his Father, though all the whole world should strive there against.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the words of this song, in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul, and said,

I Will loue thee dearly, O Lord my strength.

2 * The Lord is my rocke, & my fortress, and he that deliuereth me, my God & my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the horn also of my saluation, and my refuge.

3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthy to be praised: so shall I be safe from mine enemies.

4 The forrowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednesse made me afraide.

5 The forrowes of the grane haue compassed me about: the snares of death ontooke me.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cried vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my cry did come before him, and into his eares.

7 Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines mooued and shooke, because he was angry.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and a consuming fire out of his mouth: coles were kindled thereat.

9 He bowed the heauens also, and came downe: and darkenesse was vnder his feet.

10 And he rode vpon Cherub, and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the wind.

11 He made darkenesse his secret place, and his paullion round about him, euen darkenesse of waters, and cloudes of the aire.

12 At the brightnesse of his presence his clouds passed, hailestones and coles of fire.

13 The Lord also thundered in the heauen, & the highest gaue his voice, hailestones & coles of fire.

14 Then hee sent out his arrowes and scattered them, and hee increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the channels of waters were scene, and the foundations of the world were discouered at thy rebuking, rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 Hee hath sent downe from aboue and taken me, he hath drawen me out of many waters.

17 Hee hath deliuered me from my strong enemie, and from them which hate me: for they were too strong for me.

18 They preuented mee in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place: he deliuered me, because he fauoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded mee according to my righteousness: according to the purenesse of mine hands he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the waies of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his Lawes were before mee, and I did not cast away his Commandements from me.

23 I was vpriight also with him, and haue kept me from my wickednesse.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness, and according to the purenes of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpriight man wilt thou shewe thy selfe vpriight.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt cast downe the proud lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darkenesse.

29 For by thee haue I broken thorow an hoste, and by my God haue I leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vncorrupt: the word of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mighty saue our God?

32 God giueth me with strength, and maketh my way vpriight.

33 He maketh my feete like hinders feet, and setteth me vpon mine high places.

34 Hee teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bow of brass is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen me the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath staied me, and thy louing kindnesse hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder mee, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete.

39 For thou hast girded mee with strength to battell: them that rose against mee, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast giuen me the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cryed, but there was none to saue them, vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beat them small as the dust before the wind: I did tread them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people whose I haue not knowne, shall serue me.

44 Alfoone as they heare, they shall obey mee: the strangers shalbe in subiection to me.

45 Strangers shall shrink away, and feare in their priue chambers.

46 Let the Lord liue, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted.

47 For is God that giueth mee power to auenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set me vp from them that rose against me: thou hast deliuered me from the cruell man.

49 Therefore I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto vnder me.

50 Great delinances giueth he vnto his King, and sheweth mercie to his anointed, euen to Dauid, and to his seed for euer.

PSAL. XIX.

1 To the intent hee might moue the faithfull to a deeper consideration of Gods glory, hee setteth before their eyes the most exquisite workmanship of the heauens, with their proportion and ornaments. 8 And afterward calleth them to the Law, wherein God hath reuealed himselfe more familiarly to his chosen people. The which peculiar grace by commending the Law, he setteth forth more at large.

3 There is no speech nor language, where their voyce is not heard.

4 Their line is gone forth thorow all the earth, and their words into the endes of the world: in them hath he set a tabernacle for the Sunne.

5 Which commeth forth as a bridegrome out of his chamber, and reioyeth like a mightie man to run his race.

6 His going out is from the end of the heauen: and his compasse is vnto the endes of the same, and none is hid from the heat thereof.

7 The Law of the Lord is perfect, conuerting the soule: the testimonie of the Lord is sure, and giueth wisdom vnto the simple.

8 The statutes of the Lord are right, & reioyce the heart: the Commandement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.

9 The feare of the Lord is cleane, and endureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lord are truth: they are righteous altogether.

10 And more to be desired then gold, yea, then much fine golde: sweeter also then hony and the hony combe.

11 Moreouer, by them is thy seruant made circumspect, and in keeping of them there is great reward.

12 Who can vnderstand his faults? cleanse mee from secret faulces.

13 Keepe thy seruant also from presumptuous finnes: let them not reigne ouer mee: so shall I be vpriight, and made cleane from much wickednesse.

14 Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of mine heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.

PSAL. XX.

1 A prayer of the people vnto God, that is would please him to beare their King, and receive his sacrifice which hee offered before he went to battell against the Ammonites.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid.

THe Lord heare thee in the day of trouble: the Name of the God of Iakob defend thee:

2 Send thee helpe from the Sanctuary, and strengthen strengthen thee out of Zion.

3 Let him remember all thine offerings, and turne thy burnt offerings into ashes. Selah.

4 And graunt thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose:

5 That we may reioyce in thy ſaluation, and ſet vp the banner in the Name of our God, when the Lord ſhall performe all thy petitions.

6 Now know I that the Lord will helpe his annoynted, and will heare him from his Sanctuary, by the mightie helpe of his right hand.

7 Some truſt in charrets, and ſome in horſes: but wee will remember the Name of the Lord our God.

8 They are brought downe, and fallen, but we are riſen and ſtand vpright.

9 Saue Lord: let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

P S A L. XXI.

1 Dauid is the perſon of the people prayſeth God for the victorie, attributing it to God, and not to the ſtrength of man. Wherein the holy Ghoſt directeth the faithfull to Chriſt, who is the perfection of this kingdom.

2 To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.
The King ſhall reioyce in thy ſtrength, O Lord, yea, how greatly ſhall hee reioyce in thy ſaluation!

3 Thou haſt given him his hearts deſire, and haſt not denied him the requeſt of his lips. Selah.

4 For thou diſt prevent him with liberal bleſſings, and diſt ſet a Crowne of pure gold vpon his head.

5 He asked life of thee, and thou gaueſt him a long life for euer and euer.

6 His glory is great in thy ſaluation: dignitie and honour haſt thou laied vpon him.

7 For thou haſt ſet him, as bleſſings for euer: thou haſt made him glad with the ioy of thy countenance.

8 Becauſe the King truſteth in the Lord, and in the mercy of the moſt High, he ſhall not ſlide.

9 Thine hand ſhall find out all thine enemies, and thy right hand ſhall find out them that hate thee.

10 Thou ſhalt make them like a fierie ouen in time of thine anger: the Lord ſhall deſtroy them in his wrath, and the fire ſhall deuoure them.

11 Their truit ſhalt thou deſtroy from the earth, and their ſeed from the children of men.

12 For they intended euil againſt thee, and imagined miſchiefe, but they ſhall not preuaile.

13 Therefore ſhalt thou put them apart, and the ſtrings of thy bow ſhalt thou make ready againſt their faces.

14 Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy ſtrength: ſo will we ſing, and prayſe thy power.

P S A L. XXII.

1 Dauid complained becauſe hee was brought into ſuch extremitie that hee was juſt all hope, but after hee had heard the ſowes and griefes wherewith hee was vexed, 10 He recouereth himſelfe from the bottomleſſe pit of temptation, and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne perſon he ſetſeth forth the figure of Chriſt, whom he did foreſee by the ſpirits of prophesie, that he ſhould maruillouſly and ſtrangeſly be deiected, and a baſed before his father ſhould raiſe and exalt him againe.

2 To him that exalleth vpon! Aſſeeth Haſhahar. A Pſalme of Dauid.

MY God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken mee, and art ſo farre from mine health, and from the words of my roaring?

3 O my God, I crie by day, but thou heareſt not, and by night, but I haue no audience.

4 But thou art holy, and doeſt inhabit the praies of Iſrael.

5 Our fathers truſted in thee: they truſted, and thou diſt deliuer them.

6 They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they truſted in thee, and were not confounded.

7 But I am a worme, and not a man: a ſhame of men, and the contempt of the people.

8 All they that ſee me haue me in deriſion: they make a mow, and nod the head, ſaying, 9 Hee truſted in the Lord, let him deliuer him: let him ſaue him, ſeeing he loueth him.

10 But thou diſt draw mee out of the wombe: God, thou gaueſt me hope, when at my mothers breſts.

11 I was caſt vpon thee, when from the wombe: thou art my God from my mothers belly.

12 Bee not farre from mee, becauſe trouble is neere: for there is none to helpe me.

13 Many yong buls haue compaſſed me: mightie buls of Baſhan haue cloſed me about.

14 They gape vpon me with their monthes, as a ramping and roaring lion.

15 I am like water powred out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like waxe: it is molten in the midſt of my bowels.

16 My ſtrength is dried vp like a poſteboard, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou haſt brought me into the duſt of death.

17 For dogs haue compaſſed me, and the aſſembly of the wicked haue incloſed me: they pearced mine hands and my feet.

18 I may tell all my bones, yet they behold, and looke vpon me.

19 They part my garments among them, and caſt lots vpon my veſture.

20 But be not thou far off, O Lord, my ſtrength: haſten to helpe me.

21 Deliuer my ſoule from the ſword: my deſolate ſoule from the power of the dog.

22 Saue me from the Lyons mouth, and anſwere me in ſauing me from the horne of the Vnicornes.

23 I wil declare thy Name vnto my brethren, in the midſt of the Congregation wil I praife thee, ſaying, 24 Praise the Lord, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him all the ſeed of Iſaack, and feare ye him, all the ſeed of Iſrael.

25 For he hath not deſpised nor abhorred the affliction of the poore: neither hath hee hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard.

26 My praife ſhall bee of thee in the great Congregation: my vowes wil I performe before them that feare him.

27 The poore ſhall eate and bee ſatiſfied: they that ſeeke after the Lord, ſhall praife him: your heart ſhall liue for euer.

28 All the endes of the world ſhall remember themſelues, and turne to the Lord, and all the kindreds of the nations ſhall worſhip before thee.

29 For the kingdom is the Lords, and hee ruleth among the nations.

30 All they that be fat in the earth, ſhall eat and worſhip: all they that go downe into the duſt, ſhall bow before him, euen hee that cannot quicken his owne ſoule.

31 Their ſeed ſhall ſerue him: it ſhall bee counted vnto the Lord for a generation.

32 They ſhall come, and ſhal declare his righteousnes vnto a people that ſhalbe borne, becauſe he hath done it.

E

Or, the kinde of the morning, and this was the Name of some common pug.

P S A L. XXIII.

1 Because the Prophet had proved the great mercies of God at diuers times, and in sundry manners, hee gathereth a certaine assurance, fully perswading himselfe that God wil continue the very same goodnesse towards him for ever.

¶ A Psalm of David.

The Lord is my *Shepherd, I shall not want.
2 He maketh me to rest in greene pasture, and leadeth me by the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soule, and leadeth me in the paths of righteoussnes for his Names sake.

4 Yea, though I should walke thorow the valley of the shadow of death, I will feare no euill: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staffe they comfort me.

5 Thou dost prepare a table before me in the sight of mine aduersaries: thou dost anoynt my head with oyle, and my cup runneth ouer.

6 Doubtlesse, kindnesse and mercy shall follow mee all the dayes of my life: and I shall remaine a long season in the house of the Lord.

P S A L. XXIII.

1 Albeis the Lord God hath made and gouerneth all the world, yet toward his chosen people his gracious goodnesse doth most abundantly appeare, in that among them he will haue his dwelling place. Which though it was appointed among the children of Abraham, yet only they doe euer as right into the Sanctuary, which are the true worshippers of God, purged from the filth of this world. 7 Finally, he magnifieth Gods grace for the building of the Temple, so the end he might fir vp all the faithful to the true seruice of God.

¶ A Psalm of David.

The earth * is the Lords, and all that therein is: the world and they that dwell therein.

2 For he hath founded it vpon the seas, and established it vpon the floods.

3 Who shall ascend vnto the mountaine of the Lord: and who shall stand in his holy place?

4 Euen he that hath innocent hands, and a pure heart: which hath not lift vp his heart vnto vanity, nor sworne deceitfully.

5 He shall receiue a blessing from the Lord, and righteousnes from the God of his saluation.

6 This is the generation of them that seek him, of them that seeke thy face, this is Iacob. Selah.

7 Lift vp your heads, ye gates, and be ye lift vp ye euerslasting doores, and the king of glory shall come in.

8 Who is this King of glory? the Lord strong and mightie, euen the Lord mightie in battell.

9 Lift vp your heads, ye gates, and lift vp your flues, ye euerslasting doores, and the King of glory shall come in.

10 Who is this King of glory? the Lord of hosts, he is the King of glory. Selah.

P S A L. XXV.

1 The Prophet touched with a consideration of his sinnes, and also grieved with the cruell malice of his enemies, & prayeth to God most seruenly to haue his sinnes forgiven, 7 especially such as he had committed in his youth. He beginneth euery verse according to the Hebrew letters, two or three except.

¶ A Psalm of David.

Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I vp my soule.

2 My God, I trust in thee, let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.

3 * So all that hope in thee, shall not bee ashamed: but let them be confounded that transgresse without cause.

4 Shew mee thy wayes, O Lord, and teach mee thy paths.

5 Leade me forth in thy trueth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my saluation, in thee doe I trust all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bin for euer.

7 Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebelliousnes, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou me, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.

9 Them that be meeke, will he iudge in iudgement, and teach the humble his way.

10 All the paths of the Lord are mercy and truth vnto such as keepe his covenant, and his testimonies.

11 For thy Names sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.

12 What man is he that feareth the Lord? him will he teach the way that he shall chuse.

13 His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seed shall inherite the land.

14 The secret of the Lord is reuealed to them that feare him: and his covenant to giue them vnderstanding.

15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for hee will bring my feet out of the net.

16 Turne thy face vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: for I am desolote and poore.

17 The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Looke vpon mine affliction and my trouble, and forgie all my sinnes.

19 Behold mine enemies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruell hatred.

20 Keepe my soule, and deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.

21 Let mine vprightnesse and equitie presem me: for mine hope is in thee.

22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

P S A L. XXVI.

1 Dauid oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for aide from God: and assured of his integritie toward Saul, desired God to be his Iudge, and defend his innocencie. 6 Finally, he maketh mention of his sacrifice which he will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the companie of such faithful in the Congregation of God, whence hee was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open praises and thanksgiving.

¶ A Psalm of David.

Iudge me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.

2 Prone me, O Lord, and trie me: examine my reines, and my heart.

3 For thy louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth.

4 I haue not haunted with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.

5 I haue hated the assemblie of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I will walke mine hands in innocencie, O Lord, and compass thine altar, 7 That I may declare with the voice of thanksgiving, and set forth all thy wonderous works.

8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with bloody men.

10 In whose hands is wickednes, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But I wil walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me.

12 My foot standeth in vprightnesse: I wil praise thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

PSAL. XXVII.

David maketh this Psalm being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayes and thanksgivings annexed: & Wherein wee may see the constant faith of David against the assaults of all his enemies, 7 and also the ends wherefore hee desireth to liue and to bee deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalm of David.

The Lord is my light and my saluation, whome shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, even mine enemies, and my foes came vpon mee to cate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoste pitched against mee, mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be raised against me, I will trust in this.

4 One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, even that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord, and to visit his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pavilion shall he hide me, and set me vp vpon a rocke.

6 And now shall hee lift vp mine head above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and praise the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord. when I cry: haue mercy also vpon me, and heare me.

8 When thou saidst, Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 Though my father and my mother should forsake me, yett the Lord will gather me vp.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path because of mine enemies.

12 Gine mee not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnessen risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had beleued to see the goodnesse of the Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and hee shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

PSAL. XXVIII.

Being in great feare and heavinesse of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, hee desireth to be rid of them: 4 and crieth for vengeance against them: and at length assureth himselfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whose suiton he commendeth all be faithfull.

A Psalm of David.

Vnto thee, O Lord, doe I crye, O my strength, be not deaf to me, lest if thou answer me not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp mine hands toward thine holy Oracle.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, & with the workers of iniquitie, which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 Reward them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednesse of their inventions: recompense them after the worke of their bandes: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore brake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 Praisee bee the Lord, for hee hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength and my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped. therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him.

8 The Lord is their strength, and hee is the strength of the deliuerances of his anointed.

9 Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feed them also, and exalt them for euer.

PSAL. XXX.

The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world (which for the most part thinke there is no God) 3 at the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God threatneth sinners, yet a bee alwayes mercifull to him, and smoothen them thereby to praise his Name.

A Psalm of David.

Give vnto the Lord yee ionnes of the mightie: giue vnto the Lord glory and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in his glorious Sanctuary.

3 The voyce of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voyce of the Lord is mightie: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

5 The voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 Hee maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and Shiron like a yong Vaucome.

7 The voyce of the Lord diuiddeth the flames of fire.

8 The voyce of the Lord maketh the wilderness to tremble: the Lord maketh the wilderness of Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voyce of the Lord maketh the bindes to calae, and discouereth the secrettes: therefore in his Temple doeth euey man speake of his glory.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the flood, & the Lord doeth remaine King for euer.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall blesse his people with peace.

PSAL. XXX.

When David was deliuered from great danger, he rendered thanks to God, exhorting others to doe the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull, then severe and rigorous towards his children, 7 and also that the fall from prosperitie is aduersitie is sudden. 8 Thou done, he returned to prayer, promising to praise God for euer.

A Psalm or song of the dedication of the house of David.

I Will magnifie thee, O Lord, for thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my soule out of the grave: thou hast reuined me from them that goe downe into the pit.

4 Sing praises vnto the Lord, ye his Saints, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his Holinesse.

145. **For be enuieib but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life: weeping may abide at euenig, but ioy commeth in the morning.*

146. And in my prosperitie I said, I shall neuer be moued.

147. For thou Lord of thy goodnesse hadst made my mountaine to stand strong: but thou didst hide thy face, and I was troubled.

148. Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

149. What profit is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit? shall the dust giue thanks vnto thee? or shall it declare thy truth?

150. Hear, O Lord, and haue mercie vpon mee: Lord, be then my helper.

151. Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my facke, and girded me with gladnes.

152. Therefore shall my tongue praise thee & not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for euer.

P S A L. XXXI.

1 David deliuered from some great danger, first re-bushes what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, but enemy being ready to take him. 15 Then he affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwayes ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally he exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God, and to loue him, because hee preferreth and strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

153. In thee, O Lord haue I put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousness.

154. Bow downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer me: be vnto me a strong rock, and an house of defence to saue me.

155. *For thou art my rocke and my fortresse:
therefore for thy Names sake direct me and guide me.*

156. Draw mee out of the net that they haue laid pruilly for me: for thou art my strength.

157. Into thine hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth.

158. I haue hated them that giue themselves to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord.

159. I will be glad and reioyce in thy mercy: for thou hast sene my trouble: thou hast knowen my soule in aduersities.

160. And thou hast not shut mee vp in the hand of the enemy, but hast set my feet at large.

161. Haue mercy vpon mee, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eye, my soule, and my belly are consumed with griefe.

the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.*

168. Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruant, and saue me through thy mercy.

17. Let mee not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked bee put to confusion: and to silence in the graue.

18. Let the lying lips bee made dumbe, which cruelly, proudly, and spitefully speake against the righteous.

19. How great is thy goodnesse, which thou hast laid vp for them that feare thee, and done to them that trust in thee, euen before the somes of men!

P S A L. XXXII.

1 David punished with venous sicknesse for his sinnes, counteth them blessed to whom God doeth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that he had confessed by sinnes and obtained pardon, 6 He exhor-teth the wicked men to liue godly, 11 and the good to reioyce.

A Psalme of Dauid to giue instruction.

Blessed is he whose wickednesse is forgiven, and whose sinne is couered.

2. Blessed is the man vnto whom the Lord im-puteth not iniquity, & in whose spirit there is no guile.

3. When I held my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day,

4. (For thine hand is heavy vpon mee day and night, and my moysture is turned into the drought of Summer. Selah.)

5. Then I acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse vnto the Lord, and thou forgavest the punishment of my sinne. Selah.

6. Therefore shall euery one that is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a time when thou maiest be found: surely in the flood of great waters they shall not come neere him.

7. Thou art my secret place: thou preferrest me from trouble: thou compassedst mee about with ioyfull deliuerance. Selah.

8. I will instruct thee, and teach thee in the way that thou shalt goe, and I will guide thee with mine eye.

9. Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose mouths thou doest binde with bit and bridle, lest they come neere thee.

10. Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compass him.

11. Be glad ye righteous, & reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all yee that are vpright in heart.

P S A L. XXXIII.

1 Hee exhorteth good men to praise God, for that hee hath not onely created all things, and by his providence governeth the same, but also is faithfull in his promises, 20 hee vnderstandeth mans heart, and statteth the counsell of the wicked, 26 so that no man can be prefered by any creature or mans strength: but they that put their confidence in his mercie, shall bee preserved from all aduersities.

R Eioyce in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it be-cometh vpright men to be thankfull.

2. Prayse

2 Praise the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with vielle and instrument of ten strings.

3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cheerefully with a loude voice.

4 For the word of the Lord is righteous, and all his workes are faithfull.

5 He loueth righteousness and iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnesse of the Lord.

6 By the word of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He gathereth the waters of the sea together vpon an heape, and layeth vp the depths in his treasures.

8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all them that dwell in the world, feare him.

9 For he spake, and it was done: he commanded, and it stood.

10 The Lord breaketh the counsell of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the deuises of the people.

11 The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages.

12 Blessed is that nation, whose God is the Lord: emph for the people that he hath chosen for his inheritance.

13 The Lord looketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the children of men.

14 From the habitation of his dwelling hee beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth.

15 He fashioneth their hearts euery one, and vnderstandeth all their workes.

16 The king is not saved by the multitude of an host, neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength.

17 An horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength.

18 Behold, the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them that trust in his mercie.

19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine.

20 Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shield.

21 Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name.

22 Let thy mercie, O Lord, be vpon vs, as wee trust in thee.

P S A L. XXXIIII.

1 After David had escaped Achish, according as it is written in the 1. Sam. 21. 11. whom in this title he calleth Abimelech (which was a generall name to all the kings of the Philistines) he praiseth God for his deliuerance, prouoking all others by his example to trust in God: to feare and to serue him: 7 Who defendeth the godly with his Angels, 16 and vsterly destroyeth the wicked in their sinnes.

A Psalm of David, when he changed his behaviour before Abimelech, who droue him away and he departed.

I Will alway giue thanks vnto the Lord: his praise shall be in my mouth continually.

2 My soule shall glory in the Lord: the humble shall heare it, and be glad.

3 Praise ye the Lord with mee, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

4 I fought the Lord and he heard me: yea, hee deliuered me out of all my feare.

5 They shall looke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed, saying,

6 This poore man cried, and the Lord heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles.

7 The Angel of the Lord pitcheth round about them that feare him, and deliuereth them.

8 Taste yee and see, how gracious the Lord is, blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

9 Feare the Lord, yee his Saints: for nothing waiteth to them that feare him.

10 The Lyons doe lacke and suffer hunger, but they which seeke the Lord, shall want nothing that is good.

11 Come children, hearken vnto me: I will teach you the feare of the Lord.

12 *What man is he, that desireth life, and neeth long dayes for to see good?

13 Keepe thy tongue from euil, and thy lips, that they speake no guile.

14 Eschew euill and doe good: seeke peace and follow after it.

15 The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their cry.

16 But the face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth.

17 The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

18 The Lord is nere vnto them that are of a contrite heart, and will saue such as be afflicted in spirit.

19 Great are the troubles of the righteous, but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

20 Hee keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 But malice shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish.

22 The Lord redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none that trust in him shall perish.

P S A L. XXXV.

1 So long as Saul was enemie to David, all that had any authoritie vnder him, to flatter their king (as is the course of the world) did almost cruelly persecute David: against whom hee prayeth God to plead and to auenge his cause, 8 that they may be taken in their nets and snares, which they laid for him, that his innocencie may be declared, 27 and that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and praise the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruants. 28 And so hee promisseth to speake forth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalm of David.

PLeade thou my cause, O Lord, with them that strue with mee: fight thou against them that fight against me.

2 Lay hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out also the speare, and stoppe the way against them that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them bee confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them be turned back, and brought to confusion that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them bee as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them.

6 Let their way bee darke and slippery: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For without cause they haue hid the pit, and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon him at vnawares, and let his net that he hath laid priuily, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall be ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation.

For, was created.

10 All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him that is too strong for him? yea, the poore, and him that is in miserie, from him that boyleth him!

11 Cruell witnesses did liſe vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded me euill for good, to haue spoiled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke. I humbled my soule with fasting, and my prayer was turned vpon my besoume.

14 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.

15 But in mine aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered themselues together: the abjects assembled themselues against me, and I knew not: they tare me, and ceased not.

16 With the false scoffers at bankets, gnawing their teeth against me.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold this? deli-uer my soule from their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the Lions.

18 So will I giue thee thanks in a great congregation: I will praise thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, vnjustly reioyce ouer me, neither let them winke with the eye, that hate me without a cause.

20 For they speake not as friends; but they imagine deceitful words against the quiet of the land.

21 And they gaped on me with their mouths, saying, Aha, aha, our eye hath seene.

22 Thou hast seene it, O Lord: keepe not silence:
be not farre from me, O Lord.

23 Arise and wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord.

24 Iudge me, O Lord my God, according to thy righteousnesse, and let them not reioyce ouer me.

25 Let them not say in their hearts, O our soule reioyce: neither let them say, We haue deuoured him.

26 Let them be confounded and put to shame together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them bee clothed with confusion & shame, that lift vp themselues against me.

27 But let them bee ioyfull and glad that loue my righteousnesse: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord be magnified, which loueth the prosperitie of his seruants.

28 And my tongue shal vtter thy righteousnesse, and thy praise every day.

P S A L. XXXVI.

1 The Prophet grievously vexed by the wicked, doth complane of their malicious wickednesse. 6 Then he turneth to consider the unſpeakable goodnesse of God towards all creatures: 9 But specially towards his children, that by the faith thereof he may be comforted and assured of his deliuerance by this ordinary course of Gods worke. 13 Who in the end destroyeth the wicked, and saueeth the iust.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid,
the ſeruant of the Lord.

Wickednesse sayeth to the wicked man, euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.

2 For hee flattereth himselfe in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is found worthy to be hated.

3 The wordes of his mouth are iniquitie and deceit: hee hath left off to vnderstand and to doe good.

4 Hee imagineth mischief vpon his bed: hee ſearcheth himselfe vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill.

5 Thy mercie, O Lord, reacheth vnto the hea-uens, and thy faithfullnesse vnto the clouds.

6 Thy righteousnesse is like the mighty mount-taines: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, doest saue man and beast. † Ebr. the minis-trants of God: for ner is excellens in deeds called.

7 How excellent is thy mercy, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy wings.

8 They shalbe satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuier of thy pleasures.

9 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light.

10 Extend thy louing kindnesse vnto them that know thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpright in heart.

11 Let not the foot of pride come against mee, and let not the hand of the wicked men moue me.

12 There they are fallen that worke iniquitie:
they are cast downe, and shall not be able to riſe.

P S A L. XXXVII.

1 This Pſalme containeth exhortation and consolation for the weake, that are grieved at the prosperitie of the wicked, and the affliction of the goodly. 7 For how prosperously soeuer the wicked doe liue for the time, he doeth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitory, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserably that the righteous seemeth to liue in the world, yet he endures peace, and be in the fauour of God, and is deliuered from the wicked and peruerſe.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

¶ Ret not thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers.

2 For they shal soone be cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.

3 Trust thou in the Lord and do good: dwell in the land and thou shalt beed assuredly.

4 And delight thy selfe in the Lord, and he shal giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousnesse as the light, and thy iudgement as the noone day.

7 Wait patiently vpon the Lord, and hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him that prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

8 Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfe also to doe euill.

9 For euill doers shall be cut off, and they that wait vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land.

10 Therefore yet a little while, and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.

11 But * mecke men shal possesse the earth, and Mat. 5. 5.
haue their delight in the multitude of peace.

12 The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnaweth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for he seeth that his day is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawen their sword, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and needie, and to slay such as be of vp-right conuersa-tion.

15 But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shall be broken.

16 A final thing vnto the iust man it better then great riches to the wicked and mighty.

17 For the armes of the wicked shalbe broken:
but

but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

48 The Lord knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shalbe perpetual.

19 They shall not be confounded in the perillous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue enough.

20 But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shalbe consumed as the fat of lambes: ~~men~~ with the smoke shall they consume away.

21 The wicked boroweth, & payeth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull and giueth.

22 For such as be blessed of God shal inherit the land, and they that be curied of him, shalbe cut off.

23 The paths of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he fall, hee shall not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong and am old: yet saw I neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.

26 But he is euer mercifull and lendeth, and his seed enioyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his saints: they shalbe preferred for euermore: but the seed of the wicked shalbe cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite the land, and dwell therein for euer.

30 The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord will leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him when he is iudged.

34 Wait thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee that thou shalt inherite the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree.

36 Yet he passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 Marke the vpright man, and behold the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressors shalbe destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shalbe cut off.

39 But the saluation of the righteous men shall be of the Lord: he shalbe their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: he shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them because they trust in him.

P S A L. XXXVIII.

1 David singeth of some grievous distaste, acknowledging himselfe to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, and therefore prayeth God to turne away his wrath.

5 He uttereth the greatnesse of his griefe by many words and circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euill treated of his enemies. 22 But in the end with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, and bopesth for speedy helpe as his hand.

¶ A Psalme of David for remembrance

Lord rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

3 For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lieth vpon me.

3 There is nothing found in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones, because of my sinne.

4 For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weighty burden they are too heauy for me. 5 My wounds are putrified, and corrupt because of my foolishnesse.

6 I am bowed, and crooked very sore: I goe mourning all the day.

7 For my remedies are full of burning, and there is nothing found in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and sore broken: I roare for the very griefe of mine heart.

9 Lord, I poure my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart panteth: my strength faileth mee, and the light of mine eyes, euen they are not mine owne.

11 My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my kinsmen stand as farre off.

12 They also that seeke after my life, lay snares, and they that goe about to doe me euill, talke wicked things, and imagine deceit continually.

13 But I as a deafe man heard not, and as a dumbe man which openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a man that heareth not, and is whole mouth: as no reproofes.

15 For on thee, O Lord, doe I waite: thou wilt heare me my Lord, my God.

16 For I said, Heare me, lest they reioyce ouer me: for when my foote slippeth, they extoll themselves against me.

17 Surely I am ready to halte, and my sorow is euer before me.

18 When I declare my paine, and am sorry for my sinne, 19 Then mine enemies are aline, and are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully, are many.

20 They also that reward euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I follow goodnesse.

21 Forsake me not, O Lord: be not thou farr from me, my God.

22 Halte thee to helpe me, O my Lord, my saluation.

P S A L. XXXIX.

1 David uttereth with what great griefe and bitterness of mind he was driuen to these outrageous complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, that hee braught forth yet into words that hee would not, through the greatness of his griefe. 4 Then he rehearseth certaine requests which taste of the infirmities of man, 8 and mixeth with them many prayers: but all doe shew a mind wonderfully troubled, that is may plainly appear how hee did strive mightily against death and disperation.

¶ To the excellent musician Jeduthun.

A Psalme of David.

I thought, I will take heede to my wayes, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumbe, & spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, and my sorow was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and I spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let me know how long I haue to liue.

5 Behold, thou hast made my dayes as an handbreadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah.

6 Doublelesse man walkech in a shadow, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: hee heapech vp riches, and and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what waite I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer mee from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the foolish.

9 I should haue bene dumbe, and not haue opened my mouth, because thou diddest it.

10 Take thy plague away from mee: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes dost chasten man for iniquitie, thou as a moth makest his beautie to consume: surely euery man is vanitie. Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my crye: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, & a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recover my strength, before I go hence and be not.

P S A L. XL.

1 David deliuered from great dangers, doth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, & commendeth his providence towards all mankind. 5 Then doth he promise to giue himself wholly to Gods service, and so declareth how God is truly worshipped. 14 Afterward he giueth thanks & praiseth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for aid and succour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

1 Waited patiently for the Lord, and hee inclined vnto me, and heard my cry.

2 He brought mee also out of the horrible pit, out of the miry clay, & set my feet vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it, and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, & regardeth not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare and speake of them, but they are more then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou diddest not desire: for mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offering and sūne offering hast thou not required.

7 Then said I, Loe I come: for in the roll of the booke it is written of me,

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousness in the great Congregation: loe, I will not reſtaine my lips: O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousness within mine heart, but I haue declared thy truth, and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy truth from the great Congregation.

11 Withdraw not thou thy tender mercy from mee, O Lord: let thy mercie and thy truth alway preſerue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my sinnes haue taken such hold vpon me, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are more in number then the haire of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me.

13 Let it please thee, O Lorde, to deliuer mee: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them bee confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let them all that seeke thee, reioyce and bee glad in thee: and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway, The Lord be praised.

17 Though I bee poore and needy: the Lorde thinketh on me: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarrying.

P S A L. XLII.

1 David being grievously afflicted, bleſseth them that piſſe his caſe, 9 and complaineth of the treason of his owne friends and familiars, as came to paſſe in Iuda, Job. 13. 18. After he feeling the great mercies of God gently chaſtiſing him, and not ſuffering his enemies to triumph againſt him, 13 giueth moſt hearty thanks vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

1 Blessed is hee that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preſerue him aliuē: he ſhalbe bleſſed vpon the earth, & thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will ſtrengthen him vpon the bed of ſorow: thou haſt turned al his bed in his ſickneſſe.

4 Therefore I ſaid, Lord haue mercy vpon mee: heale my ſoule, for I haue ſinned againſt thee.

5 Mine enemies ſpeake euill of mee, ſaying, When ſhall he die, and his name periſh?

6 And if hee come to ſee me, he ſpeaketh lies, but his heart heapeſh iniquity within him, and when he commeth forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate mee, whiſper together againſt me: euen againſt me doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 A miſchiefe is light vpon him, and he that lieth, ſhall no more riſe.

9 Yea, my familiar friend whome I truſted, which did eat of my bread, hath liſted vp the heele againſt me.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercy vpon mee, and raiſe me vp: ſo I ſhall reward them.

11 By this I know that thou fauoureſt mee, becauſe mine enemy doth not triumph againſt me.

12 And as for me, thou vpholdeſt me in mine integrity, and doeſt ſet me before thy face for euer.

13 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael world without end, So be it, euen ſo be it.

P S A L. XLIII.

1 The Prophet grievouſly complaineth, ſo being leſſed by his perſecuters, he could not be preſent in the congregation of Gods people, proteſting that although he was ſeparated in body from them, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And laſt of all he ſheweth, that he was not ſo farre overcome with theſe ſorowes and thoughts, 8 but that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of gine inſtruction, commiſſed to the ſonnes of Korah.

1 As the Hart Brayeth for the riuers of water, ſo panteth my ſoule after thee, O God.

2 My ſoule thiſteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when ſhall I come and appeare before the preſence of God?

3 My teares haue bene my meat day and night, while they dayly ſay vnto me, Where is thy God?

4 When I remembered theſe things, I powred out my very heart, becauſe I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the houſe of God with the voyce of ſinging and praiſe, as a multitude that keepeth a feaſt.

5 Why

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vngaiet within me? wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, because I remember thee from the land of Iorden and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.

7 One deepe calleth another deepe by the noise of the water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord will graunt his louing kindnesse in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life.

9 I will say vnto God which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten me? why go I mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me?

10 My bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproch mee, saying deliuer vnto me, Where is thy God?

11 Why art thou cast downe my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe and my God.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 He prayeth to be deliuered from them which conspire against him, that hee might ioyfully praise God in his holy Congregation.

Iudge mee, O God, and defend my cause against the vnnmercifull people: deliuer me from the deceitfull and wicked man.

2 For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put mee away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me?

3 Send thy light and thy trueth: let them lead me: let them bring me vnto thine holy mountaine, and to thy Tabernacles.

4 Then will I goe vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy and gladnes: and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and why art thou disquieted within mee: wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe and my God.

PSAL. XLIIII.

1 The faithfull remember the great mercy of God toward his people. 9 After they complaine, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they alledge the covenants made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they shew what grievous things they suffered. 23 Finally they pray vnto God not to contemne their affliction, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his bowels.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

WE haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue told vs the workes, that thou hast done in their dayes, in the old time:

2 How thou hast driuen out the heathen with thine hand, & planted them: how thou hast destroyed the people and caused them to grow.

3 For they inherited not the land by their own sword, neither did they owne arme saue them: but thy right hand and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, because thou didst fauour them.

4 Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto Iakob.

5 Through thee haue wee thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose vp against vs.

6 For I do not trust in my bow, neither can my sword saue me.

7 But thou hast saved vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

8 Therefore will we praise God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer. Selah.

9 But now thou art farre off, and putttest vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.

10 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, and they which hate vs, spoile for themselves.

11 * Thou givest vs as sheepe to be eaten, and doest scatter vs among the nations.

12 Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and doest not increase their price.

13 Thou makest vs a reproch to our neighbors, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.

14 Thou makest vs a proverbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people.

15 My confusion is daily before me, & the shame of my face hath couered me, 16 For the voyce of the slanderer and rebaker, for the enemy and auenger.

17 All this is come vpon vs, yet do we not forget thee, neither deale wee falsely concerning thy covenant.

18 Our heart is not turned backe, neither our steps gone out of thy paths, 19 Albeit thou hast fittinen vs downe into the place of dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death.

20 If we haue forgotten the Name of our God, and holden vp our hands to a strange god, 21 Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

22 Surely for thy sake are we slaine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

23 Vp, why sleepest thou, O Lord: awake, be not farre off for euer.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and forgettest our miserie and affliction?

25 For our soule is beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.

26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

PSAL. XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beautie, riches and power are praised, and also his marriage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman, is blessed, 10 in that she can renounce her people, and the loue of her countrey, and giue herself wholly to her husband. Under the which figure the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdom of Christ and the Church his spouse now taken of the Gentiles is described.

To him that excelleth on Shoshannim, a song of loue to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

MY heart will utter forth a good matter: I will intreate in my workes of the king: my tongue as the pen of a swift writer.

2 Thou art fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer.

3 Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mighty, to wit, thy worship and thy glory.

4 And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the word of trueth, and of meekenesse, and of righteousness: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrowes are sharpe to pierce the heart of the Kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.

6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousness.

7 Thou lonest righteousness, and hatest wickednes, because God, even thy God, hath anynted thee with the oyle of gladnesse about thy fellows.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and calisia, when thou comest out of the yuory palaces, where they have made thee glad.

9 Kings daughters were among thine honourable wives: vpon thy right hand did stand thy Queene in a vesture of gold of Ophir.

10 Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people, and thy fathers house.

11 So shal the King haue pleasure in thy beauty: for he is the Lord, and renerence thou him.

12 And the daughter of Tyrus with the rich of the people shall doe homage before thy face with presents.

13 The Kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of broidered gold.

14 She shalbe brought vnto the king in raiment of neede worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shalbe brought vnto thee.

15 With ioy and gladnesse shal they be brought, and shall enter into the kings palace.

16 In stead of thy fathers shal thy children be: thou shalt make them princes thorow all the earth.

17 I will make thy name to be remembered thorow all generations: therefore shal the people giue thanks vnto thee world without end.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thankes-giuing for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Saneherib with his armie was driven away, or some other like sudden and maruillous deliuerance by the mighty hand of God.

2 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefit, doth exhort the faithfull to giue themselves wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall bee safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because shew is his delight to asswage the rage of the wicked, when they are most busie against the iust.

3 To him that excelleth vpon Alamoth. A song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

4 God is our hope & strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found.

5 Therefore will not we feare though the earth be moued, and though the mountaines fall into the mids of the sea.

6 Though the waters thereof rage, and be troubled, and the mountaines shake at the furies of the same. Selah.

7 Yet there is a riuer, whose streames shall make glad the citie of God: even the Sanctuary of the Tabernacles of the most High.

8 God is in the mids of it: therefore shall it not be moued: God shall helpe it very early.

9 When the nations raged, and the kingdomes were moued, God was thundred, and the earth melted.

10 The Lord of hosts is with vs: the God of Iacob is our refuge. Selah.

11 Come, and behold the workes of the Lord, what desolations he hath made in the earth.

12 He maketh warres to cease vnto the endes of the world: he breaketh the bow, and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire.

13 Be still and know that I am God: I will bee exalted among the heathen, and I will bee exalted in the earth.

11 The Lord of hosts is with vs: the God of Iacob is our refuge. Selah.

PSAL. XLVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all people to the worship of the true and euertling God, commending the victory of God toward the posterity of Iacob. 2 And after propheticall of the kingdome of Christ in the time of the Gospel.

3 To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

4 All people clap your hands: sing loud vnto God with a ioyfull voyce.

5 For the Lord is high and terrible: a great King ouer all the earth.

6 He hath subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feet.

7 He hath chosen our inheritance for vs: even the glory of Iacob whom he loued. Selah.

8 God is gone vp with triumph, even the Lord, with the sound of the trumpet.

9 Sing praises to God, sing praises: sing praises vnto our King, sing praises.

10 For God is the King of all the earth: sing praises every one that hath vnderstanding.

11 God reigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy throne.

12 The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong to God: he is greatly to be exalted.

PSAL. XLVIII.

1 A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hand of many kings is mentioned, for the which thanks are giuen to God, and the state of that citie is praised, that hath God so presently at all times ready to defend them. This Psalm seemeth to be made in the time of Abaz, Iosaphat, Aza, or Ezekiah: for in their times chiefly was the city by force time princes assaulted.

2 A song or Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

3 Great is the Lord, and greatly to bee praised in the city of our God, even vpon his holy mountaine.

4 Mount Zion lying Northward is faire in situation: it is the ioy of the whole earth, and the city of the great King.

5 In the palaces thereof God is knowen for a refuge.

6 For loe, the Kings were gathered, and went together.

7 When they saw it, they marueiled: they were astonied, and suddenly driuen backe.

8 Feare came there vpon them, and sorrow, as vpon a woman in trauell.

9 As with an East wind thou breakest thy ships of Tarshish, so were they destroyed.

10 As we haue heard, so haue we seene in the city of the Lord of hosts, in the city of our God: God will stablish it for euer. Selah.

11 We wait for thy louing kindnesse, O God, in the mids of thy Temple.

12 O God, according vnto thy Name, so is thy praise vnto the worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousness.

13 Let mount Zion reioyce, and the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements.

14 Compasse about Zion, and go round about it, and tell the towres thereof.

15 Marke well the wall thereof: beholde her towres, that ye may tell your posterity.

16 For this God is our God for euer and euer: he shalbe our guide vnto the death.

1 The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life, 7 Shewing them not to be most blessed, that are most wealthy, and therefore not to be feared: but contrariwise hee lieth up our mindes to consider how all things are ruled by Gods providence: 14 Who as hee iudgeth these worldly misers to everlasting torments, 15 so doth he preserve vs, & will reward to us in the day of the resurrection, 2. ¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

HEare this, all ye people: gine care all yee that dwell in the world,

2 As well low as high, both rich and poore.

3 My mouth shall speake of wise doime, and the meditation of my heart is of knowledge.

4 I will incline mine eare to a parable, and utter my graue matter vpon the harpe.

5 Wherefore should I feare in the euill dayes, when iniquitie shall compasse mee about, as as my heeles?

6 They trust in their goods, and beast themselves in the multitude of their riches.

7 Yet a man can by no meanes redeeme his brother: he cannot gine his ransom to God,

8 (So precious is the redemption of their soules and the continuance for euer)

9 That he may liue still for euer, and not see the graue.

10 For he seeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for others.

11 Yet they think their houses and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and shall their lauds by their names.

¶ Or, labor what their name may be famous in earth.

12 But man shall not continue in honour: he is like the beasts that die.

13 This their way uttereth their foolishnes: yet their posterity delight in their talke. Selah.

14 Like sheep they lie in graue: death deuoureth them, & the righteous shall haue domination ouer them in y morning: for their beauty shall consume, when they shall go from their house to graue.

¶ Or, because he hath re- euid me. Job. 27. 19. x. iiii. 6. 7. Ebr. hee bl. sed his soule. Or, his soule.

15 But God shall deliuer my soule fro the power of the graue: ¶ for he will receiue me. Selah.

16 Be not thou afraide when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased.

17 *For he shall take nothing away when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descend after him.

18 For while he liued, ¶ he reioyced himselfe: and men will praise thee, when thou makest much of thy selfe.

19 ¶ He shall enter into the generation of his fathers, and they shall not liue for euer.

20 Man is in honour, and vnderstandeth not: he is like to beasts that perish.

1 Because the Church is alway full of hypocrites, 8 which doe imagine that God will be worshipped with outward ceremonies onely, without the heart, and especially the lewes were of this opinion, because of their figures and ceremonies of the law, thinking that their sacrifices were sufficient, 21 Therefore the Prophet doth reprove this grosse error, and pronounceth the Name of God to be blasphemed, where holinesse is set in ceremonies. 23 For he declareth the worship of God to be spiritual, whereof are two principall parts, Inuocation, and Thanksgiuing.

¶ A Psalm of Asaph.

THE God of gods, euen the Lord hath spoken, and called the earth from the rising vp of the Sunne vnto the going downe thereof.

2 Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beauty, hath God shined.

3 Our God shall come, & shall not keepe silence: a fire shall deuoure before him, and a mighty tempest shall be moued round about him.

4 He shall call the heauen aboue, and the earth to iudge his people.

5 Gather my Saints together vnto mee, those that make a couenant with me with sacrifice.

6 And the heauens shall declare his righteousness: for God is iudge himselfe. Selah.

7 Heare, O my people, and I will speake, heare, O Israel, and I will testifie vnto thee: for I am God, euen thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy sacrifices or thy burnt offerings, that haue no: bene continually before me.

9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goats out of thy folds.

10 For all the beasts of the forest are mine, and the beasts on a thousand mountains.

11 I know all the foules on the mountains: and the wild beasts of the field are mine.

12 If I bee hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine, and all that therein is.

13 Will I eate the flesh of bulles: or drinke the blood of goats?

14 Offer vnto God praise, and pay thy vowes vnto the most High.

15 And call vpon mee in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.

16 But vnto the wicked sayd God, What hast thou to doe to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldst take my couenant in thy mouth, 17 Seeing thou hatest to be reformed, and hast cast my words behind thee?

18 For when thou seest a theefe, thou runnest with him, and thou art partaker with the adulterers.

19 Thou givest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgettest deceit.

20 Thou sittest and speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers sonne.

21 These things hast thou done, and I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reprove thee, and set them in order before thee.

22 O consider this, yee that forget God, least I teare you in pieces, and there be none that can deliuer you.

23 He that offereth praise, shall glorifie me: and to him that disposeth his way aright, will I shew the saluation of God.

1 When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan for his great offences, he did not only acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his natural corruption and iniquity, but also left a memoriall thereof in his posterity. 7 Therefore first hee directs God to forgive his finnes, 10 and to renew in him his holy Spirit, 13 with promise that hee will not be vniuersall of those great graces. 18 Finally, fearing lest God would punish the whole Church for his faults, hee requirith that he would rather increase his graces towards the same.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

HAue mercie vpon me, O God, according to thy flowing kindnesse: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities.

2 Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse cleane me from my sinne.

3 For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euer before me.

4 Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou speakest, and pure when thou iudgest.

5 Behold, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceived me.

6 Behold, thou louest truth in the inward affections: therefore hast thou taught me wisdom in the secret of mine heart.

Int. 14.6

7 Purge me with hyssope, and I shall be cleane: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

8 Make me to heare ioy and gladnesse, that the bones which thou hast broken, may reioyce.

9 Hide thy face from my finnes, and put away all mine iniquities.

10 Create in me a cleane heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me.

11 Cast me not away from thy presence, and take not thy holy Spirit from me.

12 Restore to me the ioy of thy saluation, and stablish me with thy free spirit.

13 Then shall I teach thy wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shall be conuerted vnto thee.

14 Deliuer me from blood, O God, which are the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousness.

15 Open thou my lips, O Lord, and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

16 For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delightest not in burnt offering.

17 The sacrifices of God are a contrite spirit: a contrite & a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

18 Be fauourable vnto Zion for thy good pleasure: build vp the walles of Ierusalem.

19 Then shalt thou accept the sacrifices of righteousness, even the burnt offering and oblation: then shall they offer calves vpon thine Altar.

14.8

3 Thou dost loue euill more than good, and liest more than to speake the truth. Selah.

4 Thou louest all words that may destroy, O deceitfull tongue!

5 So shall God destroy thee for euer: hee shall take thee, and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, and root thee out of the land of the liuing. Selah.

6 The righteous also shall see it, and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying,

7 Behold the man that tooke not God for his strength, but trusted vnto the multitude of his riches, and put his strength in his malice.

8 But I shall be like a greene olive tree in the 10 My mercifull God will preuent me: God will let mee see my desire vpon mine enemies.

11 Slay them not, lest the people forget it: but scatter them abroad by thy power, and put them downe, O Lord our shield.

12 For the sinne of their mouth, and the words of their lips: and let them be taken in their pride, euen for their perurie, and lies that they speake.

13 Consume them in thy wrath, consume them that they be no more: and let them know that God ruleth in Iacob, euen vnto the ends of the world. Selah.

14 And in the euening they shall go to and fro and barke like dogs, and goe about the citie.

15 They shall run here and there for meate: and surely they shall not be satisfied, though they tarie all night.

16 But I will sing of thy power, and will praise thy mercy in the morning: for thou hast bene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble.

17 Vnto thee, O my strength, will I sing: for God is my defence, and my mercifull God.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon Shushan Edath, or Michtam. A Psalm of David to teach. * When he fought against Aram Naharaim, and against Aram Zobah, when Iobab returned and slewe twelue thousand Edomites in the salt valley.

O God, thou hast cast vs out, thou hast scattered vs, thou hast bene angry, turne againe vnto vs.

2 Thou hast made the land to tremble, & hast made it to gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken.

3 Thou hast snewed thy people heavy things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddines.

4 But now thou hast giuen a banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy truth. Selah.

5 That thy beloned may bee deliuered, helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

6 God hath spoken in his holinesse: therefore I will reioyce: I shall diuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

7 Gilead shall be mine, & Manasse shall be mine: Ephraim also shall be the strength of mine head: Iudah is my lawgiuer.

8 Moab shall be my washpot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: Palestina shew thy selfe ioyfull for me.

9 Who will lead me into the strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom?

10 Wilt not thou, O God, which hadst cast vs off, and didst not goe forth, O God, with our armies?

11 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

12 Through God we shall doe valiantly: for hee shall tread downe our enemies.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginotoh. A Psalm of David.

Hear me cry, O God: giue eare vnto my prayer.

2 From the endes of the earth will I crie vnto thee: when mine heart is oppressed, bring mee vpon the rocke that is higher then I.

3 For thou hast bene my hope, and a strong tower against the enemy.

4 I will dwell in thy Tabernacle for euer, and my trust shall be vnder the couering of thy wings. Selah.

5 For thou, O God, hast heard my desires: thou hast giuen an heritage vnto those that feare thy Name.

6 Thou shalt giue the King a long life: his yeres shall be as many ages.

7 He shall dwell before God for euer: prepare mercy & faithfulness that they may preferre him.

8 So will I alway sing praise vnto thy Name in performing dayly my vowes.

Yet my ſoule keepeth ſilence vnto God: of him cometh my ſaluation.

2 Yet hee is my ſtrength and my ſaluation, and my defence: therefore I ſhall not be much moued.

3 How long will ye imagine miſchiefe againſt a man? ye ſhall be all ſlaine: ye ſhall be as a bowed wall, or as a wall ſhaken.

4 Yet they conſult to caſt him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they bleſſe with their mouthes, but curſe with their hearts. Selah.

5 Yet my ſoule keepeth thou ſilence vnto God: for mine hope is in him.

6 Yet is hee my ſtrength, and my ſaluation, and my defence: therefore I ſhall not be moued.

7 In God is my ſaluation & my glory, the rocke of my ſtrength: in God is my truſt.

8 Truſt in him alway, yee people: powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah.

9 Yet the children of men are vanitie: the chiefe men are lies: to lay them vpon a ballance, they are altogether lighter then vanitie.

10 Truſt not in oppreſſion nor in robbérie: be not valie: if riches increaſe, ſet not your heart thereon.

Rejoice in God, all yee inhabitants of the earth.

1 Sing forth the glory of his Name: make his prayse glorious.

2 Say vnto God, How terrible art thou in thy workes: I through the greatnesse of thy power shall thine enemies bee in iubilacion vnto thee.

3 All the world shall worship thee, and sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy Name. Selah.

4 Come and behold the workes of God: he is terrible in his doing toward the sonnes of men.

5 He hath turned the Sea into drie land: they passed thorow the riuer on foote: there did we reioyce in him.

6 He ruleth the world with his power: his eyes behold the nations: the rebellious shalt not exalt themselues. Selah.

8 Which holdeth our soules in life, and suffereth not our feete to slip.

9 For thou, O God, hast proued vs, thou hast tried vs as siluer is tried.

10 Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and laid a strait chaine vpon our loynes.

11 Thou hast caused men to ride ouer our heads: we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a wealthy place.

12 I will go into thine house with burnt offerings, and will pay thee my vowes, 13 Which my lips haue promised, & my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction.

14 I will offer vnto thee the burnt offerings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullockes and goats. Selah.

15 Come and hearken, all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule.

16 I called vnto him with my mouth, and hee was exalted with my tongue.

17 If I regard wickednes in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm or song of David.

God wil arise, and his enemies shall be scattered: they also that hate him shall flee before him.

2 As the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou driue them away: and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God.

3 But the righteous shall be glad, and reioyce before God: yea, they shall leape for ioy.

4 Sing vnto God, and sing prayes vnto his Name: exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name Iah, and reioyce before him.

5 He is a Father of the fatherlesse, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation.

6 God maketh the solitary to dwell in families, and deliuereth them that were prisoners in stocks: but the rebellious shall dwell in a drie land.

7 O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest thorow the wilderness, (Selah)

8 The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: euen Sinai was moued at the presence of God, euen the God of Israel.

9 Thou, O God, sentest a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, and thou diddest refressh it when it was wearie.

10 Thy Congregation dwelled therein: for thou O God, hast of thy goodnesse prepared it for the poore.

11 The Lord gaue matter to the women to tell of the great armie.

12 Kings of the armies did flee: they did flee, and she that remained in the house, diuided the spoile.

13 Though yee haue lien among pots, yet shall ye be as the wings of a doue that is couered with filuer, and whose feathers are like yellow gold.

14 When the Almighty scattered Kings in ie, it was white as the snow in Zalmon.

15 The Mountaine of God is like the mountaine of Balhan: it is an high mountaine, as mount Balhan.

16 Why leape ye, ye hie mountaines: as fort hie Mountaine, God delighteth to dwell in it: yea, the Lord wil dwell in it for ever.

17 The charrets of God are twentie thousand thousand Angels, and the Lord is among them as in the Sanctuary of Sinai.

18 Thou art gone vp on high: thou hast led captiuitie captiue, and receiued gifts for men: yea, euen the rebellious hath bowed, that the Lord God might dwell there.

19 Praised be the Lord, euen the God of our saluation, which ladeth vs daily with benefis, Selah.

20 This is our God, euen the God that saureth vs and to the Lord belong the issues of death.

21 Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and the hairy pate of him that walketh in his finnes.

22 The Lord hath said, I will bring my people againe gaine from Basan: I will bring them againe from the depths of the sea:

23 That thy foote may be dipped in blood, and the tongue of thy dogs in the blood of the enemies, euen in it.

24 They haue secne, O God, thy goings, the goings of my God and my King, which are in the Sanctuary.

25 The fingers went before, the players of instruments after: in the middes were the maides playing with timbrels.

26 Praise ye God in the assemblies, and the Lord yet that are of the fountaine of Israel.

27 There was little Benjamin with their ruler, and the princes of Iudah with their assembly: the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.

28 Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that which thou hast wrought in vs.

29 Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: and Kings shall bring presents vnto thee.

30 Destroy the companie of the spearmen, and multitude of the mightie bulles, with the calues of the people, that tread vnder feete peeces of siluer: scatter the people that delight in warre.

31 Then shall the princes come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall haste to stretch her hands vnto God.

32 Sing vnto God, O ye kingdoms of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord. (Selah.)

33 To him that rideth vpon the most high heauens, which were from the beginning: behold, he will send out by his voice a mightie sound.

34 Ascribe the power to God: for his Maiesticie vpon Israel, and his strength in the cloudes.

35 O God, thou art terrible: out of thine holy places: the God of Israel is hee that giueth strength and power vnto the people: praised be God.

PSALM. LXXIX.

1 The complaints, prayers, seruent zeale and great anguish of Dauid in his fourth as a figure of Christ and all his members: 21 The malicious crueltie of the enemies, 22 and their punishments also, 26 where Iudas and such traitors are accursed, 30 He gathereth courage in his affliction, and offereth praises vnto God, 32 which are more acceptable then all sacrifice: wherof all the afflicted may take comfort, 35 Finally, he doth promoke all creatures to prayse, prophesying of the kingdom of Christ, and the preseruatiou of the Church, where all the faithfull, 37 and their seed shall dwell for ever.

To him that excelleth vpon Shoshannim.

A Psalm of Dauid.

SAue me, O God: for the waters are entred, euen to my soule.

2 I sticke fast in the deepe mire, where no stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.

3 I am weary of crying: my throte is drie: mine eyes faile, while I waite for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cause, are moe then the haire of mine head: they that would destroy me, and are mine enemies falsly, are mighty, so that I restored that which I tooke not.

5 O God, thou knowest my foolishnesse, and my faults are not hid from thee.

6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, bee ashamed for mee: let not those that seeke thee be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

7 For thy sake haue I suffered reproofe: shame hath couered my face.

8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.

9 For the zeale of thine house hath eaten mee, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

10 I wept, and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe.

11 I put on a sacke also: and I became a proverbe vnto them.

12 They that sate in the gate spake of me, & the drunkards sang of me.

13 But Lord, I make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie, O God, heare mee in the truth of thy saluation.

14 Deliuere me out of the mire, that I sinke not: let me be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the deepe waters.

15 Let not the water flood drowne me, neither let the deepe swallow mee vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

16 Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindeas is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste and heare me.

18 Draw neere vnto my soule, and redeeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast knowen my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine aduersaries are before thee.

20 Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heavinesse, and I looked for some to haue pitie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none.

21 For they gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke.

22 Let their table bee a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine.

23 Let their eyes be blinded, that they see not, and make their loynes alway to tremble.

24 Powre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

25 * Let their habitation be voyd, and let none dwell in their tents.

26 For they persecute him whom thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorow of them whom thou hast wounded.

27 Lay iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, and let them not come into thy righteousnes.

28 Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous.

29 When I am poore and in heavinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

30 I will praise the Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thanksgiuings.

31 This also shall please the Lord better then a yong bullocke that hath hornes and hooves.

32 The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God shall be glad, and thy heart shall liue.

33 For the Lord heareth the poore, & despiseth not his prisoners.

34 Let heaven and earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them.

35 For God will saue Zion, and build the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there, and haue it in possession.

36 The seed also of his seruants shall inherit it: and they that loue his Name shall dwell therein.

8 Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, and with thy glory every day.

9 Cast me not off in the time of age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.

10 For mine enemies speake of me, and they that lay waite for my soule, take their counsell together, 11 Saying, God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliuer him.

12 Goe not farre from mee, O God: my God, haste thee to helpe me.

13 Let them be confounded, and consumed that are against my soule: let them be covered with reproote and confusion, that seeke mine hurt.

14 But I will waite continually, and will praise thee more and more.

15 My mouth shall daily rehearse thy righteousness, and thy saluation: for I know not the number.

16 I will go forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousness, even of thine only.

17 O God, thou hast taught mee from my youth even vntill now: therefore will I tel of thy wonderful works, 18 Yea, even vnto mine old age, and gray head, O God: forsake me not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, and thy power to all them that shall come.

19 And thy righteousness, O God, I will exalt on high: for thou hast done great things, O God, who is like vnto thee?

20 Which hast shewed me great troubles and aduersities, but thou wilt returne and reuiue mee, and wilt come againe, and take me vp from the depth of the earth.

21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me.

22 Therefore will I praise thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and viole: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O holy One of Israel.

23 My lips will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule which thou hast deliuered.

24 My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousness dayly: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame that seeke mine hurt.

P S A L. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example, that neither the worldly prosperitie of the ungodly, 14 nor yet the affliction of the good ought to discourage Gods children: but rather ought to moue vs to consider our fathers providence, and to cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 Forasmuch as the wicked vanish away, 24 And the godly enter into life euerslasting: 28 In hope whereof he resigneth himselfe into Gods hands.

¶ A Psalm committed to Asaph.

YET God is good to Israel: euen to the pure in heart.

2 As for mee, my secte were almost gone: my steps had wel nere slipped.

3 For I fretted at the foolish, when I sawe the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 For there are no bands in their death, but they are lustie and strong.

5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.

6 Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, and crueltie couereth them as a garment.

7 Their eyes stand out for fatnesse, † they haue more then heart can with.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously.

9 They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

11 And they say, How doeth God know it? or is there knowledge in the most High?

12 Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.

13 Certainly I haue cleansed my heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

14 For dayly haue I bene punished, and chastened euery morning.

15 If I say, I will iudge thus, behold, the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me,

17 Vntil I went into the Sanctuary of God: then vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, and castest them downe into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished, and horribly consumed,

20 As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lord, when thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

21 Certainly mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines:

22 So foolish was I and ignorant: I was a beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glory.

25 Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh faileth and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer.

27 For loe, they that withdraw themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoring from thee.

28 As for me, it is good for me to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy works.

1 The faithfull complaine of the destruction of the Church and true religion, 2 vnder the name of Zion, and the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might and free mercies of God, 20 by his covenant, 21 they require helpe and succour for the glory of Gods holy Name, for the saluation of his poore afflicted seruants, 23 and the confusion of his proud enemies.

¶ A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to Asaph.

O God, why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possessed of old. & on the rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy strokes that thou maiest for euer destroy euery enimie that doeth euill to the Sa-duaric.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the middes of thy Congregation, and set vp their banners for signes.

5 He that lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renowned, as one that brought a thing to perfection.

6 But now they breake downe the carued work thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuary into the fire, and rased it to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth how long.

10 O God, how long shall the aduersarie reproch thee? shall the enemy blasphemeth thy Name for euer?

11 Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euenthy right hand? drawe it out of thy bosome, and consume them.

12 Euen God is my King of old, working salu-ation in the mids of the earth.

13 Thou didst diuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakest the head of Liuiathan in pieces, & gauest him to be meat for the people in wil-dernesse.

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine & riuer: thou driedst vp mighty riuers.

16 The day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enimie hath repro-ched the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphe-med thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy turtle doue vnto the beast, and forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider thy covenant: for the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell.

21 Oh let not the oppressed retorne ashamed, but let the poore and needie praise thy Name.

22 Arise, O God, maintaine thine owne cause:
remember thy daily reproch by the foolish man.

23 Forget not the voyce of thine enemies: for the tumult of them that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

¶ To him that excelleth, Destroy not. A Psalm of song committed to Asaph.

WE will praise thee, O God, we will praise thee, for thy Name is neerer: therefore they will declare thy wonderous workes.

2 When I shall take a conuenient time, I will iudge righteously.

3 The earth, and all the inhabitants thereof are dissolved: but I will establish the pillars of it, Selah.

4 I said vnto the foolish, Be not so foolish, and to the wicked, Lift not vp the horn.

5 Lift not vp your horn on high, neither speake with a stiffe necke,

6 For to come to perferment is neither from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South:

7 But God is the Iudge: hee maketh low, and he maketh high.

8 For in the hand of the Lord is a cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, and hee powreth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall wring out, and drinke the dregs thereof.

9 But I will declare for euer, and sing praises vnto the God of Iacob.

10 All the hornes of the wicked also will I breake: but the hornes of the righteous shall be exalted.

PSAL. LXXVI.

1 This Psalm setteth forth the power of God, and care for the defence of his people in Jerusalem, in the destruction of the army of Sennacherib: 11 And exhorteth the faithful to be thankfull for the same.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm of song committed to Asaph.

GOD is known in Iudah: his Name is great in Israel.

2 For in Shalem is his Tabernacle, & his dwelling in Zion.

3 There brake he the arrowes of the bow, the shield and the sword and the battell. Selah.

4 Thou art more bright and puissant then the mountaines of pray.

5 The flint hearted are spoiled: they haue slept their sleepe, and all the men of strength haue not found their hands.

6 At thy rebuke, O God of Iacob, both the chariots and horse are cast asleepe.

7 Thou, euen thou art to bee feared: and who shall stand in thy sight, when thou art angry!

8 Thou diddest cause thy iudgement to bee heard from heauen: therefore the earth feared and was still.

9 When thou, O God, arose to iudgement to helpe all the meeke of the earth. Selah.

10 Surely the rage of man shall turne to thy praise: the remnant of the rage shalt thou restraine.

11 Vow and performe vnto the Lord your God, alway that be round about him: let them bring presents vnto him that ought to be feared.

12 Hee shall cut off the spirit of princes: hee is terrible to the kings of the earth.

PSAL. LXXVII.

1 The Prophet in the name of the Church rehearseth the greatness of his affliction, and his grievous vexations, & whereby hee was drawn to this end to consider his former conuersation, 11 and the continual course of Gods workes in the preservation of his seruants, and so hee confirmeth his faith against venge-ment.

¶ For the excellent musician * Ieduthun.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

MY voice came to God, when I cried: my voice came to God, and he heard me.

2 In the day of my trouble I sought the Lord: my fore ran and ceased not in the night: my soule refused comfort.

3 I did thinke vpon God, and was troubled: I prayed and my spirit was full of anguish. Selah.

4 Thou keepst mine eyes waking: I was astonished, and could not speake.

5 Then I considered the dayes of olde, and the yeeres of ancient time.

6 I called to remembrance my song in the night: I communed with mine owne heart, and my spirit searched diligently.

7 Will the Lord absent himselfe for euer? and will he shew no more fauour?

8 Is his mercie cleane gone for euer? doeth his promise faile for euermore?

9 Hath God forgotten to be mercifull? hath he shut vp his tender mercies in displeasure? Selah.

10 And I said, This is my death: yet I remembered the yeeres of the right hand of the most High.

11 I remembered the workes of the Lord: certainly I remembered thy wonders of old.

12 I did also meditate all thy workes, and did deuise of thine actes, saying,

13 Thy way, O God, is in the Sanctuary: who is so great a God as our God!

14 Thou art the God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy power among the people.

15 Thou hast redeemed thy people with thine arme, euen the sonnes of Iacob and Ioseph. Selah.

16 The waters saw thee, O God, the waters saw thee, and were afraid: yea, the depths trembled.

17 The clouds powred out water: the heavens gaue a sound: yea, thine arrowes went abroad.

18 The voice of thy thunder was round about: the lightnings lightened the world: the earth trembled and shooke.

19 Thy way is in the sea, and thy pathes in the great waters, and thy footsteps are not known.

20 Thou diddest lead thy people like sheepe by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 Hee sheweth how God of his mercie chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 reproching the stubborne rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not only understand, 11 That God of his free mercie made his covenant with their auncestours, 17 but also seeing them so malicious and perverse, might be ashamed, and so turne wholly to God. In this Psalm the holy Ghost hath comprehended, as it were the summe of all Gods benefits, to the intent the ignorant and grosse people might see in few wordes the effect of the whole histories of the Bible.

Prayer against the wicked.

Psalmes.

Dauid elected King by God.

our fathers that they should teach their children.

6 That the posteritie might know it, and the children which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children :

7 That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God, but keepe his commandments :

8 And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation : a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.

9 The children of Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bow, turned backe in the day of battell.

10 They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law, 11 And forgate his actes, and his wonderfull workes that he had shewed them.

12 He did maruelous things in the sight of their fathers in the land of Egypt : euē in the fieldes of Zoan, 13 * He diuided the sea, and led them thorow: he made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 * In the day time also hee ledde them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 * He claue the rockes in the wilderness, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 * Hee brought floods also out of the stonie rocke, so that hee made the waters to descend like the riuers.

17 Yet they sinned still against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wilderness, 18 And tempted God in their hearts, in requiring meat for their lust.

19 * They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness ?

20 * Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed : can hee giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people ?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angrie, and the fire* was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, 22 Because they beleueed not in God, and trusted not in his help.

23 Yet he had commaunded the cloudes aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rained downe M A N vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.

25 * Man did eate the bread of Angels: hee sent them meat enough.

26 He caused the East wind to passe in the heauen, and through his power hee brought in the South winde.

27 Hee rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered fowle as the sand of the sea.

28 And hee made it fall in the middes of their campe, euē round about their habitations.

29 So they did eate and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned from their lust, but the meate was yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euē vpon them, and slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this they sinned still, & beleueed not his wonderous workes.

33 Therefore their dayes did he consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily.

34 And when hee slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God carely.

35 And they remembered that God was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their heart was not vpriight with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant.

38 Yet hee being mercifull, forgate their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For he remembered that they were flesh: yea, a wind that passeth and cometh not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wilderness? and grieue him in the desert?

41 Yea, they returned, and tempted God, and limited the holy one of Israel.

42 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy,

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke.

45 He sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs, which destroyed them, 46 He gaue also their fruits vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the gralshopper.

47 He destroyed their vines with haille, and their wild figge trees with the haille stone.

48 Hee gaue their cattell also to the haille, and their flockes to the thunder bolts.

49 Hee cast vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation, and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of euill angels.

50 Hee made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, 51 And smote all the first borne in Egypt, euē the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham.

52 But he made his people to go out like sheepe, and led them in the wilderness like a flocke.

53 Yea, he caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the sea couered their enemies.

54 And hee brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuarie: euē to this Mountaine, whiche his right hand purchased.

55 * Hee cast out the heathen also before them, John. 1. 16 and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and 13. 6 and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

56 Yet they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies, 57 But turned backe and dealt fally like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bow.

58 And they prouoked him to anger with their high places, and moued him to wrath with their gauen images.

59 God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel, 60 So that he forooke the habitation of Shilo, euē the Tabernacle where he dwelt among men.

61 And deliuered his power into captiuitie, and his beautie into the enemies hand.

62 And he gaue vp his people to the sword, and was angry with his inheritance.

63 The fire deuoured their chosen men, & their maidens were not praised.

64 Their Priests fell by the sword, and their widows lamented not.

65 But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his wine crieth out, 66 And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetual shame.

67 Yet he refused the tabernacle of Ioseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim;
 68 But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which he loved.
 69 And he built his Sanctuary as an high palace, like the earth, which he established for euer.
 70 Hee chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the sheepfolds.
 71 Euen from behinde the ewes with young brought he him to feede his people in Iakob, and his inheritance in Israel.
 72 So he fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

P S A L. LXXIX.

1 The Israelites complain to God for the great calamities and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 8 and confessing their finnes, flee to Gods mercies with full hope of deliverance, 10 because their calamities were ioyued with the contempt of his Name, 13 for the which they promise to be thankfull.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they desiled, and made Ierusalem heapes of stones.

2 The dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to be meate vnto foules of heauen: and the flesh of thy Saints vnto the beasts of the earth.

3 Their blood haue they shedde like waters round about Iernsalem, and there was none to bury them.

4 We are a reproch to our neighbours, euen a scorn and derision vnto them that are round about vs.

5 Lord, how long wilt thou be angry, for euer? shall thy ielousie burne like fire?

6 Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen, that haue not knowne thee, and vpon the kingdomes that haue not called vpon thy Name.

7 For they haue deuoured Iakob, and made his dwelling place desolate.

8 Remember not against vs the former iniquities, but make haste, and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie.

9 Helpe vs, O God of our saluation, for the glory of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our finnes for thy Names sake.

10 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let them be known among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed.

11 Let the sighing of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mighty arme preferue the children of death, 12 And render to our neighbours seven fold into their bosome their reproch, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord.

13 So we thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation we will set forth thy praise.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

HEARE, O thou shepherd of Israel, thou that ledest Ioseph like theep: shew thy brightnesse, thou that sittest betwene the Cherubims.

2 Before Ephraim and Benjamin, and Manasse, stirre vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs.

3 Turne vs againe, O God, and cause thy face to shine, that we may be saued.

4 O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou hast fed them with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure.

6 Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselves.

7 Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shal be saued.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou madest roome for it, and diddest cause it to take roote, and it filled the land.

10 The mountains were couered with the shadow of it, and the boughs thereof were like the goodly cedars.

11 She stretched out her branches vnto the sea, and her boughs vnto the euier.

12 Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all they which passe by the way, haue plucked her?

13 The wilde bore out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wild beasts of the field haue eaten it vp.

14 Returne, we beseech thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen, and behold and visite this vine, 15 And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the young vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe.

16 It is burnt with fire, and cut downe: and they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thine hand be vpon the man of thy right hand, and vpon the scenne of man whom thou madest strong for thine owne selfe.

18 So will not we goe backe from thee: reuius thou vs and we shall call vpon thy Name.

19 Turne vs againe, O Lord God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.

11 But my people would not heare my voyce, and Israel would none of me.

12 So I gaue them vp vnto the hardnesse of their heart, & they haue walked in their owne counsells.

13 Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, and Israel had walked in my wayes!

14 I would soone haue humbled their enemies, and turned mine hand against their aduersaries.

15 The haters of the Lord should haue bene subiect vnto him, and their time should haue endured for euer.

P S A L. LXXXII.

2 The Prophet declaring God to be present among the Iudges and Magistrates, 2 Reproueth their partialitie, 3 And exhorteth them to do iustice. 5 But seeing no amendment, 8 He desireth God to undertake the matter, and execute iustice himselfe.

¶ A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God standeth in the assembly of gods: he iudgeth among gods.

2 How long will ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah.

3 Doe right to the poore and fatherlesse: doe iustice to the poore and needie.

4 Deliuer the poore and needy: saue them from the hand of the wicked.

5 They know not and vnderstand nothing: they walke in darkenesse, albeit all the foundations of the earth be moued.

6 I haue saide, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High.

7 But ye shall die as a man, and ye princes shall fall like others.

8 O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite all nations.

P S A L. LXXXIII.

1 The people of Israel pray vnto the Lord to deliuer them from their enemies both at home and farre off, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And they desire that all such wicked people may, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the storme tempest of Gods wrath, 18 That they may know that the Lord is most high vpon the earth.

¶ A song or Psalm committed to Asaph.

Keepe not thou silence, O God: be not still, and cease not, O God.

2 For loe, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee haue lifted vp the head.

3 They haue taken crafty counsell against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones.

4 They haue said, Come, and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

5 For they haue consulted together in heart, and haue made a league against thee:

6 The Tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims.

7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistines with the inhabitants of Tyrus:

8 Ashtar also is ioynd with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot. Selah.

9 Doe thou vnto them as vnto the Midianites: as to Siter, and as to Iabin at the river of Kison:

10 They perished at Endor, and were dung for the earth.

11 Make them, euen their princes like * Oreb, like Zalmunna.

12 Which haue sayd, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of God.

13 O my God, make them like vnto a wheele, and as the stubble before the wind.

14 As the fire burneth the Forrest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fire:

15 So persecute them with thy tempest, & make them afraid with thy storme.

16 Fill their faces with shame, that they may seeke thy Name, O Lord.

17 Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish, 18 That they may know that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, euen the most High ouer all the earth.

P S A L. LXXXIII.

1 David driven forth of his country, 2 Desireth most ardently to come againe to the Tabernacle of the Lord, and the assembly of the Saints to praise God, 4 Pronouncing them blessed that may so do. 6 Then he praiseth the courage of the people, that passe thorow the wilderness to assemble themselves in Zion. 10 Finally with praise of this matter and confidence of Gods goodness, he endeth the Psalm.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Lord of hostes, how amiable are thy Tabernacles!

2 My soule longeth, yea, and sainteth for the courts of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.

3 Yea, the sparrow hath found her an house, and the swallow a nest for her, where thee may lay her young: euen by thine Altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God.

4 Blessed are they that dwell in thine houses: they will euer praise thee, Selah.

5 Blessed is the man, whose strength is in thee, and in whose heart are thy wayes.

6 They going thorow the vale of Baca, make welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles.

7 They goe from strength to strength, till every one appeare before God in Zion.

8 O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iakob. Selah.

9 Behold, O God, our shield, and looke vpon the face of thine Anointed.

10 For a day in thy courts is better then a thousand other where: I had rather be a doore keeper in the house of my God, then to dwell in the tabernacles of wickednesse.

11 For the Lord God is the sunne and shield vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no good thing will hee withhold from them that walke vprightly.

12 O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

P S A L. LXXXV.

1 Because God withdrew not his rodde from his Church after their returne from Babilon, first then put him in minde of their deliuerance, 2 to the intent that hee should not leave the people of his grace imperfect. 3 Next they complaine of their long affliction. 4 And thirdly they reioyce in hope of felicitie promised. 5 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christs kingdom, vnder the which should be perfect felicitie.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalmé committed to the sonnes of Korah.

I Ord, thou hast bene fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iacob.

2 Thou hast forgiven the iniquity of thy people, and couered all their sinnes. Selah.

3 Thou hast withdrawn all thine anger, and hast turned backe from the fierces of thy wrath.

4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and releafe thine anger toward vs.

5 Wilt thou bee angry with vs for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

6 Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee?

7 Shew vs thy mercy, O Lord, and grant vs thy saluation.

8 I will hearken what the Lorde God will say, for he will speake peace vnto his people, and to his Saints, that they tyme not againe to folly.

9 Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him, that glory may dwell in our land.

10 Mercy and truth shall meete, righteousnesse and peace shall kisse one another.

11 Truth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall looke downe from heauen.

12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase.

13 Righteousnesse shall go before him, and shall fet her steps in the way.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

David sore afflicted and forsaken of all, prayeth frequently for deliuerance: sometimes rehearsing his miseries, 5 Sometimes the mercies received, 11 Desiring also to bee instructed of the Lord, that hee may feare him and glorifie his Name. 14 Hee complaineth also of his aduersaries, and requirerh to bee deliuered from them.

¶ A prayer of Dauid.

I Ncline thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needy.

2 Preferre thou my soule, for I am mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I cry vp-on thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and mercifull, and of great kindnesse vnto all them that call vpon thee.

6 Giue eare, Lord, vnto my praier, and hearken to the voice of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can do like thy works.

9 All nations, whom thou hast made, shall come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great, & doest wondrous things: thou art God alone.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy truth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for euer.

13 For great is thy mercy toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proud are risen against me, & the assemblies of violent men haue fought my soule, and haue not set thee before them, 15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slowe to anger, and great in kindnesse and truth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon mee: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the sonne of thine handmaid.

17 Shew a token of thy goodnesse toward mee, that they which hate me, may see it, & be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

The holy Ghost promisseth that the condition of the Church which was in misery after the captiuitie of Babilon, should be restored to great excellency, 4 So that there should be nothing more comfortable, then to be numbered among the members thereof.

¶ A Psalmé of sang committed to the sonnes of Korah.

God laid his foundations among the holymountaines.

2 The Lord loueth the gates of Zion aboue all the habitations of Iacob.

3 Glorious things are spoken of thee, O city of God. Selah.

4 I will make mention of Rahab and Babel among them that know mee: behold Palestina and Tyrus with Ethiopia, There is he borne.

5 And of Zion it shall be said, Many are borne in her: and he, whom the most high shall stablish her.

6 The Lord shall count when hee writeth the people, He was borne there. Selah.

7 As well the fingers as the players on instruments shall praise thee: all my springs are in thee.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

A grievous complaint of the faithfull, sore afflicted by sicknesse, persecutions and aduersitie, 7 being as it were left of God without any consolation: 13 Yes he calleth on God by faith, and striveth against desperation, 18 Complaining himselfe to be forsaken of all earthly helpe.

¶ A song or Psalmé of Heman the Ezrahite to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah, for him that excelleth vpon Malath Leannoth.

1. King. 2. 31. 2. 24.

O Lord God of my saluation, I cry day and night before thee.

33.

2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my cry.

3 For my soule is filled with euill, and my life draweth neere to the graue.

4 I am counted among them that goe downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength:

5 Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whom thou rememberest no more, and they are cut off from thine hand.

6 Thou hast laid me in the lowest pit, in darkness, and in the deepe.

7 Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with all thy waues, Selah.

8 Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre from me, and made mee to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get forth.

9 Mine eye is sorrowfull through mine affliction: Lord, I call daily vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.

10 Wilt thou shew a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise and praise thee? Selah.

11 Shall thy louing kindnesse bee declared in the graue? or thy faithfullnesse in destruction?

12 Shall thy wonderous workes be knowne in the darke? and thy righteousnesse in the land of obliuion?

13 But vnto thee haue I cryed, O Lord, and ear-ly shall my prayer come before thee.

14 Lorde, why dost thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from me?

15 I am afflicted and at the point of death: from my youth I suffer thy terrors, doubting of my life.

16 Thine indignations goe ouer mee, and thy feare hath cut me off.

17 They came round about mee daily like water, and compassed me together.

†Ez. were in darke-nesse. 18 My louers and friendes haue thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance † hid themselves.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 With many wordes doeth the Prophet praise the goodnesse of God, 23 For his testament and covenant that hee had made betwene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the Sonne of Dauid. 38 Then doeth hee com-plain of the great ruine and desolation of the kingdome of Dauid, so that is the out ward appearance the promise was broken. 48 Finally hee prayeth to be deli-uered from his afflictions, making mention of the shorines of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promiser.

§ A Psalm to giue instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I Will sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation.

2 For I said, Mercy shall be set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou stablish in the very heauens.

3 I haue made a covenant with my chosen: I haue sworn to Dauid my seruant.

4 Thy seed will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

5 O Lorde, euen the heauens shall praise thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the Congregation of the Saints.

6 For who is equal to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the Saints, and to be reuerenced about all that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hosts, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy trueth is about thee!

9 Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mighty arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

13 Thou hast a mighty arme: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 Righteousnesse and equitie are the establishment of thy throne: mercy and trueth goe before thy face.

15 Blessed is the people that can reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy countenance, O Lord.

16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousness shall they exalt themselves.

17 For thou art the glory of thy strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shall be exalted.

18 For our shield appertaineth to the Lorde, and our King to the holy One of Israel.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto thine holy One, and saidst, I haue laid helpe vpon one that is mighty: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anoynted him.

21 Therefore mine hand shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.

22 The enimie shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him.

23 But I wil destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 My truth also and my mercy shall be with him, and in my Name shall his horne be exalted.

25 I wil set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the floods.

26 Hee shall cry vnto mee, Thou art my father, my God, and the rocke of my saluation.

27 Also I will make him my first borne, higher then the kings of the earth.

28 My mercy wil keepe for him for euermore, and my covenant shall stand fast with him.

29 His seed also will I make to endure for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen.

30 But if his children forsake my law: & walke not in my iudgements:

31 * If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandments:

32 Then will I visit their transgression with a rod, and their iniquity with strokes.

33 Yet my louing kindnesse will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth.

34 My covenant will I not breake, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.

35 I haue sworn once by mine holinesse, † that I will not faile Dauid, saying, 36 His seed shall endure for euer, and his throne shall be as the sunne before me.

37 He shall be established for euermore as the moone, and as a faithfull witnesse in the heauen. Selah.

38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angry with thine anointed.

39 Thou hast broken the covenant of thy seruant, and profaned his crowne, casting it on the ground.

40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast laid his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that goe by the way spoyle him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours,

42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground.

45 The dayes of his youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah.

46 Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire?

47 Remember of what time I am: wherefore shouldst thou create in vaine all the children of men?

48 What man lieth, and shall not see death? shall hee deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.

49 Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth?

50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy ser-uants, which I beare in my bosome of all the mightie people.

51 For thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord,

Lord, because they haue reproched the footstepps of thine Anointed.

3 Praised be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

P S A L. XC.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before us the eternal favour of God toward him, 3 Who are neither admonished by the breuitie of their life, nor by his plagues to be thankfull. 12 Therefore Moses prayeth God to inuene their hearts, & continue his mercies toward them and their posterity for euer.

¶ A prayer of Moses the man of God.

Lord, thou hast bene our habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the mountaines were made and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the worlde, euen from euermlasting to euermlasting thou art our God.

3 Thou turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.

4 For a thousand yeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast ouerflowed them: they are as asleep: in the morning he groweth like the graske.

6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the evening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For wee are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret finnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue spent our yeeares as a thought.

10 The time of our life is threescor yeeares and ten, and if they be of strength, fourescore yeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorow: for it is cut off quickly, and we flee away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare, is thine anger.

12 Teach vs so to number our daies, that we may apply our hearts vnto wisdom.

13 Returne (O Lord, how long?) and be pacified toward thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercy in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeares that we haue seene euill.

16 Let thy worke be seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their children.

17 And let the beauty of the Lord our God bee vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

P S A L. XCI.

1 Heere is described in what assurance hee liueth, that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himself wholly to his protection in all tentations. 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him, and trust in him, to deliuer them, and giue them immortall glory.

2 Who so dwelleth in the secret of the most Hie, shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty.

3 I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope & my fortresse: he is my God, in him will I trust.

4 Surely he will deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noyfull pestilence.

5 He will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

6 Thou shalt not be afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arrow that flieth by daye:

7 Nor the pestilence that walketh in the darke-nesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone daye.

8 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hande, but it shall not come neere thee.

9 Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

10 For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou shalt not be troubled for thy refuge.

11 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy Tabernacle.

12 For he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee, to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

13 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou shalt hurt thy foot against a stone.

14 Thou shalt walk vpon the lion and aspe: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou treade vnder feet.

15 Because hee hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because hee hath known my Name.

16 He shall call vpon me, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.

17 With long life will I satisfie him, and shewe him my saluation.

P S A L. XCII.

1 This Psalm was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre up the people to acknowledge God, and to praise him in his works: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the vngodly, when hee is most flourishing, shall most speedily perish. 12 In the end is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to praise the Lord.

¶ A Psalm or song for the Sabbath day.

IT is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most high.

2 To declare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, and thy truth in the night,

3 Vpon an instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viose, with the song vpon the harpe.

4 For thou, Lord, hast made mee glad by thy workes, and I will reioyce in the workes of thine hands.

5 O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a fool doeth not vnderstand this.

7 When the wicked grow as the graske, and all the workers of wickednesse doe flourish, that they shall be destroyed for euer.

8 But thou, O Lord, art most high for euermore.

9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shall be destroyed.

10 But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vni-cornes, and I shall be anointed with fresh oyle.

11 Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked that rise vp against me.

12 The righteous shall flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as be planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courts of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruit in their age: they shall be fat and flourishing.

15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that noie iniquity is in him.

P S A L. XCIII.

1 Hee praiseth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beateh downe all people which lift shewen up against his maiestie, 5 and pronoketh to consider his promises.

THE Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

2 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

3 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

4 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

5 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

6 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

7 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

8 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

9 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

10 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

11 The Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong: the Lord is King, and he hath shewed himselfe strong.

The Lord reigneth, and is clothed with might: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shall be established, that it cannot be moved.

3 Thy Throne is established of olde: thou art from everlasting.

3 The floods have lifted vp, O Lord, the floods have lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues.

4 The waues of the sea are marvellous through the noyse of many waters, yet the Lord on high is more mighty.

5 Thy testimonies are very sure: holiness becometh thine house, O Lord, for ever.

P S A L. XCIIII.

1 He prayeth vnto God against the violence & arrogancy of tyrants, 10. Warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Then doeth he comfort the afflicted by the good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 23 Whom the Lord will destroy.

O Lord God the auenger, O God the auenger, shew thy selfe clearly.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the worlde, and render a reward to the proud.

3 Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?

4 They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquity vaunt themselves.

5 They smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widowe and the stranger, and murder the fatherlesse.

7 Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iacob regard it.

8 Vnderstand ye vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise?

9 He that planted the eare, shall he not heare? or he that formed the eye, shall he not see?

10 Or he that chastiseth the nations, shall he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shall he not know?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanitie.

12 Blessed is the man, whom thou chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Law, 13 That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord wil not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpright in heart shall follow after it.

16 Who will rise vp with mee against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquity?

17 If the Lord had not holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I sayd, My foot slideth, thy mercy, O Lord, stayed me.

19 In the multitude of my thoughts in mine heart thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquity fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a law?

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, & condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rock of mine hope.

23 And he will recompense them their wickednesse, and destroy them in their owne malice: yet the Lord our God shall destroy them.

1 An earnest exhortation to praise God, 4 For the government of the world, and the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to follow the tradition of the old fathers, that tempted God in the wilderness. 11 For the which they might not enter into the land of promise.

Come, let vs reioice vnto the Lord, let vs sing a loud vnto the rocke of our saluation.

2 Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing loud vnto him with Psalmes.

3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great King about all gods.

4 In whose hands are the deepe places of the earth, and the heights of the mountaines are his.

5 To whom the sea belongeth: for he made it, and his hands formed the drie land.

6 Come, let vs worshipping and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker.

7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheepe of his hand: to day if ye will hear his voyce,

8 Harden not your heart, as in Meribah, as in the day of Massah in the wilderness.

9 Where your fathers were tempted me, proued me, though they had seene my worke.

10 Forty yeeres haue I contended with this generation, and sayde, They are a people that erre in heart, for they haue not knowen my wayes.

11 Wherefore I sware in my wrath, saying, Surely they shall not enter into my rest.

P S A L. XCVI.

1 An exhortation both to the Iewes and Gentiles to praise God for his mercy. And this specially ought to be referred to the kingdome of Christ.

Sing vnto the Lord a newe song: sing vnto the Lord all the earth.

2 Sing vnto the Lord, and praise his Name: declare his saluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glory among all nations: and his wonders among all people.

4 For the Lord is great & much to be praised: he is to be feared about all gods.

5 For all the gods of the people are idols: but the Lord made the heuens.

6 Strength and glorie are before him, power and beauty are in his Sanctuary.

7 Giue vnto the Lord, yee families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and power.

8 Giue vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring an offering, and enter into his courts.

9 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary: tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the world shall be stable, and not mooue, and he shall iudge the people in righteousness.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.

12 Let the field bee ioyfull, and all that is in it: let all the trees of the wood then reioyce.

13 Before the Lord: for hee commeth, for hee commeth to iudge the earth: hee will iudge the world with righteousness, and the people in his truth.

P S A L. XCVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the coming of the kingdome of Christ, 7 Dreadfull to the rebels and idolaters, 8 And ioyfull to the iust, whom hee exhorteth to innocencie, 12 To reioicing and shauking ioying.

The Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the multitude of the yles be glad.

1 Clouds and darknesse are round about him: righteousness and iudgement are the foundation of his Throne.

2 There shall goe a fire before him, and burne up his enemies round about.

3 His lightnings gaue light vnto the world: the earth saw it, and was afraid.

4 The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.

5 The heauens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory.

6 Confounded bee all they that serue graven images, and that glory in idoles: worship him all ye gods.

7 Zion heard of it, & was glad: and the daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.

8 For thou, Lord, art most high above all the earth: thou art much exalted above all gods.

9 Ye that loue the Lord, hate euill: he preferreth the soules of his Saints: he will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.

10 Light is sowne for the righteous, and ioy for the vpright in heart.

11 Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thanks for his holy remembrance.

PSAL. XCVIII.

1 A earnest exhortation to all creatures to praise the Lord for his power, mercy and fidelitie in his promise by Christ, 10 By whom he hath communicated his saluation to all nations.

¶ A Psalm.

45.16 Sing vnto the Lord a new song: for he hath done marauilous things: * his right hand and his holysme haue gotten him the victory.

2 The Lord declared his saluation: his righteousness hath hee reuealed in the sight of the nations.

3 He hath remembered his mercy, and his trueth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.

4 All the earth sing ye loud vnto the Lord, cry out, and reioyce and sing praises.

5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voice.

6 With shaulmes and sound of trumpets sing loud before the God the King.

7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwell therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands, and let the mountaines reioyce together.

9 Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: with righteousness shall he iudge the world, and the people with equitie.

PSAL. XCIX.

1 He commendeth the power, equitie, and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same and so serue the Lord, 6 Following the example of the ancient fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God were heard in their prayers.

Em. 15, 16 The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: hee sitteth betwene the Cherubims, let the earth be moued.

1 The Lord is great in Zion, and he is high above all the people.

2 They shall praise thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy).

3 And the Kings power that loueth iudgement: for thou hast prepared equity: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iacob.

5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his footstool: for he is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among his Priests, and Samuel among such as call vpon his name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.

7 Hee spake vnto them in the cloudie pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Law that he gaue them.

8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wait a fauourable God vnto them, though thou didst take vengeance for their inuocations.

9 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his holy mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

PSAL. C.

1 He exhorteth all to serue the Lord, 3 Who hath shewn vs and presented vs, 4 And to enter into his assemblies to praise his Name.

¶ A Psalm of praise.

Sing ye loud vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Serue the Lord with gladnesse: come before him with ioyfulness.

3 Know ye that euen the Lord is God: he hath made vs, and not we our selues: we are his people, and the sheepe of his pasture.

4 Enter into his gates with praise, and into his courts with reioicing: praise him and blese his Name.

5 For the Lord is good: his mercy is euerlasting, and his trueth is from generation to generation.

PSAL. CI.

1 David describeth what government hee will obserue in his house and kingdome, 5 Hee will punish and correct by rooting forth the wicked, 6 And chastising the godly persons.

¶ A Psalm of David.

I Will sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord will I sing.

2 I will doe wisely in the perfit way till thou comest to mee: I will walke in the vprightnesse of mine heart in the mids of mine house.

3 I will see no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.

4 A froward heart shall depart from me: I will know none euill.

5 Him that prouly slandereth his neighbour, will I destroy: him that hath a proud looke and high heart, I cannot suffer.

6 Mine eyes shall be vnto the faithfull of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfit way, he shall serue me.

7 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within mine house: hee that telleth lies, shall not remaine in my sight.

8 Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquity from the citie of the Lord.

PSAL. CII.

1 It seemeth that the prayer was appointed to the faithful to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon, 16 A consolation for the building of the Church, 18 Whereof followeth the praise of God to be published vnto all posteritie, 22 The conversion of the Gentiles, 28 and the stabilitie of the Church.

¶ A prayer of the afflicted when hee shall be distressed, and pouertie with his meditation before the Lord.

O Lord, heare my prayer, and let my cry come vnto thee.

2 Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me: when I call, make haste to heare me.

A prayer of the afflicted.

3 For my dayes are consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an hearth.

4 Mine heart is smitten & withereth like grasse, because I forgate to eate my bread.

5 For the voice of my groning, my bones doe cleaue to my skinned.

6 I am like a pellicane of the wilderness: I am like an owle of the deserts.

7 I watch and am as a sparrow alone vpon the house top.

8 Mine enemies reuile me daily, and they that rage against me, haue sworn against me.

9 Surely I haue eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping, 10 Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast beaumed me vp and cast me downe.

11 My dayes are like a shadow that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse.

12 But thou, O Lord, dost remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.

13 Thou wilt arise and haue mercy vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercy thereon, for the appointed time is come.

14 For thy seruants delite in the stones thereof, and haue pittie on the dust thereof.

15 Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the kings of the earth thy glory.

16 When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeare in his glory,

17 And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer, 18 This shall be written for the generation to come, and the people which shall be created, shall praise the Lord.

19 For hee hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuary: out of the heauen did the Lord beholde the earth, 20 That hee might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children of death:

21 That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his praise in Ierusalem.

22 When the people shalbe gathered together, and the Kingdomes to serue the Lord.

23 He abated my strength in the way, and shortened my dayes.

24 And I said, O my God, take me not away in the mids of my dayes, thy yeres endure from generation to generation.

25 Thou hast aforetime laid the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands.

26 They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed.

27 But thou art the same, and thy yeres shal not faile.

28 The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seede shall stand fast in thy sight.

PSAL. CIII.

1 Hee prouoketh all to praise the Lord, which hath pardoned his finnes, deliuered him from destruction, and giuen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then hee adueth the tender mercies of God, which he sheweth like a most tender father toward his children. 14 The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to men and Angels to praise the Lord.

A Psalm of David.

MY soule, praye thou the Lord, and all that is within me, praise his holy Name.

Psalmes.

2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.

3 Which forgiveth all thine iniquity, and healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redeemeth thy life from the grave, and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renewed like the eagle.

6 The Lord executeth righteousnes and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his wayes knowne vnto Moses, and his workes vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercie, slow to anger and of great kindeesse.

9 Hee will not alway chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

10 Hee hath not dealt with vs after our finnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is about the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As far as the East is from the West, so farre hath he removed our finnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that feare him.

14 For hee knoweth whereof we be made: hee remembreth that we are but dust.

15 The dayes of man are as grasse: as a flower of the field, so flourisheth hee.

16 For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall know it no more.

17 But the louing kindeesse of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his righteousnesse vpon childrens children, 18 Vnto them that keepe his Covenant, and thinke vpon his commandments to doe them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his Throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandment in obeying the voice of his word.

21 Praise the Lord, all ye his hostes, ye his seruants that doe his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

PSAL. CIIII.

1 An excellent Psalm to praise God for the creation of the world, and the governments of the same by his maruelous providence. 35 wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminisheth his blessings.

MY soule, praise thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art clothed with glory and honour.

2 Which couereth himselfe with light as with a garment, and spreadeth the heauens like a curtain.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the clouds his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which maketh the spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer mooue.

6 Thou coueredit it with the deepe as with a garment: the waters would stand about the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee, at the voyce of thy thunder they haue away.

8 And the mountaines stand, and the valleys descended descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bound, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to coner the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into the valls, which runne betwene the mountaines.

11 They shall giue drinke to all the beasts of the field, and the wild asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these springs shall the fowles of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth,

15 And wine shall maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shiue, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, even the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted, 17 That the birds may make their nests there: the stork dwelleth in the firre trees.

18 The high mountaines are for the goats: the rocks are a refuge for the conies.

19 Hee appointed the Moone for certaine seasons: the Sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darknesse, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forest creepe forth.

21 The Lions reare after their pray, and seeke their meat at God.

22 When the Sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their dens.

23 Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour untill the euening.

24 O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.

26 There go the ships, yes, that Iunithan whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 All these wait vpon thee: that thou mayest giue them food in due season.

28 Thou givest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die and returne to their dust.

30 Again if thou send forth thy spirit, they are created and thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 Glory be to the Lord for ever: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 Hee looketh on the earth, and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will praise my God while I liue.

34 Let my words be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praise thou the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CV.

He prayeth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and hauing chosen them, neuer ceaseth to do them good, *eu*er for his promise sake.

Praise the Lord, and call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people.

2 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his wonderous workes.

3 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

4 Seeke the Lord and his strength: seeke his face continually.

5 Remember his marueilous workes that hee hath done, his wonders, and the iudgements of his mouth.

6 Ye seed of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Isakob, which are his elect.

7 He is the Lord our God: his iudgements are thorow all the earth.

8 Hee hath alway remembered his Couenant, and promise, that he made to a thousand generations.

9 Even that which he made with Abraham, and his oath vnto Izhak:

10 And since hath confirmed it to Isakob for a Law, and to Israel for an euerlasting Couenant, 11 Saying, Vnto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.

12 Albeit they were few in number, yes, very few, and strangers in the land,

13 And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people,

14 Yet suffered hee no man to doe them wrong, but reprocured Kings for their sakes, saying, 15 Touch not mine Anointed, and do my Prophets no harme.

16 Moreouer, hee called a famise vpon the land, and vtterly brake the staffe of bread.

17 But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was sold for a slaue.

18 They held his feete in the stocks, and hee was laid in yrons, 19 Vntill his appointed time came; and the counsell of the Lord had tried him.

20 The King sent and loosed him: even the Ruler of the people deliuered him.

21 He made him Lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, 22 That hee should binde his princes vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wisdom.

23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Isakob was a stranger in the land of Ham.

24 And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours.

25 He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants.

26 Then sent he Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom he had chosen.

27 They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham.

28 He sent darknesse, and made it darke: and they were not disobedient vnto his commision.

29 * Hee turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.

30 * Their land brought forth frogs, *eu*er in their Kings chambers.

31 Hee spake, and there came swarms of flies, and lice in all their quarters.

32 He gaue them haile for raine, and flames of fire in their land.

33 He smote their vines also and their figtrees, and brake downe the trees in their coasts.

34 He spake, and the grasshoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable,

35 And did eat vp all the grasse in their land, and deuoured the fruit of their ground.

36 * Hee smote also all the first borne in their land, *eu*er the beginning of all their strength.

37 He brought them forth also with silver and gold, & there was none feeble among their tribes.

38 Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.

39 Hee spread a cloud to be a couering, and fire to giue light in the night.

40 They asked, and he brought quailles, and hee filled them with the bread of heauen.

41 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the drie places like a riuer.

42 For hee remembered his holy promise to Abraham his seruant, 43 And he brought forth his people with ioy, and his chosē with gladnesse,

44 And gaue them the lands of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession, 45 That they might keepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Praise ye the Lord.

P S A L. CVI.

1 The people dispersed vnder Antiochus do magnifie the goodnesse of God among the iust and repentant: 2 Desiring to be brought againe into the land by Gods mercifull visitation. 3 And after the manifold mercies of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed, 47 they doe pray and desire to be gathered from among the heathen, to the ioint they may praise the Name of the God of Israel.

Praise ye the Lord.

Praise ye the Lord, because hee is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lord, or shew forth all his praise?

3 Blessed are they that keepe iudgement, and doe righteousse at all times.

4 Remember mee, O Lord, with the fauour of thy people: visit me with thy saluation,

5 That I may see the felicity of thy chosē, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glorie with thine inheritance.

6 We haue sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie and done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderstood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembered they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red Sea.

8 Neuerthelesse he saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowne.

9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dried vp, & he led them in the deepe as in the wilderness.

10 And hee saued them from the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemye.

Exod. 14. 77.

11 *And the waters covered their oppressours: not one of them was left.

12 Then beleeued they his wordes, and sang praise vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his counsell.

14 But lusted with concupiscence in the wilderness, and tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent leanness into their soule.

16 They enuyed Moses also in the tents, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened, and swallowed vp Dathan, and couered the company of Abiram.

18 And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.

19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they turned their glory into the simi-litude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Saviour, which had done great things in Egypt, 22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea.

23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chosē stood in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy them,

24 Also they contemned that pleasant land, and beleued not his word, 25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not vnto the voice of the Lord.

26 Therefore he lifted vp his hand against them to destroy them in the wilderness, 27 And to destroy their seed among the nations, and to scatter them thorowout the countreyes.

28 They ioyned themselves also vnto Balaam, and did eat the offerings of the dead.

29 Thus they prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But Phineas stood vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was stayed.

31 * And it was imputed vnto him for righteousness from generation to generation for euer.

32 They angered him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes.

33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnadvisedly with his lips.

34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them,

35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.

37 Yea, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto devils, 38 And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, & of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.

39 Thus were they stayned with their owne workes, and went a whoring with their owne inuentions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee abhorred his owne inheritance.

41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lords ouer them.

42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.

43 Many a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.

44 Yet he saw when they were in affliction, and he heard their crye.

45 And hee remembered his Couenant toward them, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.

47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glory in thy praise.

48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

P S A L. CVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord, to gather vnto him, to giue thanks for his mercifull providence of God, gathering all things things as his good pleasure, 20 sending good and euill, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him. 42 Therefore as the righteous shewes reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

2 Sam. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16.

Praise the Lord, because he is good; for his mercie endureth for euer.

1 Let them, which haue bene redeemed of the Lord, shew how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour.

2 And gathered them out of the lands from the East, and from the West, from the North, and from the South.

Wt. from the East, meaning the whole world, as the South part of the land.

3 When they wandred in the desert and wilderness out of the way, and found no citie to dwell in,

4 Both hungry and thirstie, their soule fainted in them.

5 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse,

6 And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation.

7 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

8 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungry soule with goodnesse.

9 They that dwell in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in misery and yron,

10 Because they rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most High, 11 When hee humbled their heart with heauynesse, when they fell down and there was no helper.

12 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

13 He brought them out of darknesse and out of the shadow of death, and brake their bands asunder.

14 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

15 For he hath broken the gates of braasse, and brake the barres of yron asunder.

16 Fooles by reason of their transgression and because of their iniquities are afflicted.

17 Their soule abhorreth all meat, and they are brought to death doore.

18 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuereth them from their distresses.

19 He sendeth his word and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their grames.

20 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.

21 And let them offer sacrifices of prayes, and declare his workes with reioycing.

22 They that goe downe to the sea in ships, and occupie by the great waters, 23 They see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

24 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie wind, and it listeth vp the waues thereof.

25 They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule melteth for trouble.

26 They are toiled to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man; and all their cunning is gone.

27 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresse.

28 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.

29 When they are quieted, they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the haven where they would be.

30 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders.

33 He turneth the floods into a wilderness, and the springs of waters into drinciffe.

34 And a fruitfull land into a barrennesse, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein.

35 Again he turneth the wilderness into pooles of water, and the drie land into water springs.

36 And there hee placeth the hungry, and they build a citie to dwell in,

37 And sowe the fieldes, and plant vineyards, which bring forth fruitfull inoreale.

38 For he blesteth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cartell.

39 Again men are diminished, and brought low by oppression, euill and sorow.

40 Hee powreth contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of misery, and maketh them families like a flocke of sheepe.

42 The righteous shall see it and reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise that hee may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

This Psalm is composed of two others Psalmes before, the 57. and the 60. The master here continued is, 1 That David giueth himselfe with deare and voice to praise the Lord, 2 and asureth himselfe of the promise of God concerning his kingdom over Israel, and his power against other nations: 3 Who though hee seems to forsake vs for a time, yet hee shall not in the end cast away our enemies.

4 A song or Psalm of David.

O God, mine heart is prepared, for my tongue: I will sing, and giue praise.

2 Awake viole and harpe: I will awake early.

3 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercie is great about the heauens, and thy trutheth vnto the clouds.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, above the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 That thy beloved may bee deliuered: help with thy right hand and heare me.

7 God hath spoken in his holinesse: therefore I will reioyce, I shall diuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead shall be mine, and Manassih shall be mine: Ephraim also shall be the strength of mine head: Iudah is my Law-giuer.

9 Moab shall be my washpote: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe, vpon Palestina will I triumph.

10 Who will leade me into the strong city: who will bring me vnto Edom?

11 With no thou, O God, which hadst forsaken vs, and didst not goe forth, O God, with our armie?

12 Gine vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

liarred, thus his enemies must know the works so be of God. 30 Then doeth hee promise to giue prayer vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. L Old nor thy tongue, O God of my prayse. For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit, ate opened vpon mee, they haue spoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 They compassed me about also with wordes of hatred, and sought against me without a cause.

4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my selfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded me euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersary stand at his right hand.

7 When he shalbe iudged let him be condemned, and let his prayer be turned into sinne.

8 Let his dayes be few, and let another take his charge.

9 Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children be vagabonds, and beg and seeke bread, comming out of their place destroyed.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that he hath, and let the stranger spoyle his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him, neither let there bee any to shewe mercie vpon his fatherlesse children.

13 Let his posteritie be destroyed, and in the generation following let their name be perished.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let note the sinne of his mother be done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that hee may cut off their memoriall from the earth.

16 Because he remembered not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull hearted to slay him.

17 As hee loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.

18 As hee clothed himselfe with cursing like a raiment, so shal it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle wherewith hee shall be alway girded.

20 Let this bee the reward of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them that speake euill against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good).

22 Because I am poore and needy, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the grashepper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnesse.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.

26 Help me, O Lord my God: saue me according to thy mercie.

27 And they shall know that this is thine hand, and that thou Lord hast done it.

28 Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersarie be clothed with shame, and let them couer themselves with their confusion, as with a cloake.

30 I will giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For hee will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him fro them that would condemne his soule.

1 David propheseth of the power and flourishing kingdom giuen to Christ, 4 and of his Priesthood, which should put an end to the Priesthood of Levi.

¶ A Psalm of David.

T HE Lord sayd vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntill I make thine enemies thy footstoole.

2 The Lord shal send the rod of thy power out of Zion: bee thou ruler in the mids of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling thine armie in holy beauty: the youth of thy wombe shall be in the morning dew.

4 The Lord swaie and wil not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the order of Melchizedec.

5 The Lord that is at thy right hand shal wound Kings in the day of his wrath.

6 He shalbe iudge among the heathen: he shal fill all with dead bodies, and smite the head ouer great countreyes.

7 Hee shall drinke of the brooke in the way: therefore shall he lift vp his head.

1 Hee giueth thanks to the Lord for his mercifull works toward his Church, 10 and declareth therein true wisdom and right knowledge confessed.

¶ Praise yethe Lord.

I Wil praise the Lord with my whole heart in the assemblie and Congregation of the iust.

2 The workes of the Lord are great and ought to be sought out of all them that loue them.

3 His worke is beautiful and glorious, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.

4 He hath made his wonderfull workes to bee had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion.

5 Hee hath giuen a portion vnto them that feare him: hee wil euer be mindful of his Covenant.

6 Hee hath shewed to his people the power of his workes, in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The workes of his hands are true and iudgement: all his statutes are true.

8 They are stablished for euer and euer, and are done in truth and equitie.

9 He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commanded his Covenant for euer: holy & fearefull is his Name.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue them, haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

P S A L CXII.

1 Hee praiseth the felicity of them that feare God, 10 and commendeth the cursed state of the transgressors of God.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Blessed is the man that feareth the Lord, and doeth his commandments.

2 His seed shall be mightie vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shall be blessed.

3 Riches and treasures shall be in his house, and his righteousness endureth for euer.

4 Vnto the righteous ariseth light in darkness: hee is mercifull and full of compassion, and righteous.

5 A good

A good man is mercifull and lowly, & will measure his affaires by iudgement.
 6 Surely he shall neuer be moued: but the righteous shall be had in euertasting remembrance.
 7 He wil not be afraid of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, and beleuech in the Lord.
 8 His heart is established: therefore he wil not feare vntill he see his desire vpon his enemies.
 9 He hath distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousness remaineth for euer: his horn shall be exalted with glory.
 10 The wicked shall see it and be angry: he shall gnash with his teeth, and consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

P S A L CXIII.

An exhortation to praye the Lord for his providence, 7 In that that contrary to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Praise, O ye seruants of the Lord, praise the name of the Lord.
 2 Blessed be the name of the Lord from henceforth and for euer.
 3 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne, vnto the going downe of the same.
 4 The Lord is high aboue all nations, and his glory aboue the heauens.
 5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high!
 6 Who abateth himselfe to beholde things in the heauen and in the earth.
 7 He raiseth the needie out of the dust, and lifteth vp the poore out of the dung.
 8 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.
 9 He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a familie, and a ioyfull mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

Howe the Israelites were deliuered forth of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles that God wrought at that time. Which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercy toward his Church, who, when the course of nature faileth, preserveth his miraculosity.

When Israel came out of Egypt, and the house of Iakob from the barbarous people,
 2 Indah was his sanctification, & Israel his dominion.

3 The sea sawe it and fled: Iorden was turned backe.
 4 The mountaines leaped like rammes, and the hills as lambes.
 5 What ailed thee, O Sea, that thou fleddest? O Iorden, why wast thou turned backe?
 6 Ye mountaines, why leaped ye like rams, and ye hills as lambes?
 7 The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord: at the presence of the God of Iakob, 8 Which turneth the rocke into water pooles, and the flint into a fontaine of water.

A prayer of the faithfull oppressed by idolatrous tyrants, against whom they desired that God would rescue them. 9 Trusting most constantly that God will preserve them in this need, seeing that he hath adored and receiued them to his fauour, 18 Promising finally that they will not be vnmindfull of so great a benefite, if it would please God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glory, for thy loning mercie, and for thy truthes sake.

2 Wherefore shall the heathen say, Where is now their God?
 3 But our God is in heauen: he doeth whatsoever he will.
 4 Their idols are siluer and gold, euen the work of mens hands.
 5 They haue a mouth and speake not: they haue eyes and see not.
 6 They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.
 7 They haue hands and touch not: they haue feet and walk not: neither make they a sound with their throat.
 8 They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.
 9 O Israel trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.
 10 O house of Aaron trust ye in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.
 11 Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he their helper and their shield.
 12 The Lord hath bene mindfull of vs: he will blesse, he will blesse the house of Israel, he will blesse the house of Aaron.
 13 He will blesse them that feare the Lord, both small and great.
 14 The Lord will increase his graces toward you, euen toward you and toward your children.
 15 Ye are blessed of the Lord, which made the heauen and the earth.
 16 The heauens, euen the heauens are the Lords: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.
 17 The dead praise not the Lord, neither any that goe downe into the place of silence.
 18 But we will praise the Lord from henceforth and for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

David being in great danger of Saul in the desert of Maon, perceiving the great and inestimable loue of God toward him, magnifieth such great mercies, 13 and protesteth that he will bee thankfull for the same.

I lone the Lord, because he hath heard my voyce, and my prayers.

2 For he hath enclined his eare vnto me, when I did call vpon him in my dayes.
 3 When the snares of death compassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught mee: when I found trouble and sorrow.
 4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule.
 5 The Lord is mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compassion.
 6 The Lord preserveth the simple: I was in miserie, and he saued me.
 7 Returne vnto thy rest, O my soule: for the Lord hath bene beneficiall vnto thee,
 8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, and my feete from falling.
 9 I shall walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.
 10 I beleueed, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled.
 11 I said in my feare, All men are liars.
 12 What shal I render vnto the Lord for all his benefites toward me?
 13 I will take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the

the Name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euem now in the presence of all his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints.

16 Behold Lord, for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaid: thou hast broken my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euem now in the presence of all his people.

19 In the courts of the Lords house, euem in the mids of thee, O Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

A l * nations, praise ye the Lord: all ye people praise him.

2 For his louing kindnesse is great toward vs, and the truth of the Lord endureth for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

P S A L. CXVIII.

1 David reiecteth Saul and of the people, as the time appointed obtained the kingdom, & for the which hee biddeth all them that feare the Lord, to be thankful. And vnder his person in all this is Christ liuely for vs, who should be of his people reiecteth.

Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Let Israel now say, That his mercie endureth for euer.

3 Let the house of Aaron now say, That his mercie endureth for euer.

4 Let them that feare the Lord, now say, That his mercie endureth for euer.

5 I called vpon the Lord in trouble, and the Lord heard me, and set me at large.

6 The Lord is with mee: therefore I will not feare what man can doe vnto me.

7 The Lord is with me among them that helpe mee: therefore shall I see my desire vpon mine enemies.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes.

10 All nations haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

11 They haue compassed me, yea they haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

12 They came about me like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes. for in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

13 Thou hast thrust sore at me, that I might fall: but the Lord hath holpen me.

14 The Lord is my strength and song: for hee hath bene my deliuerance.

15 The voyce of ioy and deliuerance shall be in the Tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

17 I shall not die, but liue, and declare the works of the Lord.

18 The Lord hath chastened mee sore, but hee hath not deliuered me to death.

19 Open ye vnto mee the gates of righteousness, that I may goe into them, and praise the Lord.

20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it.

21 I will praise thee: for thou hast heard me, and hast bene my deliuerance.

22 *The stone, which the builders refused, is the head of the corner.

23 This was the Lords doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

24 This is the day which the Lord hath made: 9-33 let vs reioyce and be glad in it.

25 O Lord, I pray thee, saue now: O Lord, I pray thee, now giue prosperitie.

26 Blessed be they that commeth in the Name of the Lord, wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.

27 The Lord is mighty, and hath giuen vs light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the horns of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, euem my God: therefore I will exalt thee.

29 Praise ye the Lord, because he is good, for his mercy endureth for euer.

Blessed are those that are vpright in their way, and walke in the Law of the Lord.

2 Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, and seeke him with their whole heart.

3 Surely they worke none iniquitie, but walke in his wayes.

4 Thou hast commanded to keep thy precepts diligently.

5 O that my wayes were directed to keepe thy statutes.

6 Then should I not bee confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commandements.

7 I will praise thee with an vpright heart, when I shall learne the iudgements of thy righteousness.

8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake me not ouerlong.

9 Wherewith thal a yong man redresse his way: in taking heed thereto according to thy word.

10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandements.

11 I haue hid thy promise in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.

12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes.

13 With my lips haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.

14 I haue had as great delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in all riches.

15 I will meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy wayes.

16 I will delight in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy word.

G I M E L.

17 Bee beneficiall vnto thy seruant, that I may liue and keepe thy word.

18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy Law.

19 I am a stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.

20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alway.

31 Thou

31 Thou hast destroyed the proude: cursed are they that doe erre from thy commandements.
32 Remouee from me shame and contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.
33 Princes also did sit, and spake against mee: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.
34 Also thy testimonies are my delight, and my counsellors.

D A L E H.

35 My soule cleaue to the dust: quicken mee according to thy word.
36 I haue declared my wayes, and thou heardest me: teach me thy statutes.
37 Make mee to vnderstand the way of thy precepts, and I will meditate in thy wonderful workes.
38 My soule melteth for heauinesse: raise mee vp according to thy word.
39 Take from mee the way of lying, and graunt me graciously thy Law.
40 I haue chosen the way of truth, and thy iudgements haue I laid before me.
41 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not.
42 I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou shalt enlarge mine heart.

H E.

33 Trach mee, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the end.
34 Giue me vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy Law: yea, I will keepe it with my whole heart.
35 Direct mee in the path of thy commaundements: for therein is my delight.
36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to couetousnesse.
37 Turne away mine eyes from regarding vanitie: and quicken me in thy way.
38 Stablish thy promise to thy seruant, because he feareth thee.
39 Take away my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.
40 Behold, I desire thy commandements: quicken me in thy righteousnesse.

V A V.

41 And let thy louing kindnesse come vnto me, O Lord, and thy saluation according to thy promise.
42 So shall I make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy word.
43 And take not the word of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I wait for thy iudgements.
44 So shall I alway keepe thy Law for euer and euer.
45 And I will walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts.
46 I will speake also of thy testimonies before kings, and will not be ashamed.
47 And my delight shall be in thy commandements, which I haue loued.
48 Mine hands also will I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes.

Z A I N.

49 Remember thy promise made to thy seruant, wherein thou hast caused me to trust.
50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promise hath quickened me.
51 The proude haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Law.
52 I remembered thy iudgements of old, O Lord, and haue bene comforted.

53 Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Law.

54 Thy statutes haue bin my songs in the house of my pilgrimage.

55 I haue remembered thy Name, O Lord, in the night, and haue kept thy Law.

56 This I had because I kept thy precepts.

C H E T H.

57 O Lord, thou art my portion, I haue determined to keepe thy words.

58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: bee mercifull vnto me according to thy promise.

59 I haue considered my wayes, and turned my feet into thy testimonies.

60 I made haste and delayed not to keepe thy commandements.

61 The bands of the wicked haue robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.

62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

63 I am companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.

64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: teach me thy statutes.

T E T H.

65 O Lord, thou hast dealt graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy word.

66 Teach me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleeued thy commandements.

67 Before I was afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy word.

68 Thou art good and gracious: teach mee thy statutes.

69 The proude haue imagined a lie against mee: but I will keepe thy precepts with my whole heart.

70 Their heart is as fat as greafe: but my delight is in thy Law.

71 It is good for mee that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.

72 The law of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of gold and silver.

I O D.

73 Thine hands haue made mee, and fashioned me: giue mee vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy commandements.

74 So they that feare thee, seeing mee, shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy word.

75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right: and that thou hast afflicted me justly.

76 I pray thee that thy mercy may comfort me according to thy promise vnto thy seruant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I may liue: for thy Law is my delight.

78 Let the proude bee ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly and falsly with me: but I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let such as feare thee, turne vnto mee, and they that know thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart bee vpright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

C A P H.

81 My soule fainteth for thy saluation: yet I wait for thy word.

82 Mine eyes faile for thy promise, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a bottell in the smoke, yet doe I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the dayes of thy seruant? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?

85 The proude haue digged pits for me, which is not after thy Law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsely: helpe me.

87 They had almost consumed mee vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.

88 Quickene me according to thy louing kindness: so shall I keepe the testimonie of thy mouth.

I A M E D.

89 O Lord, thy word endureth for euer in hea-men.

90 Thy truth is from generation to generation: thou hast laid the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.

91 They continue euen to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants.

92 Except thy Law had bin my delight, I should now haue perished in mine affliction.

93 I will neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me.

94 I am thine, saue mee: for I haue sought thy precepts.

95 The wicked haue waited for mee to destroy me: but I will consider thy testimonies.

96 I haue seene an end of all perfection: but thy commandment is exceeding large.

M E M.

97 Oh how loue I thy Law! it is my meditation continually.

98 By thy commandements thou hast made me wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with mee.

99 I haue had more vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.

100 I vnderstood more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.

101 I haue refrained my feet from euery euill way, that I might keepe thy word.

102 I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for thou didst teach me.

103 Howe sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth: yea, more then hony vnto my mouth.

104 By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the ways of falshood.

N V N.

105 Thy word is a lantern vnto my fete, and a light vnto my path.

106 I haue sworne and will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements.

107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word.

108 O Lord, I beseech thee accept the free offerings of my mouth, and teach me thy iudgements.

109 My soule is continually in mine hand: yet doe I not forget thy Law.

110 The wicked haue laide a snare for me: but I trusted not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies haue I taken as an heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart.

112 I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, mine vnto the end.

S A M E C H.

113 I hate vaine iudgements: but thy Law doe I loue.

114 Thou art my refuge and shield, and I trust in thy word.

115 Away from me ye wicked: for I will keepe the commandements of my God.

116 Stablish mee according to thy promise, that I may liue, and disappoint mee not of mine hope.

117 Stay thou mee, and I shall bee safe, and I will delight continually in thy statutes.

118 Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their deceit is vaine.

119 Thou hast taken away all the wicked of the earth like drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies.

120 My flesh trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraide of thy iudgements.

A I N.

121 I haue executed iudgment and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressours.

122 Answer for thy seruant in that which is good, and let not the proude oppresse me.

123 Mine eyes haue failed in waiting for thy salvation, and for thy iust promise.

124 Deale with thy seruant according to thy mercie, and teach me thy statutes.

125 I am thy seruant: grant me therefore vnderstanding, that I may know thy testimonies.

126 It is time for thee Lord to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Law.

127 Therefore loue I thy commandements above gold, yea above most fine gold.

128 Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false wayes.

P E.

129 Thy testimonies are wonderfull: therefore doeth my soule keepe them.

130 The entrance into thy words sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple.

131 I opened my mouth and panted, because I loued thy commandements.

132 Looke vpon me, and be mercifull vnto me, as thou visist to doe vnto those that loue thy Name.

133 Direct my steps in thy word, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me.

134 Deliuer me from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts.

135 Shew the light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teach me thy statutes.

136 Mine eyes gush out with riers of water, because they keepe not thy Law.

T S A D D I.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are thy iudgements.

138 Thou hast commanded iustice by thy testimonies and truth especially.

139 My zeale hath euen consumed me, because mine enemies haue forgotten thy words.

140 Thy word is proued most pure, and thy seruant loueth it.

141 I am small and despised: yet do I not forget thy precepts.

142 Thy righteousness is an euermourning righteousness, and thy Law is truth.

143 Trouble and anguish are come vpon mee: yet are thy Commandements my delight.

144 The righteousness of thy testimonies is euermourning: graunt me vnderstanding, and I shall liue.

K O P H.

145 I haue cried with my whole heart: heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes.

146 I called vpon thee: saue me, and I will keepe thy testimonies.

147 I prevented the morning light, and cried: for I waited on thy word.

148 Mine eyes preuent the night watches, so meditate in thy word.

149 Heare my voice according to thy louing kindness:

kindnesse: O Lord, quicken mee according to thy iudgement.

150 They draw neere that follow after malice, and are farre from thy Law.

151 Thou art neere, O Lord: for all thy Commandements are true.

152 I haue knowen long since by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

R E S H.

153 Behold mine affliction and deliuer me: for I haue not forgotten thy Law.

154 Plead my cause and deliuer mee: quicken me according vnto thy word.

155 Saluation is farre from the wicked, because they seeke not thy statutes.

156 Great are thy tender mercies, O Lord: quicken me according to thy iudgements.

157 My persecuters and mine oppressors are many: yet doe I not swaue from thy testimonies.

158 I saw the transgressors, and was grieved: because they kept not thy word.

159 Consider, O Lord, how I loue thy precepts: quicken me according to thy louing kindnesse.

160 The beginning of thy word is truth, and all the iudgements of thy righteousnesse endure for euer.

S C H I N.

161 Princes haue persecuted me without cause: but mine heart stood in awe of thy words.

162 I reioyce at thy word, as one that findeth a great spoile.

163 I hate falshood and abhorre it: but thy Law doe I loue.

164 Seven times a day do I praise thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

165 They that loue thy Lawe, shall haue great prosperitie, and they shall haue none hurt.

166 Lord, I haue trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy Commandements.

167 My soule hath kept thy Testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly.

168 I haue kept thy precepts, and thy testimonies: for all my wayes are before thee.

T A V.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord: and giue me vnderstanding according vnto thy word.

170 Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer me according to thy promise.

171 My lips shall speake praise, when thou hast taught me thy statutes.

172 My tongue shall intreat of thy word: for all thy commandements are righteous.

173 Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts.

174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Law is my delight.

175 Let my soule liue, and it shall praise thee, and thy iudgements shall helpe me.

176 I haue gone astray like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandements.

P S A L CXX.

1 The prayer of David being vexed by the false reports of Sauls flatterers. 5 And therefore he lamenteth his long abode among those infidels. 7 Who were giuen to all kinde of wickednesse and contention.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 Called vnto the Lord in my trouble, and hee heard me.

2 Deliuer my soule, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitfull tongue.

3 What doeth thy deceitfull tongue bring vnto thee, or what doeth it auail thee?

4 It is as the sharpe arrowes of a mighty man, and as the coales of Iuniper.

5 Woe is to me that I remaine in Meshech, and dwell in the tents of Kedar.

6 My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace.

7 I seeke peace, and when I speake thereof, they are bent to warre.

P S A L CXXI.

1 This Psalm teacheth that the faithfull ought only to looke for helpe at God. 7 Who only doth maintain preferre, and prosper his Church.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 Will lift mine eyes I vnto the mountaines from whence my helpe shall come.

2 My helpe cometh from the Lord, which hath made the heauen and the earth.

3 He will not suffer thy foot to slip: for he that keepeth thee, will not slumber.

4 Behold, hee that keepeth Israel, will neither slumber nor sleepe.

5 The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadow at thy right hand.

6 The Sunne shall not smite thee by day, nor the Moone by night.

7 The Lord shall preserve thee from all euils, he shall keepe thy soule.

8 The Lord shall preserve thy going out, and thy coming in from henceforth and for euer.

P S A L CXXII.

1 David reioyceth in the name of the faithfull, that God hath accomplished his promise, and placed his king in Zion. 5 For the which he giueth thanks, 8 And prayeth for the prosperitie of the Church.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalm of David.

1 I reioyce when they said to me, We will goe into the house of the Lord.

2 Our feet shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.

3 Ierusalem is builded as a city, that is compact together in it selfe.

4 Whereunto the tribes, yea the tribes of the Lord goe vp according to the testimony to Israel, to praise the Name of the Lord.

5 For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of David.

6 Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee.

7 Peace be within thy walles, and prosperitie within thy palaces.

8 For my brethren and neighbours sakes I will with thee now prosperitie.

9 Because of the house of the Lord our God, I will procure thy wealth.

P S A L CXXIII.

1 A prayer of the faithfull which were afflicted either in Babylon, or vnder Antiochus by the wicked woi ldings and contemners of God.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 Lift vp mine cyesto thee, that dwillest in the heauens.

2 Behold, as the eyes of seruants looke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maiden vnto the hand of her mistresse: so our eyes waite vpon the Lord our God, vntill hee haue mercy vpon vs.

3 Haue mercy vpon vs, O Lorde, haue mercie vpon vs: for we haue suffered too much contempne.

4 Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulnesse of the proud.

P S A L. CXXIII.

1 The people of God escaping a great perill, doe acknowledge themselves to bee deliuered, not by their own force, but by the power of God. 4 They declare the greatness of the perill, 6 And praise the Name of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalm of David.

IF the Lord had not bene on our side, (may Israel now say)

2 If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs,

3 They had then swallowed vs vp quick, when their wrath was kindled against vs.

4 Then the waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule:

5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.

6 Praised be the Lord, which hath not giuen vs as a pray vnto their teeth.

7 Our soule is escaped euen as a bird out of the snare of the fowlers: the snare is broken, and wee are deliuered.

8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

P S A L. CXXV.

1 He describeth the assurance of the faithfull in their afflictions. 4 And desireth their wealth, 5 and the destruction of the wicked.

¶ A song of degrees.

They that trust in the Lord shall as mount Zion, which cannot be remooued, but remaineth for euer.

2 As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people from henceforth and for euer.

3 For the rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickedness.

4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts.

5 But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shall be vpon Israel.

P S A L. CXXVI.

1 This Psalm was made after the returne of the people from Babilon, and sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull after the seuentie yeeres of captiuitie foretold by Ieremie, chap. 25. 12. and 29. 10.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalm of David.

When the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that dreame.

2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioy: then sayde they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.

3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South.

5 They that sow in teares, shall reape in ioy.

6 They went weeping, and caried precious seed: but they shall returne with ioy, and bring their sheaves.

P S A L. CXXVII.

1 He sheweth that the whole estate of the world, both domesticall and politick standeth by Gods meere prouidence and blessing. 3 And that to haue children well nourished, is an especiall grace and gift of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalm of Salomon.

EXcept the Lord build the house, they labour in vaine that build it: except the Lord keepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.

2 It is in vaine for you to rise early, and to lie downe late, and eat the bread of sorrow: but he will surely giue rest to his beloued

3 Behold, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruit of the wombe his reward.

4 As are the arrowes in the hand of the strong man: so are the children of youth.

5 Blessed is the man, that hath his quiver full of them: for they shall not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

P S A L. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessedness appertaineth not to all sinners, but to them only that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

¶ A song of degrees.

Blessed is euery one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his wayes.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be wel with thee.

3 Thy wife shall be as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, and thy children like the olue plants round about thy table.

4 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zion, shall blesse thee, and thou shalt see the wealth of Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life.

6 Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

P S A L. CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce, though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall bee deliuered; 6 and the enemies for all their glorious sinnes shall suddenly be destroyed.

¶ A song of degrees.

They haue oftentimes afflicted mee from my youth (may Israel now say)

2 They haue oftentimes afflicted mee from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes.

4 But the righteous Lord hath cut the cords of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion, shall bee ashamed and turned backward.

6 They shall be as the grasse on the housetops, which withereth afore it cometh forth:

7 Whereof the mower filteth not his hand, neither the gleaner his lap.

8 Neither they which goe by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

P S A L. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries doe cry vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes, and flee vnto Gods mercie.

¶ A song of degrees.

Out of the deep places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

2 Lord, heare my voice, let thine cares attend to the voyce of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, strictly markest iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand?

4 But mercie is with thee, that thou mayest be feared.

5 I haue waied on the Lord: my soule hath waited, weined, and I haue trusted in his word.

6 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is mercy, and with him is great redemption.

8 And he shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 David charged with ambition and greedy desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie and modesty before God, and teacheth all men what they should doe.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalm of David.

Lord, mine heart is not haughty, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither haue I walked in great matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one weined from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe, as one that is weined.

3 Let Israel wait on the Lord from henceforth, and for euer.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull groundeth on Gods promise made vnto Dauid, desire that hee would establish the same, both as touching his posterity, and the building of the Temple, so pray there as was foretold, Deut. 12. 5.

¶ A song of degrees.

Lord, remember Dauid with all his affliction.

2 Who swaie vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mighty God of Iakob, saying,

3 I will not enter into the tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber,

5 Vntill I finde out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mighty God of Iakob.

6 Lo, we heard of it in Ephrathah, and found it in the fields of the forest.

7 We will enter into his tabernacles, and worship before his footstool.

8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou, and the ark of thy strength.

9 Let thy Priests be clothed with righteousness, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy servant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anointed.

11 The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he will not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruit of thy body will I set vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sonnes keepe my couenant and my testimonies that I shall teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for euer.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loued to dwell in it, saying, 14 This is my rest for euer, here will I dwell, for I haue a delight therein.

15 I will surely blesse her vitrailes, and will satisfie her poore with bread, 16 And will cloath her Priestes with saluation, and her Saints shall shout for ioy.

17 There will I make the home of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordained a light for mine anointed.

18 His enemies will I cloath with shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalm commendeth the commendation of brotherly amity among the seruants of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalm of David.

Behold, how good and how comely a thing it is, Brethren to dwell euell together.

2 It is like to the precious ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euell vnto to Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments:

3 And as the dewe of Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the blessing and life for euer.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 He exhorteth the Levites, watching in the Temple, to praise the Lord.

¶ A song of degrees.

Behold, praise ye the Lord all ye seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stand in the house of the Lord,

2 Lift vp your hands to the Sanctuary, & praise the Lord.

3 The Lord, that hath made heauen and earth, blesse thee out of Zion.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithfull of what estate soeuer they be, to praise God for his marvellous works, and especially for his graces toward his people. wherein hee hath declared his Maiesty, 15 so the confusion of all idolaters and their idoles.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Praise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him.

2 Ye that stand in the house of the Lord, and in the courts of the house of our God,

3 Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing.

4 For the Lord hath chosen Iakob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure.

5 For I knowe that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is above all gods.

6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that did he in heauen and in earth, in the sea, and in all the depths.

7 He bringeth vp the clouds from the ends of the earth, and maketh the lightning with the raine; he draweth forth the wind out of his treasures. 15.

8 * Hee smote the first borne of Egypt, both of man and beast.

9 Hee hath sent tokens and wonders into the mids of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh and vpon all his seruants.

10 * Hee smote many nations, and slew mightie kings: 24. 34.

11 As Sihon king of the Amorites & Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:

12 And gaue their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel, his people.

13 Thy Name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

14 For the Lord will iudge his people, and bee pacified toward his seruants.

15 The idols of the heathen are siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

16 They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes, and see not.

17 They haue eares, and heare not: neither is there any breath in their mouth.

18 They that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

19 Praise the Lord ye house of Israel: praise the Lord ye house of Aaron.

20 Praise the Lord ye house of Levi: yee that feare the Lord, praise the Lord, 21 Praised be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

2 Praise ye the God of gods: for his mercy endureth for euer.

3 Praise ye the Lord of lords: for his mercy endureth for euer:

4 Which onely doeth great wonders: for his mercy endureth for euer:

5 Which by his wisdom made the heauens: for his mercy endureth for euer:

6 Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his mercy endureth for euer:

7 Which made great lights: for his mercy endureth for euer:

8 As the sunne to rule the day: for his mercie endureth for euer:

9 The moone and the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercy endureth for euer:

10 Which smote Egypt with their first borne: (for his mercy endureth for euer:)

11 And brought out Israel from among them: (for his mercy endureth for euer:)

12 With a mightie hand & stretched out arme: for his mercy endureth for euer:

13 Which diuided the red sea in two parts: for his mercy endureth for euer:

14 And made Israel to passe thorow the mids of it: for his mercy endureth for euer:

15 And ouerthrew Pharaoh and his hoste in the red sea: for his mercy endureth for euer:

16 Which led his people thorow the wilderness: for his mercy endureth for euer:

17 Which smote great kings: for his mercy endureth for euer:

18 And slew mighty kings: for his mercy endureth for euer:

19 As Sihon king of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer:

20 And Og the king of Basan: for his mercie endureth for euer:

21 And gaue their land for an heritage: for his mercy endureth for euer:

22 Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant: for his mercy endureth for euer:

23 Which remembered vs in our base estate: for his mercy endureth for euer:

24 And hath rescued vs from our oppressours: for his mercy endureth for euer:

25 Which giueth food to all flesh: for his mercy endureth for euer:

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, liued in great anguish & sorrow of heart: the which grieueth the Caldeans did so little pity, 3 that they rather encreased the same daily with insults, reproches & blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians against them, 8 and moued by the Spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

By the ruiners of Babel we sate, & there we wept, when we remembered Zion.

2 We hanged our harps vpon the willowes in the mids thereof.

3 Then they that led vs captiues, required of vs songs & mirth, when we had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion.

4 How shall we sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land?

5 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.

6 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roote of my mouth: yea, if I praie not Ierusalem to my chiefe ioy.

7 Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which said, Raie it, raie it to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shall be that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs.

9 Blessed shall he be that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

1 David with great courage praisth the goodness of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 that it is knowne to forreine princes, who shall praise the Lord together with him. 6 And he is assured to haue the comfort of God in the time following, as hee hath had heretofore.

¶ A Psalm of David.

I will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the gods will I praise thee.

2 I will worship toward thine holy temple, and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindnesse, & for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy name aboue all things by thy word.

3 When I called, then thou heardest mee, and hast encreased strength in my soule.

4 All the kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth.

5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proud he knoweth asfarre off.

7 Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of thine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me.

8 The Lord will performe his worke toward me: O Lord, thy mercy endureth for euer: forsake not the works of thine hands.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 David to cleanse his heart from all hypocrisy, sheweth that there is nothing so hidde, which God seeth not, 13 which hee confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring his zeale and feare of God, hee protesteth to be enemye to all them that conuene God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

O Lord, thou hast tried me, and knowen me. 2 Thou knowest my sitting, and my rising: thou understandest my thought asfarre off.

3 Thou compassedst my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.

4 For there is not a word in my tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.

5 Thou holdest me straight behind and before, and layest thine hand vpon me.

6 Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for me: it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it.

7 Whither shall I goe from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?

8 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I lie downe downe in hell, thou art there.

9 Let mee take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the vttermost parts of the sea:

10 Yet thither shall thine hand lead me, and thy right hand hold me.

11 If I say, Yet the darknesse shall hide me, euen the night shall be light about me.

12 Yea, the darknesse hideth not from thee, but the night thineth as the day: the darknes and light are both alike.

13 For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast covered me in my mothers wombe.

14 I will praise thee, for I am fearefully & wonderfully made: marueilous are thy works, and my soule knoweth it well.

15 My bones are not hidde from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and fashioned beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see mee, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.

17 How deare therefore are thy thoughts vnto me, O God! how great is the summe of them!

18 If I should count them they are moe then the sand: when I wake, I am still with thee.

19 Oh that thou wouldest say, O God, the wicked and bloody men, to whom I say, Depart ye from me:

20 Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.

21 Doe not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and do not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate them with an vnfaigned hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.

23 Try me, O God, and know mine heart: proue me, and know my thoughts.

24 And consider if there be any way of wickednes in me, and lead me in the way for euil.

P S A L. CXL.

1 David complaineth of the cruelty, falshood & inuities of his enemies. 8 Against the which he prayeth vnto the Lord, & assesteth himselfe of his help and succour. 12 Wherefore he prouoketh the iust to praise the Lord, and to assure themselves of his tuition.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

Deliver mee, O Lord, from the euill man: prouerue me from the cruell man:

2 Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders poison is vnder their lips. Selah.

4 Keepe me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preserue me from the cruell man, which purpoeth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proud haue layde a snare for mee, and spread a net with cords in my path way, & set grins for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayers.

7 O Lorde God, the strength of my saluation, thou hast covered mine head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: perform not his wicked thought, lest they be proud. Selah.

9 As for the chiefe of them that compasse me about, let the mischiete of their owne lips come vpon them.

10 Let coales fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits, that they rise not.

11 For the backbiters shall not bee established vpon the earth: euill shall hunt the cruell man to destruction.

12 I knowe that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore.

13 Surely the righteous shall praise thy Name, and the iust shall dwell in thy preience.

P S A L. CXLII.

1 David being grievously persecuted vnder Saul, onely fleeth vnto God to haue succour. 3 Desiring him to bridle his affections, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

¶ A Psalm of David.

O Lord, I call vpon thee, haste thee vnto mee: heare my voice, when I cry vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer be directed in thy fight, as incense, and the lifting vp of mine handes as an euening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the dore of my lips.

4 Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked works with men that work iniquitie: and let me not eate of their delicacies.

5 Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefit: and let him reprove me, and it shall be a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen pray in their miseries.

6 When their iudges shall bee cast downe in stonie places, they shall heare my wordes, for they are sweet.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the graues mouth, as be that heueth wood, or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe mee from the snare, which they haue laid for me, and from the gennes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into his nettes together, whyles I escape.

P S A L. CXLIII.

1 The Prophet neither astounded with feare, nor carried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would let Saul, but with a quiet mind directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserve him.

¶ A Psalm of David to giue instruction, and a prayer when he was in the caue.

I Cryed vnto the Lorde with my voyce: with my voyce I prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his preience.

3 Though my spirit was in perplexity in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily laid a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but in me: there was none that would know mee: all refuge failed me, and none cared for my soule.

5 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, & said, Thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my crye for I am brought very low: deliuer me from my persecutors, for they are too strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of prison, that I may praise thy name: then shall the righteous come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

P S A L. CXLIII.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of finnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgements. 8 He desires to be restored to grace. 10 To be gouerned by his holy Spirit.

¶ A Psalm of David.

My soule is afflicted very much: O Lord, how long shall I be afflicted?

2 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

3 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

4 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

5 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

6 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

7 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

8 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

9 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

10 How long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted? how long shall I be afflicted?

that he may spend the remnant of his life in the true fear and service of God.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Hear me prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: answere me in thy truth, and in thy righteousness.

2 (And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy fight shall none that liueth bee ius-tified)

3 For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath laid me in the darknes, as they that haue bene dead long agoe:

4 And my spirit was in perplexity in mee, and mine heart within me was amazed,

5 Yea do I remember the time past: I meditate in all thy works, yea, I do meditate in the works of thine hands.

6 I stretch forth mine handes vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee as the thirstie land. Selah.
7 Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit faileth:
hide not thy face from me, else I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let mee heare thy louing kindnesse in the morning: for in thee is my trust: shew me the way that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for
I hid me with thee.

10 Teach mee to doe thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit lead me vnto the land of righteousnes.

11 Quickene me, O Lord, for thy Names sake, and for thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercy slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppress my soule: for I am thy seruant.

P S A L. CXLIII.

Hee praiseth the Lord with great affection and humility for his kingdom restored, and for his victories obtained, 5 demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 9 promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praises, 15 and declares wherein the felici-tie of any people consisteth.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Blessed be the Lord my strength, which teacheth my hands to fight, and my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodnes and my fortresse, my tower
† Ebr. my and † my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, deliuerer which subdueth my people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou regardest him!
for the or the sonne of man, that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanity: his daies are like a shadow that vanisheth.

5 Bow thine heauens, O Lord, & come downe:
touch the mountaines, and they shall smoke.

6 Cast forth the lightning, and scatter them:
shoot out thine arrowes and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer mee, and take me out of the great waters, and from the hand of strangers,

8 Whose mouth talketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falshood.

9 I will sing a new song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings.

10 It is hee that giueth deliuerance vnto kings, and relesneth Dauid his seruauit from the hurtfull sword.

11 Releue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falshood.

12 That our sonnes may be as the plants growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our corners may be full and abounding with diuers sorts, and that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and ten thousand in our streets:

14 That our oxen may be strong to labour: that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streets.

15 Blessed are the people that be so, yea, blessed are the people whose God is the Lord.

P S A L. CXLV.

This Psalm was composed, when the kingdom of Dauid flourished 1 Wherein he describeth the won-derfull providence of God, as well in governing man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praiseth God for his iustice and mercy, 18 But specially for his louing kindeesse toward those that call vpon him, that feare him and loue him. 21 For the which he promiseth to praise him for euer.

A Psalm of Dauid of praise.

O My God, and King, I will extoll thee, and will bless thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will bless thee daily, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 Great is the Lord, & most worthy to be praised, and his greatnesse is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shall praise thy works vnto generation, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beauty of thy glorious Maicesty, and thy wonderfull works.

6 And they shall speak of the power of thy fearefull actes, and I will declare thy greatnesse.

7 They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloud of thy righteousnesse.

8 * The Lord is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great mercy.

9 The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his works.

10 All thy works praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints bless thee.

11 They shewe the glorie of thy kingdom, and speake of thy power,

12 To cause his power to be knowne to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renowne of his kingdome.

13 Thy *kingdome is an euermlasting kingdome, and thy dominion enureth throughout all ages. Dauid 147:1-3

14 The Lord vpholdeth all that fall, and liftech vp all that are ready to fall.

15 The eyes of all wait vpon thee, and thou giueth them their meat in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.

17 The Lord is righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his works.

18 The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him, yea, to all that call vpon him in truth.

19 Hee will fulfill the desire of them that feare him: hee also will heare their cry, and will saue them.

20 The Lord preferneth all them that loue him but he will destroy all the wicked.

21 My mouth shall speake the praise of the Lord, and all flesh that blese his holy Name for euer and euer.

P S A L. CXLVI.

David declares his great zeale that hee hath in praise God, 3 and teacheth not to trust in man, but onely in God Almighty, 7 which deliuereth the afflicted.

killed, 9 defendeth the strangers, comforteth the fatherlesse, and the widowes, 10 and reigneth for ever.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Praise thou the Lord, O my soule.

1 I will praise the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.

2 Put not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him.

3 His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his thoughts perish.

4 Blessed is he that hath the God of Iakob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God.

5 Which made heauen and earth, the sea, and all that therein is, which keepeth his fidelitie for ever:

6 Which executeth iustice for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord looseth the prisoners.

7 The Lord giueth sight to the blind: the Lord raiseth vp the crooked: the Lord loueth the righteous.

8 The Lord keepeth the strangers: he relieueth the fatherlesse and widow: but hee ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

9 The Lord shall reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God endureth from generation to generation. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praiseth the bounty, wisdom, power, iustice and providence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 but specially vpon his Church, which hee gathereth together after their dispersion, 19 declaring his word and iudgements so vnto them, as hee hath done to none other people.

¶ Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, and praise is comely.

1 The Lord doeth build vp Ierusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel.

2 Hee healeth those that are broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.

3 He counteth the number of the starres, and calleth them all by their names.

4 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisdom is infinite.

5 The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the ground.

6 Sing vnto the Lord with praise: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God.

7 Which couereth the heauen with cloudes, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grass to grow vpon the mountaines:

8 Which giueth to beasts their food, and to the yong rauens that drie.

9 Hee hath not pleasure in the strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man.

10 But the Lord delighteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.

11 Praise the Lord, O Ierusalem: praise thy God, O Zion.

12 For hee hath made the barres of thy gates strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee.

13 He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the floure of wheate.

14 He sendeth forth his commandement vpon earth, and his word runneth very swiftly.

15 He giueth snow like wooll, and scattereth the boare frost like althes.

16 Hee casteth forth his yce like morfels: who can abide the cold thereof?

17 Hee sendeth his Word and melteth them: he causeth his wind to blow, and the waters flow.

18 Hee sheweth his word vnto Iakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

19 Hee hath not dealt so with eury nation, neither haue they knowen his iudgements. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 Hee prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauen and earth, and all places, 12 Specially his Church, for the power that hee hath giuen to the same after that hee had chosen them, and ioyned them vnto him.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

¶ Praise ye the Lord from the heauen: praise ye him in his places.

2 Praise ye him all ye his Angels: praise him all his armie.

3 Praise ye him Sunne and Moone: praise ye him all bright Starres.

4 Praise ye him heauens of heauens, and waters that be aboue the heauens.

5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for he commanded and they were created.

6 And hee hath established them for euer and euer: hee hath made an ordinance which shall not passe.

7 Praise ye the Lord from the earth, ye dragons and all depths.

8 Fire and haile, snow & vapours, stormy wind, which execute his word:

9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruitfull trees and all cedars:

10 Beasts and all cattell, creeping things and feathered fowles:

11 Kings of the earth, and all people, princes and all indges of the world:

12 Yong men and maidens, also olde men and children:

13 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his praise aboue the earth and the heauens.

14 For hee hath exalted the horne of his people, which is a praise for all his Saints, euen for the children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to praise the Lord for his victorie and conquest, that hee giueth his Saints against all mans power.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Sing ye vnto the Lord a new song: let his praise be heard in the Congregation of Saints.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their King.

3 Let them praise his Name with the shutes: let them sing praises vnto him with the tumbrell & harpe.

4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: hee will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance.

5 Let the Saints be ioyfull with glory: let them sing loud vpon their beds.

6 Let the high actes of God be in their mouths: and a two edged sword in their hands.

7 To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people:

8 To bind their Kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron.

9 That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is written: this honour shall be to all his Saints. Praise ye the Lord.

P S A L. C L.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord without cease by all manner of wayes, for all his mighty and wonderfull workes.

¶ Praise yee the Lord.

Praise ye God in his Sanctuary: praise ye him in the firmament of his power.

2 Praise ye him in his mightie acts: praise yee him according to his excellent greatnesse.

3 Praise yee him in the sound of the trumpet, praise ye him vpon the viole and the harpe.

4 Praise ye him with timbrell and flute, praise ye him with virginals and organs.

5 Praise ye him with sounding cymbals, praise ye him with his sounding cymbals.

6 Let euery thing that hath breath, praise the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

¶ THE PROVERBS OF SALOMON.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these brieue sentences which partly containe doctrine, and partly manners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewell to the Church, of those three thousand Parables mentioned, 1. Km. 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

C H A P. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10 Whereby not content to the inticings of sinners. 20 Wisedome commendeth that shee is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

He Parables of Salomon the sonne of David, King of Israel,

2 To know wisedome, and instruction, to vnderstand the wordes of knowledge,

3 To receiue instruction to do wisely, by iustice, and iudgement, and equitie,

4 To giue vnto the simple sharpnesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare, and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels,

6 To vnderstand a Parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 ¶ The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but looles despise wisedome and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke

10 ¶ My sonne, if sinners doe intice thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, wee will lay wait for blood, and lie priuily for the innocent without a cause.

12 We will swallow them vp aliue like a graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 We shall find all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoile:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: wee will all haue one purse.

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: restrate thy foot from their path.

16 For their feete runne to euil, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainly, as without a cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that hath wing, 18 So they lay wait for blood, and lie priuily for their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy die of gaine: hee would take away the life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ Wisedome crieth without: shee vtereth her voice in the streetes.

21 She calleth in the hie street, among the presse in the entrings of the gates, and vtereth her words in the city, saying,

22 O ye foolish, how long will ye loue foolishnesse? and the scornfull take their pleasure in scorning, and the fooles hate knowledge?

23 Turne you, at my correction. lo, I will powre out my minde vnto you, and make you vnderstand my wordes.

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard.

25 But yee haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction, 26 I will also laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare commeth.

27 When your feare commeth like suddain desolation, & your destruction shall come like a whirlewinde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon me, but I will not answer: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not finde mee, 29 Because they hated knowlege, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsell, but despised all my correction:

31 Therefore shall they eat of the fruit of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuices.

32 For ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But hee that obeyeth me shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euil.

C H A P. II.

1 Wisedome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God. 10 She pre-serueth from wickednesse.

My sonne, if thou wilt receiue my words, and hide my commandements within thee,

2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisedome, and incline thine heart to vnderstanding,

3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, and cryest for vnderstanding:

8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preserveth the way of his Saints)

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousness, and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path.

10 ¶ When wisdom entreteth into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy soule,

11 Then shall counsell prelerue thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee,

12 And deliuer thee from the euil way, and from the man that speaketh froward things,

13 And from them that leaue the wayes of righteousness to walke in the wayes of darkenesse:

14 Which reioyce in doing euill, and delight in the frowardnesse of the wicked,

15 Whose wayes are crooked, and they are lewd in their paths:

16 And it shal deliuer thee from the strange woman, <sup>even</sup> from the stranger, which flattereth with her words:

17 Which forsaketh the guid of her youth, and forgetteth the Couenant of her God:

18 Surely her house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto the dead.

19 All they that go vnto her returne not againe, neither take they hold of the wayes of life.

20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.

21 For the iust shall dwell in the land, and the vpright men shall remaine in it.

22 But the wicked (shalbe cut off from the earth, and the transgressours shalbe rooted out of it.

C H A P. III.

1 The word of God giueth life. 3 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that follow the word of God all things shall succeed well.

12 <sup>Doct 8</sup> <sup>mi 30.</sup> <sup>16</sup> My sonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart *keepe my commandments.

2 For they shall increase the length of thy daies, and the yeeres of life, and thy prosperitie.

3 Let not mercie and truth forsake thee: bind them on thy necke, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 So shalt thou finde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and hee shall direct thy wayes.

7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill.

8 So health shalbe vnto thy naue, and marrow vnto thy bones.

9 Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first fruits of all thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall burst with new wine.

11 ¶ My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.

12 *For the Lord correcteth him whom hee loveth, <sup>even</sup> as the father doeth the child in whom he delighteth.

13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the merchandise thereof is better then the merchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to bee compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.

18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold on her, and blessed is he that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisdom hath layd the foundation of the earth, & hath stablished the heauens thorow vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the clouds drop downe the dew.

21 My sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisdom and counsell.

22 So they shalbe life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by the way, and thy foot shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraid, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweet.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord shalbe for thine assurance, and shall prelerue thy foote from taking.

27 ¶ Withhold not the good from the owners thereof, though there bee power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Goe and come againe, and to morow will I giue thee, if thou now haue it.

29 ¶ Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doth dwell without feare by thee.

30 ¶ Striue not with a man causelesse, when hee hath done thee no harme.

31 ¶ Be not enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesteth the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the scornfull he scorneth, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shall inherite glory: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

C H A P. IIII.

1 Wisdom and her fruits ought to be searched.

14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God the heart, eyes, and course of life must be guided.

Hear, O ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue care to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my Law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother,

4 When he taught me, and said vnto mee, Let thine heart hold fast my wordes: keepe my commandments, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisdom: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the words of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and she shal keepe thee: loue her, and she shall prelerue thee.

7 Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom therefore, and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.

Exhortation to get wisedome.

Proverbs.

Whoredome forbidden.

8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: shee shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.
 9 She shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head: yes, she shall giue thee a crowne of glory.
 10 ¶ Hoare, my sonne, and receiue my words, and the yeeres of thy life shall be many.
 11 I haue taught thee in the way of wisedome, and led thee in the paths of rightcousnesse.
 12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.
 13 Take hold of instruction, and leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.
 14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.
 15 Auaide it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.
 16 For they cannot sleep, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe doth breake, except they canie some to fall.
 17 For they eat the bread of wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence.
 18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that shineth more and more vnto the perfect day.
 19 The way of the wicked is as the darkenesse: they know not wherein they shall fall.
 20 ¶ My sonne, hearken vnto my words, encline thine eare vnto my sayings.
 21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the mids of thine heart.
 22 For they are life vnto those that find them, and health vnto all their flesh.
 23 Keep thine heart with all diligence: for therout cometh life.
 24 Put away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.
 25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye-lids direct thy way before thee.
 26 Ponder the path of thy feete, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.
 27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remoue thy foote from euill.

 4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.
 5 Her feete goe downe to death, and her steps take hold on hell.

 9 Lest thou giue thine honour vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell:
 10 Lest the stranger should bee filled with thy strength, and thy labours bee in the house of a stranger, 11 And thou mourne at thine ende (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy body)

12 And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

 16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streetes.
 17 But let them be thine, euene thine onely, and not the strangers with thee.
 18 Let thy fountaine bee blessed, and reioyce with the wise of thy youth.
 19 Let her bee as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, and delight in her loue continually.
 20 For why shouldst thou delight, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?
 21 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes.
 22 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cordes of his owne sinne.
 23 He shall die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great folly.

CHAP. VI.

1 Instruction for iueries. 6 The slothfull and sluggish is stirred up to worke. 12 Her deserveth the name of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the word of God. 24 To see adulterie.

MY sonne, if thou bee suerty for thy neighbour, and hast stricken hands with the stranger,
 2 Thou art snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euene taken with the words of thine owne mouth.
 3 Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe, and humble thy selfe, and sollicit thy friends.
 4 Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eye-lids.
 5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.
 6 ¶ Goe to the pismire, O sluggard: behold her wayes, and bee wise.
 7 For shee hauing no guide, gouernour nor ruler,
 8 Prepareth her meat in the Summer, and gathereth her food in haruest.
 9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?
 10 ¶ Yea a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe.
 11 Therefore the pouertie cometh as one that trauaileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.
 12 The vnthrifist man and the wicked man walketh with a froward mouth.
 13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he signifieth with his feete: he instructeth with his fingers.
 14 Few things are in his heart: hee imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.
 15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shall be destroyed suddenly without reconer.
 16 ¶ These sixe things doth the Lord hate: yes, his soule abhorreth seven:
 17 The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, & the hands that shed innocent blood,

For, anderstand-
ing.

For, anderstand-
ing.

For, anderstand-
ing.

For, anderstand-
ing.

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, feere that be swift in running to mischief, 19 A false witnesse that speaketh lies, and him that raiseth vp contentions among brechen.

20 ¶ My sonne, keepe thy fathers commaundement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Binde them alway vpon thine heart, and tie them about thy necke.

22 It shall leade thee when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee, when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.

23 For the Commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and corrections for instruction are the way of life,

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman

25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her eye lids.

26 For because of the whores life woman, a man is brought to a morsell of bread, and a woman will hant for the precious life of a man.

27 Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Or can a man go vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife shall not be innocent, whosoener toucheth her.

30 Men doe not despise a thiefe, when hee stealeth to satisfie his soule, because he is hungry.

31 But if he be found, he shall restore seven fold, or he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adultery with a woman, he is destitute of vnderstanding: hee that doth it destroyeth his owne soule.

33 Hee shall find a wound and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For iclouise is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.

35 Hee cannot beare the sight of any ranfome:
neither will he consent, though thou augment the gifts.

C H A P. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisdome and to the word of God, which will preserve vs from the harlots, & whose manners are described.

My sonne, keepe my words: and hide my commaundements with thee.

2 Keepe my commaundements, and thou shalt lue, & mine instruction as the apple of thine eyes.
3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them
vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto Wisdome, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman,

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smooth in her words.

6 ¶ As I was in the window of mine house, I looked thorow my window,

7 And I saw among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnder-standing,

8 Who passed thorow the street by her corner,
and went thorow her house,

9 In the twilight, in the euening, when the night began to be blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman with an harlots behaviour, and subtil in heart.

11 (She is babling and lowd: whose feete cannot abide in her house.

12 Now she is without, now in the streets, and li-eth in wait at euery corner.)

13 So she caught him and kissed him, and with an impudent face said vnto him,

14 I haue peace offerings, this day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore I came forth to meeete thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, ¶ carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cinamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in daliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off.

20 He hath taken ¶ with him a bagge of siluer, ¶ he and will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeeld, and with her flattering lips she entiled him.

22 And he followed her straightwayes, as an ox that goeth to the slaughter, and as a foole to the stocks for correction,

23 Till a dart strike thorow his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that ¶ hee is in danger.

24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken vnto the words of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her waies, wander thou not in her paths.

26 For shee hath caused many to fall downe wounded, and the strong men are all slaine by her.

27 Her house is the way ¶ vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death, Chap. 2.
18.

C H A P. VIII.

1 Wisdome declareth her excellencie, 11 riches, 15 power, 22 eternitie. 32 Soce exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

D Oeth * not wisdome cry? and vnderstanding utter her voyce?

2 She standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.

3 Shee crieth besides the gates before the citie
at the entry of the doores,

4 O men, I call vnto you, and utter my voyce vnto the children of men.

5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdome, and ye, O fooles, be wise in heart.

6 Giue care, for I wil speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lips shall teach things that be right.

7 For my mouth shall speake the truth, and my lips abhorre wickednes.

8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous:
there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them.

9 They are all plain to him that wil vnderstand, and straight to them that would finde knowledge.

10 Recceiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine gold.

11 For wisdome is better then precious stones:
and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wisdome dwell with prudence, and I finde forth knowledge and counsels.

13 The feare of the Lord is to hate euill: as pride, and arrogancie, and the euil way: and a mouth that speaketh lewd things, doe I hate.

14 I haue counsell and wisdome: I am vnder-standing, and I haue strength.

15 By me Kings reigne, & princes decree Iustice.

16 By me princes rule, and the nobles, and all the Iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue me: and they that seeke me early shall find me.

18 Riches and honour are with me: euery durable riches and righteousness.

19 My fruit is better then golde, euery then fine gold, and my reuenues better then fine silver.

20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousness and in the mids of the pathes of iudgement, 21 That I may cause them that loue me to inherit substance, and I will fill their treasures.

22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his workes of old.

23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning, and before the earth.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were settled, and before the hills, was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

27 When he prepared the heauens, I was there, when he set the compass vpon the deepe:

28 When he established the clouds above, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe:

29 When he gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters should not passe his commandement, when he appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him as a nourisher, and I was daily his delight, reioycing alway before him, 31 And tooke my solace in the compass of his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.

32 Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto me: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes.

33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, and giuing attendance at the postes of my doores.

34 For he that findeth me findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.

35 But he that sinneth against mee, hurteth his owne soule: and all that hate me loue death.

CHAP. IX.

2 Wisdom calleth all to her feast. 7 The scorner will not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The condition of the house.

Wisdom hath build her house, and hewen out her seven pillars.

2 She hath killed her victuals, drawn her wine, and prepared her table.

3 She hath sent forth her maidens, and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,

4 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom she saith,

5 Come and eat of my meat, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawn.

6 For sake your way ye foolish and ye shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding.

7 He that reprooneth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot.

8 Rebuke not a scorner, lest hee hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee.

9 Giue admonition to the wise, and hee will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and he will increase in learning.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things is vnderstanding.

11 For thy dayes shall be multiplied by mee, and the yeeres of thy life shall be augmented.

12 If thou bee wise, thou shalt bee wise for thy selfe, and if thou bee a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer.

13 A foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.

14 But she sitteth at the doore of her house on a seat in the high places of the citie,

15 To call them that passe by the way, that goe right on their way, saying,

16 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, she saith also,

17 Stollen waters are sweete, and hid bread is pleasant.

18 But hee knoweth not that the dead are there, and that her ghasts are in the depth of hell.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter, and all that follow vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which bee called parables, to follow vertue, and flee vice: and sheweth also what profite cometh of wisdom, and what hindrance proceedeth of foolishnesse.

¶ THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

A Wise sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.

2 The treasures of wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousness delinereth from death.

3 The Lord will not famish the soule of the righteous: but hee casteth away the substance of the wicked.

4 A slothfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 He that gathereth in Summer, is the sonne of wisdom: but hee that sleepeeth in harvest, is the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memoriall of the iust shall be blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rot.

8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in talk shall be beaten.

9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh boldly: but he that peruertheth his wayes, shall be known.

10 He that winketh with the eye, worketh sorrow, and he that is foolish in talk, shall be beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue conereth all trespasses.

13 In the lips of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdom is found, and a rod shall be for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom.

14 Wise men lay vp knowledge, but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.

15 The rich mans goods are his strong citie: but the feare of the needy is their pouertie.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

17 He that regardeth instruction is in the way of life: but hee that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 Hee that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.

19 In many words there cannot want iniquitie, but he that refraineth his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined silver: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lips of the righteous do feed many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doeth adde no sorowes with it.

23 It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God wil grant the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is an everlasting foundation.

26 As vinegar is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes: so is the flouthfull to them that send him.

27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked shall be diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vp-right man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall neuer be remooued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitful in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

False balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfect & weight pleaseth him.

1 When pride commeth, then commeth shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

2 The vprightnes of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressours shall destroy them.

3 Riches aualeth not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

4 The righteousness of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednesse.

5 The righteousness of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressours shall be taken in their owne wickednesse.

6 When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth and the hope of the vnjust shall perish.

7 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his stead.

8 An hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge.

9 In the prosperity of the righteous the citie reioyceth, and when the wicked perish, there is ioy.

10 By the blessing of the righteous the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.

11 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding will keepe silence.

12 Hee that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth a secret: but he that is of a faithful heart, concealeth a matter.

13 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many counsellors are, there is health.

14 Hee shall be fore vexed, that is suretie for a stranger, and he that hateth suretieship, is sure.

15 A gracious woman attaineth honour, and the strong man attaineth riches.

16 Hee that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but hee that troubleth his owne flesh, is cruell.

17 The wicked worketh a deceitful worke: but hee that soweth righteousness, shall receive a sure reward.

18 As righteousness leadeth to life: so hee that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death.

19 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way, are his delight.

20 Though hand is in hand, the wicked shall not be vn Timerished: but the seed of the righteous shall escape.

21 As a iewell of golde in a swines shout, so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion.

22 The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked is indignation.

23 There is that scattereth, and is more increased, but hee that spareth more then is right, surely commeth to pouertie.

24 The f liberal person shall haue plentie: and he that watereth shall also haue raine.

25 Hee that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shall be vpon the head of him that selleth corne.

26 He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him.

27 He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a lease.

28 He that troubleth his owne house shall inherit the winde, and the foole shall be servant to the wife in heart.

29 The fruit of the righteous is as a tree of life, and he that winneth soules is wise.

30 Behold, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth: how much more the wicked and the sinner?

CHAP. XII.

Hee that loueth instruction, loueth knowledge: but he that hateth correction, is a foole.

1 A good man getteth fauour of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations wil be condemned.

2 A man cannot bee established by wickednesse: but the roote of the righteous shall not be moued.

3 A vertuous woman is the crowne of her husband: but shee that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.

4 The thoughts of the iust are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.

5 The talking of the wicked is to lie in waite for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will deliuer them.

6 God ouerthroweth the wicked: and they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.

7 A man shall be commended for his wisdom: but the froward of heart shall be despised.

8 Hee that is despised, and is his owne servant, is better then hee that boasteth himselfe, and lacketh bread.

9 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruell.

10 He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding.

11 The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the root of the righteous groweth fruit.

12 The euil man is snared by the wickednesse of his lips: but the iust shall come out of aduersitie.

13 A man shall bee satiate with good things by the fruit of his mouth, & the recompense of a mans hand shall God giue vnto him.

14 The way of a foole is right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counsell is wise.

15 A foole in a day shall be known by his anger: but he that couereth shame is wise.

16 Hee that speaketh truth, will shewe righteousness

Or, is of vncomely behaviour

Ebr. abo- soule of blessing shall be made fat.

Ebr. strong or pained full.

ouesneſſe: but a falſe witneſſe deceit.

Chap. 14. 5. 18 * There is that ſpeaketh wordes like the prickings of a ſword: but the tongue of wiſe men is health.

19 The lip of truth ſhall bee ſtable for euer: but a lying tongue varieth incontinently.

20 Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine euill: but to the counſellers of peace ſhalbe ioy.

21 There ſhall none iniquitie come to the iuſt: but the wicked are full of euill.

22 The lying lippes are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truly are his delight.

23 A wiſe man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fool ſhall publiſh fooliſhneſſe.

Chap. 10. 4. 24 * The hand of the diligent ſhall beare rule: but the idle ſhalbe vnder tribute.

25 Hoſtineſſe in the heart of man doeth bring it downe: but a good word reioyceth it.

26 The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked wil deceiue them.

27 The deceitfull man roſteth not that he tooke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious.

28 Life is in the way of righteouſneſſe, and in that path way there is no death.

C H A P. XIII.

A Wiſe ſonne will obey the inſtruction of his father: but a ſcorner will heare no rebuke.

2 A man ſhall eate good things by the fruit of his mouth: but the ſoule of the treſpaſſers ſhall ſuffer violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but he that openeth his lips, deſtruction ſhall bee to him.

4 The ſluggard luſteth, but his ſoule hath ſought: but the ſoule of the diligent ſhall haue plentie.

5 A righteous man hateth lying words: but the wicked cauſeth ſlander and ſhame.

Chap. 14. 7. 6 Righteouſnes preferreth the vpright of his life: but wickednes ouerthroweth the ſinner.

7 There is that maketh himſelfe rich, and hath nothing: and that maketh himſelfe poore, hauing great riches.

8 A man will giue his riches for the ranſome of his life: but the poore cannot heare the reproch.

9 The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked ſhalbe put out.

10 Onely by pride doth man make contention: but with the well aduiſed is wiſedome.

11 The riches of vanitie ſhall diminiſh: but he that gathereth with the hand, ſhall increaſe them.

12 The hope that is deferred is the fainting of the heart: but when the deſire cometh, it is as a tree of life.

13 Hee that deſpiſeth the word, he ſhall bee deſtroyed: but hee that feareth the commandement, he ſhalbe rewarded.

14 The inſtruction of a wiſe man is as the wellſpring of life, to turne away from the ſnares of death.

15 Good vnderſtanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the diſobedient is hated.

16 Euery wiſe man will worke by knowledge: but a foolke will ſpread abroad follie.

Chap. 25. 17. * A wicked meſſenger ſalleth into euil: but a faithfull ambaffador is preſeruation.

18 Pouerty and ſhame is to him that reſuſeth inſtruction: but he that regardeth correſtion, ſhalbe honoured.

19 A deſire accompliſhed delighteth the ſoule: but it is an abomination to foolkes to depart from euill.

20 He that walketh with the wiſe, ſhall be wiſe: but a companion of foolkes ſhall be afflicted.

21 Affliction followeth ſinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompenſe good.

22 The good man ſhall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: and the riches of the ſinner is laid vp for the iuſt.

23 Much food is in the field of the poore: but the field is deſtroyed without diſcretion.

24 * Hee that ſpareth his rod, hateth his ſonne: but he that loueth him, chaſteth him betime.

25 The righteous eateth to the contentation of his minde: but the belly of the wicked ſhall want.

C H A P. XIII.

A Wiſe woman buildeth her houſe: but the fooliſh deſtroyeth it with her owne hands.

2 * He that walketh in his righteouſneſſe, ſeareth the Lord: but he that is lewd in his wayes, deſpiſeth him.

3 In the mouth of the fooliſh is the rod of pride: but the lips of the wiſe preferre them.

4 Where none oxen are, there the cribbe is empty: but much increaſe cometh by the ſtrength of the ox.

5 A faithfull witneſſe wil not lie: but a falſe record wil ſpeake lies.

6 A ſcorner ſeeketh wiſdom, and findeth it not: but knowledge is eaſie to him that will vnderſtand.

7 Depart from the fooliſh man, when thou perceiueſt not in him the lips of knowledge.

8 The wiſdome of the prudent is to vnderſtand his way: but the fooliſhneſſe of the foolkes is deceit.

9 The foolke maketh a mocke of ſinne: but among the righteous there is fauour.

10 The heart knoweth the bitterneſſe of his ſoule, and the ſtranger ſhall not meddle with his ioy.

11 The houſe of the wicked ſhall be deſtroyed: but the Tabernacle of the righteous ſhall flouriſh.

12 * There is a way that ſeemeth right to a man: but the iſſues thereof are the wayes of death.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is ſorrowfull, and the end of that mirth is heauineſſe.

14 The heart that declineth, ſhall be ſatiated with his owne wayes: but a good man ſhall depart from him.

15 The fooliſh wil belecue euery thing, but the prudent wil conſider his ſteps.

16 A wiſe man feareth, and departeth from euil: but a foolke rageth and is careleſſe.

17 He that is haſtie to anger, committeth follie, and a buſie body is hated.

18 The fooliſh doe inherite folly: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The euill ſhall bow before the good, and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

20 The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friends of the rich are many.

21 The ſinner deſpiſeth his neighbour: but hee that hath mercy on the poore, is bleſſed.

22 Doe they not erre that imagine euill? but to them that thinke on good things, ſhalbe mercy and truth.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lips bringeth onely want.

24 The crowne of the wiſe is their riches, and the folly of foolkes is fooliſhneſſe.

25 A faithfull witneſſe deliuereth ſoules: but a deceiver ſpeaketh lies.

26 In the feare of the Lord is an aſſured ſtrength, and his children ſhall haue hope.

27 The feare of the Lord is as a wellspring of life, to auoide the snares of death.

28 In the multitude of the people is the honour of a king, and for the want of people commeth the destruction of the Prince.

29 He that is slow to wrath, is of great wisdom:
but he that is of a hasty minde, exalteth folly.

30 A found heart is the life of the flesh: but enuie is the rotting of the bones.

31 He that oppresseth the poore, reprooueth him that made him: but hee honoureth him, that hath mercie on the poore.

32 The wicked shall be cast away for his malice:
but the righteous hath hope in his death.

33 Wisdom reſteth in the heart of him that hath vnderſtanding, and is known in the middes of fooles.

34 Iuſtice exalteth a nation, but ſin is a ſhame and a reproch to the people.

35 The pleaſure of a king is in a wiſe ſervant:
but his wrath ſhall be toward him that is lewd.

C H A P X V.

A Soft anſwere putteth away wrath: but grie-uous words ſtirre vp anger.

1 The tongue of the wiſe ſeeth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fooles babbleth out fooliſhneſſe.

2 The eyes of the Lord in euery place, behold
the euill and the good.

3 A wholeſome tongue is as a tree of life:
but the frowardneſſe thereof is the breaking of the minde.

4 A foole deſpiſeth his fathers inſtruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

5 The houſe of the righteous hath much trea-ſure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is trouble.

6 The lips of the wiſe do ſpread abroad knowledge: but the heart of the fooliſh doth not ſo.

7 The ſacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him.

8 The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him that followeth righteouſneſſe.

9 Inſtruction is euill to him that forſaketh the way, and he that hateth correction, ſhall die.

10 Hell & deſtruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the ſonnes of men?

11 A ſcorner loueth not him that rebuketh him, neither will he goe vnto the wiſe.

12 A ioyfull heart maketh a cheerefull countenance: but by the ſorrow of the heart the minde is heauie.

13 The heart of him that hath vnderſtanding, ſeeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fed with fooliſhneſſe.

14 All the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conſcience is a continuall feaſt.

15 Better is a little with the feare of the Lord, then great treaſure and trouble therewith.

16 Better is a dinner of Greene herbs where loue is, then a ſtalled oxe and hatred therewith.

17 An angry man ſtirreth vp ſtriſe: but he that is ſlow to wrath, appeaſeth ſtriſe.

18 The way of a ſlouthfull man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine.

19 A wiſe ſonne reioyceth the father: but a fooliſh man deſpiſeth his mother.

20 Fooliſhneſſe is ioy to him that is deſtitute of vnderſtanding: but a man of vnderſtanding walketh vprightly.

21 Without counſell thoughts come to nought:

but in the multitude of counſellers there is ſted-faſtneſſe.

22 A ioy commeth to a man by the anſwere of his mouth: and how good is a word in due ſeaſon?

23 The way of life is on high to the prudent, to auoide from hell beneath.

24 The Lord will deſtroy the houſe of the proud men: but he will ſtabliſh the borders of the widow.

25 The thoughts of the wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure haue pleaſant words.

26 He that is greedy of gaine, troubleth his owne houſe: but he that hateth gifts ſhall liue.

27 The heart of the righteous ſtudieth to an-ſwere: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euill things.

28 The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.

29 The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, and a good name maketh the bones fat.

30 The eare that hearkeneth to the correction of life, ſhall lodge among the wiſe.

31 Hee that reſuſeth inſtruction, deſpiſeth his owne ſoule: but he that obeyeth correction getteth vnderſtanding.

32 The feare of the Lord is the inſtruction of wiſedome: and before honour chooſe humilitie.

C H A P X V I.

The preparations of the heart are in man: but the anſwere of the tongue is of the Lord.

1 All the wayes of a man are cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the ſpirits.

2 Commit thy works vnto the Lord, and thy thoughts ſhall be directed.

3 The Lord hath made all things for his owne ſake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill.

4 All that are proud in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though * hand ioyne in hand, hee ſhall not be vnpuſhied.

5 By mercie and trueth iniquitie ſhall be forgiuen, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

6 When the wayes of a man pleaſe the Lord, he will make alſo his enemies at peace with him.

7 Better is a little with righteouſneſſe, then great reuenues without equitie.

8 The heart of man purpoſeth his way: but the Lord doeth direct his ſteps.

9 A diuine ſentence ſhall be in the lips of the king, his mouth ſhall not tranſgreſſe in iudgement.

10 A true waight & ballance are of the Lord: all the weights of the bagge are his worke.

11 It is an abomination to kings to comit vice kedneſſe: for the throne is eſtabliſhed by iuſtice.

12 Righteous lips are the delight of kings, and the king loueth him that ſpeaketh right things.

13 The wrath of a king is as meſſengers of death:
but a wiſe man will pacifie it.

14 In the light of the kings countenance is life:
and his fauour is as a cloud of the latter raine.

15 How much better is it to get wiſdome then gold? and to get vnderſtanding is more to be deſired then ſiluer.

16 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, and he keepeth his ſoule, that keepeth his way.

17 Pride goeth before deſtruction, and an high mind before the fall.

18 Better it is to bee of humble minde with the lowly, then to diuide the ſpoiles with the proud.

19 He that is wiſe in his buſineſſe ſhall find good:
and he that truſteth in the Lord he is bleſſed.

20 The wiſe in heart ſhall be called prudent: and the ſweetneſſe of the lips ſhall increaſe doctrine.

28 A froward person soweth strife: and a tale-teller maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiue his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good.

30 He shutteth his eyes to deuile wickednes: he mouth his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glory, when it is found in the way of righteousnesse.

Better is a drie morsell, if peace be with it, then a house ful of sacrifices with strife.

2 *A discreet seruant that haue rule ouer a lewd sonne, and he shall diuide the heritage among the brethren.

3 As is the fining pot for siluer, and the furnace for gold: so the Lord trieth the hearts.

4 The wicked giueth heede to false lips, and a liar hearkeneth to the naughty tongue.

5 *He that mocketh the poore, reprocheth him that made him: and he that reioyceth at destruction, shall not be vn Timer.

6 Childrens children are the crowne of the elders: and the glory of the children are their fathers.

7 ¶ High talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince.

8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth whither soeuer it turneth.

9 Hee that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but he that repeatech a matter, separateth the prince.

10 A reproofe entreth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole.

11 A seditious person seeketh only euill, and a cruell messenger shall be sent against him.

12 It is better for a man to meet a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a foole in his folly.

13 *He that rewardeth euill for good, euill shall not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is as one that openeth the waters: therefore or the contention be medled with, leane off.

15 *Hee that iustifieth the wicked, and hee that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord.

16 Wherefore is there a price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and he hath no heart?

25 A foolish sonne is a grieue vnto his father, and a heauinesse to her that bare him.

26 Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that the princes should smite such for equitie.

27 Hee that hath knowledge spareth his words, & a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirit.

28 Euen a foole (when hee holdeth his peace) is counted wise, & hee that stoppeth his lips prudent.

CHAP. XVIII.

4 The words of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the well-spring of wisdom is like a flowing riuier.

5 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

6 A fooles lips come with strife, and his mouth callet for stripes.

7 A fooles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule.

8 The words of a tale-bearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

14 The spirit of a man will sustaine his infirmities: but a wounded spirit, who can beare it?

15 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the care of the wise seeketh learning.

16 A mans gift enlargeth him, and leadeth him before great men.

17 He that is first in his owne cause, is iust: then commeth his neighbour, and maketh enquire of him.

18 The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mightie.

19 A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong city, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace.

20 With the fruite of a mans mouth shall his belly bee satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.

21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue, and they that loue it, shall eat the fruit thereof.

22 He that findeth a wife findeth a good thing, and receiueth fauour of the Lord.

Detter * is the poore that walketh in his vpbrightnesse, then he that abuseth his lips, and is a foole.

2 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that hasteth with his feet, sinneth.

3 The foolishnes of a man peruerteth his way, and his heart fretteth against the Lord.

is separated from his neighbour.

5 * A false witness shall not be unpunished:
and he that speaketh lies, shall not escape.

7 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him:
how much more will his friends depart farre from him: though hee be instant with words, yet they will not.

8 He that possesseth vnderstanding loueth his owne soule, & keepeth wisdom to find goodnesse.

9 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.

10 Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer Princes.

11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger:
and his glory is to passe by an offence.

12 * The kings wrath is like the roaring of a li-

13 * A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his fa-

14 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wife commeth of the Lord.

15 Slothfulnesse causeth to fall asleepe, and a de-ceitfull person shall be affamished.

16 Hee that keepeth the commandement, kee-wayes, shall die.

17 He that hath mercie vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring.

19 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou deliuer him, yet will his anger come againe.

20 Heare counsell, and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end.

21 Many deuices are in a mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stand.

22 That that is to bee desired of a man is his goodnesse, and a poore man is better then a liar.

23 The feare of the Lord leadeb to life: and he that is filled therewith shall continue, and shall not be visited with euill.

24 * The slothful hideth his hand in his bosome, and will not put it to his mouth againe.

25 * Smite a scorne, and the foolish will beware: and reprove the prudent, and he will vnder-

26 He that destroyeth his father, or chafeth away his mother, is a lewd and shamefull child.

27 My sonne, heare no more the instruction, that causeth to erre from the words of knowledge.

28 A wicked witness mocketh at iudgement,

7 He that walketh in his integritie is iust: and 17 The bread of deceit is sweete to a man: but afterward his mouth shall be filled with grauell.

18 Establish the thoughts by counsell: and by counsell make warre.

19 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discouflattereth with his lips.

20 * Hee that curseth his father or his mother,

21 An heritage is hastily gotten at the beginning, but the end thereof shall not be blessed.

22 Say not thou, * I will recompense euill: but wait vpon the Lord, and he shall saue thee.

23 * Diuers weights are an abomination vnto
the Lord, and deceitfull balances are not good.

24 * The steppes of man are ruled by the Lord:
how can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

25 It is a destruction for a man to deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to enquire.

26 A wise King scattereth the wicked, and cau-

8 Thou shalt vomit thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt loſe thy sweet words.

9 Speake not in the eares of a foole: for he will deſpiſe the waiſdome of thy words.

10 * Remoue not the ancient bounds, and enter not into the fields of the fatherleſſe.

11 For he that redeemeth them is mighty: he will * defend their cauſe againſt thee.

12 Apply thine heart to inſtruction, and thine eares to the words of knowledge.

13 * Withhold not correction from the child: if thou ſmite him with the rod, he ſhall not die.

14 Thou ſhalt ſmite him with the rod, and ſhalt deliuer his ſoule from hell.

15 My ſonne, if thine heart be wiſe, mine heart ſhall reioyce, and I alſo.

16 And my reins ſhall reioyce, when thy lippes ſpeake righteous things.

17 * Let not thine heart bee enuiouſ againſt ſinners: but let it be in the feare of the Lord continually.

18 For ſurely there is an end, and thy hope ſhall not be cut off.

19 O thou my ſonne, beare, and bee wiſe, and guide thine heart in the way.

20 Keepe not company with drunkardes, nor with gluttons.

21 For the drunkard and the glutton ſhall be poore, and the ſleeper ſhall be clothed with rags.

22 Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and deſpiſe not thy mother when ſhe is old:

23 Buy the truth, but ſell it not: likewiſe wisedome, and inſtruction, and vnderſtanding.

24 The father of the righteous ſhall greatly reioyce, and he that begetteth a wiſe child, ſhall haue ioy of him.

25 Thy father and thy mother ſhall be glad, and ſhe that bare thee, ſhall reioyce.

26 My ſonne, giue me thine heart, and let thine eyes delight in my wayes.

27 * For a whore is as a deepe ditch, & a ſtrange woman is as a narrow pit.

28 * Alſo ſhe lieth in wait as for a pray, and ſhee increaſeth the tranſgreſſors among men.

29 To whom is woe? to whom is ſorrow? to whom is ſtrife? to whom is murmuring? to whom are wounds without cauſe? and to whom is the redneſſe of the eyes?

30 Men to them that tarie long at the wine, to them that goe and ſeek mixt wine.

31 Looke not thou vpon the wine when it is red, and when it ſheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleaſantly.

32 In the end thereof it will bite like a ſerpent, and hurt like a cockatrice:

33 Thine eyes ſhall looke vpon ſtrange women, and thine heart ſhall ſpeake lewd things.

34 And thou ſhalt be as one that ſleepeth in the miſds of the ſea, and as he that ſleepeth in the top of the maſt.

35 They haue ſtricken mee, thou ſhalt ſay, but I was not ſicke: they haue beaten me, but I knew not when I awoke: therefore will I ſeek it yet ſtill.

BE * not thou enuiouſ againſt euill men, neither deſire to be with them.

2 For their heart imagineth deſtruction, and their lipps ſpeake miſchiefe.

3 Through wisedome is an houſe builded, and with vnderſtanding it is eſtabliſhed.

4 And by knowledge ſhal the chambers be filled with all precious and pleaſant riches.

5 A wiſe man is ſtrong: for a man of vnderſtanding increaſeth his ſtrength.

6 * For with counſell thou ſhalt enterpriſe thy warre, and in the multitude of them that can giue counſell is health.

7 Wiſedome is high to a foole: therefore hee cannot open his mouth in the gate.

8 He that imagineth to doe euill, men ſhall call him an author of wickedneſſe.

9 The wicked thought of a foole is ſuane, and the ſcorn is an abomination vnto men.

10 If thou be ſaint in the day of aduerſitie, thy ſtrength is ſmall.

11 Deliuer them that are drawn to death: and wilt thou not preferue them that are ledde to bee ſlaine?

12 If thou ſay, Behold, wee knew not of it: he that pondereth the hearts, doeth not he vnderſtand it? & he that keepeth thy ſoule, knoweth he it not? will not he alſo recompence euery man according to his works?

13 My ſonne, eat hony, for it is good, and the honycombe, for it is ſweet vnto thy mouth:

14 So ſhall the knowledge of wiſdome be vnto thy ſoule if thou finde it, and there ſhalbe an end, and thine hope ſhall not be cut off.

15 Lay no wayte, O wicked man, againſt the houſe of the righteous, and ſpoyle not his reſting place.

16 For a iuſt man falleth ſeuē times, and riſeth againe: but the wicked fall into miſchiefe.

17 Be thou not glad when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when he ſtumbleth.

18 Leſt the Lord ſee it, and it diſpleaſe him, and he turne his wrath from him.

19 * Fret not thy ſelfe becauſe of the malicious, neither be enuiouſ at the wicked.

20 For there ſhall be none end of plagues to the euill man: * the light of the wicked ſhall be put out.

21 My ſonne, feare the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are ſeditious.

22 For their deſtruction ſhall riſe ſuddenly, and who knoweth the ruine of them both?

23 ALSO THESE THINGS PERTEINE TO THE WISE. It is not good to haue reſpect of any perſon in iudgement.

24 He that ſayth the wicked, * Thou art righteous, him ſhall the people curſe, and the multitude ſhall abhorre him.

25 But to them that rebuke him, ſhall be pleaſure, and vpon them ſhal come the bleſſing of goodnes.

26 They ſhall kiſſe the lips of him that anſwereth vpright words.

27 Prepare thy worke without, and make ready thy things in the field, and after build thine houſe.

28 Be not a wrenes againſt thy neighbour without cauſe: for wilt thou deceiue with thy lipps?

29 * Say not, I will doe to him, as he hath done to mee, I will recompence euery man according to his worke.

30 I paſſed by the field of the ſlothfull, & by the vineyard of the man deſtitute of vnderſtanding.

31 And lo, it was all growen ouer with thornes and 32 Then I beheld, and I considered it well: I looked vpon it, and receiued instruction.

33 For a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe :

34 So thy pouerty commeth, as one that traileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

CHAP. XXV.

1 THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES of Salomon, which the men of Hezekiah King of Iudah copied out.

2 THe glory of God is to concale a thing secret: but the Kings honour is to search out a thing.

3 The heauens in height, and the earth in deepnes, and the Kings heart can no man search out.

4 Take the drosse from the siluer, & there shall proceed a vessel for the finer.

5 Take away the wicked from the King, and his throne shall be established in righteousness.

6 Boast not thy selfe before the King, and stand not in the place of great men.

7 \ For it is better that it bee sayde vnto thee, Come vp hither, then thou to bee put lower, in the presence of the prince who thine eyes haue seene.*

8 Go not forth hastily to strife, lest thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

9 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discover not the secret to another.

10 Lest he that heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamy doe not cease.

11 A word spoken in his place, is like apples of gold with pictures of siluer.

12 He that reproveth the wife, and the obedient care, is as a golden eare-ring and an ornament of fine gold.

13 As the cold of the snow in the time of haruest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters.

14 A man that boasteth of false liberality, is like clouds and wind without raine.

15 A prince is pacified by staying of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the bones.

16 If thou haue found hony, eat that is sufficient for thee, lest thou be ouer full, and vomit it.

17 Withdraw thy force from thy neighbours house, lest he be weary of thee, and hate thee.

18 A man that beareth false witnesse against his neighbour, is like an hammer, and a sword, and a sharpe arrow.

19 Confidence in an vnfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth, and a sliding foot.

20 He that taketh away the garment in the cold season, is like vinegar poured vpon nitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauy heart.

21 \ If he that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eat, and if he be thirsty, giue him water to drinke.*

22 For thou shalt lay coales vpon his head, and the Lord shall recompense thee.

23 As the North wind drieth away the raine: so doeth an angry countenance y<sup>e</sup> flandering tongue.

24 \ It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then in a contentious woman in a wide house.*

25 As are the cold waters to a weary soule, so is good newes from a farre country.

26 A righteous man falling downe before the wicked, is like a troubled wel, and a corrupt spring.

27 It is not good to eate much hony: so to search their owne glory is nos glory.

28 A man that refraineth not his appetite, is like a city which is broken downe, and without walles.

CHAP. XXVI.

As the snow in the summer, & as the raine in the haruest, are not meete, so is honour vnto a foole.

2 As the sparow by flying, and the swallow by flying escape, so the curle that is causelesse, shall not come.

3 Vnto the horse belongeth a whip, to the asse a bridle, and a rod to the fooles backe.

4 Answer not a loole according to his foolishnesse, lest thou also be like him.

5 Answer a foole according to his foolishnesse, lest he be wise in his owne conceit.

6 Hee that sendeth a meesse by the hand of a foole, is as he that cutteth off the teete, and drinketh iniquitie.

7 As they that lift vp the legs of the lame, so is a parable in a fooles mouth.

8 As the closing vp of a precious stone in an heap of stones, so is he that giveth glory to a foole.

9 As a thorn standing vp in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of fooles.

10 The Excellent that fourmed all things, both rewardeth the foole, and rewardeth the transgressours.

11 \ As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomit, so a foole turneth to his foolishnes.*

12 Seest thou a wife man in his owne conceite? more hope is of a foole then of him.

13 The slothfull man saith, A lion is in the way: a lion is in the freets.

14 As the dore turneth vpon his hinges, so doth the slothfull man vpon his bed.

15 \ The slothfull hideth his hand in his bosom, and it grieueth him to put it againe to his mouth.*

16 The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceite, then seven men that can render a reason.

17 He that passeth by, and medleth with the strife that belongeth not vnto him, is as one that taketh a dogge by the eares.

18 As he that smiteth himselfe and casteth fire brands, arrowes, and mortall things, 19 So doeth the deceitfull man with his friend, and faith, Am not I in sport?

20 Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a talebearer strife ceaseth.

21 \ As the coale maketh burning coales, and the wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife.*

22 \ The words of a talebearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.*

23 A siluer drosse overlaid vpon a potticary, so are burning lips and an euill heart.

24 He that hateth will counterfeite with his lips, but in his heart he layeth vp deceit.

25 Though he speake fauourably, beleue him not: for there are seven abominations in his heart.

26 Hatred may be couered by deceit, but the malice thereof shall be discovered in the Congregation.

27 \ He that diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall returne vnto him.*

28 A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

CHAP. XXVII.

Boast not thy selfe of to morrow: for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praise thee, and not thine owne mouth: a stranger, and not thine owne lips.

Eccles. 3. 22.

10 A stone is heavy, and the sand weighty: but scoles wrath is heavier then them both.

11 Anger is cruel, and wrath is raging: but who can stand before enuy?

12 Open rebuke is better then secret loue.

13 The wounds of a louer are faythfull, and the kisses of an enemy are pleasant.

14 The person that is full, despiseth an honie combe. but vnto the hungry soule euery bitter thing is sweet.

15 As a bird that wandreth from her nest, so is a man that wandreth from his owne place.

16 An ointment and perfume reioyce the heart, so doeth the sweetnesse of a mans friend by hearty counsell.

17 Thine owne friend and thy fathers friende forsake thou not: neither enter into thy brothers house in the day of thy calamitie: for better is a neighbour that is neere, then a brother farre off.

18 My sonne, bee wife, and reioyce mine heart, that I may answer him that reprocheth me.

19 A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished.

20 Take his garment that is surety for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

21 Hee that praileth his friend with a loude voice, rising early in the morning, it shalbe counted to him as a curse.

22 A continuall dropping in the day of raine, and a contentious woman are alike.

23 Hee that hideth her, hideth the wind, and she is as the oyle in his right hande, that vtereth it selde.

24 Yron sharpeneth yron, so doeth man sharpen the face of his friend.

25 He that keepeth the figtree, shal eat the fruit thereof: so he that wayteth vpon his maister, shall come to honour.

26 As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man.

27 The graue and destruction can neuer be full, so the eyes of a man can neuer be satisfied.

28 As is the sining pot for siluer, and y<sup>e</sup> fornace for gold, so is euery man according to his digniety.

29 Though thou shouldst bray a foole in a mortar among wheat brayed with a pestill: yet will not his foolishnes depart from him.

30 Bee diligent to know the state of thy flocke, and take heede to the heards.

31 For riches remaine not alway, nor the crowne from generation to generation.

32 The hay discouereth it selfe, and the grasse appeareth, and the hearbes of the mountaines are gathered.

33 The lambes are for thy clothing, & the goats are the price of the field, 34 And let the milke of the goates bee sufficient for thy food, for the food of thy family, and for the sustenance of thy maids.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The wicked flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.

1 For the transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long.

2 A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine that leaueth no food.

3 They that forsake the Law, praise the wicked: but they that keepe the Law, set themselves against them.

4 Wicked men vnderstand not iudgment: but they that seeke the Lord vnderstand all things.

5 Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightness, then he that peruertereth his wayes, though he be rich. Chap. 19. 1

6 He that keepeth the Law, is a child of vnderstanding: but he that feedeth the gluttons, shameth his father.

7 He that increaseth his riches by vsury and interest, gathereth them for him that will be merciful vnto the poore.

8 He that turneth away his care from hearing the Law, euen his praier shalbe abominable.

9 He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shal fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shal inherit good things.

10 The rich man is wise in his owne conceit: but the poore that hath vnderstanding can try him.

11 When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tried. Chap. 19. 2

12 He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth and forsaketh them, shal haue mercy.

13 Blessed is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shal fall into euill.

14 As a roaring lion, and an hungry beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

15 A prince destitute of vnderstanding is also a great oppressour: but he that hateth couetousnesse, shal prolong his dayes.

16 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall see vnto the graue, and they shal not stay him.

17 He that walketh vprightly, shalbe saued: but he that is froward in his wayes shal once fall.

18 He that tilleth his land shalbe satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, shalbe filled with pouerty. Chap. 20. 1

19 A faithfull man shal abound in blessing, and he that maketh haste to be rich, shal not be innocent. Chap. 20. 2

20 To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a piece of bread. Chap. 20. 3

21 A man with a wicked eye hasteth to riches, & knoweth not that pouerty shal come vpon him. Chap. 20. 4

22 He that rebuketh a man shal finde more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with his tongue. Chap. 20. 5

23 He that robbeth his father and mother, and sayth, it is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth. Chap. 20. 6

24 He that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shalbe safe. Chap. 20. 7

25 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole, but he that walketh in wisdom, shalbe deliuered. Chap. 20. 8

26 He that giueth vnto the poore, shal not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shal haue many curses. Chap. 20. 9

27 When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselves: but when they perish, the righteous increase. Chap. 20. 10

CHAP. XXIX.

A man that hardeneth his necke, when he is rebuked, shal suddenly be destroyed, and cannot be cured.

1 When the righteous are in authority, the people reioice: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh. Chap. 21. 1

2 A man y<sup>e</sup> loweth wisdom, reioyceth his father: but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance. Chap. 21. 2

3 A King by iudgement maintaineth the countrey: but a man receiuing gifts, destroyeth it. Chap. 21. 3

4 A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his feets.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his snare: but the righteous doth sing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of his poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornfull men bring a city into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wise man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry, or laugh, there is no rest.

10 Bloody men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A fool powreth out all his mind: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkneth to lies, all his seruants are wicked.

Chap. 22. 13 * The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes.

Chap. 20. 14 * A king that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shall be established for euer.

20. 15 The rod and correction giue wisdom: but a child fer at liberty kacketh his mother asamed.

16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne, and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule.

18 Where there is no vision the people decay: but he that keepeth the Law, is blessed.

For reward. 19 A seruant will not be chastised with wordes: though he vnderstand, yet he will not answer.

20 Seest thou a man halty in his matters? there is more hope of a foole then of him.

21 Hee that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will be euen as his sonne.

Chap. 15. 22 * An angry man stirreth vp strife, & a furious man aboundeth in transgression.

18. 23 * The pride of a man shall bring him lowe: but the humble in spirit shall inioy glory.

Iob. 22. 24 Hee that is partner with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: hee heareth cursing, and declareth it not.

25 The feare of man bringeth a snare: but hee that trusteth in the Lord shall be exalted.

26 Many do seeke the face of the ruler: but euery mans iudgement cometh from the Lord.

27 A wicked man is abomination to the iust, and he that is vpright in his way, is abomination to the wicked.

CHAP. XXX.

2 To humble our selues in consideration of Gods works. 5 The word of God is persis. 11 Of the wicked and hypocrites. 15 Of things that are neuer satiate.

18 Of others that are wonderfull.

THE WORDS OF AGUR THE SONNE OF IAKEH.

THe prophesie which the man spake vnto Ithiel, euen to Ithiel, and Vcal.

2 Surely I am more foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me.

3 For I haue not learned wisdom, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things.

4 Who hath ascended vp to heauen, and descended? Who hath gathered the winde in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the ends of the world? What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell?

Psal. 19.8 5 * Euery word of God is pure: hee is a shield to those that trust in him.

Deut. 4.2. 6 * Put nothing to his wordes, lest hee reprove thee, and thou be found a liar.

Eccl. 12.32. 7 Two things haue I required of thee: deny me them not before I die.

8 Remoue farre from me vanity and lies: giue me not pouerty, nor riches: feed me with food conuenient for me,

9 Left I bee full, and deny thee, and say, Who is the Lord? or lest I be poore and scale, and take the Name of my God in vaine.

10 Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, lest he curse thee when thou hast offended.

11 There is a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their own conceit, & yet are not washed from their filthinesse.

13 There is a generation, whose eyes are hawty, and their eye lids are lifted vp.

14 There is a generation, whose teeth are as swords, and their iawes as knives to eat vp the afflicted out of the earth, & the poore fro among men.

15 The horseleech hath two daughters, which cry, Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is enough:

16 The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot be satisfied with water, & the fire that saith not, It is enough.

17 The eye that mocketh his father, & despiseth the instruction of his mother, let the rauen of the valley picke it out, and the yong eagles cate it.

18 There be three things hid from mee: yea, foure that I know not:

19 The way of an eagle in the aire, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the midst of the sea, and the way of a man with a maid.

20 Such is the way also of an adulterous woman: she eateth and wipeth her mouth, and sayth, I haue not committed iniquity.

21 For three things the earth is moued: yea, for foure it cannot sustaine it selfe:

22 For a seruant when hee reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meat, 23 For the hatefull woman when she is married, and for a handmaid that is heire to her mistress.

24 These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are wise, and full of wisdom:

25 The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meat in summer.

26 The conies a people not mighty, yet make they their houses in the rocke:

27 The grasshopper hath no king, yet goe they forth all by bands:

28 The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in kings palaces.

29 There be three things that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going.

30 A lion which is strong among beasts, and toucheth not at the sight of any:

31 A lusty grayhound, and a goate, and a king against whom there is no rising vp.

32 If thou hast bin foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth.

33 When one churneth milk, he bringeth forth butter: & he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so hee that foreteth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 Hee exhorteth to chastity and iustice, 10 And sheweth the conditions of a wise and worthy woman.

1 THE WORDES OF KING LE-MUEL: The prophesie which his mother taught him.

What my sonne! and what the son of my wombe! and what O son of my desires!

3 Giue not thy strength vnto women, nor thy wayes which is to destroy kings.

4 It is not for Kings, O Lemuel, it is not for Kings to drinke wine, nor for Princes strong drinke, 5 Left hee drinke and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction.
6 Giue yee strong drinke to him that is ready to perishe, and wine vnto them that haue griefe of heart.
7 Let him drinke that hee may forget his penurie, and remember his misery no more.
8 Open thy mouth for the dumbe in the cause of all the children of destruction.
9 Opon thy mouth: iudge righteously, and iudge the afflicted and the poore.
10 ¶ Who shall find a vertuous woman? for her price is farre above the pearles.
11 The heart of her husband trusteth in her, and he shall haue no neede of spoile.
12 She will doe him good, and not euill all the dayes of her life.
13 Shee seeketh wooll and flaxe, and laboureth cheerefully with her hands.
14 She is like the ships of merchants: she bringeth her fooode from a farre.
15 And she riseth whiles it is yet night: and giveth [the] portion to her household, and the ordinarie to her maids.
16 Shee considereth a field, and getteth it: and with the fruite of her hands shee plaueth a vineyard.

17 Shee girdeth her loines with strength, and strengtheneth her armes.
18 Shee feeleth that her merchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night.
19 She putteth her hands to the wheele, and her hands handle the spindle.
20 She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, and putteth forth her hands to the needy.
21 She feareth not the snow for her family: for all her family is clothed with skarlet.
22 She maketh her selfe carpets: fine linen and purple is her garment.
23 Her husband is knowne in the gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the land.
24 Shee maketh [the] sheetes, and selleth them, and giueth girdles vnto the merchant.
25 Strength and honour is her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce.
26 She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and the law of grace is in her tongue.
27 Shee ouerleeth the wayes of her household, and eateth not the bread of idlenesse.
28 Her children rise vp, and call her blessed: her husband also shall praise her, saying, 29 Many daughters haue done vertuously: but thou surmountest them all.
30 Fauour is deceitfull, and beautie is vanitie: but a woman that feareth the Lord, shee shall be praised.
31 Giue her of the fruit of her hands, and let her owne workes praise her in the gates.

ECCELESIASTES, OR, THE PREACHER.

THE ARGVMENT.

Solomon, as a Preacher, and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceivable vanities of this world, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the Sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie, or in riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that hee is united with God, and shall enjoy his presence, so that all other things must be reiected, in as much as they further vs to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other iane in God alone.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this world are full of vanitie, and of some euill aunce. 13 All mans wisdom is but folly and griefe.

THe words of the Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalem.

2 Vanitie of vanities, sayeth the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

3 What remaineth vnto man in all his trauell which he suffereth vnder the Sunne?

4 One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for euer.

5 The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place where he riseth.

6 The wind goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the winde goeth round about, and returneth by his circuits.

7 ¶ All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the seas are not full: for the riuers goe vnto the place whence they returne and goe.

8 All things are full of labour, man cannot vter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 What is it that hath been? that that shal be: and what is it that hath been done: that which shal be done: and there is no new thing vnder the Sun.

10 Is there any thing whereof one may say, Behold this, it is new? it hath been already in the old time that was before vs.

11 There is no memory of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shall be with them that shall come after.

12 ¶ I the Preacher haue been King ouer Israel in Ierusalem:

13 And I haue giuen mine heart to search and finde out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauell hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby.)

14 I haue considered all the works that are done vnder the Sunne, and behold, all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

15 That which is crooked, can none make straight: & that which is straight cannot be numbred.

16 I thought in mine heart, & said, Behold, I am become great, & excell in wisdom: all them that haue been before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to know wisdom and knowledge, made it: and foolishness: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, encreaseth sorrow.

C H A P. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 5 The wise and the foole haue both one end touching the bodily death.

I Said in mine heart, Goe to now, I wil proue thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things, and behold, this also is vanitie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I thought in mine heart to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in wisdom, and to take hold of folly, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they enjoy vnder the Sunne, the whole number of the daies of their life.

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses; I haue planted me vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens and orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruit.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maydes, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beeces and sheepe aboute all that were before me in Ierusalem.

8 I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and gold, and the chiefe treasures of kinges and prouinces: I haue prouided me men fingers and women fingers, and the delights of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

9 And I was great, and increased aboute all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me.

10 And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for my heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my portion of all my trauell.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauel that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vanity & vexation of the spirit: and there is no profit vnder the sunne.

12 ¶ And I turned to behold wisdom & madnesse & folly: (for who is the man that will come after kyng in things, which men now haue done?)

13 Then I saw that there is profit in wisdom, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenesse.

14 *For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenesse: yet I know also that the same condition falleth to them all.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole: why therefore doe I then labour to bee more wise? And I sayd in mine heart, that this also is vanity.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And how dieth the wise man, as doth the foole?

17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne is grieuous vnto me: for all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauelled vnder the Sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shall be after me.

19 And who knoweth whether he shall be wise or foolish? yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauelled: & wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the Sunne. This is also vanity.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauelled vnder the Sunne.

21 For there is a man whose trauel is in wisdom, and in knowledge, and in equity: yet to a man that hath not trauelled herein, shall he giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his trauell and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauelled vnder the Sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and his trauels griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night, which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profit to man, but that he eat, and drinke, and delite his soule with the profit of his labour. I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who could eate, and who could halte to outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdom, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giueth paine to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

C H A P. III.

1 All things haue their time. 15 The workes of God are perfect, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust and the vniust.

IO all things there is an appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.

2 A time to bee borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to bee farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sow: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profit hath hee that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauel: I that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men to humble them thereby.

11 Hee hath made euery thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen vnto the end.

12 I knew that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh and seeth the commodity of all his labour: This is the gift of God.

14 I know that whatsoever God shall doe it shall be for euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

15 What is that that hath bene: that is now: and that that shall be hath now bene: for God requieth that which is past.

16 And moreover I haue seene vnder the Sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, & the place of iustice, where was iniquitie.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust, & the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose, and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God hath purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselves as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts are euen as one: condition vnto vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beaſt: for all is vanitie.

20 All goe to one place, and all was of the duſt, and all ſhall returne to the duſt.

21 Who knoweth whether the ſpirit of man aſcend vppward, and the ſpirit of the beaſt deſcend downward to the earth?

22 Therefore I ſee that there is nothing better then that a man ſhould reioyce in his affaires, becauſe that is his portion. For who ſhall bring him to ſee what ſhall be after him?

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocents are oppreſſed. 4 Mens labourers are full of abuſe and vanitie. 9 Mans ſocietie is neceſſarie. 13 A young man poore and wiſe, is to be preferred to an old King that is a foole.

SO I turned, and conſidered all the oppreſſions. That are wrought vnder the Sunne, and behold, the teares of the oppreſſed, and none comforteth them: and loe, the ſtrength is of the hand of them that oppreſſe them, and none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I praized the dead which now are dead, aboue the liuing which are yet aliue.

3 And I count him better then them both, which hath not yet beene: for he hath not ſeene the euill workes which are wrought vnder the Sunne.

4 Alſo I beheld all trauell, and all perfection of workes, that this is the enuie of a man againſt his neighbour: this alſo is vanitie and vexation of ſpirit.

5 The foole ſoldeth his handes, and eateth vp his owne fleſh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnes then two handfulls with labour and vexation of ſpirit.

7 Again I returned, and ſaw vanitie vnder the Sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a ſecond, which hath neither ſonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauell, neither can his eye bee ſatiſhed with riches: neither doeth hee thinke, For whom doe I trauell and deſraud my ſoule of pleaſure: this alſo is vanitie, and this is an euill trauell.

9 Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will liſt vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for he ſalleth, and there is not a ſecond to liſt him vp.

11 Alſo if two ſleepe together, then ſhall they haue heat: but to one how ſhould there bee heat?

12 And if one ouercome him, two ſhall ſtand againſt him: and a threefold cord is not eaſily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wiſe child, then an old and fooliſh King, which will no more bee admoniſhed.

14 For out of the priſon he commeth forth to reigne, when as he that is borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I beheld all the liuing, which walke vnder the Sunne, with the ſecond child, which ſhall ſtand vp in his place.

16 There is none end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, ſhall not reioyce in him: ſurely this is alſo vanitie, and vexation of ſpirit.

17 Take heed to thy foot, when thou entreſt into the houſe of God, and bee more nere to heare then to giue the ſacrifice of foolcs: for they know not that they doe euill.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to ſpeake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters.

9 The couetous can neuer haue enough. 11 The labourers ſleepe is ſweete. 14 Man when he dieth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To lie ioyfully, and with a contented mind, is the gift of God.

BE not raiſh with thy mouth, nor let thine heart bee haliie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy words be few.

2 For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of buſineſſe: ſo the voyce of a ſoole is in the multitude of words.

3 *When thou haſt vowed a vow to God, deſerue not to pay it: for he delighteth not in foolcs: pay therefore that thou haſt vowed.

4 It is better that thou ſhouldeſt not vow, then that thou ſhouldeſt vow, and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy fleſh to ſin: neither lay before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore ſhall God bee angrie by thy voice, and deſtroy the worke of thine handes?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities, are alſo many words: but feare thou God.

7 If in a country thou ſeeſt the oppreſſion of the poore, and the deſrauding of iudgement and iuſtice, be not aſtonied at the matter: for hee that is higher then the highelt, regardeth, and ſeeth hee higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King alſo conſtitute by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth ſiluer ſhall not be ſatiſfied with ſiluer, and hee that loueth riches, ſhall bee without the fruit thereof: this alſo is vanitie.

10 When goods increaſe, they are increaſed that eate them, and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The ſleepe of him that trauaileth is ſweete, whether he eate little or much: but the facietie of the rich will not liſt him to ſleepe.

12 There is an euill ſickenefſe that I haue ſeene vnder the Sunne: to wit, riches referred to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And theſe riches periſh by euill trauaile, and he begetteth a ſonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 *As he came forth of his mothers belly, hee ſhall returne naked to goe as hee came, and ſhall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath cauſed to paſſe by his hand.

15 And this alſo is an euill ſickenefſe, that in all points as he came, ſo ſhall hee goe, and what profit hath he, that he hath trauailed for the wind?

16 Alſo all his daies he eateth in darkenes with much griefe, and in his ſorrow and anger.

17 Behold then what I haue ſeene good, that it is comely to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleaſure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the Sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Alſo to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treaſures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely he will not much remember the dayes of his life, becauſe God anſwereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miſerable eſtate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vſe them.

HERE is an euill which I ſawe vnder the Sunne, and it is much among men:

1 A man to whom God hath giuen riches, and treaſures, & honor, and he wanteth nothing for his ſoule ſoule of al that it deſireth: but God giueth him not power to eat thereof, but a ſtrange man ſhall eat it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill ſickenſſe.

3 If a man beget an hundred children, and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his ſoule bee not ſatiſhed with good things, and hee bee not buried, I ſay that an vn- timely froit is better then hee.

4 For he commeth into vanitie, and goeth into darkenes: and his name ſhalbe couered with dark- neſſe.

5 Alſo he hath not ſeene the Sunne, nor knownen it: therefore this hath more reſt then the other.

6 And if hee had liued a thouſand yeeres twiſe told, and had ſeene no good, ſhall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the ſoule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wiſe man more then the fool? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The ſight of the eye is better then to walke in the luſts: this alſo is vanity, & vexation of ſpirit.

10 What is that that hath bene the name there- of is now named: and it is knownen that it is man, and hee cannot ſtrive with him that is ſtronger then hee.

CHAP VII.

Diuers precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoid the contrarie.

Surely there be many things that increaſe vanity and what auaileth it a man?

4 It is better to goe to the houſe of mourning, then to goe to the houſe of feaſting, becauſe this is the end of all men: and the liuing ſhal lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a ſad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wiſe is in the houſe of mourning: but the heart of foolles is in the houſe of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wiſe man, then that a man ſhould heare the ſong of foolles.

8 For like the noiſe of the thorns vnder the pot, ſo is the laughter of the foolle: this alſo is vanitie.

9 Surely oppreſſion maketh a wiſe man mad: and the reward deſtroyeth the heart.

10 The end of a thing is better then the begin- ning thereof, and the patient in ſpirit is better then the proud in ſpirit.

11 Be not thou of an haſtie ſpirit: bee angrie: for anger reſteth in the boſome of foolles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former daies were better then theſe? for thou doeſt not enquire wiſely of thiſting.

13 Wiſdome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that ſee the Sunne.

14 For man ſhall reſt in the ſhadow of wiſdome and in the ſhadow of bluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wiſdome giueth life to the poſſeſſors thereof.

Chap. 15 Behold the worke of God: for who can make * ſtraight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction conſider: God alſo hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man ſhould find nothing after him.

17 I haue ſeene all things in the dayes of my va- nitie: there is a iuſt man that periſheth in his in- ſtice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iuſt ouermuch, neither make thy ſelfe ouerwiſe: wherefore ſhouldeſt thou bee de- ſolate?

19 Be not thou wicked ouermuch, neither bee thou fooliſh: wherefore ſhouldeſt thou periſh not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay hold on this: but yet withdraw not thine hand from that: for hee that feareth God, ſhall come forth of them all.

21 Wiſdome ſhall ſtrengthen the wiſe man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 * Surely there is no man iuſt in the earth, that doeth good, and ſinneth not.

23 Giue not thine heart alſo to al the words that men ſpeake, leaſt thou doe heare thy ſeruant curſing thee.

24 For oftentimes alſo thine heart knoweth that thou likewiſe haſt || curſed others.

25 All this haue I proned by wiſdom: I thought, I will be wiſe, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may it be? and it is a pro- found deepeſſe, who can find it?

27 I haue compaſſed about, both I and mine heart to know and to enquire and to ſearch wiſe- dome and reaſon, and to know the wickedneſſe of folly, and the ſoliſhneſſe of madneſſe.

28 And I find more bitter then death, the woman whoſe heart is as nets and ſnares, and her hands as hands: he that is good before God, ſhall be deli- uered from her, but the ſinner ſhall bee taken by her.

29 Behold, ſaith the Preacher, this haue I found, ſerking one by one to find the count:

30 And yet my ſoule ſeeketh, but I find it not: I haue found one man of a thouſand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

31 Onely Ioe, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue ſought many inuentions.

CHAP. VIII.

2 To obey princes and Magiſtrates. 17 The works of God paſſe mans knowledge.

Who is as the wiſe man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wiſedome of a man deeth make his face to ſhine: and the ſtrength of his face ſhall be changed.

2 I aduerſe thee to take heed to the mouth of the King, and to the word of the oath of God.

3 Haſte not to goe forth of his ſight: ſtand not in an euill thing: for he will doe what ſoeuer plea- ſeth him.

4 Where the word of the king is, there is pow- er, and who ſhall ſay vnto him, What doeſt thou?

5 He that keepeth the Commandement, ſhall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wiſe ſhall know the time and iudgement.

6 For to euery purpoſe there is a time and iudgement, becauſe the miſeric of man is great vp- on him.

7 For he knoweth not that which ſhall be: for who can tell him when it ſhall be?

8 Man is not lord ouer the ſpirit to retaine the ſpirit: neither hath hee power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battel, neither ſhall wicked- neſſe deliuer the poſſeſſours thereof.

9 All this haue I ſeene, & haue giuen mine heart to to every worke which is wrought vnder the Sunne, and I saw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I saw the wicked buried, and they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in  $\gamma$  city where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe that it shall be well with them that feare the Lord, and do seuerance before him.

13 But it shall not bee well to the wicked, neither shall hee prolong his dayes: he shall bee like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men, to whom it cometh according to the worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it cometh according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I prayed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the Sunne, saue to eat and to drinke, and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the Sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to know wisdom, and to beholde the businesse that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe, 17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to know it, he cannot find it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man know whome God loveth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wisdome excelleth strength.

I Have surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their works are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust, and to the wicked, to the good, and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the Sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euill, and madnesse is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whosoever is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing knowe that they shall die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue and their hatred, and their enie is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer in all that is done vnder the Sunne.

7 Go, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments bee white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 + Reioyce with the wife whome thou hast loved all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the Sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaile wherein thou labourst vnder the Sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the graue, whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I sawe vnder the Sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance cometh to them all.

12 For neither doeth man know his time, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euil time, when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisdom vnder the Sunne, and it is great vnto me:

14 A little citie, and few men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the citie by his wisdom: but none remember this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdom then strength: yet the wisdom of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wise are more heard in quietnes, then  $\gamma$  crye of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisdom then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnesse and wisdom. 11 A slanderer is like a serpent that canne bee charmed. 16 Off foolish kings, and drunken princes, 17 And of good kings and princes.

D Ead flies caute to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the apothecarie: so doeth a little follie him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glory.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he telleth vnto all that hee is a foole.

4 If the spirit of him that ruleth rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentleness pacifieth great finnes.

5 There is an euill that I haue seene vnder the Sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

9 Follie is set in great excellencie, and the rich set in the low place.

7 I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 He that diggeth a pit shall fall into it, and he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 He that remoueth stones shall hurt himselfe thereby, and he that cutteth wood shall be in danger thereby.

10 If the yron bee blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put to the more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdom.

11 If the serpent bite when he is not charmed: no better is a babbler.

12 The words of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lips of a foole deuoure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolish.

foolishnesse, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnesse.

14 For the foole multiplieth words, saying, Man knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doth weary him: for he knoweth not to goe into the citie.

16 Wo to thee, O land, when thy king is a child, and thy princes eate in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne of Nobles, and thy princes eat in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

18 By slouthfulnesse the rooofe of the house goeth to decay, and by the idlenesse of the hands the house droppeth thorow.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the living: but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the foule of the heauen shall cary the voice, and that which hath wings shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To bee liuella to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods providence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. 9 God will iudge all.

C All thy bread vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt finde it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the cloudes be fall, they will powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree do fal toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth there it shall be.

4 Hee that obserueth the winde shall not sow, and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do grow in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sow thy feede, and in the evening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the Sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce: yet he shall remember the dayes of darknesse, because they are many, all that commeth is vanitie.

9 Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth, and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes, but know, that for all these things God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart and cause euill to depart from thy flesh: for child hood and youth are vanity.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth. and not to deferre till age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 11 Wisdom is the gift of God, and consisteth in fearing him, and keeping his Commandements.

Remember now thy Creator in the dayes of thy youth, whiles the euill dayes come not, nor the yeeres approach, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them:

2 While the Sunne is not darke, nor the light nor the Moone, nor the starres, nor the clouds returne after the raine:

3 When the keepers of the house shall tremble and the strong men shall bow themselues, and the grinders shall cease, because they are few, and they waxe darke that looke out by the windowes.

4 And the doores shall be shut without by the base sound of the grinding, and hee shall rise vp at the voyce of the bird: and all the daughters of singing shall be abased.

5 Also they shall be afraid of the high thing, and feare shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and consciensce shall be driuen away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners go about in the streete.

6 Whiles the siluer cord is not lengthened, nor the golden ewer broken, nor the pitcher broken at the well, nor the wheele broken at the cistene:

7 And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the spirit returne to God that gaue it.

8 Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie.

9 And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched forth, and prepared many parables.

10 The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant words, and an vpright writing, even the words of truth.

11 The wordes of the wise are like goads, and like nailes fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are given by one pastour.

12 And of other things besides these, my sonne, take thou heede: for there is none end in making many bookes, and much reading is a wearinesse of the flesh.

13 Let vs heare the end of all: Feare God, and keepe his Commandements: for this is the whole duty of man.

14 For God will bring euery worke vnto Iudgement, with euery secret thing, whether it be good or euill.

AN EXCELLENT SONG which was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this song Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfect loue of Iesu Christ the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church which hee haue sanctified, and appointed to bee his spouse, holy, chaste, and without reprobation. So that here is declared the singular loue of the Bridegrome toward the Bride, and his great and excellent benefitts wherewith hee doeth enrich her of his pure bountie and grace without any of her desertings. Also the earnest affection of the Church, which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyued to him in loue, and not to bee forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

C H A P. I.

1 The familiar talke and mysticall communication of the spiritual loue betwene Jesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

Et him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth : for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the fauour of thy good ointments thy name is as an ointment poured out : therefore the virgins loue thee.

3 Draw me, we will runne after thee : the king hath brought mee into his chambers : we will reioyce and be glad in thee : we will remember thy loue more then wine : the righteous doe loue thee.

4 I am blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem : but comely as the tents of Kedar, and as the curtaines of Salomon.

5 Regard yee mee not because I am blacke : for the sunne hath looked vpon me. The sonnes of my mother were angry against me : they made me the keeper of the vines : but I kept not mine own vine.

6 Shewe mee, O thou, whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone : for why should I bee as shee that turneth aside to the flocks of thy companions?

7 If thou know not, O thou fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the Rocke, and feed thy kids by the tents of the shepheards.

8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of hee in the charets of Pharaoh.

9 Thy cheeks are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.

10 Wee will make thee borders of gold with fusts of siluer.

11 Whiles the king was at his repast, my spike-maid gaued the smell thereof.

12 My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrre vnto me : he shall lie betwene my breasts.

13 My welbeloued is as a cluster of Camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.

14 My loue, behold, thou art faire, behold, thou art faire : thine eyes are like the doves.

15 My welbeloued, behold, thou art faire and pleasant : also our bed is Greene.

16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

C H A P. II.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadow of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the dove. 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

I am the rose of the feldes, and the lillie of the valleys.

2 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters.

3 Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the fonnies of men : vnder his shadowe had I delight, and fate downe, and his fruit is as sweet vnto my mouth.

4 He brought me into the wine cellar, and loue is his banner ouer me.

5 Stay me with flaggons, and comfort me with apples : for I am sicke of loue.

6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth embrace me.

7 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hinds of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill he please.

8 It is the voyce of my welbeloued : beholde, he cometh leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hills.

9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart :

loe, he standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe thorow the grates

10 My welbeloued spake, and said vnto mee, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.

11 For behold, winter is past : the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth : the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The fig tree hath brought forth her yong figgs : and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a fauour : arise, my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My dove, that art in the holes of the rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shew mee thy sight, let me heare thy voyce : for thy voyce is sweet, and thy sight comely.

15 Take vs the foxes, the little foxes, which destroy the vines : for our vines haue small grapes.

16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his : he feedeth among the lillies.

17 Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flee away : returne, my welbeloued, and be like a roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bethel.

C H A P. III.

1 The Church desireth to bee ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wilderness.

I N my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued : I sought him, but I found him not.

2 I will rise therefore now, and go about in the cite by the streetes, and by the open places, & will seeke him that my soule loueth : I sought him, but I found him not.

3 The watchmen that went about the city, found mee : to whom I said, Haue you seene him, whom my soule loueth?

4 When I had passed a litle from them, then I found him whom my soule loued : I tooke hold on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house, into the chamber of her that conceived me.

5 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hinds of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill he please.

6 Who is these that cometh vp out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke, perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the merchant?

7 Behold his bed, which is Salomons : threescore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, euerie one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by night.

9 King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.

10 He made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose nids was paved with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.

11 Come forth ye daughters of Zion, and behold the king Silomon with the crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him : in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

C H A P. IIII.

1 The praises of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ toward her.

B Ehold, thou art faire, my loue : beholde, thou art faire : thine eyes are like the doves : among the lockes thine haire is like the Rocke of goats, which looke downe from the mountaines of Gilead,

2 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing : which euerie one bring out twins, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a threed of scarlet, and thy talke is comely : thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the tower of Dauid built for defence: a thousand shields hang therein, & all the targets of the strong men.

5 Thy two breastes are as two young roes that are twins feeding among the lilies.

6 Vntill the day breake, and the shadows flee away: I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe, and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

8 Come with me from Lebanon my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shenir and Hermon, from the dennes of the lions, and from the mountaines of the leopards.

9 My sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart, thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

10 My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue! how much better is thy loue then wine, and the sauour of thine ointments then all spices!

11 Thy lips, my spouse, drop as hony combes: hony and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the sauour of thy garments is as the sauour of Lebanon.

12 My sister, my spouse, as a garden inclosed, as a spring that vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranats with sweet fruits, as camphire, spikenard, 14 Euen spikenard, and saffron, calamus, and cinnamon, with all the trees of incense, myrrhe, and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

15 O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

16 Arise, O North, and come, O South, and blow on my garden, that the spices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eat his pleasaunt fruit.

C H A P. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 Shee heareth his voyce. 3 Shee confesseth her nakednesse. 10 Shee praiseth Christ her husband.

I Am come into my garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine honycombe with mine hony, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merrie, O welbeloued.

2 I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my donee, my vndefiled: for mine head is full of dewe, and my lockes with the drops of the night.

3 I haue put off my coat, how shall I put it on? I haue washed my feet how shall I defile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of my doore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, & mine hands did drop down myrrhe, and my fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued, but my welbeloued was gone & paine mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I could not finde him: I called him, but he answered me not.

7 The watchmen that went about the citie found me: they smote me, and wounded mee: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaille from me.

8 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, if you finde my beloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9 O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then another welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou doest so charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chieftest of ten thousand.

11 His head is as fine gold, his locks curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like doves vpon the rimers of waters, which are waith with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of spices, & as sweete flowres, and his lips like lilies dropping down pure myrrhe.

14 His hands as rings of gold, set with the chrysolite, his belly like white yuorie couered with fine phirs.

15 His legs are as pillars of marble, set vpon sockets of fine gold: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is as sweete things, and he is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, O daughters of Ierusalem.

17 O the fairest among women, whether is thy welbeloued gone? whether is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seeke him with thee?

C H A P. VI.

2 The Church assureth herselfe of the loue of Christ. 3 The praises of the Church. 8 Shee is but one and vndefiled.

MY welbeloued is gone downe into his garden to the beds of spices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

2 I am my welbeloued, and my welbeloued is mine: who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautiful my loue as Tirzah, comely as Ierusalem, terrible as an armie with banners.

4 Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome me: thine haire is like a flocke of goats, which looke downe from Gilead.

5 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp from the washing, which euerie one bring out twins, and none is barren among them.

6 Thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

7 There are threescore Queenes, and fourescore concubines, and of the damosels without number.

8 But my donee is alone, and my vndefiled, she is the only daughter of her mother, and she is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue leene her, and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praised her.

9 Who is mee that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners!

10 I went downe to the garden of nuts to see the fruits of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished.

11 I knew nothing, my soule set me as the charers of my noble people.

12 Returne, returne, O Shulamite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What shall you see in the Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

C H A P. VII.

1 The beautie of the Church in all her members. 10 Shee is assured of Christs loue toward her.

How beautifull are thy goings with shooes, O princes daughter! the ioynts of thy thighe as like jewels: the work of the hand of a cunning workeman.

2 Thy navel is as a round cup that wanteth not honour: thy belly is as an heape of wheate compassed about with lilies.

3 Thy two breasts are as two young does that are twins.

4 Thy neck is like a tower of Iuory: thine eyes are like the fishpooles in Hellhon by the gate of Bath. rabbim: thy nose is as the tower of Lebanon that looketh toward Damascus.

5 Thine head vpon thee is scarlet: & the bush of thine head like purple: the king is tied in thy fasters.

6 How faire art thou, & how pleasant art thou, O my loue in pleasures!

7 This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy breasts like clusters.

8 I said, I will go vpon into the palme tree, I will take hold of her boughes: thy breasts shall now be like the clusters of the vine: and the fauour of thy nose like apples.

9 And the roose of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth streight to my welbeloued, and causeth the lips of the ancient to speake.

10 I am my welbeloueds, and his desire is toward me.

11 Come, my welbeloued, let vs goe forth into the field: let vs remaine in the villages.

12 Let vs get vpon rarely to the vines, let vs see if the vine flourish, whether it hath budded the small grape, or whether the pomegranates flourish: there will I gine thee my loue.

13 The mandrakes haue giuen a smel, and in our gates are all sweet things, new and old: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

2 The Church will be taught by Christ. 3 She is upheld by him. 6 The vehement loue wherewith Christ loneth her. 11 She is the vine that bringeth forth fruit to the spiritual Salomon, which is Christ Iesus.

O that thou werest as my brother that sucked the breasts of my mother: I would finde thee without, I would kisse thee, then they should not despise // thee.

2 I will lead thee, and bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teach mee: and I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and new wine of the pomegranate.

3 His left hand shall be vnder mine head, and his right hand shall embrace me.

4 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, that you sturre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill slee please.

5 (Who is this that commeth vp out of the wilderness, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I raised thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother conceived thee: there she conceived that bare thee.

6 Set me as a seale on thine heart: for loue is strong as death: clousure is cruel as the grane: the coales thereof are fiery coales, and a vehement flame.

7 Much water can not quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: if a man should gine all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it.

8 We haue a little sister & she hath no breasts: what shall wee doe for our sister when she shall be spoken for?

9 If she be a wall, we will build vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a dore, we will keepe her in with boards of cedar.

10 I am a wall, and my breasts are as towers: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace.

11 Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: he gadded the vineyard vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for the fruit thereof a thousand peece of siluer.

12 But my vineyard which is wine, is before mee to thee, O Salomon. appertained a thousand peece of siluer, and two hundred to them that keepe the fruit thereof.

13 O thou that dwellest in the gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause mee to heare it.

14 O my welbeloued, flee away, and be like vnto the roe, or to the yong hart vpon the mountains of spices.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

God, according to his promise, Deut. 18. 15. that hee would neuer leave his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interpret and declare the Lawe, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the vilitie and professe of those, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: First to the doctrine contained briefly in the two Tables: Secondly, to the promises and threatnings of the Lawe: And thirdly, to the covenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Saniour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Lawe. Wherunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the true and meaning thereof. And according as God ouer them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church, and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for my care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safeguard: by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearly inuirted it then Moses, and set forth more liuely Iesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions and consolations: euery applying the doctrine, as hee saw that the disease of the people required. Hee declared also many notable prophetes which hee had receiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah, his office and his kingdom. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their union with the Iewes: Which are most principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that hee preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the maner of the Prophets was to ſet vp the ſumme of their doctrine for certain dayes, that the people might the better marke it, as Iſai 8. 1. and hab. 2. 2.) the Priests ſpoke it downe and reſerued it among the regiſters: and ſo by Gods providence theſe books were preſerved as a monument to the Church for ever. As touching his perſon and time, he was of the kings ſtocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah king of Iuda: as the beſt writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres from the time of Vzrah vnto the reigne of Manaſſeh whoſe father in law he was (as the Hebrewes write) and of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among other is to be obſerved, That they ſpeake of things to come, as though they were now paſt, becauſe of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to paſſe, becauſe God had ordained them in his ſecret counſell, and ſo revealed them to his Prophets.

maner

C H A P. I.

2 Iſaiah reproofeth the Iewes of their ingratitude and ſtubborneſſe, that neither for benefis nor puniſhments would amend. 11 He ſheweth why their ſacrifices are reieſted, and wherein Gods true ſervice ſtandeth. 24 He prophieſieſh of the deſtruction of Ieruſalem. 25 And of the reſtitution thereof.

Vision of Iſaiah the ſonne of Amoz, which hee ſaw concerning Iudah and Ieruſalem, in the dayes of Vzrah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Iudah.

2 Hcare, O heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath ſaide, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled againſt me.

3 The ox knoweth his owner, and the aſſe his maſters cribbe: but Iſrael hath not known: my people hath not vnderſtood.

4 Ah, ſinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a ſeede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forſaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the Holy one of Iſrael to anger: they are gone backward.

5 Wherefore ſhould ye be ſmitten any more? for yee fall away more and more: the whole head is ſicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

6 From the ſole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds, and ſwellings, and ſores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound vp, nor mollified with oile.

7 Your land is waſte: your cities are burnt with fire: ſtrangers deuoure your land in your preſence, and it is deſolate like the ouerthrow of ſtrangers.

8 And the daughter of Zion ſhal remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a beſieged citie.

9 Except the Lord of hoſtes had reſerued vnto vs euen a ſmall remnant: wee ſhould haue bene as Sodom, and ſhould haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Hcare the word of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your ſacrifices, ſaith the Lord? am I ful of the burnt offerings of rams, and of the fat of fed beaſts: and I deſire not the blood of bullockes, nor of lambes, nor of goates.

12 When yee come to appeare before mee, who require this of your handes to treade in my courts?

13 Bring no more oblations, in vaine: incenſeis an abomination vnto me: I cannot ſuffer your new moones, nor Sabbathes nor ſolemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor ſolemne aſſemblies.

14 My ſoule hateth your new moones, and your appointed feaſts: they are a burden vnto me: I am wearie to beare them.

15 And when you ſhall ſtretch out your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: and though you make many prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are full of blood.

16 Waſh you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: ceale to doe euill.

17 Learne to doe well, ſeek iudgement, releaſe the oppreſſed: iudge the fatherleſſe, and defend the widow.

18 Come now, and let vs reaſon together, ſaith the Lord: though your finnes were as crimſin, they ſhalbe made white as ſnow: though they were red like ſcarlet, they ſhall be as wooll.

19 If ye content and obey, ye ſhall eat the good things of the land.

20 But if ye reſuſe and be rebellious, yee ſhalbe deuoured with the ſword: for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

21 How is the faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iuſtice lodged therein, but now they are murderers.

22 Thy filuer is become drowſe: the wine is miſt with water.

23 Thy princes are rebellious, and companions of theeues: euery one loueth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherleſſe, neither doeth the widowes cauſe come before them.

24 Therefore ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, the mighty One of Iſrael, Ah, I will eaſe mee of mine aduerſaries, and avenge mee of mine enemies.

25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drowſe, till it be pure, and take away all thy tinnce.

26 And I will reſtore thy Iudges, as at the firſt, and thy counſellers as at the beginning: afterward ſhalt thou be called a citie of rightcouſneſſe, and a faithfull citie.

27 Zion ſhall bee redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iuſtice.

28 And the deſtruction of the tranſgreſſours, and of the ſinners ſhalbe together: and they that forſake the Lord, ſhalbe conſumed.

29 For they ſhall bee confounded for the oke, which ye haue deſired, and ye ſhall be aſhamed of the gardens that ye haue choſen.

30 For ye ſhalbe as an oke, whoſe leaſe ſadeth: and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the ſtrong ſhalbe as towne, and the maker thereof as a ſparke: and they ſhall both burne together, and none ſhall quench them.

2 *It ſhall be in the laſt daies that the mountaine Meaſ of the houſe of the Lord ſhalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, and ſhall be exalted aboue the hills, and all nations ſhall flow vnto it.

3 And many people ſhall goe and ſay, Come, and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, to the houſe of the God of Iaakob, and hee will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: *for Meaſ the Law ſhall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ieruſalem,

4 And hee shall iudge among the nations, and rebuke many people: they shal break their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into fishes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

5 O house of Iakob, come ye, and let vs walke in the light of the Lord.

6 Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iakob, because they are full of the East ~~murders~~, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, and abound with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of siluer and golde, and there ~~was~~ none end of their treasures: & their land was full of horses, and their charrets ~~were~~ infinite.

8 Their land also was full of idoles: they worshipped the work of their owne hand which their owne fingers haue made.

C H A P. V.

1 Under the similitude of the vine hee describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

Now will I sing to my beloued, a song of my beloued to his vineyard, * My beloued had a vineyard in a very fruitfull hill,

2 And he hedged it, & gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, and he built a towne in the mids thereof, and made a wine-press therein: then he looked that it should bring forth grapes, but it brought forth wild grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, I pray you, betwene me and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard, that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wild grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shalbe eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged: but briars and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the clouds that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, & the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and he looked for iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde a crying.

8 ¶ Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay field to field, till there be no place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the middes of the earth.

9 This is in mine eares, saith the Lord of hosts: Surely many houses shalbe desolate, men great and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one bath, and the seed of an homer shall yeeld an ephah.

11 ¶ Woe vnto them that rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill night, till the wine doe inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viall, timbrell and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore he hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, & their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shalbe humbled, euen the eyes of the proud shalbe humbled.

16 And the Lord of hosts shalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shalbe sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the strangers shall cate the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them that draw iniquitie with cords of vanity, and sinne as with cartropes:

19 Which say, Let him make speed: let him hasten his worke that we may see it, and let the counsel of the holy One of Israel draw neere, and come, that we may know it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darkenesse for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweete and sweete for bitter.

21 Woe vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Woe vnto them that are mighty to drinke wine, & to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnesse of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flammes: so their root shalbe as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Law of the Lord of hosts, and contemned the word of the holy One of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, & he hath stretched out his hand vpon them, & hath smitten them: the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeises were torne in the mids of the streets: for al this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And hee will lift vp a signe vnto the nations afarre, and will hiſſe vnto them from the end of the earth: & behold, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loines be loosed, nor the latchet of his shoes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooves shall be thought like flint, and his wheelles like a whirlwind.

29 His roaring shalbe like a lion, and hee shall roare like lions whelpes: they shall roare, and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, behold darknesse, and forrow, and the light shall be darkened in their skie.

C H A P. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine Maestie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant rescued.

IN the yere of the death of king Vziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The Seraphims stood vpon it, euery one had sixe wings, with twaine hee couered his face, and with twaine he couered his feete, and with twaine hee did flie.

3 And one cryed to another, and said, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the dore cheeks moued at the voice of him that cried, & the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King, and Lord of hosts.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto me with a hote cole in his hand, which hee had taken from the altar with the tongs.

7 And he touched my mouth, and said, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity shalbe taken away, and thy sinne shalbe purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lorde, saying, Whom shal I send? and who shall go for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send me.

9 And he said, Goe, and say vnto this people, Ye shall heare indeed, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heavy, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and hee heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, how long? And he answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate.

12 And the Lorde haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the midst of the land.

13 But yet in it shall be a tenth, and shall returne and shalbe eaten vp as an elme or as an oake, which haue a substance in them whē they cast their leaues: so the holy seed shalbe the substance thereof.

1 Jerusalem besieged. 4. Isaiah comforteth the king.
14 Christ is promised.

AND in the dayes of *Ahaz the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudah, Rezin the king of Aram came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he could not ouercome it.

2 And it was told the house of Dauid, saying, Aram is ioined with Ephraim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the wind.

3 ¶ Then said the Lord vnto Isaiah, Goe forth now to meet Ahaz (thou and Shear-Iashub thy son) at the end of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

4 And say vnto him, Take heed, & be stil: feare not, neither bee faint hearted for the two tayles of these smoaking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, & Remaliahs son, saying, Let vs go vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a king in the middes thereof, even the sonne of Tabael.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fye and thre score yeere Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye belecue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lorde spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath, or in the height above.

12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will I tempt the Lord.

13 Then he said, Heare you now, O house of Dauid, Is it a small thing for you to grieve men, that ye will also grieve my God?

14 Therefore the Lord himselfe will giue you a signe. Behold, the Virgin shall conceive and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name ¶ Immanuel.

15 Butter & hony shall he eat, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good.

16 For afore the child shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, and to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shall bee forsaken of both her Kings.

17 The Lord shal bring vpon thee and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house, the dayes that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah, even the king of Ashtur.

18 And in that day shall the Lorde huffe for the flie that is at the vppermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the bee which is in the lande of Ashtur, 19 And they shal come, and shall light all in the desolate valleyes, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushy places.

20 In that day shall the Lord shauē with a rasor that is hired, even by them beyond the riuer, by the King of Ashtur, the head and the haire of the seete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe.

22 And for the abundance of milke that they shall giue, he shall eat butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eat, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same day euery place, wherein shalbe a thousand vines, shalbe at a thousand pierces of siluer: so it shall bee for the briers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with bow shall one come thither: because all the land shall bee briars and thornes.

25 But on all the mountaines which shalbe digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briars and thornes: but they shalbe for the sending out of bullockes, and for the treading of sheepe.

MOREouer, the Lord sayd vnto mee, Take thee a great roll, and write in it with a mans penne, Make speed to the spoile: haste to the pray.

2 Then I tooke vnto mee faithfull witnesses to record, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the Propheteffe, which conceived and bare a sonne. Then said the Lord to me, Call his name ¶ Maher-shalal-haz-baz.

4 For before the childe shall haue knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, he shall take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria before the King of Ashtur.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe vnto mee, saying, of Shiloh that run softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the founte of Remaliah,

7 Now therefore behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of the Riuer mighty and great, even the King of Ashtur, with all his glorie, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their bankes,

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflowe, and passe therowe, and shall come vp to the necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ye people, and yet shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: Gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to mee in taking of mine hand, and taught me that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying, 12 Say yee not, A confederacie to all them, to whom this people sayeth, A confederacie, neither feare you their feare, nor be afraid of them.

13 Sanctifie the Lord of hosts, & let him be your feare, and let him be your dread, 14 And he shall be as a Sanctuary: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall, and shall be broken, and shall be snared, and shall be taken.

16 Bind vp the testimony: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iacob, and I will looke for him.

18 Beholde, I and the children whom the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes & as wonders in Israel, by the Lord of hosts, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmure, Should not a people enquire at their God? from the liuing to the dead?

20 To the Lawe, and to the Testimony, if they speake not according to this worde: it is because there is no light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall goe to and fro in it: and when he shall be hungry, he shall euen fret himselfe and curse his king and his gods, and shall looke vpward.

22 And when he shall looke to the earth: behold trouble, and darknes, vexation, and anguish, and he is driuen to darknesse.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophesie of Christ. 14 The destruction of the ten tribes for their pride and contempts of God.

YET the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction, that it had when at the first hee touched lightly the land of Zebulun, and the lande of Naphtali, nor afterward when hee was more grievous by the way of the sea beyond Iorden in Galilee of the Gentiles.

2 The people that walked in darkenesse, haue scene a great light: that they dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hath the light shined.

3 Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haurell, and as men reioyce when they diuide a spoyle.

4 For the yoke of their burden, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battell of the warriors is with noyfe, & with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a Childe is borne, and vnto vs a Son is giuen: & the government is vpon his shoulder, and he shall call his Name, Wonderfull, Counsellour, The mighty God, The euerlasting Father, The Prince of peace.

7 The encrease of his government & peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpo the throne of David, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement & with iustice, from henceforth, even for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a worde into Iacob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, even Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The bricke are fallen, but wee will build it with hewen stones: the wild figtrees are cut down, but wee will change them into cedars.

11 Neuertheless, the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of Rezin against him, & ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before, and the Philistims behind, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yes for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and rayle, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, hee is the head: and the Prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, neither will he haue compasion of their fatherlesse and of their widows: for euery one is an hypocrite & wicked, and euerie mouth speaketh folly: yes for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briars & the thorns, and will kindle in the thick places of the forest, and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the mess of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and he shall eat on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate the flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall be against Iudah: yes for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked law breakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saved.

WO vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grievous things,

3 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgment of the poore of my people, that widowes may bee their pray, and that they may spoile the fatherlesse.

3 What will ye do now in the day of visitation, and of destruction which shall come from farre? to whom will yee flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your glory?

4 Without me euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the stone: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 O Allhur, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoile, & to take the pray, and to tread them vnder feet like the mire in the street.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doth his heart cheme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For hee saith, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

9 Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdoms of the idolotes, seeing their idolotes were about Ierusalem, and about Samaria:

11 Shal not I, as I haue done to Samaria and to the idolotes thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idolotes thereof?

12 & Bat when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visite the fruit of the proud heart of the King of Assur, and his glorious and proud looks,

13 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the axe boast it selfe against him that beareth therewith, or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as if there were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes send among his fat men leanness, and vnder his glorie he shall kinde a burning like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shalbe as a fire, and the holy One thereof as a flame, and it shall burne and deuoure his thornes and his briars in one day, 18 And shal consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fields both soule and flesh: and he shalbe as the faining of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shalbe few, that a child may tell them.

20 & And at that day shal the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall Ray vpon the Lord, the holy One of Israel in truth.

21 The remnant shall returne, euery the remnant of Iakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption decreed shal ouerflow with righteousness.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euery determined, in the mids of all the land.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, O my people that dwellest in Zion, be not a fraide of Allhur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the manner of Egypt.

25 But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hostes shal raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb, and as his staffe was vpon the sea, so he will lift it vp after the manner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shall his burthen bee taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shalbe destroyed, because of the anoynting.

28 He is come to Aiath: hee is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the foord: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselves together.

32 Yet there is a time that he will Ray at Nob: he shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

33 Behold, the Lord God of hostes shal cut off the bough with seare, and they of high stature shall be cut off, and the high shalbe humbled.

34 And hee shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, & Lebanon shall haue a mighty fall.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ is borne of the root of Ithai. 2 His vertues and kingdom. 6 The fruits of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

But there shall come a rod forth of the stocke of Ithai, and a grasse shall grow out of his roots.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding, the spirit of counsell and strength, the spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord, for he shal not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove by the hearing of his eares:

4 But with righteousnesse shall hee iudge the poore, and with equitie shall hee reprove for the meeke of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall be the girdle of his loynes, and faithfulness the girdle of his reines.

6 The wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lion, and the fat beast together, and a little child shall lead them.

7 And the cow and the beare shall feed: their young ones shall lie together: and the lion shall eat straw like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the weaned child shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine Holiness: for the earth shalbe full of the knowledge of the Lorde, as the waters that couer the sea.

10 And in that day the root of Ithai, which shall stande vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shalbe glorious.

11 And in the same day shal the Lord stretch out his hand again the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people (which shalbe left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, & of Ethiopias, and of Elam, and of Shinar, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.

12 And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the world.

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shalbe cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie Iudah, neither shall Iudah vex Ephraim.

14 But they shall flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shal spoile them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.

15 The Lord also shall utterly destroy y tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty winde shall lift vp his hand ouer the riuier, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes.

16 And there shall bee a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that hee came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thanksgiving of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

AND thou shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will praise thee, though thou wast angrie with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me.

2 Behold, God is my saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for the Lord God is my strength and song: he also is become my saluation.

3 Therefore with ioy shall ye draw waters out of the wells of saluation.

4 And ye shall say in that day, *Praise the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.

5 Sing vnto the Lord, for hee hath done excellent things: this is known in all the world.

6 Cry out and shout, O inhabitant of Zion: for great is the holy One of Israel in the mids of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

THE burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amoz did see.

1 Litt vp a standard vpon the high mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the hand, that they may go into the gates of the nobles.

2 I haue commanded them that I haue sanctified: and I haue called the mighty to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my glory.

3 The noise of a multitude is in the mountains, like a great people: a tumultuous voice of kingdoms of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hosts numbeth the hosts of the battell.

4 They come from a farre country, from the end of the heauen: even the Lorde with the weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

5 Howle you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty.

6 Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt.

7 And they shall be afraid: anguish and sorrow shall take them, and they shall haue paine as a woman that travaileth: every one shalbe amazed at his neighbour, and their faces shalbe like flames of fire. 9 Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the starres of heauen & the planets thereof shal not giue their light: the Sunne shalbe darkned in his going forth, & the moone shal not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the proud to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I will make a man more precious then fine gold, euen a man about the wedge of gold of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will shake the heauen, & the earth shall remoue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And it shalbe as a chafed Doe, and as a sheep that no man taketh vp: euery man shall turne to his owne people, and seee each one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is found, shalbe stricken thow: and who soeuer ioyneeth himselfe, shall fall by the sword.

16 * Their children also shalbe broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shalbe spoiled, and their wines rauished.

17 Behold, I will stir vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver, nor bee desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy y children, & shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, & their eyes shall not spare y children.

19 And Babel the glory of kingdoms, the beautie and pride of the Caldeans, shalbe as the destruction of God in Sodome and Gomorah.

20 It shal not be inhabited for euer, neither shal it bee dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepherds make their folds there.

21 But Ziim shall lodge there, and their houses shall be full of Ohim: Oltriches shall dwell there, and the Satyrs shall dance there.

22 And Iim shall crie in their palaces: and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is ready to come, and the daies thereof shall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIII.

The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the king of Babylon. 11 The death of the King. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

FOR the Lorde will haue compassion of Iakob, and will yet chuse Israel and cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger shal ioyne himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleane to the house of Iakob.

2 And the people shal receiue them, and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Iakob shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for seruaunts and handmaids: and they shal take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours.

3 And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the fore bondage wherein thou didst serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp thy psalter against the King of Babel, and say, How hath the oppressor ceased: and the gold-thirly Babel rested?

5 The Lord hath broken the rod of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did not let.

7 The whole world is at rest and is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying Since thou art laid down, no hewer came vp against vs.

9 Hell beneath is moued for thee to meete thee at thy coming, raising vp the dead for thee, euē all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shall cry, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as wee? art thou become like vnto vs.

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, and the sound of thy viols: the worme is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer? sonne of the morning? and cur downe to the ground, which didst cast lots vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saidst in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North.

14 I will ascend aboue the height of the clouds, and I will be like the most High.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee shall looke vpon thee, and consider thee, saying Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdoms?

17 He made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners.

18 All the Kings of the nations, euē they all sleepe in glory, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art cast out of the graue like an abominable branch: like the raiment of those that are shaine, and thrust thorow with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeis troden vnder feete.

20 Thou shalt not bee iouyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and shaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowned for euer.

21 Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 ¶ For I will rise vp against them, (sayeth the Lord of hostes) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne, and the nephew, saith the Lord:

23 And I will make it a possession to the hedge hog, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted it shall stand:

25 That I will breake to pieces Ashtur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will tread him vnder foot: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations, 27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disannull it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 ¶ In the yeeare that king Abaz died, was this burden.

29 Reioyce not (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beat thee is broken: for out of the serpents roote shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit thereof shall be a fiery flying serpent.

30 For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needy shall lie downe in safety: and I will kill thy root with famine, and it shall slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, cry, O citie, thou whole land of Palestina art disolled: for there shall come from the North a smoke, and none shall bee alone at his time appointed.

32 What shall then one answer the messengers of the Gentiles? that the Lord hath stablished Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

CHAP. XV.

Prophecie against Moab.

The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 He shall go vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the high places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heads shall be baldnesse, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they bee girded with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heihbon shall crie and Elealeh: their voice shall be heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriors of Moab shall shout: the soule of euery one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine heart shall cry for Moab: his fugitives shall flee vnto Zoar, an heifer of three yere old: for they shall go vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a crie of destruction.

6 For the waters of Niumrim shall be dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the brooke of the willowes.

8 For the crie went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Engaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer-Elim.

9 Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euē lions vpon him that elapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

Send ye a lambe to the ruler of the world from the rocke of the wilderness, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shall be as a bird that flyeth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall bee at the foords of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsell, execute iudgement: make thy shadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab, be thou their court from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall end: the destroyer shall be consumed, and the oppressor shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercy shall the throne be prepared, and he shall sit vpon it in steadfastnesse in the tabernacle of David, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hastening iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) euē his pride, and his arrogance, and his indignation, but his lies shall not be so.

7 Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery

Hea every every one shall howle : for the foundations of Kir-harefeth shall ye mourne, yet they shall be stricken.

8 For the vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah : the lords of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof : they are come vnto Iazer : they wandred in the wilderness : her goodly branches stretched out themselves, and went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore will I weepe with the weeping of Iazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon, and Elealeh, I will make thee drunken with my teares, because vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy harvest a shouting is fallen.

10 And gladnesse is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull field : and in the vineyards shall be no singing nor shouting for ioy : the treader shall not treade wine in the wine presses : I haue caused the reioicing to cease.

11 Wherefore my bowels shall sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-harefeth.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be weary of his big places, then shall hee come to his temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, In three yeres as the yeres of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, & the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophetic of the destruction of Damascus and E-phraim. 7 Calauigne mooueth to repentance.

The burden of Damascus, Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a rainous heape.

2 The cities of Aret shall be forsaken : they shall be for the flocks : for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraid.

3 The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the glory of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 And in that day the glory of Iakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnesse of his flesh shall be made leane.

5 And it shall be as when the harvest man gathereth the corne, and reapeeth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two or three berries are in the top of the vpmost boughes, and foure or fife in the high branches of the fruit thereof, sayth the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his Maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy One of Israel.

8 And hee shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall hee looke to those things, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembered the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou see pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange vine branches :

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish : but the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall be desperate sorow.

12 Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noise of the sea : for the noise of the people shall make a sound like the noise of mighty waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noise of many waters : but God shall rebuke them, & they shall flee farre off, and shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirlewinde.

14 And loe, in the euening there is trouble : but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoile vs, and the lot of them that rob vs.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the enemies of the Church, 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

OH, the Land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia,

2 Sending embassadors by the sea, euen in vessels of reedes vpon the waters, saying, Goe, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euer hitherto : a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose land the floods haue spoiled.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the world, & dwellers in the earth shall see, when he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, & when he bloweth the trumpet ye shall heare.

4 For so the Lord said vnto me, I will rest and behold in my Tabernacle, as the heat drying vp the raine, and as a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest.

5 For afore the harvest when the floure is finished, and the fruit is riping in the floure, then hee shall cut downe the branches with hookes, & shall take away, and cut off the boughes.

6 They shall be left together vnto the fowles of the mountaines, and to the beasts of the earth : for the foule shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoiled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

CHAP. XIX.

The destruction of the Egyptians by the Affrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

The burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the mids of her,

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians : so euery one shall fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shall faile in the mids of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the forcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lords, and a mighty king shall rule ouer them, sayth the Lord God of hostes.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the riner shall be dried vp and wasted.

6 And the riuers shall goe farre away : the riuers of defence shall be emptied and dried vp : the reedes and flagges shall be cut downe.

7 The grasse in the river, and at the head of the rivers, and all that groweth by the river shall wither, and be drinen away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the river, shall lament, and they that spread the net vpon the waters shall be weakened.

9 Moreover, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sorts, shall be confounded, and they that weaue nets.

10 For their nets shall be broken, and all they that make ponds shall be heavy in heart.

11 Surely the princes of Zoan are fooles: the counsell of y wise counsellors of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say yee vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient Kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of Egypt are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt new the corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit of errors: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomit.

15 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the taile, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraid, and feare, because of the mourning of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which hee shaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shall be a feare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it shall be afraid thereat, because of the counsell of the Lord of hostes, which he hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall five cities in the land of Egypt speake the language of Canaan, & shall sweare by the Lord of hostes: one shall be called the citie of destruction.

19 In that day shall the Altar of the Lord be in the mids of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shall bee for a signe and for a witnesse vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry vnto the Lord, because of the oppressor, and hee shall send them a Sauour, and a great man, and shall deliuer them.

21 And the Lord shall be knowne of the Egyptians, & the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord and performe them.

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lord, and he shall be intreated of them, and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from Egypt to Ashtur, and Ashtur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Ashtur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Ashtur.

24 In that day shall Israel bee the third with Egypt and Ashtur: new a blessing in the middes of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Ashtur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

1 The three yeeres captiuitie of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeeres going naked of Imaab.

IN the yeere that Tartan came to Ashdod, (when Sargon King of Ashtur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it.

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Go, and loose the sackcloth from thy loines, and put off thy shooe from thy foot. And hee did so, walking naked and barefoot.

3 And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoot three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the King of Ashtur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both young men and old men, naked and barefoot with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall feare and be ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory.

6 Then shall the inhabitants of this yle say in that day, Beholde, such is our expectation, whither we fled for help to be deliuered from the King of Ashtur, and how shall we be deliuered?

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes. 11 The ruine of Idumea, 13 And of Arabia.

THE burden of the desert Sea. As the whirlwindes in the South vie to passe from the wilderness, so shall it come from the horrible land.

2 A grievous vision was shewed vnto me, The transgressor against a transgressor, & the destroyer against a destroyer. Go vnto Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my loynes filled with sorrow: sorrowes haue taken me as the sorrowes of a woman that traileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amazed when I saw it.

4 Mine heart failed: fearefulnesse troubled me: the night of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me.

5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watchtower: eat, drink: arise, ye princes, anoint the shield.

6 For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go, let a watchman, to tell what he seeth.

7 And hee saw a charet with two horsemen: a charet of an asse, and a charet of a camell: and he hearkened, and tooke diligent heed.

8 And he cried, A Lion: my Lord, I stand continually vpon the watch tower in the day time, and I am set in my watch euery night:

9 And behold, this mans charet commeth with two horsemen. And hee answered, and said, *Babel Isr. 51.8 is fallen, it is fallen, and all the images of her gods rene. 14.8 hath he broken vnto the ground.

10 O my threshing and the come of my floore. †Ebr. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes the sonne. God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 ¶ The burden of Dumah. Hee calleth vnto me out of Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

12 The watchman said, The morning commeth, and also the night. If ye wil aske, enquire: returne, and come.

13 ¶ The burden against Arabia. In the forest of Arabia shall yetarie all night, new in the wayes of Dedanim.

14 O inhabitants of the land of Tema, bring forth water to meet the thirstie, and preuent him that steeth with his bread.

15 For they flee from the drawn swords, new from the drawn sword, and from the bent bowe, and from the grienousnesse of warre.

16 For thus hath the Lord said vnto mee, Yeta yeere according to the yeeres of an hireling, and all the glory of Kedar shall faile.

17 And the residue of the number of the strong arches of the sonnes of Kedar shall be few: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

Feasting for fasting.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. 15 A threatening against Shebna. 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

THe burden of the valley of vision. What aileth thee now, that thou art wholly gone vp vnto the house toppes?

2 Thou that art full of noise, a city full of bruit, a ioyous city: thy slaine men shal not be slaine with sword, nor die in battell.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bow: they shall be bound, all that shall bee found in thee shall bee bound together, which haue fled from farre.

4 Therefore said I, Turne away from me, I will weepe bitterly: labour not to comfort mee for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexity by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the city, and a crying vnto the mountaines.

6 And Elam bare the quier in a mans charget with horshmen, and Kir vncouered the shield.

7 And thy chiefe valleys were full of charrets, and the horshmen set themselves in aray against the gate.

8 And he discovered the couering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 And yee haue seene the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and yee gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And yee numbered the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses haue yee broken downe to fortifie the wall, 11 And haue also made a ditch betweene the two walls for the waters of the old poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of old.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hostes call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnesse and girding with sackcloth.

13 And behold, ioy and gladnesse, slaying oxen, and killing sheepe, eating flesh and drinking wine, eating and drinking: for to morow we shall die.

14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, till ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes.

15 Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Goe, get thee to that treasurer, to Shebna the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to doe here? and whom hast thou here? that thou shouldest here bew thee out a sepulchre, as he that heueth out his sepulchre in an high place, or that graueh an habitation for himselfe in a rocke?

17 Behold, the Lord will carie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee.

18 He will surely roll and turne thee like a ball in a large cuntry: there shalt thou die, and there the charrets of thy glory shall bee the shame of thy lords house.

19 And I will drine thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.

20 And in that day will I call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and hee shall be a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah.

22 And the key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpou his shoulder: so hee shall open, and no man shall shut, and he shall shut, and no man shall open.

23 And I will fasten him as a nayle in a sure place, and hee shalbe for the Throne of glory to his fathers house.

24 And they shall hang vpou him all the glory of his fathers house, even of the nephews and posteritie all smal vessels, from the vessels of the cups euen to all the instruments of musick.

25 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall the nayle that is fastened in the sure place, depart and shall be broken, and fall: and the burden that was vpou it, shalbe cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prophetic against Tyrus. 27 A promise that it shall be restored.

THe burden of Tyrus. Howle, yee ships of Tarshish: for it is destroyed: so that there is none house: none shall come from the land of Chittim: it is reuealed vnto them.

2 Bee still yee that dwell in the yles: the merchants of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the Sea, haue replenished thee.

3 The seed of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the harvest of the riuer was her reuenues, and she was a mart of the nations.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the sea hath spoken, even the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not traualled, nor brought forth children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins.

5 When the fame cometh to the Egyptians, they shalbe sorie, concerning the rumor of Tyrus.

6 Goe you ouer to Tarshish: howle, yet that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne feet shall lead her a farre off to be a sojourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus, (that crowneth men) whose merchants are princes, whose chapmen are the nobles of the world?

9 The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glory, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe thorow thy land like a flood to the daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 Hee stretched out his hand vpou the sea: hee shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof.

12 And hee said, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: O virgine daughter of Zidon, rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: Ashtur founded it by inhabitants of the wilderness: they set vp the towers therof: they rayed the palaces thereof, and he brought it to ruine.

14 Howle ye ships of Tarshish, for your strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres, (according to the yeeres of one king) at the end of seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe, and go about the citie: thou harlot that hast bene forgotten, make sweet melody, sing mo songs that thou maiest be remembered.

17 And at the end of seuentie yeeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, and shee shall returne to her wages, and shal commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.

18 Yet her occupying & her wages shall be holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be layed vp nor kept in store, store, but her merchandise shall bee for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

C H A P. XXIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant referred shall praise the Lord.

BEhold, the Lord maketh the earth emptie, and he maketh it wast: he turneth it upside downe, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

1 And there shalbe like people, like priest, and like seruant, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like guier, like taker to vsury.

2 The earth shall bee cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

3 The earth lamenteth and sadeth away: the world is feeble and decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

4 The earth also deceiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euermolting Couenant.

5 Therefore hath the curse denoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are burned vp, and few men are left.

6 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of mery heart doe mourne.

7 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noyse of them that reioice endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

8 They shal not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it.

9 The citie of vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp that no man may come in.

10 There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all ioy is darkened: the mirth of the world is gone away.

11 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

12 Surely thus shall it bee in the mids of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

13 They shall lift vp their voice: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioice from the Sea.

14 Wherefore praise ye the Lord in the valles, euen the name of the Lord God of Israel in the yles of the Sea.

15 From the vttermost part of the earth we haue heard praises, euen glory to the Iust, and I said, My leanneesse, my leanneesse, woe is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea, the transgressors haue grievously offended.

16 Feare, and the pit, & the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

17 And hee that flecth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and hee that commeth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for the windows from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do shake.

18 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued, the earth is mooued exceedingly.

19 The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shalbe remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauy vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

20 And in that day shall the Lord visit the host above that is on high, euen the Kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

21 And they shall bee gathered together as the prisoners in the pit: and they shalbe shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be visited.

22 Then the Moone shalbe abashed, and the Sun ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall bee before his ancient men.

C H A P. XXV.

A thanksgiving to God, in that he sheweth himselfe iudge of the world by punishing the wicked, and maintaining the goodly.

O Lord, thou art my God: I will exalt thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable truth.

2 For thou hast made of a citie an heape, of a strong citie a ruine: euen the palace of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the mighty people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blast of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, as the heat in a drie place: he will bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heat in the shadow of a cloud.

6 And in this mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marrow, of wines fined and purified.

7 And he wil destroy in this mountaine the counering that couereth all people, and the vail that is spread vpon all nations.

8 He wil destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will hee take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this Mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and Moab shall bee threshed vnder him, euen as straw is threshed in Madmenah.

11 And he shall stretch out his hand in the mids of them, as he that swimmeth stretcheth them out to swimme, and with the strength of his hands shall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay low, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

C H A P. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

IN that day shall this song bee sung in the land of Iudah, We haue a strong citie: saluation shall God set for wals and bulwarks.

2 Open ye the gates, that the righteous nation which keepeth the truth, may enter in.

3 By an assured purpose wilt thou preserve perfect peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5 For he will bring downe them that dwell on high: the high citie hee will abase: euen vnto the ground wil he cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foot shall tread it downe, euen the feeble of the poore, and the steps of the needy.

7 The way of the iust is righteousnes: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne righteousness.

10 Let mercie be shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousness: in the land of vprightnesse will he do wickedly, and will not behold the Maieestic of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not behol thy hie hand: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lorde vnto vs thou wilt ordaine peace: for thou hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other lords besides thee haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee only, and thy Name.

14 The dead shall not liue: neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastning was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe that draweth nere to the traualle, is in sorow, and cryeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy sight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceived, we haue borne in pain, as though we should haue brought forth winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.

19 Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they arise: Awake, and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dew is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come my people: enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For loe, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visit the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them, and the earth shall disclose her blood, and shall no more hide her shame.

C H A P. XXVII.

A prophesie against the kingdome of Sennacherib, and of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

In that day the Lord with his sore and great and mighty sword shall visit Liniathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liniathan that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the Sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard of redde wine.

3 I the Lord do keepe it: I will water it euery moment: lest any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

4 Anger is not in me: who would set the briars and the thornes against me in battell? I would goe thorow them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will hee feele my strength, that hee may make peace with me, and be at one with me?

6 Hereafter, Iacob shall take root. Israel shall flourish and grow, and the world shall be filled with fruite.

7 Hath hee forgotten him as hee smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when he bloweth with his rough wind in the day of the East wind.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iacob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when hee shall make all the stones of the altars as chalcstones broken in pieces, that the grones and the images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the defended citie shall bee desolate, and the habitations shall be forsaken, and left like a wilderness. There shall the calf feed, and there shall hee lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughs of it are drie, they shall be broken: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the riuier vnto the riuier of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe bee blown, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Asshur: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

C H A P. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennesse of Israel. 9 The vntowardnesse of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all things in suite and place.

Woe to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beauty shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and are overcome with wine.

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mighty & strong blast, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewinde, that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflow, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall bee troden vnder foote, euen the crowne of the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beauty shall be a fading floure which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as the hastie fruit afore Summer, which when he that looketh vpon it, seeth it, whiles it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people:

6 And for a spirit of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But they haue eared because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in wisdom: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthie vomiting, no place is cleane.

9 Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawn from the breasts.

10 For precept must bee vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a flammering tongue, and with a strange language shall hee speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom he said, This is the rest: giue rest to him that is wearie: & this is the refreshing: but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the word of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little, that they may goe and fall backward, and be broken, and be feared, and be taken.

14 Wherefore, heare the word of the Lord, yee scornfull men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, Wee haue made a covenant with death, and with hell are wee at agreement: though a scourge run ouer, and passe thorow, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made fallshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stoner, a sure foundation. He that beleaueth, shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and righteousness to the ballance, and the haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall overflow the secret place.

18 And your covenant with death shall be disannulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe thorow, then shall ye be troden downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe thorow euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is strait that it cannot suffice, and the couering narrow that one cannot wrap himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount Perazim: he shall bee wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.

22 Now therefore bee no mockers, lest your bondes increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye and heare my voyce, hearken ye, and heare my speech.

24 Doth the plowman plow all the day to fow? doeth he open, and breake the clots of his ground?

25 When hee hath made it plaine, will hee not then sow the fitches, and sow cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rie in their place?

26 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him.

27 For fitches shal not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shal a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread come when it is threshed, he doth not alway thresh it, neither doth the wheele of his cart still make a noise, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also commeth from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in works.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophesie against Ierusalem. 2 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of man.

Alitar, altar of the citie that David dwelt in: A adde yeere vnto yeere: let them kill lambs.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shall be heavinesse and sorow, and it shall be vnto me like an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the ground, and thy speech shall be as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreover, the multitude of thy strangers shall be like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hosts with thunder, and shaking, & a great noise, a whirlewind, and a tempest, and a flame of a denouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shall be as a dream or vision by night, euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold he eateth, & when he awaketh, his soule is empty: or like as a thirsty man dreameth, & loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be, that fight against mount Zion.

9 Stay your selues and wonder: they are blind and make you blind: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath couered you with a spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as y words of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one y can reade, saying, Reade this I pray thee. Then shall he say, I cannot: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that cannot reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lips, but haue remooued their hearte farre from me, & their feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore behold, I will againe do a maruclous worke in this people, euen a maruclous worke and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Woe vnto them that seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darknesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of diners shall it not bee esteemed as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, He made me not? or y thing formed say of him that fashioned it, He had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon shall be turned into Carmel, and Carmel shall be counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the words of the booke, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscuritie and out of darknesse.

19 The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy One of Israel.

20 For the cruel man shall cease, and the scornfull shall bee consumed: and all that hastened to iniquitie shall be cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the word, and tooke him in a snare: which reprooued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 There.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euē he that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale.

23 But when he seeth his children the worke of mine hands in the mids of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, & sanctifie the holy One of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reprooueth the Iewes which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsels 2 and sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 despising the Prophets. 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 but offereth mercy to the repentant.

Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell but not of mee, and couer with a couering, but not by my Spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne.

2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (and haue not asked for my mouth) to strengthen themselves with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall bee your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadors came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall be all ashamed of the people that cannot profit them, nor helpe, nor doe them good, but shall be a shame and also a reproch.

6 ¶ The burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and old lion, the viper and fiery flying serpent against them, that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bounces of the camels, to a people that cannot profit.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto her, Their strength is to sit still.

8 Now goe, and write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke, that it may bee for the last day for euer and euer.

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not heare the Lawe of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophesie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophetic errours.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the holy One of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy One of Israel, Because you haue cast off this word, and trust in violence, and wickednesse, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an high wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment,

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pittie, and in the breaking thereof is not found a sheerd to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus said the Lord God, the holy One of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye bee saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue said, No, but wee will flee away vpon horses, Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecutors be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of five shall ye flee, til ye be left as a ship mast vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore wil the Lord wait, that he may haue mercy vpon you, and therefore wil he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that wait for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he wil certainly haue mercy vpon thee at the voyce of thy crye: when he heareth thee, he will answer thee.

20 And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word behinde thee, saying, This is the way, walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shall pollute the conering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence.

23 Then shall he giue raine vnto thy feed, when thou shalt sow the ground, & bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall bee fat and as oyle: in that day shall the cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also & the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eat cleane prouender, which is winnowed with the shouel and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery hie mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there bee riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

26 Moreover, the light of the Moone shall bee as the light of the Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seuen fold, and like the light of seuen dayes, in the day that the Lord shall bind vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his Spirit is as a riuer that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it diuideth asunder to fan the nations with the fan of vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the iaws of the people.

29 But there shall bee a song vnto you as in the night, when a soleinne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to go vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mighty One of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with flattering and tempest, and hailstones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Ashur be destroyed, which smote with the rod.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and harpes: and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight against it.

33 For Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euē prepared for the King: he hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord like a riuer of brimstone doeth kinde it.

C H A P. XXXI.

1 He curseth them that for sake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

WOe vnto them that go downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charrets, because they are many, & in horsemen because they bee very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Israel, nor seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is wisest: therefore he will bring euill, and not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, & against the helpe of them that worke vanity.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirit: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and he that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

Or, in struction.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lion or lions whelpe roareth vpon his pray, against whom if a multitude of shepheards bee called, he will not be afraid at their voice, neither will humble himselfe at their noise: so shall the Lord of hosts come down to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that flie, so shall the Lord of hosts defend Ierusalem, by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preferring it.

6 O ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as ye are sunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day every man shall cast out his idoles of silver, and his idoles of gold which your hands haue made you, euem a sinne.

8 Then shall Asshur fall by the sword, not of man, neither shall the sword of man deuoure him, and he shall flee from the sword, and his yong men shall faint.

9 And he shall goe for feare to his tower, and his princes shall be afraid of the standard, faith the Lord, whose fire is in Zion, and his turnace in Ierusalem.

C H A P. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the gouernment of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

BEholde, a king shall reigne in iustice, and the Princes shall rule in iudgement.

2 And that man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a dry place, & as the shadow of a great rocke in a weary land.

3 The eyes of the seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall be ready to speake distinctly.

5 A niggard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle rich.

6 But the niggard will speake of niggardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquity, and doe wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make empty the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirsty to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he denieth wicked counsels to vndoe the poore with lying words, and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue his liberality.

9 Rise vp ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye carelesse daughters: hearken to my words.

10 Ye women, that are carelesse, shall be in feare about a yeere in dayes: for the vintage shall faile, and the gathering shall come no more.

11 Ye women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O ye carelesse women: put off the clothes: make bare and gird sackcloth vpon the loines.

12 Men shall lament for the teates, euem for the pleasant fields, and for the fruitfull vine.

13 Vpon the land of my people shall growe thornes and briars: yea, vpon all the houses of ioy in the citie of reioicing.

14 Because the palace shall be forsaken and the noise of the citie shall be left: the tower and fortresse shall be dens for euer, and the delight of wild asses, and a pasture for flocks,

Or, much sinners.

15 Vntill the spirit be powred vpon vs from above, and the wilderness become a fruitfull field, and the plenteous field be counted as a forest.

16 And indgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull field.

17 And the worke of iustice shall be peace, euem the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer.

18 And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

19 When it haileth it shall fall on the forest, and the citie shall be set in the low place.

20 Blessed are ye that sow vpon all waters, and driue thither the fecte of the oxe and the asse.

C H A P. XXXIII.

The destruction of them, by whome God hath punished his Church.

WOe to thee that spoylest, and wast not spoiled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt cease to spoyle, thou shalt bee spoiled: when thou shalt make an ende of doing wickedly, they shall doe wickedly against thee.

2 O Lord haue mercie vpon vs, we haue waited for thee: be thou, which wast their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

3 At the noise of the tumult the people fled: at thine exalting the nations were scattered.

4 And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of caterpillars: and he shall goe against him like the leaping of grasshoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on his he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

6 And there shall bee stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shall be his treasure.

7 Behold, their messenger shall crie without, and the ambassadors of peace shall weepe bitterly.

8 The paths are waste: the waifaring man ceaseth: hee hath broken the couenant: hee hath contemned the cistnes: he regarded no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed and hewen downe: Sharon is like a wilderness: and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

10 Now will I arise, faith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe.

11 Ye shall conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breack shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shall bee as the burning of lime: and as the thornes cut vp shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, ye that are farre off, what I haue done, and yee that are neere, know my power.

14 The sinners in Zion are afraid: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the euertasting burnings?

15 He

15 He that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his cares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill.

16 Hee shall dwell on high: his defence shall be the munitions of rockes: bread shall be giuen him, and his waters shall be sure.

17 Thine eyes shall see the king in his glory: they shall behold the land farre off.

18 Thine heart shall meditate feare, Where is the scribe? where is the receiuer? where is he that counted the towers?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speech that thou canst not perceiue, and of a hammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Look vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feasts: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that cannot be remoued, and the falkes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lord will be vnto vs as a place of floods and broad riuers, wherby shall passe no ship with oares, neither shall great ship passe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our iudge, the Lord is our lawgiuer: the Lord is our king, he will saue vs.

23 Thy cordes are loosed: they could not well strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the pray bee diuided for a great spoyle: yea the lame shall take away the pray.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiven.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Hee sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

COME neere, ye nations, and heare, and hearken, yee people: let the earth heare, and all that is therein, the world, and all that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath destroyed them, and deliuered them to the slaughter.

3 And their slaine shall bee cast out, and their stink shall come vp out of their bodies, & the mountains shall be melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoste of heauen shall bee dissolved, and the heauen shall bee folden like a booke: and all their hosts shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree.

5 For my sword shall bee drunken in the heauen: behold, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of my curse to iudgement.

6 The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat, and with the blood of the lambs and the goates, with the fat of the kidneies of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the Unicorne shall come downe with them, and the horiers with the buls, and their land shall bee drunken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnesse.

8 For it is the day of the Lords vengeance, and the yere of recompence for the iudgment of Zion.

9 And the riuers thereof shall bee turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into brimstone, and the land thereof shall be burning pitch.

10 It shall not bee quenched night nor day, the smoke thereof shall goe vp euermore: it shall bee desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe thorow it for euer.

11 But the Pelicane & the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle, and the rauen shall dwell in it, and he shall stretch out vpon it the liue of vanity, and the stones of empuenesse.

12 The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shall be none, and all the princes thereof shall be as nothing.

13 And it shall bring forth thornes in the places thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holds thereof, and it shall bee an habitation for dragons, and a court for ostriches.

14 There shall meet also Ziim, and Iim, and the Satyre shall cry to his fellow, and the skrich owle shall rest there, and shall find for her selfe a quiet dwelling.

15 There shall the owle make her nest, and lay, and hatch, and gather them vnder her shadow: there shall the vultures also be gathered, eueny one with her make.

16 Seeke in the booke of the Lord, and reade: none of these shall faile, none shall want her make: for his mouth hath commanded, and his very Spirit hath gathered them.

17 And he hath cast the lot for them, and his hand hath diuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioy of them that beleue in Christ. 3 Their office which preach the Gospel. 8 The fruits that follow thereof.

THe desert and the wildernes shall reioyce: and the waste ground shall bee glad and flourish as the rose.

2 It shall flourish abundantly, and shall greatly reioyce also and ioy: the glory of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it: the beauty of Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God.

3 Strengthen the weake handes, and comfort the feeble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Bee you strong, feare not: behold, your God cometh with vengeance: euen God with a recompence, hee will come and saue you.

5 Then shall the eyes of the blind be lightned, and the cares of the deate be opened.

6 Then shall the lame man leape as an hart, and the dumbe mans tongue shall sing: for in the wildernes shall waters breake out, and riuers in the desert.

7 And the drie ground shall be as a poole, and the thirskie as springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where they lay shall be a place for reedes and rushes.

8 And there shall be a path and a way, and the way shall be called holy: the polluted shall not passe by it, for hee shall be with them, and walke in the way, and the foole shall not erre.

9 There shall be no lion, nor noisome beastes shall ascend by it, neither shall they be found there, that the redeemed may walke.

10 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come to Zion with praise: and enlasing ioy shall be vpon their heads: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnesse, and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Saneherib sendeth Rabshakeh to beseege Ierusalem. 15 He blasphemeth against God.

Now

Now in the fourteenth yere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Ashur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

1 And the King of Ashur sent Rabshakeh from Iachish toward Ierusalem, vnto King Hezekiah with a great hoste, and hee stood by the conduit of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

2 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Aiaf the recorder.

4 And Rabshakeh sayd vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Ashur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then dost thou trust, that thou rebellst against me?

6 Lo, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reed, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that hee, whose high places, and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and sayd to Iudah, and to Hierusalem, Ye shall worship before this Altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the king of Ashur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lords seruants, and put thy trust on Egypt for charres and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, Go vp against this land, and destroy it.

11 ¶ Then said Eliakim, and Shebna, and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for wee vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, & to thee to speake these words, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eate their owne dung, and drinke their owne piss with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and sayd, Heare the words of the great King, of the king of Ashur.

14 Thus sayth the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you, for he shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will sorely deliuer vs: this cite shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Ashur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Ashur, Make appointment with mee, and come out to mee, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well,

17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, 18 Left Hezekiah deceive you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Ashur?

19 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? Where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands that hath deliuered their country out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the kings commandment was, saying, Answer him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Aiaf the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and told him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Hezekiah asketh counsell of Iſaiah, who promiſeth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Saneherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The arme of Saneherib is ſlaine of the Angel. 38 And hee bewiſe of his owne iunior.

ANd *when the king Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth, and came into the house of the Lord.

2 And hee sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceller, with the Elders of the Priests clothed in sackcloth, vnto Iſaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hath heard the wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the King of Ashur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes, which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, I thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the King of Ashur haue blasphemed mee.

7 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him, and hee shall heare a noise, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Ashur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Iachish.

9 He heard also men say of Turakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, hee is come out to fight against thee: and when hee heard it, hee sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall you speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceive thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the king of Ashur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Ashur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it, and he went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hosts God of Israel, which dwellest left between the Cherubims, thou art very God alone over all the kingdoms of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the words of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspHEME the liuing God.

18 Truth it is, O Lord, that the kings of Ashtur haue destroyed all lands, and their countreys.

19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mens hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou onely art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amos sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me concerning Saneherib king of Ashtur, 22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, The virgin, the daughter of Zion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn: the daughter of Ierusalem hath shake her head at thee.

23 Whom hast thou railled on and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted vp thine eyes on him? euen against the holy One of Israel.

24 By thy seruants hast thou railled on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charrets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines, to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will go vp to the heightes of his top, and to the forest of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of old time made it, and haue formed it long agoe? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heapes, as cities defended.

27 Whose inhabitants have small power, and are afraid and confounded: they are like the graske of the field and Greene herbe, or graske on the house tops, or come blasted afore it be grown.

28 But I know thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy fury against me.

29 Because thou ragest against mee, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put my hooke in thy nostrils, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest.

30 And this shall be a signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the second yeere such things as growe without sowing: and in the third yeere sowe yee, and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruite thereof.

31 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downward, and beare fruit vpward.

32 For out of Ierusalem shall go a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hosts shall doe this.

33 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord concerning the king of Ashtur, Hee shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, hee shall returne, and nor come into this city, saith the Lord.

35 For I will defend this city to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for my seruant Dauids sake.

36 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Ashturan hundredreth fourscore and five thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, behold they were all dead corpses.

37 So Saneherib king of Ashtur departed, and went away, and returned, and dwelt at Niniech.

38 And as he was in the temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Shazezer sonnes * slew him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of Arrarat: & Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 Hezekiah is sicke. 5 He is restored to health by the Lord, and liueth fifteene yeeres after: 10 Hee giueth thanks for his benefite.

A Bout * that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto death, and the Prophet Isaiah sonne of Amos came vnto him, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt die and not liue.

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord,

3 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, Remember now how I haue walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight, and Hezekiah wept fore.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord, to Isaiah, saying,

5 Goe and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus sayth the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: Behold, I will add to thy dayes fifteene yeeres.

6 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the king of Ashtur, and this city: for I will defend this citie.

7 And this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing: he hath spoken.

8 Behold, I will bring againe the shadow of the degrees, (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the Sunne) ten degrees backward: so the Sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

9 The writing of Hezekiah king of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recouered of his sicknesse.

10 I said in the cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue, I am deperied of the residue of my yeeres.

11 I said, I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

12 Mine habitation is departed, and is removed from me, like a shepherds tent: I haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day to night thou wilt make an end of me.

13 I reckoned to the morning, but he brake all my bones like a Lyon: from day to night wilt thou make an end of me.

14 Like a crane, or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did mourne as adoue: mine eyes were lift vp on high: O Lord, it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

15 What shall I say? for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shall walke weakely all my yeeres in the bitterness of my soule.

16 O Lord, to thee thou ouerliue them, and to all: as are in them, the life of my spirit shall be knownen, that thou causedst me to sleepe and hast giuen life to me.

17 Behold, for felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my finnes behind thy backe.

take care short in hand.

18 For the grane cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that go downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy truthe.

19 But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the children shall declare thy truthe.

20 The Lord was ready to saue mee: therefore we will sing my song all the daies of our life, in the house of the Lord.

21 Then said Iſaiah, Take a lump of dry figs, and lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recover.

22 Also Hezekiah had ſayd, What is the ſigne, that I ſhall goe vp into the houſe of the Lord?

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproofed, becauſe he ſheweth his treaſures vnto the ambaffadors of Babel.

At the ſame time, Merodach Baladan the ſonne of Baladan king of Babel ſent letters, and a preſent to Hezekiah: for hee had heard that hee had bene ſicke, and was recovered.

2 And Hezekiah was glad of them, and ſhewed them the houſe of the treaſures, the ſiluer, and the golde, and the ſpices, & the precious ointment, and all the houſe of his armour, and all that was found in his treaſures: there was nothing in his houſe, nor in all his kingdom, that Hezekiah ſhewed them not.

3 Then came Iſaiah the Prophet vnto king Hezekiah, and ſaid vnto him, What ſaid theſe men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah ſaid, They are come from a farre country vnto me, from Babel.

4 Then ſaid he, What haue they ſeene in thine houſe? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine houſe haue they ſeene: there is nothing among my treaſures, that I haue not ſhewed them.

5 And Iſaiah ſaid to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hoſtes.

6 Beholde, the dayes come that all that is in thine houſe, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in ſtore vntil this day, ſhalbe caried to Babel: nothing ſhalbe left, ſaith the Lord.

7 And of thy ſonnes that ſhall proceede out of thee, and which thou ſhalt beget, ſhall they take away, and they ſhalbe Eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel.

8 Then ſayd Hezekiah to Iſaiah, The word of the Lorde is good, which thou haſt ſpoken: and hee ſayd, Yet let there bee peace, and truthe in my dayes.

CHAP. XL.

2 Remiſſion of finnes by Chriſt. 3 The coming of Iohn Bauiſt. 18 The Prophet reproofeth the idolaters and them that truſt not in the Lord.

Comfort yee, comfort yee my people, will your God ſay.

1 Speake comfortably to Ieruſalem, & cry vnto her, that her warfare is accompliſhed, that her iniquity is pardoned: for the hath receiued of 5 Lords hand double for all her finnes.

2 A voyce cryeth in the wildernes, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make ſtreight in the deſert a path for our God.

3 Euery valley ſhalbe exalted, and euery mountaine and hill ſhalbe made low: and the crooked ſhalbe ſtreight, and the rough places plaine.

4 And the glory of the Lord ſhall be reueiled, and all fleſh ſhall ſee it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

5 A voyce ſaid, Cry, and hee ſaid, What ſhall I cry? All fleſh is graſſe, and all the grace thereof is as the flower of the field.

7 The graſſe withereth, the flower ſadeth, becauſe the ſpirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it, ſurely the people is graſſe.

8 The graſſe withereth, the flower ſadeth; but the word of our God ſhall ſtand for euer.

9 O Zion that bringeſt good tidings, get thee vp into the hie mountaine: O Ieruſalem, that bringeſt good tidings, liſt vp thy voyce with ſtrength: liſt it vp, be not afraid: ſay vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold your God.

10 Behold, the Lord God will come with power, and his arme ſhall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his worke before him.

11 He ſhall feed his ſlocke like a ſhepherd: he ſhall gather the lambes with his arme, and carrie them in his boſome, and ſhall guide them with yong.

12 Who hath meaſured the waters in his fiſt? and counted heauen with the ſpanne, and comprehended the duſt of the earth in a meaſure? and weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hills in a balance?

13 Who hath inſtructed the Spirit of the Lord? or who his counſeller? or taught him?

14 Of whom tooke he counſel, & who inſtructed him, and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and ſhewed vnto him the way of vnderſtanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the duſt of the balance: behold, he taketh away the yles as a little duſt.

16 And Lebanon is not ſufficient for fire, nor the beaſts thereof ſufficient for a burnt offering.

17 All nations before him are as nothing, and they are counted to him leſſe then nothing, and vanitie.

18 To whom then will ye liken God? or what ſimilitude will yee ſet vp vnto him?

19 The workeman melteth an image, or the goldſmith beateh it out in gold, or the goldſmith ſiluer plates.

20 Doth not the poore chuſe out a tree that is not rot for an oblation? he ſeeketh alſo vnto a cunning workeman, to prepare an image, that ſhall not be moued.

21 Know yee nothing? haue yee not heard it? hath it not bene tolde you from the beginning? haue yee not vnderſtood it by the foundation of the earth?

22 He ſitteth vpon the circle of the earth, & the inhabitants thereof are as graſhoppers, he ſtretcheth out the heauens as a curtaine, and ſpreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in.

23 He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanity.

24 As though they were not ſown, as though their ſtocke tooke no roote in the earth: for he did euen blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewinde will take them away as ſtubble.

25 To whom now will ye liken me, that I ſhould be like him, ſaith the holy One?

26 Liſt vp your eyes on high, and beholde who hath created theſe things, and bringeth out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names, by the greatneſſe of his power, and mighty ſtrength nothing ſaileth.

27 Why ſayeſt thou, O Iaakob, and ſpeakeſt, O Iſrael, My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is paſſed ouer of my God?

28 Knoweſt thou not? or haſt thou not heard, that the euilaſting God, the Lord hath created 5 ends of of the earth? he neither fainteth nor is weary: there is no searching of his vnderstanding.

29 But hee giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he increaseth power.

30 Euen the yong men shal faint, and be weary, and the yong men shal stumble and fall.

31 But they that wait vpon the Lord, shal renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the eagles: they shall runne and not be weary, and they shall walke and not faint.

CHAP. XLII.

2 Gods mercy in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatry. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

Keepe silence before mee, O ylands, and let the people renew their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

3 Who raised vp iustice from the East, and called him to his foete? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the Kings? he gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bow.

3 He pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feet.

4 Who hath wrought and done it? he that calleth the generations from the beginning, I the Lord am the first, and with the last I am the same.

5 The yles saw it, and did feare, and the ends of the earth were bashed, drew neere, and came.

6 Euery man helped his neighbour, and said to his brother, Be strong.

7 So the workman comforted the founder, and he that smote with the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the fodering, and hee fastened it with nailes that it should not be moued.

8 ¶ But thou, Israel, art my seruant, and thou Iacob, whom I haue chozen, the seed of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and on to thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chozen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 ¶ Are thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraid, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, & will sustaine thee with the right hand of my iustice.

11 Behold, all they that prouoke thee, shall bee ashamed and confounded, they shall be as nothing, and they that strue with thee shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them, and shalt not finde them: so wil, the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lorde thy God, will holde thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou worne, Iacob, and yee men of Israel: I will helpe thee, faith the Lord, and thy redeemer the holy One of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument haining teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountains, and bring them to powder, & shalt make the hils as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the winde shall carry them away, and the whirlewinde shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy One of Israel.

17 ¶ When the poore and the needy seeke water, and there is none, (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them.)

18 I will open riuers in the tops of the hils, and fountaines in the mids of the valleys: I will make the wilderness as a poole of water, and the waste land as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wilderness the cedar, the ship-tah tree, and the mirrh tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wilderness the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

20 Therefore let them see and know, & let them consider and vnderstand together, that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy One of Israel hath created it.

21 Stand to your cause, sayth the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, faith the king of Iacob.

22 Let them bring them forth, and let them tell vs what shall come: let them shewe the former things what they bee, that wee may consider them, and know the latter ende of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yea do good or doe euill, that wee may declare it, and behold it together.

24 Behold, ye are of no value, and your making is of nought: man hath chozen an abomination by them.

25 ¶ I haue raised vp from the North, and hee shall come: from the East sunne shall he call vpon my Name, and shall come vpon princes as vpon clay, and as the potter treadeth myre vnder the foot.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may know? or before time, that we may say, He is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your words.

27 I am the first, thus saith to Zion, Behold, behold them: and I will giue to Ierusalem one that shall bring good tidings.

28 But when I beheld, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there was no counsellor, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.

29 Behold, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are wind and confusion.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 6 Whom hee was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

Behold my seruant: I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 Hee shall not cry nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the street.

3 A bruised reed shall he not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in truth.

4 He shall not faile nor be discouraged, till hee haue set iudgement in the earth: and the yles shall wait for his law.

5 Thus saith God the Lord (he that created the heauens, and spread them abroad: hee that stretched forth the earth, and the buds thereof: he that giueth bread vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein.)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a covenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darkenesse out of the prison house.

8 I am

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory wil I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images.

9 Behold, the former things are come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, & his praise from the end of the earth: ye that go downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderness and the cities therof lift vp their voyce, the townes that Kedar doth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shout from the top of the mountains.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the ylands.

13 The Lord shall goe foorth as a giant: hee shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: hee shall shout and crie, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still, and retrained my selfe: now wil I cry like a traouailing woman: I will destroy, and denoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines and hils, and dry vp all their herbes: and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles.

16 ¶ And I will bring the blinde by a way that they knew not, and leade thew by pathes that they haue not knowne: I will make darkenesse light before them, & crooked things straight. The things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shalbe turned back: they shalbe greatly ashamed that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18 ¶ Heare ye deafe: and ye blind regard: that ye may see.

19 Who is blinde but my seruant? or deafe as my messenger, that I sent? who is blind as the perfit, and blind as the Lords seruant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not: opening the eares, but he heareth not.

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnes sake that he may magnifie the Law, and exalt it.

22 But this people is robbed and spoiled, & shal be all snared in dungeons, & they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shalbe for a pray, and none shal deliuer: a spoile, and none shall say, Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heed, and heare for afterwards?

24 Who gaue Iakob for a spoile, and Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his Law.

25 Therefore he hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and hee knewe not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

CHAP. XLIIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. Hee promisseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

¶ Vt now thus saith the Lord, that created thee, O Iakob, and hee that formed thee, O Israel, Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2 When thou passest thorow the waters, I will be with thee, and thorow the floods, that they doe not ouerflow thee. When thou walkest thorow the very fire, thou shalt not bee burnt, neither shall the same kinde vpon thee.

For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel thy Sauour: I gaue Egypt for thy ranfome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee: therefore will I giue man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I wil say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Euery one shalbe called by thy Name: for I created him for my glory, formed him, and made him.

8 I will bring forth the blind people, and they shall haue eyes: and the deafe, and they shall haue eares.

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shew vs former things? let them bring forth their witnesss, that they may be iustificed: but let them heare and say, It is a trueth.

10 You are my witnesss, saith the Lord, and my seruant whom I haue chosen: therefore yee shall know and beleue me, and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saved, and I haue shewed when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesss, saith the Lord, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am: and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will do it, and who shall let it?

14 Thus saith the Lord your redeemer, the holy One of Israel, For your sake haue I sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Caldeans cry in the ships.

15 I am the Lord your holy One, the creatour of Israel your King.

16 Thus saith the Lord which maketh a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters.

17 When he bringeth out the charret and horse, the army and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as tow.

18 Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of old.

19 Behold, I doe a new thing, now shall it come forth: shal you not know it? I wil euen make a way in the desert, and floods in the wilderness.

20 The wild beasts shall honor me, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wilderness, to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shew forth my praise.

22 And thou shalt not called vpon me, O Iakob, but thou shalt weared me, O Israel.

23 Thou hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honored me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor weared thee with incense.

24 Thou boughtest mee no sweet sinour with money, neither hast thou made me drunke with the fat of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me to serue with thy sinnes, and weared me with thine iniquities.

25 I, euen I am hee that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and wil not remember thy sinnes.

26 Put me in remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou mayest be iustified.

27 Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers haue transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I haue prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuary, and haue made Iakob a curse, and Irael a reproch.

CHAP. XLIIII.

¶ The Lord promisseth comfort, and that he will assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanity of idoles. 17 The foolishnesse of idolaters.

YEt now heare, O Iakob my seruant, and Irael, whom I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord that made thee, and formed thee from the wombe: hee will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iakob my seruant, and thou righteous, whom I haue chosen.

3 For I will powre water vpon the thirstie, and floods vpon the dry ground: I will powre my spirit vpon thy feed, and my blessing vpon thy buds.

4 And they shal grow as among the graske, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One shall say, I am the Lords: another shal be called by the name of Iakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lorde, and name himselfe by the name of Irael.

6 Thus saith the Lord the king of Irael, and his redeemer, the Lord of hosts, I am the first, and I am the last, and without me there is no God.

7 And who is like me that shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order before me, since I appointed the ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraid: haue not I told thee of old and haue declared it? you are euen my witnesses, whether there bee a god beside mee, and that there is no god that I know not.

9 All they that make an image are vanity, and their delectable things shall nothing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, that they see not nor know: therefore they shal be confounded.

10 Who hath made a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all that are of the fellowship the rof, shal be confounded: for the workemen themselves are men: let them all be gathered together, & stand vp, yet they shal feare and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coales, and fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red threed, he planeth it & he pourtrayeth it with the compasse, & maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beaultie of a man, that it may remaine in an house.

14 He will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a fire tree, and the raine doeth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for hee will take thereof and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it, and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god & worshippeth it: he maketh it an idole, & boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, & vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh, he rostheth the roste, & is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe, and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliuere me: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knownen, nor vnderstood: for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coales thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, & shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bow to the stocke of a tree?

20 He feedeth of ashes: a seduced heart hath decciued him that hee cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

21 Remember these (O Iakob and Irael) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Irael, forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy finnes as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done: shout ye lower parts of the earth: burst forth into praises, ye mountaines, O forest, and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iakob, and will be glorified in Irael.

24 Thus saith the Lord thy Redeemer, & he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the tokens of the foolish sayers, and make them that coniecture, foolcs, and turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnesse.

26 ¶ He confirmeth the word of his seruant, and performeth the counsel of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Ye shal be built vp, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 He sayeth to the deepe, Be dry, and I will dry vp thy floods.

28 He saith to Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard, and he shal performe all my desire: saying also to Ierusalem, I kon shalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shal be surely laid.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliurance of the people by Cyrus. 9 Gods iust in all his works. 20 The calling of the Gentiles

Thus saith the Lord vnto Cyrus his annoyured, whose right hand I haue holden to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loines of Kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will go before thee, and make the crooked streight: I will breake the brazen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darknesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou maiest know that I am the Lord, which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Irael.

4 For Iakob my seruants sake, and Irael mine elect I will euen call thee by thy name, and name thee, though thou hast not knownen me.

5 I am the Lord, and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I girded thee, though thou hast not knownen me,

6 That they may know from the rising of the Sun, and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the light & create darknesse: I make peace & create euil: I the Lord doe all these things.

8 Ye heauens send the dew from aboue, and let the the clouds drop downe righteousness: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice grow foorth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue created him.

9 Woe bee vnto him that striueth with his Maker, the porter with the porters of the earth: shall the clay lay to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, It hath none hands?

10 Wo vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus saith the Lord, the holy One of Israel, and his maker, Aske me of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the works of mine hands: command you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their a mie.

13 I haue raised him vp in righteousness, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my city, & he shall let go my captiues, not for price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the merchandize of Ethiopia, and of the Sabaeans, men of itare shall come vnto thee, and they shall be thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaires: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verely, thou, O God, hidest thy selfe, O God, the Saviour of Israel.

16 All they shall be ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shall be saved in the Lord, with an euermlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus sayeth the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, and made it, he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither in a place of darknesse in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seele of Iakob, Seeke you me, I the Lord do speake righteousness, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: draw neere together, ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god that cannot saue them.

21 Tell yee, and bring them, and let them take counsell together: who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath told it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside mee, a iust God, and a Saviour: there is none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, and ye shall be saved: all the ends of the earth shall be saved: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue sworn by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not returne. That euery knee shall bow vnto me, and euery tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousness and strength: hee shall come vnto him, and all that prouoke him shall be ashamed.

25 The whole seed of Israel shall be iustified, and glory in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

The destruction of Babylon of their idoles. He calleth the Lewes to the consideration of his works.

BEl is bowed downe: Nebo is fallen: their idols were vnto the beasts, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

2 They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not riddle them of the burden, and their soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare ye me, O house of Iakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vnto the hoare haire: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will cary you, and I will deliuer you.

5 ¶ To whom will ye make me like, or make me equall, or compare me, that I should be like him?

6 They draw gold out of the bagge, and weigh silver in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bow downe and worshipping.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they cary him and let him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remove from his place. Though one crie vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe to minde, O you transgressors.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me,

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of old, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a bird from the East, & the man of my counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.

12 Heare mee, yee stubborne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

13 I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tary: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

COME downe and sit in the dust: O virgine daughter Babel, sit on the ground: thou wast on throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

2 Take the millstones, and griade meale: loose thy lockes: make bare the feete: vncouer the leg, and passe thorow the floods.

3 Thy filthinesse shall be discovered, and thy shame shall bee seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a man.

4 Our redeemer the Lord of hosts is his Name, the holy One of Israel.

5 Sit still, and get thee into darknesse, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more bee called, The lady of kingdoms.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou diddest thew them no mercy, but thou didst lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saidst, I shall be a lady for euer: so that thou diddest not set thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse: See sayeth in her heart, I am, and none else: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shall come to thee suddenly denly on one day, the losse of children, and widow-hood: they shall come vpon thee in their perfection for the multitude of thy diuinations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednes: thou hast said, None seeth mee. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebell, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shall fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly or thou be ware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whom thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profite, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsailes: let now the astrologers, the starre gassers, and prognosticators stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their own liues from the power of the flame: there shall be no coles to warme at, nor light to fit by.

15 Thus shall they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, even thy merchants from thy youth: euery one shall wandre to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocritise of the Iewes is reproued, 11 The Lord alone will be worshipped, 20 Of their deliurance out of Babylon.

HEare ye this, O house of Iakob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousnesse.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and stay themselves vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is The Lord of hostes.

3 I haue declared the former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is as yron sinew, and thy brow braide,

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of olde: before it came to passe, I shewed to thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold, all this, and wilt not ye declare it? I haue shewed thee new things *eu*en now, and hid things which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, lest thou shouldest say, Behold, I knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither was yet thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest gricuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praise will I restraîne it from thee, that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue sined thee, but not as flouer: I haue chosen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it: for how should my Name be polluted? surely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iakob, and Israel, my called, I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laide the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I call them, they stand vp together.

14 All you assemble your selues, & heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued him: he will doe his will in Babel, and his arme shall be against the Caldeans.

15 I, *eu*en I haue spoken it, & I haue called him: I haue brought him and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare yee this: I haue not spoken it in secret fro the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and nowe the Lord God and his spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the holy One of Israel, I am the Lord thy God which teach thee to profite, and lead thee by the way that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou hadst hearkened to my Commandements: then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, & thy righteousness as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy seed also had bene as the sand, and the fruit of thy body like the grauel thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off, nor destroyed before me.

20 Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Caldeans with a voyce of ioy: tell and declare this: shew it forth to the end of the earth: say ye, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iakob.

21 And they were not thirsty: he led them throu the wilderness: he caused the waters to flow out of the rocke for them: for he claued the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleue his promise, & Christ is the saluation of all that beleue, and will deliuer them from the tyranny of their enemies.

HEare yee me, O yles, and hearken, yee people from farre, The Lord hath called me from the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath hee hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiuer,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant Israel, for I will be glorified in thee.

4 And I said, I haue laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my work with my God.

5 And now, saith the Lord, I formed me from the wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Iakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength)

6 And he said, It is a smal thing that thou shouldest be my seruant to raise vp the tribes of Iakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue thee for a light of Gentiles, that thou mayest be my saluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his holy One, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, and arise, and princes shall worship, because of the Lord that is faithfull, and the holy One of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lorde, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will perseque thee, and will giue thee thee for a couenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou mayest say to the prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darkenesse, Shew your felues: they shall feed in the wayes, and their pastures shall be in all the tops of the hills.

10 They shall not be hungrie, neither shall they bee thiristie, neither shall the heat smite them, nor the Sunne: for hee that hath compassion on them, shall lead them: euen to the springs of waters shall hee driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountaints as a way, and my paths shall be exalted.

12 Behold, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North, and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim.

13 Reioyce O heauens, and bee ioyfull, O earth, burst forth into praise, O mountains: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercy vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hath forsaken mee, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine hands: thy wallies are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make haste, thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together, and come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely put them all vpon thee, as a garment, and gird thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy wast places, and thy land destroyed shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shall be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrenesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished them? beholde, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift vp mine hand to the Gentiles, and set vp my standard to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shall be carried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall be thy nurses: they shall worship thee with their faces toward y<sup>e</sup> earth, & licke vp the dust of thy feet: & thou shalt know that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that wait for me.

24 Shall the pray bee taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, Euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall bee taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children, 26 And will feed them that spoile thee, with their own flesh, and they shall be drunken with their owne blood as with sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iakob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience & victorie.

Thus saith the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditour to whom I sold you? Behold, for your iniquities are ye sold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so shortened, that it cannot help? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold at my rebuke I dry vp the sea. I make the floods desert: their filth rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darkenes, and make a sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I should know to minister a word in time to him that is wearie: hee will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hidde not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe mee, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that insuffieth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shall waxe old as a garment: the moth shall eate them vp.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenes, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle a fire, & are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparks that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lide downe in sorow.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

Hear me ye that follow after righteousness, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the rock whence yee are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence yee are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, & her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shall be found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a Law shall procede from me, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My righteousness is neere: my saluation goeth forth, & mine arme shall iudge the people: the yles shall wait for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe old like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like manner: but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousness shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the the reproof of men, neither be yee afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousnesse shalbe for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp, as in the old time, in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same which hast dried the Sea, when the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euermoring ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnesse: and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, euen I am he that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall be made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens & laide the foundations of the earth: and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue hasteneth to be loosed, and that hee should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the Sea when his waues roared: The Lord of hostes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my words in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hand of the Lord the cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sons, whom shee hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand, of all the sonnes that shee hath brought vp.

19 These two things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation, and destruction and famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the streets as a wild bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare thou this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God: euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, euen the dregs of the cup of my wrath: thou shalt drink it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoyle thee, which haue laid to thy snare. Bow down, that we may go ouer, and thou hast laid thy body as the ground, and as the street to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LIII.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

A Rise, arise: put on thy strength. O Zion: put on the garments of thy beautie. O Ierusalem, the holy City: for henceforth there shal no more come into thee the yacircumcised, and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the dust: arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem, loose the bands of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lord, Yee were sold for nought: therefore shall yee be redeemed without money.

4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went downe aforetime into Egypt to sojourn there, and Aslur oppressed them without cause.

5 Now therefore, what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, saith the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is blasphemed?

6 Therefore my people shal know my Name: therefore they shall know in that day, that I am hee that doe speake: behold, it is I.

7 How beautiful vpon the mountaines are the feete of him that declareth and publisheth peace: that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth!

8 The voice of thy watchmen shalbe heard: they shall lift vp their voice, and shout together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring againe Zion.

9 O ye desolate places of Ierusalem, bee glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem, 10 The Lord hath made bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles: and all the endes of the earth shall see the saluation of our God.

11 Depart, depart ye: goe out from thence, and touch no vncleane thing: goe out of the middes of her: be ye cleane that beare the vessels of the Lord.

12 For ye shall not goe out with haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lord will goe before you, and the God of Israel will pether you together.

13 Behold, my seruant shall prosper: he shall be exalted and extolled and be very high.

14 As many were astonied at thee, (his visage was so deformed of men, and his forme of the sonnes of men) to shall he sprinkle many nations: the Kings shal shut their mouthes at him: for that which had not bene told them, shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they vnderstand.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Of Christ and his kingdom, whose word few will beleene. 6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousnesse, 12 and is dead for our finnes.

W Ho will beleene our report? and to whom is the arme of the Lord reuealed?

2 But he shall grow vp before him as a branch, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when wee shall see him, these shalbe no forme that we should desire him.

3 Hee is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes, and hath experience of infirmities: we hid, as it were, our faces from him: hee was despised, and we esteemed him not:

4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and carried our sorowes: yet we did iudge him as plagued and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheepe haue gone astray: we haue turned every one to his owne way, and the Lord hath laid vpon him the iniquitie of vs all.

7 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet did hee not open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before his shearer.

is dumbe, so he opened not his mouth.

8 Hee was taken out from prison, and from iudgement: and who shall declare his age: for hee was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9 And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though he had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord would breake him and make him subiect to infirmities: when he shall make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seed, and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shall see of the tranaille of his soule, and shalbe satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous seruant iustifie many: for hee shall beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because he hath powred out his soule vnto death, and he was counted with the transgressours, and he bare the sin of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

CHAP. LIIII

1 Moses the Gentiles shall beleene the Gospell then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth hus for a time, so whom after ward he sheweth mercie.

R Eioyce, O barren, that didst not beare: breake forth into ioy, and reioyce thou that didst not trauiell with child: for the desolate hath mo children, then the married wife, saith the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy eords and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not, for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widowhood any more.

5 For hee that made thee, is thine husband, (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the Holy one of Israel: shal be called the God of the whole world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a yong wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment, in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with euerslasting mercie haue I had compassion on thee, sayth the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto me as the waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more geue ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shall remoue, and the hills shall fall down: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shall the Covenent of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with the Carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with Saphires.

12 And I will make thy windowes of Isemarauds, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall bee taught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In righteousness shalt thou be established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, the enemy shall gather himselfe, but without mee: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall.

16 Behold, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgment, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the firstfruits.

H O, euery one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no siluer, come buy and eate: come, I say, buy wine and milke without siluer, and without money.

2 Wherefore doe ye lay out siluer and not for bread? and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delight in fatnesse.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto me, heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerslasting Covenent with you, euen the sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Behold, I gaue him for a witnesse to the people, for a Prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the Holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke yee the Lord while he may be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked forsake his waies, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he will haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgieue.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts about your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine cometh downe and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seed to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shall my word bee, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I wil, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shall goe out with ioy, and be led forth with peace: the mountaines and the hills shall breake forth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

13 For thornes there shall grow firre trees: for nettles shall grow the myrrhe tree, and it shall be to the Lord for a name, and for an euerslasting signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iustice and iudgement. 10 Against shepheards that denoue their flocke.

I Hus saith the Lord, Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my righteousness to be reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doth this, & the sonne of man which laith hold on it: he that keepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the some of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate mee from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a drie tree.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunnuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that please me, and take hold of my Couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine house and within my walles, a place and a name better then of the sons and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and imbraceth my Couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy Mountaine, and make them ioyful in mine house of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine Altar: for mine house shall be called an house of prayer for all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathered the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye beasts of the field, come to deuoure, euen all ye beasts of the forest.

10 Their watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they cannot barker: they lie and sleepe, and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedy dogges can neuer haue enough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 and their vaine confidence.

The righteous perisheth, & no man considereth it in heart, and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away from the euill to come.

2 Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him.

3 But you witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer and of the whore.

4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false seede?

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euery green tree? and sacrificing the children in the valleyes vnder the tops of the rockes?

6 Thy portion is in the smooth stones of the river: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delight in these?

7 Thou hast made thy bedde vpon a very high mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8 Behind the doores also and posts hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouraged thy selfe to another then mee, and wentest vp, and didst enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betwene thee and them, and loosest their bed in euery place where thou sawest it.

9 Thou wentest to the Kings with oile, and didst increase thine oynments, and send thy messengers farre off, and didst humble thy selfe vnto hell.

10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifolde journeys, yet saidst thou not, There is no hope: thou hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieved.

11 And whom didst thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast lied vnto mee, and hast not remembered me: neither set thy mind thereon: is it not because I hold my peace, and that of long time? therefore thou fearest not me.

12 I will declare thy righteousnes, & thy works, and they shall not profit thee.

13 When thou criest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but the winde shall take them all away: vanitie shall pul them away, but hee that trusteth in mee shall inherite the land, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine.

14 And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith he that is High and Excellent, he that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the holy One, I dwell in the high and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reue the spirit of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I will not contend for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, for the spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

17 For his wicked couetousnes I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid mee and was angry, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

18 I haue seene his wayes, and will heale him, I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19 I create the fruit of the lips to be peace: peace vnto them that are farre off, and to them that are neere, saith the Lord: for I will heale him.

20 But the wicked are like the raging sea, that cannot rest, whose waters cast vp mire and dirt.

21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods Ministers. 2 The workers of the hypocrites. 6 The fist of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

Crie allowde, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpeter, and shew my people their transgression, and to the house of Iakob their sinnes.

2 Yet they seeke mee dayly, and will know my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will draw neere vnto God, saying,

3 Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold, in the day of your fast you will seeke your will, and require all your debts.

4 Behold, yee fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as you doe to day, to make your voyce to bee heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow downe his head as a bulrush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting that I haue chosen, to loose the bands of wickednes, to take off the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him, and hide not thy selfe from thine owne flesh?

8 Then shall thy light breake forth as the morning, and thy health shall grow speedily: thy righteousness shall go before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer: thou shalt cry, and he shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the mids of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger and wicked speaking:

10 If thou powre out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darknesse, and the darknesse shall be as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt bee like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall be of thee that shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repaire of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy wil on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight to consecrate it as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, 14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the high places of the earth, & feed thee with the heritage of Iakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

1 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities.

12 The confession of finnes. 16 God alone will preserve his Church, though all men faile.

Ysa. 11. Behold, the Lords hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his care heauie, that it cannot heare.

Isa. 23. But your iniquities haue separated between you and your God, and your sins haue hid his face from you, that he will not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for truthe: they trust in vanitie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischief, and bring forth iniquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice eggs, and weaue the spiders web: he that eateth of their eggs dieth, and that which is troden vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webs shall be no garment, neither shall they couer themselves with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of euellie in their hands.

7 Their feete run to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equity in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth iustice come nere vnto vs: wee waite for light, but loe, it is darknesse: for brightnesse, but we walke in darknesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noon day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like beares, and mourne like doves: we looke for equitie, and there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our finnes testifie against vs, for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and wee haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and vitering out of the heart false matters.

14 Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for truthe is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter.

15 Yea, truthe faileth, and hee that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe a pray: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when he saw that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer him selfe. Therefore his arme did saue it, and his righteousness he did sustaine it.

17 For hee put on righteousness, as an habergeon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and hee put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As to make recompense, as to requite the farie of the aduersaries with a recompense to his enemies: he will fully repay the ylands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the Sunne: for the enemies shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto them that turne from iniquity in Iakob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my couenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my words which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seed, nor out of the mouth of the seed of thy seed, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for euer.

C H A P. I X.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance 16 They shall haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

A Rise, O Ierusalem, be bright: for the light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For behold, darknesse shall couer the earth, and grosse darknesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall bee seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold, all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall bee nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall bee astonied and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall bee conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The multitude of camels shall couer thee, and the dromedaries of Midian, and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring gold and incense, and shew forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rams of Nebatoth shall serue thee: they shall shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine altar : and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Who are these that flie like a cloude, and as the doves to their windowes?

9 Surely the yles shall waite for mee, and the ships of Tarshish as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer & their gold with them, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the holy One of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy wals, and their kings shall minister vnto thee : for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually : for day nor night shall they bee shut, that they may bring vnto thee the riches of y<sup>e</sup> Gentiles, and their kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and I the kingdome that will not forsake thee, shall perish : and those nations shall be utterly destroyed.

13 The glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary : for I will glorifie the place of my feet.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow vnto thee : and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feet : and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zion of the holy One of Israel.

15 Whereas thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breasts of Kings : and thou shalt know that I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy redeemer, the mighty One of Iacob.

17 For brasle will I bring gold, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasle, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernement peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse.

18 Violence shall no more bee heard in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders : but thou shalt call Saluation thy walles, and Praise thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more Sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightness of the Moone shine vnto thee : for the Lord himselfe shall be thine euermourning light, and thy God thy glory.

20 Thy Sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy Moone be hid, for the Lord shall be thine euermourning light : and the dayes of thy sorow shall be ended.

21 Thy people shall also be all righteous : they shall possesse the land for euer, the graffe of my planting shall bee the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a thousand, and a small one as a strong nation : I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

CHAP. I XI.

1 Hee prophesieth that Christ shall be enoynted and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithful.

THE Spirit of the Lord God is vpon me, therefore hath the Lord anointed mee : he hath sent me to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to bind vp the broken hearted, to preach liberty to the captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison :

2 To preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for ashes, the oyle of ioy for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall build the old waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, & they shall repaire the cities that were desolate, & walke through many generations.

5 And the strangers shall stand and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shall be named the Priests of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God : yee shall eate the riches of the Gentiles, and shall be exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shall receiue double, and for confusion they shall reioice in their portion : for in their land they shall possesse the double : euermourning ioy shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement, and hate robbery for burnt offering, & I will direct their worke in truth, and will make an euermourning Covenent with them.

9 And their seed shall bee known among the Gentiles, and their buds among the people. All that see them, shall know them, that they are the seede which the Lord hath blessed.

10 I will greatly reioice in the Lord, & my soule shall be ioyfull in my God : for he hath clothed me with the garments of saluation, and covered me with the robe of righteousness : he hath decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bride tareth her selfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth to grow that which is sown in it : so the Lord God will cause righteousness to grow, and praise before all the heathen.

CHAP. I XII.

1 The great desire that the Prophets haue had for Christs coming. 6 The diligence of the Pastours to preach.

FOR Zions sake I will not hold my tongue, and for Ierusalem sake I will not rest, vntill the righteousness thereof breake forth as the light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all kings thy glory : and thou shalt bee called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also bee a crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royal diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, Forsaken, neither shall it be said any more vnto thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called y<sup>e</sup> Hephzi-bah, and y<sup>e</sup> Beulah : for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an husband.

5 For as a young man marieth a virgin, so shall thy sonnes marry thee, and as a bridegrome is glad with the bride, so shall thy God reioyce over thee.

6 I haue set watchmen vpon thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease : yee that are mindedfull of the Lord, keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till he repaire, and vntill he set vp Ierusalem the praise of the world.

8 The Lord hath sworn by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I will no more giue thee come come to be meat for thine enemies, and surely the fommes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and praise the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuarie.

10 Goe through, goe through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the itones, and set vp a standard for the people.

11 Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the ends of the world: tell the daughter Zion, Behold, thy Saviour commeth: behold, his wages is with him, and his worke is before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt bee named, A citie sought out and not forsaken.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God shall destroy his enemies for his Churches
Jaks. 7 Gods benefites toward his Church.

W Ho is this that commeth from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? he is glorious in his apparrell, and walketh in his great strength. I speake in righteoufnesse, and am mightie to saue.

3 Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winepresse?

3 I haue troden the winepresse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will treade them in mine anger, and treade them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shall bee sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my ray-ment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vphold:
therefore mine owne arme helped mee, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will remember the mercies of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnes toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For hee said, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: so he was their Saviour.

9 In all their troubles he was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saved them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and carried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit:
therefore was he turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 Then he remembered the old time of Moses, and his people, saying, Where is he that brought them vp out of the Sea, with the shepheard of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them to make himselfe an euertlasting Name.

13 He led them through the deep as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 Looke downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine holinesse, and of thy glorie, Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions?

they are restrained from me.

16 Doubtlesse thou art our father, though Abraham bee ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy waies? and hardened our heart from thy feare?
Returne for thy seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it but a litle while: for our aduersaries haue treden downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 We haue bene as they ouer whom thou neuer bearest rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the finnes of the people. 6 Mans righteoufnesse is like a filthy cloth.

O H, that thou wouldest break the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused the waters to boile, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou didst terrible things which we looked not for, thou earnest downe, and the moun-taines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the world they haue not heard nor vnderstood with the care, neither hath the eye scene another God beside thee, which doth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meete him that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembered thee in thy wayes: behold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned:
yes in them is continuance, and we shall be sained.

6 But wee haue all bene as an vnclene thing, and all our righteoufnesse is as filthy clouts, and we all do fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the clay, and thou art our porter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angry, O Lord, aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: loe, we beseech thee, behold, we are all thy people.

10 Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wil-dernesse, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuarie, & of our glory, where our fathers praised thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou hold thy selfe still at these things,
O Lord? wilt thou hold thy peace, and afflict vs aboue measure?

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles, and the reuocation of the Iewes. 13 The joy of the elect, and the punishment of the wicked.

I Haue bene sought of them that asked not: I was found of them that sought me not: I said, Behold me, behold me, vnto a nation that calleth not vpon my Name.

2 I haue spread out mine hands al the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, even after their owne imaginations:

3 A people

3 A people that prouoked mee ther vnto my face: that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense vpon bricke.

4 Which remaine among the graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eat swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, Stand apart, come not neere to mee: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, and a fire that burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is written before mee: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shall be together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hills: therefore will I measure their old worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a blessing is in it. so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a feed out of Iaakob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherite my mountaine, and mine elect shall inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And Sharon shall be a sheepfold, and the valley of Achor shall be a resting place for the cattel of my people that haue fought me.

11 But yee are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the multitude, and furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I number you to the sword, and all you shall bow downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answer: I spake, and yee heard not, but did euill in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my seruants shall eate, and yee shall be hungrie: behold, my seruants shall drinke, and yee shall be thirstie, behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and yee shall be ashamed.

14 Behold, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and yee shall cry for sorow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And ye shall leane your name as a curse vnto my chosen: for the Lord God shall say you, and call his seruants by another name.

16 Hee that shall blesse in the earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and hee that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselves from mine eyes.

17 For lo, I will create new heauens, and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered nor come into minde.

18 But hee you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for behold, I will create Ierusalem as a reioicing, and her people as a ioy.

19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voice of weeping shall bee no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying.

20 There shall be no more there a child of yeres, nor an olde man that hath not filled his dayes: for hee that shall be an hundred yeres old, shall die as a yong man: but the sinner being an hundred yeres old shall be accursed.

21 And they shall build houses and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and eate the fruit of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabit: they shall not plant, and another eat: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall enioy in old age the worke of their hands.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the seed of the blessed of the Lord, and their buds with them.

24 Yea, before they call, I will answer, and whiles they speake, I will heare.

25 The wolfe and the lambe shall feed together, and the lion shall eate straw like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall be his meat. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy mountaine, saith the Lord.

C H A P. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 Hee despiseth sacrifices done without mercie and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is euer lasting.

Thus saith the Lord, *The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is that house that ye will build vnto me? and where is that place of my rest?

2 For all these things haue bene, saith the Lord, and all these things haue beene, saith the Lord, and to him will I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my words.

3 Hee that killeth a bullocke, is as if hee slew a man: hee that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if hee cut off a dogs necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if hee offered swines blood: he that remembereth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule delighteth in their abominations.

4 Therefore will I chuse out their delusions, and I wil bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none would answer: I spake, and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things which I would not.

5 Heare the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his word, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my names sake, said, Lettine Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall be ashamed.

6 A voice foundeth from the city, euen a voice from the Temple, the voice of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully.

7 Before the trauailed, shee brought forth, and before her paine came, shee was deliuered of a man child.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seen such things? shall the earth be brought forth in one day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for as soon as Zion trauailed, she brought forth her children.

9 Shall I cause to trauaile, and not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth, and shall be barren, saith thy God?

10 Reioice ye with Ierusalem, and be glad with her all yee that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all yee that mourne for her,

11 That yee may sucke and bee satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out and be delighted with the brightnesse of her glorie.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will extend peace ouer her like a flood, and the glorie of the Gentiles like a flowing stream: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so wil I comfort you, and yee shall be comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when you see this, your heart shall reioyce, and your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be known among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies.

15 For behold, the Lord wil come with fire, and his charrets like a whirlewinde, that he may recompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord wil iudge with fire, and with his sword all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many.

17 They that sanctifie themselues, and purifie themselves in the gardens, behinde one tree in the middes eating swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the moule, shall be consumed together, sayth the Lord.

18 For I will visite their workes, and their imaginations, for it shall come that I will gather all nations, and tongues, and they shall come, and see my glory.

19 And I will set a signe among them, and will send those that escape of them, vnto the nations of Tharhish, Pul, and Lud, and to them that draw the bow, to Tubal, and Iauan, yles asafare off that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seen my glory, and they shall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

20 And they shal bring all your brethern for an offering vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon horses, and in charrets, and in herseletters, and vpon mules, and i swift beasts, to Ierusalem mine holy Mountaine, saith the Lord, as the children of Israell offer in a cleane vessell in the House of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them for Priests, and for Leuites, saith the Lord.

22 For as the new heauens, and the the new earth which I will make, shall remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seed & your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

24 And they shall goe forth, and looke vpon the carkeises of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their worme shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shalbe an abhorring vnto all flesh.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiah borne in the ciitie of Anathoth, in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiab, whom some thinke to be hee that found out the booke of the Law, and gave it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelations of Prophecie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very young to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eightene yeeres vnder the said King, and thre moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and thre moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth vnto aboue fower yeeres, besides the times that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with seares and lamentations the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, subtiltie, comestunfesse, crueltie, excessse, rebellion, and contempt of Gods word, and for the consolation of the Church, reueileth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First, the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubborn and obdurate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainly of their destruction. Next, how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly, though God shew his iust iudgements against the wicked, yet will hee ever shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preserving his.

C H A P. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied. 6 Hee acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

He words of Ieremiah the sonne of Hilkiab one of the Priests that were at Anathoth in the land of Benjamin.

2 To whom the word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordained thee to bee a Prophet vnto the nations.

6 Then sayd I, O Lord God, behold, I cannot speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lord said vnto mee, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee, shalt thou speake,

8 Bee not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand and touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

10 Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations, and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throw downe, to build, and to plant.

11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I said, I see a rod of an Almond tree.

12 Then the Lord said vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word to performe it.

13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I said, I see a seething pot looking out of the North.

14 Then said the Lord vnto mee, Out of the North shal a plague be spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For lo, I wil call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entering ering of the gates of Ierusalem, & on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my iudgments touching all the wickednes of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise, and speake vnto them all that I commaund thee: be not afraid of their faces, lest I destroy thee before them.

18 For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a defended citie, and an yron pillar, and walles of brasie against the whole land, against the Kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the priests thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 For they shal fight against thee, but they shal not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

C H A P. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefits done vnto the Iewes.

3 Against the priests and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

4 Goe, and crye in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee with the kindeesse of thy youth, and the loue of thy marriage when thou wentest after me in the wilderness in a land that was not sowne.

5 Israel was as a thing hallowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruits: all they that eate it shal offend: euill shall come vpon them, saith the Lord.

6 Heare yee the word of the Lord, O house of Iakob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

7 Thus sayeth the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in me, that they are gone farre from me, and haue walked after vanities, and are become vaine?

8 For they sayd not, Where is the Lord that brought vs out of the land of Egypt? that led vs thorow the wilderness, thorow a desert and waste land, thorow a dry land, and by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed thorow, and where no man dwelt?

9 And I brought you into a plentiful countrey, to eate the fruite thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye desired my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

10 The priests said not, Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the Lawe, knew me not: the pastors also offended against me, and the prophets prophesied in Baal, and went after things that did not profit.

11 Wherefore I will yet plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will plead with your childrens children.

12 For go ye to the yles of Chittim, and behold, and send to Kedar, and take diligent heede, and see whether there be such things.

13 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their glory, for that which doeth not profit.

14 O ye heauens, be astonished at this: be afraid and vterly confounded, saith the Lord.

15 For my people haue committed two evils: they haue forsaken me the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge them pist, even broken pits that can hold no water.

16 Is Israel a seruant, or is he borne in the house? why shew is he spoyled?

17 The lions roared vpon him, and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without an inhabitant.

18 Also the children of Noph and Tahapenes haue broken thine head.

19 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way?

20 And what hast thou now to doe in the way of Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asihur? to drinke the water of the riuer?

21 Thine owne wickednes shal correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reprove thee: know therefore and behold, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, sayeth the Lorde God of hosts.

22 For of old time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou saydest, I will no more transgresse: but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hills, and vnder all greene trees.

23 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, whose plants were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?

24 Though thou wast with thee with nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, saith the Lord God.

25 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I followed Baalim? Behold thy waies in the valley, and know what thou hast done: thou art like a swift dromedary that runneth by his waies.

26 And as a wilde asse vied to the wilderness, that snuffeth vp the wind by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? shee that seeketh her, will not weary themselves, but will finde her in her moneth.

27 Keepe thou thy feete from barenesse, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saydest desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.

28 As the thiefe is ashamed when he is found, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their Kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets.

29 Saying to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise and helpe vs.

30 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities are thy gods, O Iudah.

31 Wherefore will ye pleade with me? yee all haue rebelled against me, saith the Lord.

32 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your owne sword hath deuoured your prophets like a destroying lion.

33 O generation, take heede to the word of the Lord, haue I bene as a wilderness vnto Israel, or a land of darkenesse? Wherefore saith my people, We are Lords, we will come no more vnto thee?

34 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me dayes without number.

35 Why dost thou prepare thy way to seek amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee that thy wayes are wickednesse.

36 Also in thy wings is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

37 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltlesse, surely his wrath shal turne from me: behold, I will enter with with thee into iudgment, because thou saiest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy waies? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, as thou art confounded of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt goe fourth from thence, and thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reioiced thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promitteth the restitution of his Church. 20 He reprobeth Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

They say, if a man put away his wife, and I go from him, and become another mans, shall hee returne againe vnto her? shall not this land be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many lovers: yet turne againe vnto me, saith the Lord.

1 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the high places, and behold, where thou hast not plaid the harlot: thou hast sitte waiting for them in the waies, as the Arabians in the wilderness, & thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

2 Therefore the showres haue bene restrained, and the latter rayne came not, and thou hadst a whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

3 Didst thou not still cry vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

4 Will he keepe his anger for ever? will he reuerse it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou dost euill euen more and more.

5 The Lord said also vnto mee in the dayes of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebel Israel hath done? for she hath gone vp vpon euery hie mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there plaid the harlot.

6 And I said, when she had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.

7 When I sawe, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had plaid the harlot, I cast her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraid, but she went also and plaid the harlot.

8 So that for the lightnes of her whoredom she hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stocks.

9 Neuerthelesse for al this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

10 And the Lord sayd vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath iustified herselfe more, then the rebellious Iudah.

11 Go, and cry these words towards the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

12 But know thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but ye would not obey my voyce, sayeth the Lord.

13 O ye disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a city, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion.

14 And I will giue you pastours according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

15 Moreover, when yee be increased and multiplied in the land in those daies, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The arke of the covenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to mind, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shall be no more done.

16 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, The throne of the Lord, and al the nations shall be gathered vnto it, vnto the name of the Lord in Ierusalem, and thenceforth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

17 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the North, into the land that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

18 But I sayd, How did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, when the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me?

19 But as a woman rebelleth against her husband: so haue ye rebelled against mee, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

20 A voyce was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerterd their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

21 O ye disobedient children, returne, and I will heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

22 Truly the hope of the hills is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

23 For confusion hath denoured our fathers labour from our youth, their sheepe and their bullocks, their sonnes and their daughters.

24 We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophesied for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

O Israel, if thou returne, returne vnto me, saith the Lord, and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou shalt sweare, The Lord lieth, in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousness: and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glory in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Breake vp your fallow ground, and sow not among the thornes: bee circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskins of your hearts ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, least my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions.

5 Declare in Iudah, and shewe forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blow the trumpet in the land: crie, and gather together and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standerd in Zion: prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The lion is come vp from his den and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of of his place to lay thy land waste, & thy cities shall be destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore gird you with sackcloth: lament and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord, the heart of the King shall perish, and the heart of the Princes, and the Priestes shall be astonied, & the Prophets shall wonder.

10 Then said I, Ah Lord God, surely thou hast deceiued this people and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword pierceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time shall it be said vnto this people and to Ierusalem, A drie wind in the hie places of the wilderness commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither to fanne, nor to cleanse.

12 A mighty winde shall come vnto mee from those places, and now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Behold, hee shall come vp as the clouds, and his charrets shall be as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. Woe vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be sau'd: how long shall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voice declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make yce mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the scouts come from a farre country, and crye out against the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as y watchmen of the field, because it hath prouoked mee to wrath, saith the Lord.

18 Thy waies and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednes: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall pierce vnto thine heart.

19 My belly, my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: my heart is troubled within me, I cannot be fill: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battaile.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cried, for the whole lande is waited: suddenly are my tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standard, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowne me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme, and void: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines, and loe, they trembled, and all the hills shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitful place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord said, The whole land shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full end.

28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole citie shall flee for the noise of the horsemen and bowmen: they shall go into thickets, and climbe vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou do? Though thou clothest thy selfe with scarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of gold, though thou paintest thy face with colors, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee, and seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noise as of a woman traueiling, or as one laboring of her first child, euen the voice of the daughter Zion, that sigheth and stretcheth out her hands: woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murderers.

C H A P. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man found, neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

R Vnto e & fro by the streets of Ierusalem, and behold now and know, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can find a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the truth, and I will spare it.

2 For though they say, The Lord liueth, yet do they sweare falsely.

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the truth? thou hast stricken them, but they haue not returned: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

4 Therefore I said, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them, for they haue knownen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bonds.

6 Wherefore a lion out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wilderness shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

7 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and sworn by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adultery, and assembled themselves by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man neighed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visite for these things, sayth the Lord? Shall not my soule bee auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Climbe vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full end: take away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grievously trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

12 They haue denyed the Lord, and said, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

13 And the Prophets shall be as winde, and the word is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, Because ye speake such words, behold, I will put my wordes into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

15 Lo, I will bring a nation vpon you from far, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mighty nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

16 Whose quiuer is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

17 And they shall eat thine haruest & thy bread: they shall deuoure thy finnes and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullockes: they shall eat thy vines and thy figtrees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou diddest trust.

18 Neuerthelesse at those dayes, saith the Lord, I will not make a fall end of you.

19 And when ye * shall say, Wherefore doth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken mee, and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and without vnderstanding, which haue * eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lord? or wil ye not bee afraid at my presencc, which haue placed the sand for the * boundes of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it?

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: hee reserueth vnto vs the appointed weeks of the haruest.

25 Yet your iniquities haue turned away these things, and your finnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that lay way as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: thereby they are become great and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat and thining: they doe ouerpasse the deeds of the wicked: * they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgment of the fatherlesse: yet they prosper though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not visite for these things, sayeth the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

31 The Prophets prophetic lie, and the Priests receiue gifts in their handes, and my people delight therein. What will yee then doe in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

1 The coming of the Assyrians and Caldeans. 16 He exhorteth the Iewes to repentance.

O Ye children of Beniamin, prepare to flee out of the mids of Ierusalem, and blow the trumpet in Tekoa: set vp a standard vpon Beth-haccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North, and great destruction.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a beautifull and dainty woman.

3 The Pastors with their flocks shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feed in his place.

4 Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs go vp toward the South. Wo vnto vs: for the day decreth, and the shadowes of the evening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hostes sayd, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this cite must be visited: all oppression is in the mids of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so shee casteth out her malice: crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me with sorow and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, least I make thee desolate, as a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake and admonish that they may heare? behold, their eares are vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: behold, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powre it out vpon the children in the street, and likewise vpon the assembly of the young men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, & the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their lands, and wiues also shall be turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, sayth the Lord.

13 For from the least of them euen to the greatest of them, euery one is given vnto couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest they all deale faulily.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the plaine: when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the waies, and behold, & aske for the olde way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and yee shall finde rest for your soules: but they sayd, Wee will not walke therein.

17 Alas I set watchmen ouer you, which sayde, Take heede to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heed.

18 Heare therefore ye Gentiles, and thou Congregation know what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruite of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heed vnto my wordes, nor vnto my Law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee incense from Sheba, and sweet Calamus from a farre country? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweet vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will lay stumbling blocks before this people, & the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people cometh from the North country, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bow & shield shall they be weaponed, they are cruell, and will haue no compassion: their voice roareth like the sea, & they ride vpon horses.

G g well well appointed like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our handes waxe feeble: forow is come vpon vs, as the forow of a woman in trauell.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy, and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning, as for thine only sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou mayest knowe and trie their waies.

28 They are all rebellious traitors, walking craftily: they are brasie & yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The bellows are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the foundler melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

2 Jeremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the word of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the temple. 13 The euils that shall come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THE wordes that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

1 Stand in the gate of the Lordes House, and cry this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord all ye of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, * Amend your waies and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place.

4 Trust not in lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord: the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend, & redresse your waies and your workes: if you execute iudgement betwene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppress not the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers for euer & euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Wil you steale, murder & commit adultery, and swear falsely, & burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not?

10 And come and stand before me in this house, whereupon my Name is called, and say, Wee are deliuered, though wee haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this house become a den of theues, whereupon my name is called before your eyes? Behold, euē I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But goe ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because ye haue done all these workes, saith the Lord, (& I rose vp early, and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called would ye answere)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, whereupon my name is called, wherein also ye trust, euē vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euē the whole seede of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp cry or prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke mee to anger, sayeth the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of the ground, and it shall burne, and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voice, & I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke yee in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be wel vnto you.

24 But they would not obey nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels, and the stubbornnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, I haue euē sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp euery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare mee, nor incline their eare, but hardened their necke, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiveth discipline: truth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, saith the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built & hie place of Topheth, which is in & valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their sonnes & their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, & it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but & valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meat for the fowles of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall frys them away.

Ex. 36. 34 *Then I will cease to cease from the cities of Iudah, & from the streets of Ierusalem the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrome and the voice of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

C H A P. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord mooveth the people to amendment. 10 Hee reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the countenasse of the Prophets and Priests.

AT that time, saith the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the Sunne and the Moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue fought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered, not be buried, but shalbe as dung vpon the earth.

3 And death shalbe desired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked family, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayth the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselves to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake a right: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the stork in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallow obserue the time of their coming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, Wee are wise, and the Law of the Lord is with vs? Lo, certainly in vaine made he it, the pen of the Scribes is in vaine.

9 The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: * for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest euery one dealeth falsly.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Where they are ashamed when they had committed abomination: nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine, when I shall visit them, they shalbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the lease shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.

14 Why doe wee stay? assemble your selues, and lets enter into the strong cities, and lets be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because we haue despised against the Lord.

15 * Wee haue despised peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from

Dan, the whole land trembled at the noise of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the city, and those that dwell therein.

17 For behold, I will send serpents and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my selfe against sorrow, but mine heart is heauie in me.

19 Behold the voice of the crie of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her? Why haue they prouoked me to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are no holpen.

21 I am fore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauie, and astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

C H A P. IX.

1 The complaints of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce. 26 The vniuersification of the hears.

OH, that mine head were full of water, and mine eye a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wilderness a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and goe from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels,

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no courage for the truth vpon the earth, for they proceed from euill to worse, and they haue not knowne me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour, & trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deceit, and euery friend will deale deceitfully.

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not speake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the mids of deceiuers: because of their deceit they refuse to know mee, saith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes. Behold, I will melt them, and trie them: for what should I else doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue * is as an arrow thot out, and Psa. 28.9 speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

9 Shall I not visite them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such anation as this?

10 Vpon the mountains will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none can passe thorow them, neither can men heare the voice of the flocke: both the soule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wise to vnderstand this? & to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen hee shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wilderness, that none passeth thorow?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voice, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubborneesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knownen, and I will send a sword after them till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Take heed, and call for the mourning knoweth, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come.

18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eyelids gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, How are we destroyed, and vicerly confounded? for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euerie one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yong men in the streetes.

22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carkeifes of men shal lie euen as the dung vpon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shal gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glory in his strength, neither the rich man glory in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which shew mercy, iudgement, and righteousness in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visite all them which are circumcised, with the vncircumcised:

26 Egypt, and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Amnon and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are vncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the heart.

CHAP. X.

1 The constellations of the starres are not to be feared. 2 The weaknesse of idoles. 3 Of the power of God. 4 Their pastors are become brut beasts.

HEARE ye the word of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.

3 For the cuttomes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the Carpenter) with the axe.

4 And another decketh it with siluer, and with gold: they fasten it with nailes and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne becaus they cannot goe: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold from Vphaz for the worke of the workman, and the hands of the founder: the blew filke and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shal you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauens & the earth shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 He giueth by his voice the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

14 Euerie man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euerie founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but fallshood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

17 Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus sayth the Lord. Behold, at this time I will throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 Woe is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorow, and I will beare it.

20 My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtains.

21 For the pastours are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the North country, to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord correct me, but with iudgement, not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen that know thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob, and desoured him, and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods covenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Jeremiah to pray for them.

THe word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare yee the words of this Couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this Couenant,

4 Which I commaunded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the Land of Egypt, from the yron furnace, saying, Obey my voice, and do according to all these things which I command you: for shall ye be my people, and I will be your God.

5 That I may confirme the oath that I haue sworn vnto your fathers, to giue them a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered I, and said, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord said vnto mee, Crie all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare yee the words of this Couenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the Land of Egypt vnto this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voice.

8 Neuerthelesse, they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but every one walked in the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart: therefore I wil bring vpon them all the words of this Couenant, which I commaunded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned back to ſ iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my words: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my Couenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they cry vnto me I will not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and cry vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem, haue yee set vp altars of confusion, *eu*en altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp a cry or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my beloved ſay in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest enill, thou reioycest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A Greene Olive tree, faire and of goodly fruit: but with noyse and great tumult, he hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hosts that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselves to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught me, and I know it, *eu*en then thou shewedst me their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised thus against me, ſaying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing; that his name may bee no more in memorie.

20 But, O Lord of hosts that indigest righteously, and triest the reins and the heart, let mee see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, Prophetic not in the Name of the Lord,) that thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will visit them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, *eu*en the yeere of their visitation.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet maruileth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to bee righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 Hee speaketh against pastors, and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let mee talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doth the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken root: they grow, and bring forth fruit: thou art neere in their mouth, and faire from their reins.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest mee: thou hast scene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pul them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter,

4 How long shall the land mourne, & the herbes of euery field wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein: the beasts are consumed and the birds, because they said, He wil not see our last end.

5 If thou halt run with the footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iordan?

6 For euery thy brethren, and the house of thy father, *eu*en they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee and they haue cried out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken mine house, I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloved of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto mee as a Lion in the Forrest: it crieth out against mee, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage bee vnto me as a bird of diuers colours? are not the birds about her, ſaying, Come, assemblé all the beasts of the field, cometo, cate her?

10 Many pastours haue destroyed my vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foot: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wilderness.

11 They haue laide it waste, and it being waste mourneth vnto me: and the whole land lieth waste, because no man setteth his minde on it.

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the hie places in the wilderness: for the sword of the Lord shall decourte from the one end of the land, *eu*en to the other end of the land: no flesh shall haue peace.

13 They haue sown wheat, and reaped thornest they were sicke, and had no profit, and they were ashamed of your fruits, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine euill neighbors that touch the inheritance, which I haue caued my people Israel to inherite, Behold, I will plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the wayes of my people to sweare by my Name, (The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built in the mids of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, then will I vtterly plucke vp and destroy that nation, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to bee the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

Thus saith the Lord vnto me, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loines.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loines, and arise, goe toward Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes the Lord said vnto me, Arise, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this maner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, and walke after the stubbornnes of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them, therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loines of a man, so haue I tyed to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name, and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euery bottle shall be filled with wine, & they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not know that euery bottle shall bee filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the kings that sit vpon the throne of David, and the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse.

14 And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pittie nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue care, bee not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lord your God before he bring darkenesse, and or euer your feet stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles yee looke for light he turne it into the shadow of death, & make it as darkenesse.

17 But if yee will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secret for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords stocke is caried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the King and to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wholly caried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes, and beholde them that come from the North: where is the flock that was giuen thee, euen thy beautifull stocke?

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visit thee? (for thou hast taught them to be captaines, and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorrow take thee as a woman in trauaile?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts discouered, and thy heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More change his skinne? or the Leopard his spots? then may ye also doe good, that are accustomed to doe euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South wind.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in lies:

26 Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpon thy face, that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy neyings, the blithes of thy whoredome on the hills in the fields, and thine abominations. Woe vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not be made chaste? when shall it once be?

CHAP. XIII.

Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people a king mercy of the Lord. 10 The unfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false Prophets that seduce the people.

He word of the Lord that came to Ieremiah, concerning the dearth.

1 Indah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue beene brought to heauenesse vnto the ground, and the crye of Ierusalem goeth vp.

2 And their Nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the wells, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and covered their heads.

3 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the Plowmen were ashamed, and covered their heads.

4 Yea, the Hinde also calued in the field, and losooke it because there was no grasse.

5 And the wilde asses did stand in the bie places and drew in their wind like dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

6 O Lord, though our iniquities testifye against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

7 O the hope of Israel, the Saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land as one that passeth by to tarry for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the mids of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not restrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but he will now remember their iniquitie, and visit their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their crye, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I wil consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, Behold, the prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto mee, The prophets prophesie lies in my Name: *I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophesie vnto you a false vision, & diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets doe prophesie, shall be cast out in the streets of Ierusalem, because of the famine & the sword, and there shall be none to burie them, both they and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares, night and day, without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreover the prophet also and the priest goe a wandering into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vterly reiected Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? Why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember, and breake not thy covenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raie? or can the heauens giue shower? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made al these things.

C H A P. X V.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes, but threatneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

Then said the Lord vnto me, Though Moses and Samuel stood before mee, yet mine affection could not be toward this people, cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? thou tell them, Thus saith the Lord, *Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint over them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogges to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I will scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth: because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah king of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pittie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be forie for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken mee, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am weary with repenting.

7 And I will scatter them with the fanne in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their ways.

8 Their widowes are increased by mee, about the sand of the Sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the yong men, a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and speedily.

9 She that hath borne ieuon, hath bene made weaker her heart hath failed, the Sunne hath failed her, whiles it was day, she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies saith the Lord.

10 ¶ We is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me a contentious nun, and a man that strueth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on vsurie, nor men haue lent vnto me vpon vsurie: yet euery one doeth curse me.

11 The Lord said, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to intreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shal the yron breake the yron, and the brasse that cometh from the North?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoiled without gainie, and that for all thy sins, euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to goe with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visit me, and reuenge me of my persecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found by mee, and I did eate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hosts.

17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauinesse continuall? and my plague desperate, and cannot bee healed? why art thou vnto me as a liar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before mee: and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt be according to my word: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I wil make thee vnto this people a strong brazen wall, & they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee, for I am with thee to saue thee, and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

21 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

2 The Lord forbidding Jeremiah to marrie, sheweth him what should be the afflictions vpon Iudab. 10 The captiuitie of Babylon. 15 Their deliurance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

THe word of the Lord came also vnto mee, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sons and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shall be as dung vpon the earth, and they shall be consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carkeises shall bee meat for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament nor bee moved for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, even mercy and compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not bee buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning, to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also go into the house of feasting, to sit with them to eat and to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, even in your daies the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrome, and the voice of the bride.

10 And when y<sup>e</sup> shalt shew this people all these words, & they shall say vnto thee, *Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, & haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law,

12 (* And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for behold, you walk enery one after the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me )

13 Therefore wil I driue you out of this land into a land that ye know not, neither you, nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace.

14 *Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come, that it shall no more bee said, The Lord liueth, which brought v<sup>p</sup> the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, 15 But, The Lord liueth, that brought v<sup>p</sup> the children of Israel from the land of the North and from all the lands where he had scattered them, and I will bring them againe into their land, that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many fishers, and they shall fish them, and after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountain, and from euery hil, and out of the caues of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquity and their sin double, because they haue defiled my land and haue defiled mine inheritance with their filthy carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my force and my strength, and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited lies, and vanitie, wherein there was no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?

21 Behold, therefore I wil this once teach them, I will shew them mine hand & my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

THe sin of Iudah is written with a pen of yron, and with the point of a diamond, and grauen vpon the table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your altars.

2 They remember their altars as their children, with their groves by the greene trees vpon the hie hills.

3 O my Mountaine in the field, I will giue thy substance and all thy treasures to be spoiled for the sinne of thy high places thorowout all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, and in thee shall bee a rift from thine heritage that I gaue thee, & I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land which thou knowest not: for ye haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for euer.

5 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, & withdraweth his heart from the Lord.

6 For he shall be like the heath in the wilderness, and shall not see when any good commeth, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her roots by the riuer, and shall not feele when the heat commeth, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit.

9 The heart is deceitful and wicked above all things, who can know it?

10 I the Lord search the heart, and try the reins, even to giue euery man according to his waies, and according to the fruit of his works.

11 As the partridge gathereth the young, which she hath not brought forth: so hee that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the mids of his dayes, and at his end shall be a foole.

16 But I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastor after thee, neither haue I desired the day of misery, thou knowest that which came out of my lips, was right before thee.

17 Be not terrible vnto me: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Goe, and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem, 20 And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, & all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus sayeth the Lord, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem, 22 Neither carie forth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day, neither do ye any work, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither enclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe, and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheless, if ye will heare mee, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye doe no worke therein,

25 Then shall the kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, & shall sit vpon the throne of David, and shall ride vpon charrets, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings, and sacrifices and meat offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare mee, to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden, nor to goe thorow the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word. 18 The confurance of the Iewes against Ieremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

The word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise, and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheelles.

4 And the vessel that he made of clay, was broken in the hand of the potter: so hee returned, and made it another vessell, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out, and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it, and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euill in my sight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore every one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your works good.

12 But they said desperately, Surely we will walk after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubburnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? or shall the colde flowing waters that come from another place be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten mee, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their Prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the ancient wayes, to walke in the pathes and way that is not troden,

16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetual derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished, and wag his head,

17 I will scatter them with an East wind before the enemy: I will shew them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some device against Ieremiah: for the Law shall not perish from the Priests, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heed to any of his words.

19 Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill bee recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before them to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sword, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and bewidowes: and let their husbands bee put to death, and let their young men bee slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the cry be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take mee, and hid snares for my feet.

23 Yet Lord, thou knowest all their counsell against mee tender to death: forgine not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them bee ouerthrowen before thee: deale thou with them in the time of thine anger.

Hee prophesie the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

Thus

For cause of the Sinner.

Thus said the Lord, Go, and buy an earthen bottle of a potter, and sake of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests.

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preach there the wordes that I shall tell thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the word of the Lord, O kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shall tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken mee, and prophaned this place, and hane burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers haue knownen, nor the kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I commaunded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my mind)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more bee called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises will I giue to be meat for the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

10 Then shalt thou break the bottle in the sight of the men that goe with thee,

11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth, till there be no place to burie.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the kings of Iudah shall be defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the houses vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the hoste of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and sayd to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this citie and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their necks, and would not heare my wordes.

CHAP. XX.

2 Ieremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 Hee propheseth the captivity of Babylon. 7 Hee complaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the word of God. 9 Hee is compelled by the spirit to preach the word.

When Pashur the sonne of Immer the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophesied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stocks, that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morning Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stocks. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lorde hath not called thy name Pashur, but Magor-missabib.

For, for

4 For thus saith the Lord, behold, I will make thee to be a terror to thy selfe & to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the King of Babel, and hee shall carie them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword

5 Moreover, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoile them, and take them away, and carie them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in this house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou hast prophesied lies.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I am deceived: thou art stronger then I, and hast preuailed: I am in derision daily: enery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch vnto mee, and in derision daily.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire (shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many & feare on euery side. Declare, said they, and we will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceived: so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 But the Lord is with me, like a mighty giant: therefore my persecutors shall be onerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shall be greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

1 He propheseth that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the citie burned.

1 He word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when King Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) If so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous works, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre, that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the mids of this citie.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand and with a mighty arme, euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in the citie, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sword: hee shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 ¶ Hee that abideth in this citie, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shall bee vnto him for a pray.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euill and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be giuen into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 ¶ And so vnto the house of the king of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, Thus saith the Lord, ¶ Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath goe out like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your works.

13 Behold, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visit you according to the fraite of your works, saith the Lord, and I will kinde a fire in the Forrest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Hee reborseth the king to iudgements and rightnesse: 2 Why Ierusalem is brought into captiuitie.

3 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is prophesied.

Thus said the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the king of Iudah, and speake there this thing.

2 And say, Heare the word of the Lord, O king of Iudah, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus saith the Lord. ¶ Execute ye iudgement and righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: do no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye do this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this house, and ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both he and his seruants, and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these words, I sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this house shall bee waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the kings house of Iudah, Thou art Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness, and as cities not inhabited,

7 And I will prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedars, and cast them in the fire.

8 And many nations shall passe by this citie, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

9 Then shall they answere, Because they haue forsaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods and serued them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him that goeth out: for hee shall returne no more, nor see his native country.

11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching Shallum the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither, 12 But hee shall die in the place whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnesse, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I will build mee a wide house, and large chambers: so hee will make himselfe large windowes, and seeling with cedar, and paint them with vermillion.

15 Shalt thou reigne because thou closest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eat & drinke and prosper when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnesse, and for to shedde innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, thus to doe this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sisters: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah Lord, or ah, his glory.

19 Hee shall be buried as an asse is buried, drawen, and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Goe vp to Lebanon, and cry: shout in Bashan, and cry by the passages: for all thy lowres are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie:

ritie: but thou faidest, I will not heare: this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voice.

22 The wind shall feed all thy pastours, and thy louers shall go into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednes.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, how beautiful shalt thou be when sorrowes come vpon thee, as the sorrow of a woman in traile?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though Coniah the sonne of Ichoiakim, king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, & into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchidrezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carie thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land wherunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caried away, hee and his seede, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dniuid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

C H A P. XXII.

1 Against false pastours. 5 A prophesie of the great Pastour Iesus Christ.

Woe be vnto the pastours that destroy & scatter the sheepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.

2 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto the pastours that feed my people, Ye haue scattered my flocke, and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: behold, I will visit you for the wickednesse of your workes, saith the Lord.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whither I had drinen them, and will bring them againe to their folds, and they shall grow and increase.

4 And I will set vp shepheards ouer them, which shall feed them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous braunch, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement and iustice in the earth.

Deut. 33. 6 In his dayes Iudah shall be saued, * and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby 28. they shall call him, * The Lord our righteousnesse.

Chap. 33. 7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,
16.

8 But, The Lord lieth, which brought vp, and led the seed of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, and from all countreys, where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

4 Elor pas- 9 Mine heart breaketh within me because of the sed ouer, prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken or, trou- man, & like a man whom wine hath overcome, for bled. the presence of the Lord, and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their course is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet and the Priest I doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shall be vnto them as slipperie wayes in the darkenesse, they shall be druen forth, and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem filthinesse: they commit adulterie, & walke in lies: they strengthen also the handes of the wicked, that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodome, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feed them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the Prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Heare not the words of the prophets that prophecy vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say stil vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbornnesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For who hath stood in the counsell of the Lord, that he hath perceiued and heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlwind shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till hee haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it plainly.

21 * I haue not sent these prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ran: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stand in my counsell, and had declared my words to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord: Doe not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the Prophets saide, that prophecy lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? † Doe the prophets delight to prophecy lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Think they to cause my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbor, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, and he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: what is the shaft to the wheat, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, saith the Lord, and like an hammer that breaketh the stone?

30 There-

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, faith the Lord, that steale my word euery one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the prophets, faith the Lord, which haue sweet tongues, and say, Hee faith, 32 Behold, I will come against them that prophetic false dreames, faith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no profit vnto this people, faith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a priest shall ask thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, faith the Lord.

34 And the prophet, or the priest, or the people that shall say, The burden of the Lord, I will euen visite euery such one, and his house.

35 Thus shall ye say euery one to his neighbour, and euery one to his brother, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord shall ye mention no more: for euery mans word shall be his burden: for ye haue peruerued the words of the liuing God, the Lord of hosts our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken?

38 And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus faith the Lord, Because ye say this word, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord.

39 Therefore behold, I, euen I will utterly forsake you, and I will forsake you, and the city that I gaue you, and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence, 40 And I will bring an *euerlasting reproch vpon you, and a perpetuall shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 The vision of the basket of figges, 5 Signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe from captiuitie, 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

¶ He Lord shewed me, and behold, two baskets of figs were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figs, euen like the figs that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou, Ieremiah? And I said, Figges: the good figs very good, and the naughty very naughty, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus faith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them that are caried away captiue of Iudah to be good, whome I haue sent out of this place into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not root them out,

7 And I will giue them an heart to know mee, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my *people, (Chap. 31. 33. b. b. b.) and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 * And as the naughty figs, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill (surely thus faith the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdoms of the earth, and for a reproch, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse in all places where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He prophesieth that they shall be in captiuitie seventy yeeres. 12 And that after the seventy yeeres the Babylonians should be destroyed, 15 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

¶ He word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel,

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentie yere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They sayd, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednesse of your inventions, and yee shall dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And goe not after other gods to seruet them, and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuerthelesse ye would not heare mee, sayth the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus faith the Lord of hosts, Because ye haue not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will send and take some all the families of the North, faith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment, and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

10 * Moreouer, I will take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnesse: the voice of the bridegrome and the voice of the bride, the stroy, noise of the millstones, and the sight of the candle.

11 And this whole land shall be desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the king of Babel seventy yeeres.

12 And when the seventy yeeres are accomplished, I will visit the king of Babel and that nation, faith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation.

13 And I will bring vpon that land al my words which which I haue pronounced against it, even all that is written in this booke which Ieremiah hath prophesied against all nations.

14 For many nations and great kings shall euen serue themselves of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the works of their owne hands.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto me, Take the cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send thee, to drinke it.

16 And they shall drinke and bee moured, and be madde, because of the sword, that I will send among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whome the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the kings thereof, and the princes therof, to make them deolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeareth this day.

19 Pharaoh also king of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all sorts of people, and all the kings of the land of Vz: and all the kings of the land of the Philistims, and Aihkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Alhudd:

21 Edom and Moab, and the Ammonites,

22 And all the kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the yles, that are beyond the sea,

23 And Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vittemost corners,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and al the kings of Arabia that dwell in the desert,

25 And all the kings of Zimri, and all the kings of I Elam, and all the kings of the Medes, 26 And all the kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the world, which are vpon the earth, and the king of Shethach shall drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Drinke, and be drunken, and fiew and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword, which I will send among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuse to take the cup at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Ye shall certainly drinke.

29 For loe, I begin to plague the city, where my Name is called vpon, and should you goe free: yee shall not goe quire: for I will call for a sword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore propheticke thou against them all their words, and say vnto them, * The Lord shall roare from aboue, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: he shall roare vpon his habitation, and cry aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The sound shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and he will giue them that are wicked, to the sword, saith the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlewind shall bee raised vp from the coasts of the earth.

33 And the slain of the Lord shall be at y day from one end of the earth, euen vnto the other end of the earth: they shall not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but shall be as y dung vpon the ground, 34 Howe yee Shepheards, and crye, and wallow your selues in the ashes ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your disperſion, and yee shall fall like precious vessels.

35 And the sight shall faile from the shepherds, and the eſcaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of the crye of the shepheards, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shall be heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture.

37 And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath forsaken his court, as the Lion: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressor, & because of the wrath of his indignation.

C H A P. XXVI.

2 Ieremiah moneth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the false prophetes and priests, and brought to iudgement. 23 Uriah the Prophet is killed of the boiakim contrary to the will of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, saying,

3 Thus sayeth the Lord, Stand in the court of the Lords house, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worship in the Lords Houſe all the words that I command thee to speake vnto them: keepe not a word backe,

3 If so be they will hearken, and turne every man from his euill way: that I may repent mee of the plague which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their works.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye wil not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this house like Shiloh, and will make this citie a curſe to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests, and the Propheets, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these wordes in the Houſe of Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the priests, and the Prophets and all the people tooke him, and said, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Why haſt thou prophecied in the Name of the Lord saying, This house shall be like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant? And al the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the Houſe of the Lord.

10 And when the princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the kings house into the Houſe of the Lord, and laid downe in the entry of the new gate of the Lords Houſe.

11 Then spake the priests and the prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, ¶ This man is worthy to die: for hee hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremiah vnto all the princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to propheticke against this house, and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your wayes and your works, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that he hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands: doe with me, as you thinke good and right.

15 But know yee for certaine, that if ye put mee to death, yee shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues and vpon this city, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the Lorde hath sent me vnto you to speake all these words in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priests and vnto the Prophets, This man is not worthe to die: for hee hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the lande, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Micah the Morashite* prophesied in the daies of Hezekiah king of Iudah, & spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the House shall be as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death: did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that he had pronounced against them? thus might we procure great euill against our selues.

20 And there also was a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Uriah the sonne of She-maiah, of Kirath-seare, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his words, the king sought to slay him: But when Uriah heard it, he was afraid, and fled and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, vnto Elmathan the sonne of Aahbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Uriah out of Egypt, & brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam the son of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Ieremiah as the commandement of the Lord sendeth boudes to the king of Iudah, and to the other kings that were nere, whereby they are monished to be subiects to Nebuchad-nezzar. ¶ Hei warneth the people and the kings, and rulers, that they beleue not false prophesies.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bonds and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And send them to the king of Edom, & to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers, which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the king of Iudah,

4 And commaund them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man and the beast that are vpon the ground by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me.

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne, vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shall serue themselves of him.

8 And the nation and kingdom which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, & with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets, nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your forcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the king of Babel.

10 For they prophesie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupy it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah according to all these words, saying, Put your necks vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation that will not serue the king of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the prophets that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you and the prophets that prophesie vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, I haue said the Lord, Heare not the words of your prophets, that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the House of the Lord shall now shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the king of Babel, that ye may liue: Wherefore should this citie be desolate?

18 But if they bee prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, goe not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke not, when hee caried away captiue Ierusalem the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem.

22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shall be vntill the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

AND that same yeere, in the beginning of the Reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in y fourth yeere, and in the fifth month, Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of Gibeon, spake to me in the House of the Lord, in the presence of the Priests, and of all the people, and said,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 Within t two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lordes House, that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Ichoiakim king of Iudah, with al them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, & went into Babel, faith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah sayde vnto the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priestes, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the House of the Lord,

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah say I, So bee it: the Lord so do, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophecied to restore the vessels of the Lordes House, and all that is caried captiue, from Babel into this place.

7 But heare thou nowe this worde that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before me, and before thee in time past prophecied against many countreys, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shal come to passe, then shall the Prophet bee knowne, that the Lord hath truly sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and brake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of al the people, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel from the necke of all nations, within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, 13 Go, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, I haue put a yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the beards of the field also.

15 I haue sayd the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the same yeere in the seventh month.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captivity in Babylon. 10 He prophecieth their returne after seventy yeeres. 16 He prophecieth the destruction of the king, and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem.

21 He threatneth the prophets that seduce the people.

32 The death of Shebanaiah is prophecied.

NOW these are the words of the booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were caried away captiues, & to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel,

2 (After that Ieconiah the King, and y Queene, and the Eunuches, the princes of Iudah and of Ierusalem, and the workmen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem.)

3 By the hand of Elaiah the sonne of Shaphan, and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hosts the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whome I haue caused to bee caried away captiues from Ierusalem to Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

6 Take you wiues & beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperity of the city, whither I haue caused you to bee caried away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your soothsayers that be among you, deceiue you, neither giue care to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophecie you a lie in my name: I haue not sent them, faith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I haue thought toward you, faith the Lord, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shall you crie vnto me, and ye shall go and pray vnto me, and I will heare you.

13 And ye shall seeke me, and find me, because ye shall seeke me with all your heart.

14 And I will bee found of you, faith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, & from all the places, whither I haue cast you, faith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caried away captiue.

15 ¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hath raised vs vp Prophets in Babel, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the king, that sitteth vpon the throne of David, and of all the people that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will send vpon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figs, that cannot be eaten, they are so naughty.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terrour to all kingdomes of the earth, and a curse, and astonishment, and an hissing, and and a reproch amongst all the nations whither I have cast them,

19 Because they haue not heard my words,saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, but ye would not heare,saith the Lord.

20 ¶ Hearc yee therefore the word of the Lord, all ye of the captiuitie whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, & of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophetic lies vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lorde make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, whome the king of Babel burnt in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed villeny in Israel, and haue committed adultery with their neighbours wiuues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commaunded them, euen I know it, and testifie it,saith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying. Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying, 26 The Lord hath made thee Priest for Iehoiada the Priest, that ye should be officers in the house of the Lorde, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a prophet to put him in prison, and in the stocks.

27 Now therefore why hast thou not reprooued Jeremiah of Anathoth, which prophesieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Jeremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31 Send to all the of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophesied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will visit Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: he shall not haue a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he behold the good, that I will do for my people,saith the Lord, because hee hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 Hee smiteth the enemies, 18 & comforteth the Church.

The word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes that I haue spoken vnto thee, in a booke.

3 For lo, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, sayth the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Again, these are the wordes that the Lorde spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a terrible voice of feare, and not of peace.

6 Demaund now, and beholde, if man trauell with child? wherefore do I beholde euery man with his hands on his loines as a woman in trauell, and all faces are turned into a palenesse?

7 Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that day,saith the Lord of hosts, I will breake his yoke off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serue themselves of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and Dauid their king, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iaakob, saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre country, & thy seed from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperity, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee,saith the Lord, to saue thee: though I vterly destroy al the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet I will not vterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not vterly cut thee off.

12 For thus sayth the Lorde, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to indge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seek thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wound of an enemy, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy finnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorrow is incurable for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy finnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall go into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shall be spoyled, and all they that rob thee, will I giue to be robbed.

17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds,saith the Lord, because they called thee, The castaway, saying, This is Zion whom no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tents, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the city shall be builded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

19 And out of them shall proceed thanksgiving, and the voice of them that are ioyous, and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few: I will also glorie them, and they shall not be diminished.

20 Their children also shall be as aforetime: and their congregation shall be established before mee: and I will visit all that vexed them.

21 And their noble ruler shall be of themselves, and their gouernour shall proceed from the mids of them, and I will cause him to draw neere & approach vnto me: for who is this that directeth his heart to come vnto me,saith the Lord?

22 And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

23 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlwind that hangeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne untill he haue done, and vntill hee haue performed the the intents of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

C H A P. XXXI.

1 He rebuisseth Gods brentis after their returne from Babylon, 23 and the spirituall ioy of the faithfull in the Church.

AT the same time, saith the Lord, will I bee the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall bee my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sword, found grace in the wilderness: hee walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me of old, say they: Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerslasting Ioue, therefore with mercy I haue drawn thee.

4 Againe, I will build thee, and thou shalt bee builded, O virgin Israel: thou shalt still be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of Samaria: & the planters that plant them, shall make them common.

6 For the daies shall come, that the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, and let vs goe vp vnto Zion vnto the Lord our God.

7 For saith the Lorde, Reioyce with gladnes for Iakob, and shout for ioy among the chiefe of the Gentiles: publish praise, & say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Beholde, I will bring them from the North country, and gather them from the coastes of the world, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is deliuered also: a great company shall returne hither.

9 They shall come weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riuers of water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first borne.

10 ¶ Heare the word of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the Illes asfarre off, and say, Hee that scattered Israel, will gather him, & will keepe him as a shepheard doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iakob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come and reioice: in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifulnes of the Lord, euē for the wheate and for the wine and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe, and bullocks: and their soule shall be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorow.

13 Then shall the virgine reioyce in the dance, and the young men and the olde men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorrowes.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with fatnesse, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodnes, saith the Lord.

15 Thus sayeth the Lord, A voyce was heard on high, a mourning & bitter weeping, Rahel weeping for her children, refused to bee comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, & they shall come againe from the land of the enemy:

17 And there is hope in thine ende, sayeth the Lorde, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, & I was chastised as an vtamed calfe: conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euē confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my deare son or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I still remembered him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp signes: make thee heaps: set thine heart toward the path and way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel, turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a newe thing in the earth: A woman shall compass a man.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, & in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captivity, The Lord blesse thee, O habitation of iustice, and holy Mountaine.

24 And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husband men, and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue satiate the weary soule, and I haue replenished euery sorowfull soule.

26 Therefore I awaked, & beheld, and my sleepe was sweet vnto me.

27 Behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah with the seede of man, and with the seede of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to root out, & to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a foure grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquity: euery man that eateth the sowe grape, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will make a newe couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they brake, although I was I an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall be the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

34 And they shall teach no more euery man his neighbor, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquity, and wil remember their finnes no more.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the Sunne for a light to the day, & the courses of the moone, and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hosts.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus sayth the Lord, If the heauens can be made measured, or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that the cite shall be built to the Lord, from the tower of Hanameel vnto the gate of the corner.

36 And the line of the measure shall go forth in his presence vpon the hill Gareb, and shal compasse about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, & of the ashes, & all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horse gate toward the East, shall be holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

CHAP. XXXII.

Jeremiah is cast into prison, because hee prophesied that the cite should bee taken of the King of Babylon. 7 Hee sheweth, that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came vnto Jeremiah of the Lord, in the tenth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Iudahs house.

3 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesy, & say, Thus saith the Lord. Behold, I will giue this city into the hands of the king of Babel, and he shall take it?

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shal surely be deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face.

5 And he shall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be vntill I visite him, saith the Lord: though yee fight with the Caldeans, yet shall not prosper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Behold, Hanameel the sonne of Shallum thine vnckle, shall come vnto thee, and say, Buy vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for the stile by kindred appertaineth vnto thee to buy it.

8 So Hanameel mine vnckles sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said vnto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, & the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vnckles sonne that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, even seven shekels, and ten pieces of siluer.

10 And I writ it in the booke, and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the ballances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed according to the Law, and custome, with the booke that was open.

12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah in the sight of Hanameel mine vnckle, and in the presence of the witnesses written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, even this booke of possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses, and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession, vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, 17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee.

18 ¶ Thou shewest mercy vnto thousands, & recompenseth the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their children after them. O God the great and mighty, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,

19 Great in counsell, and mighty in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sons of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his workes)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as among men, and hast made thee a Name, as among men this day,

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, even a land that floweth with milke and honie,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Behold, the mounts, they are come into the cite to take it, and the cite is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by means of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast said vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the cite shall be giuen into thy hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

27 Behold, I am the Lord God of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this city into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel, and he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this city, and set fire on this city, and burne it with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before mee from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked mee to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this cite hath bene vnto me as a procurator of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, even vnto this day, that I should remooue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euil of the children of Israel, & of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke me to anger, even they, their kings, their princes, their priests, & their prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto me the back, and not the face: though I taught them, rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine, 34 But they set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name was called to defile it.

35 And they build the hie places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to cause their sons and their daughters to passe thorow the fire vnto Molech, which I commaunded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now therefore thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shall be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 *Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they shalbe * my people, and I will bee their God.

39 And I wil giue them one heart, and one way, that they may feare me for euer, for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to doe them good: but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will delight in them to doe them good, and I will plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule.

42 For thus saith  $\bar{y}$  Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shall be possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men shall buy fields for siluer, and make writings, and seale them, and take witness in the land of Benjamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, & in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, sayth the Lord.

C H A P. XXXIII.

1 The Prophet admonished of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promised.

3 God forgiueth finnes for his owne glory. 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The kingdom of Christ in the Church shall neuer be ended.

Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah  $\bar{y}$  second time (while he was yet shut vp in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I will answere thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the mounts, and by the sword.

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselves with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine anger, and in my wrath: for I haue hidde my face from this city, because of all their wickednesse.

6 ¶ Behold, I will giue it health and amendment, for I will cure them, and will reueale vnto them the abundance of peace, and truth.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah, and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will cleanse them from all their iniquity, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shalbe to me a name, a ioy, a praise, & an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare and tremble for all the goodnesse, and for all the wealth that I shew vnto this citie.

10 Thus saith the Lord, Againe there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shall be desolate, without man, and without beast, even in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voice of ioy, and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrome, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that shall say, Praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercy endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the house of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place which is desolate, without man, and without beast, & in all the cities thereof, there shalbe dwelling for shepheards to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah (shall the sheepe passe againe vnder the hand of him  $\bar{y}$  telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will performe that good thing which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

15 In those dayes, and at that time will I cause the branch of righteousness to grow vp vnto Dauid, and hee shall execute iudgement and righteousness in the land.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saved, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and he that shall call her, is the Lord our righteousness.

17 For thus saith the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, and to offer meat offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my Couenant of the day, & my Couenant of the night, that there should not bee day and night in their season,

21 Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, that hee should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priests my ministers.

22 As the armie of heaven cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seed of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites that minister vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what this people haue spoken, saying, The two families which the Lord hath chosen, he hath euen cast them off? thus they haue despised my people, that they should bee no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my Couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then will I cast away the seed of Iacob and Daud my seruant, and not take of his seed to bee rulers ouer the seed of Abraham, Izhak, and Iacob: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP XXXIIII.

2 He threatneth that the citie, and the king Zedekiah shall be given into the hands of the king of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their crueltie toward their seruants.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord (when Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and all his host, and all the kindomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, add all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

3 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, *I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee shall burne it with fire,

4 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely bee taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall beholde the face of the King of Babel, and he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

5 Yet heare the word of the Lord O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword.

6 But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee: and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh Lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

7 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem.

8 (When the king of Babels host fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

9 This is the word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people which were at Ierusalem, to proclaim libertie vnto them,

10 That euery man should let his seruant goe free, and euery man his handmaide, which was an Ebrew or an Ebrewesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, so was, of a few his brother.

11 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, & euery one his handmaide, and that none should serue themselves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

12 But afterward they repented, and caused the seruants and the handmaids, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants and handmaids.

13 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of I servants, saying,

15 *At the terme of seven yeres let ye go euery man his brother an Ebrew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee six yeres, thou shalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

16 And ye were now turned and had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in the house whereupon my Name is called.

17 But ye repented and polluted my Name: for yee haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaide, whom yee had set at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and hold them in subiection to bee vnto you as seruants, and as handmaids.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Yee haue not obeyed me in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I will proclaim a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kindomes of the earth.

19 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before mee, when they cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betwene the parts thereof:

20 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed between the parts of the calfe, 21 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: their dead bodies shall be for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

22 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the King of Babels host, which are gone vp from you.

23 Behold, I will command, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

Hee propheseth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

THe word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying,

2 Goe vnto the house of the Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, & giue them wine to drinke.

3 Then tooke I Iazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes and the whole house of the Rechabites.

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaiah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah, the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and said vnto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they said, Wee will drinke no wine: for Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

7 Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seed, nor plant

plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tents, that yee may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voice of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, & we drinke no wine all our daies, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build wee houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor feed.

10 But wee haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hofte of the Caldeans, and from the hofte of Aram: so we dwell at Ierusalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Go, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, that he comanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none: but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising early, and speaking, but yee would not obey me.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophetes, rising vp early, and sending them, saying, Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not alter other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but yee would not encline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab haue kept the commandement of their father which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answer.

18 And Ieremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man to stand before me for euer.

C H A P. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah enditeth the Booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 2 Hee is sent with the bookes to the people, & readeth it before them all. 3 He is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 4 The king casteth it in the fire. 5 There is another written at the commandements of the Lord.

And in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, even from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all y<sup>e</sup> euill which I determined to do vnto them, that they may return euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their finnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, & Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.

6 Therefore go thou, and read the roule wherein thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lodes house vpon the fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they wil pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger, and the wrath that the Lord hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the words of the Lord in the Lodes house.

9 And in the fifth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the son of Shaphan the secretary, in the higher court at the entry of the new gate of the Lodes house in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan, had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then he went downe to the kings house into the chancellors chamber, and lo, all the princes were there, even Eliham the chancellor, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the son of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the son of Nethaniah the sonne of Shelemiah the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they said vnto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that wee may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were afraide both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the king of all these wordes.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how diddest thou write all these wordes at his month?

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his month, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Baruch, Go, hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, & let no man know where yee be.

20 And they went in to the King to the court, but they layed vp the roule in the chamber of Eliham the chancellour, and tolde the King all the wordes that he might heare.

21 So the king sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he he tooke it out of Elifhama the chancellors chamber, and Iebudi read it in the audience of the king and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the King.

22 Now the king sate in the Winter house, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure sides, hee cut it with the penknife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntill all the rolle was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor reat their garments, neither the King nor any of his seruants, that heard all these words.

25 Neuertheles, Elnathan, and Delaiah and Gemariah had besought the King that hee would not burne the rolle: but he would not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeel the son of Hammelech, and Saraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the Scribe, and Ieremiah the prophet, but the Lord hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the rolle and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying, 28 Take thee againe another rolle, and write in it all the former words that were in the first rolle, which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this rolle, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, He shall haue none to sit vpon the throne of David, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visit him and his seed, and his seruants for their iniquity, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another rolle, and gaue it Baruch the Scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeded Iecomiab. 3 Hee sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten, and put in prison.

1 And King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel made King in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lord, which hee spake by the ¶ ministration of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Iebucal the son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the priest, to the prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

5 Then Pharaohs host was come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans ¶ besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they ¶ departed from Ierusalem) ¶ Ebr.

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the King of Iudah, that I sent you vnto me to enquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs host which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it, and burne it with fire.

9 Thus saith the Lord, ¶ Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart. not liſt not vp your minde.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole host of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the host of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the land of Benjamin, separating himselſe thence from among the people.

13 And when hee was in the gate of Benjamin, there was a chiefe Officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou flectest to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but hee would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the prisons.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and layd him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the Scribe: for they had made that the prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah said, Yea: for said he, Thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreover, Ieremiah said vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that yee haue put me in prison?

19 ¶ Where are now your prophets, which prophesied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land? Cba. 28. 4

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the King: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou canſt mee not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the Scribe, lest I die there. Ebr. ſalt.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commaunded that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers streete, vntill all the bread in the city were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers, Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech, the King commaundeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King how hee might escape death.

1 Hen Shephatiah the son of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Hee that remaineth in this citie shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth forth to the Caldeans shall liue: for hee shall haue his life for a pray, and shall liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

*Or, discourage-
ment.*

4 Therefore the princes said vnto the King, We beseech you let this man be put to death: for thus he weakeneth the hands of the men of warre that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such words vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold hee is in your hands, for the king can deny you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hanimelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water, but mire: so Ieremiah sticke fast in the mire.

*Ab. Cu-

7 Now when Ebed-melech the blacke More, one of the Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon, (then the King sate in the gate of Benjamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, these men haue done euill in al that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

*Ebr. vn-

10 Then the King commaunded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take from hence thirtie men with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the house of the King vnder the treasure, and tooke there old rotten rags, & old worne clouts, and let them downe by cords into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More said vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten rags and worne, vnder thine arme holes, between the cords: And Ieremiah did so.

13 So they drew vp Ieremiah with cords, and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

14 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him into the third entry that is in the house of the Lord, and the King sayd vnto Ieremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiah sent to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt thou not slay mee? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth that made vs these foules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the handes of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then said Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt go forth vnto the King of Babels princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the King said vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer me into their hands, and they mocke me.

20 But Ieremiah said, They shal not deliuer thee, hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it bee well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And behold, all the women that are left in the King of Iudahs house shall be brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preailed against thee: thy feet are fastened in the mire, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt bee taken by the hand of the King of Babel, and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire.

24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the King said vnto thee, 26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the King, that he would not cause me to returne to Ichonathans house, to die there.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah, and asked him. And he told them according to all these words that the King had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntil the day that Ierusalem was taken: and he was there when Ierusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Ieremiah is provided for. 15 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captiuitie. 19 The ninth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel and al his host, against Ierusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yere of Zedekiah, in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the month, the citie was broken vp.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, even Neregal, Sharezer, Shamgar-nebo, Sarfecchim, Rabfarris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rabmag, with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the King of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, thorow the Kings garden, and by the gate betweene the two walls, and he went toward the wilderness.

5 But the Caldeans host pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Riblah into the land of Hamath, where hee gaue iudgement vpon him.

6 Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the King of Babel slew all the Nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreover, hee put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to carie him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people, with fire, and brake down the wals of Ierusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward carried away captiue into Babylon the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fields at the same time.

11 Now Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah † vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying, 12 Take him, and † looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him euens as hee shall say vnto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rab-saris, and Neregal, Sharezer, Rabmag, and all the King of Babels prince:

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should carie him home: so hee dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shall bee accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in mee, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath license to goe whither hee will. 6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue into Babel.

3 And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath prouounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loofe thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babel, I carie still: behold, all the land is before thee: whether it seemeth good and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he said Returne to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him viuals, and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captains of the host, which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan † fware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the King of Babel, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for mee, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah to † serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and Summer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that hee had set ouer them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, & gathered wine and Summer fruites, very much.

13 Moreover, Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that Babels the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeueth them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes which are gathered vnto thee should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmael.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah quietly and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BVt in the seuenth moneth came Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elihama, of the seed royall, & the priuces of the King, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the son of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eate bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with offerings and incense in their hands, to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, hee said vnto them, Come to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the mids of the citie, Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the mids of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But tenne men were found among them that said vnto Iſhmael, Slay vs not: for wee haue treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, & of oyle, and of honie: so hee stayd, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Iſhmael had cast the dead bodies of the men, whom hee had slaine because of Gedaliah, is it, which Asa the King had made because of Baſha King of Israel, and Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Iſhmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euil that Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah, & found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Iſhmael caried away captiue, saw Iohanan the son of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people that Iſhmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned & came again, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the son of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Iſhmael the son of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that hee had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth-Chinham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them because Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counsell of Jeremiah, what they ought to doe. 7 Hee admonisheth the remuans of the people not to goe into Egypt.

Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoſhaiah, and all the people, from the least vnto the most, came,

2 And said vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, Hear our prayer, we beseech thee, & pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may doe.

4 Then Jeremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God, according to your words, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answer you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they said to Jeremiah, The Lord bee a witnesse of truth and faith betwene vs, if we doe net euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euil, we will obey the voice of the Lord God, to whom we send thee, that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah.

8 Then called he Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste which were with him, and all the people, from the least to the most,

9 And said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent mee to present your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent mee of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand, 12 And I will grant you mercy, that hee may haue compassion vpon you, and hee shall cause you to dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voice of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall fee no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt and goe to dwell there)

16 Then the sword that you feared, shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine, nor escape from the plague that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bin powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch, and ye shall see this place no more.

19 O yee remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Go not into Egypt: know certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent mee vnto you.

22 Now therefore know certainly, that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither yee desire to goe and dwell.

C H A P. XLIIII.

Johnan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. & Ieremiah prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

NOW when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, even all these wordes,

2 Then spake Azariah the sonne of Holhaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the proud men, saying vnto Ieremiah, Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans that they may slay vs, and cary vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all nations, whither they had bene driuen to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Even men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and euery person that Nebuzaradan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikain, the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand and hide them in the clay in the bricke kiln, which is at the entry of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will send & bring Nebuchad-rezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his pavilion ouer them.

11 And when he shall come hee shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them, and carie them away captiues, and he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 He shall breake also the images of Bethshemesh, that is in the land of Egypt: & the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

C H A P. XLIIII.

He reproveth the people for their idolatry. 15 They thus fight by the threatening of the Lord are chastised. 26 The destruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therein is prophesied.

THE word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Yee haue scene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein.

3 Because of their wickednesse which they haue committed to prouoke mee to anger, in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whome they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare, to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore my wrath and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeares this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Wherefore committe ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that you prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither yee be gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that yee might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue you forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednesse, and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my Law, nor in my statutes, that I set before you & before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you to euill and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall enue bee consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall bee a desolation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah, to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne but such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

CHAP. XLV.

2 Jeremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that he should not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

THe word that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when he had written these wordes in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou diddest say, Woe is mee now: for the Lord hath laid sorow vnto my sorow: I fainted in my mourning, and I can find no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord faith thus, Behold, that which I haue built will I destroy, and that which I haue planted will I plucke vp, & euē this whole land.

5 And seekest thou great things for thy selfe? seeke them not: for behold, I will bring a plague vpon all flesh, sayth the Lord: but thy liue will I giue thee for a pray in all places whither thou goest.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 He propheseth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Diuinecance is promised to Israel.

THe wordes of the Lord which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the Gentiles,

2 As against Egypt, against the armie of Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the riuer, Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel smote in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah.

3 Make ready bucklen, and shield, and go forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your sallets, fourbith the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare am round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this that commeth vp, as a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and he faith, I will goe vp, and will couer the earth: I will destroy the city with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp yee horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come forth, the blacke Moores, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hosts, and a day of vengeance that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall denoure, & it shall be satiate, and made dranke with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath a sacrifice in the North cuntry by the riuer Perath.

11 Go vp vnto Gilead, and take balme, O virgin the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy crye hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong, and they are fallen both together.

13 ¶ The word that the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel should come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Publish in Egypt, and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, & in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, the name of the Lord, we will not heare it of thee.

17 But we will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drink offrings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our kings & our princes in the cities of Iudah, and † Ebr. we were satiate with bread. in the streets of Ierusalem: for then † had we plenty of vitales, and were well, and † felt none euill.

¶ Or, saw. 18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, & to powre out drink offrings vnto her, we haue had † scarcenes of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

¶ Or, so appease her. 19 And when we burnt incense to the Queene of heauen, & powred out drinke offrings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, & powre out drinke offrings vnto her, without our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that auisere, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that ye burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, both you and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, and † hath he not considered it?

† Ebr. it is not come vp into his heart? 22 So that the Lord could no longer forbear because of the wickednesse of your inuentions, and because of the abominations which yee haue committed: therefore is your land desolate, and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense, and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreover, Ieremiah said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We will performe our vowes, that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her: yee will performe your vowes, and doe the things that yee haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt, Behold, I haue sworn by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.

27 Behold, I will watch ouer them for euill, and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntill they be vterly destroyed.

28 Yet a smal number that escape the sword shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah, that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall bee a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visit you in this place, that yee may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah king of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel his enemy, who also fought his life.

kill, and prepare thee: for the sword shall deuoure round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did driue them.

16 He made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they said, Arise, let vs goe againe to our owne people, and to the land of our natiuitie from the sword of the violent.

17 They did cry there, Pharach king of Egypt, and of a great multitude hath passed the time appointed.

18 As I liue, sayth the King, whose name is the Lord of hosts, surely as Taber u in the mountains, and as Carmel u in the sea, so shall it come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shalbe waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt u like a faire calfe, but destruction cometh: out of the North it cometh.

21 Also her hired men are in the middes of her like fat calves: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation.

22 The voyce thereof shall goe forth like a serpent: for they shal march with an armie, and come against her with axes as hewers of wood.

23 They shall cut downe her forest, sayth the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are more then the grasshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shalbe confounded: she shall be deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

25 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the common people of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him, 26 And I will deliuer them into the handes of those that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, & into the hands of his seruants, and afterward the shall dwell as in the old time, saith the Lord.

27 ¶ But feare not thou, O my seruant Iakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy feede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iakob shall returne, and bee in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

28 Feare thou not, O Iakob my seruant, sayeth the Lord: for I am with thee, and I will utterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not utterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

C H A P. XLVII.

The word of the Lord against the Philistims.

The words of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote Azzah.

1 Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, waters rise vp out of the North, and shall be as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle.

2 At the noise and stamping of his strong border, at the noise of his charrets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: the fathers shal not looke backe to their children, for feeblenesse of hands,

3 Because of the day that cometh to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyus and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of Caphtor.

5 Baldnesse is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleys. How long wilt thou cut thy selfe?

6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long will it be or thou cease? turne againe into thy scabbard, rest and be still.

7 How can it cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

C H A P. XLVIII.

The word of the Lord against the Moabites, 26 Because of their pride and crueltie.

Concerning Moab, thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Woe vnto Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Milgah is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euill against it. Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, O Madmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voyce of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones haue caused their crye to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of Luhith the mourner shall go vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim the enemies haue heard a crye of destruction,

6 Flee and save your liues, and be like vnto the heath in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy workes, and in thy treasures, thou shalt also bee taken, and Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his priests and his princes together.

8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.

9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall bee desolate without any to dwell therein.

10 Cursed be he that doth the worke of the Lord negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood. [Or, de-ceitfully.]

11 Moab hath bene at rest from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not bene powered from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him, and his sent is not changed.

12 ¶ Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall cary him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence.

14 How thinke you thus, Wee are mighty and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, and his cities þ burnt vp, þ Eb. gone and his chofen young men are gone down to slaughter, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hosts.
vp, or destroyed.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his name, say, How is the strong state broken, and the beautifull rod!

18 Thou daughter that dost inhabit Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vp vpon thee, and and he shall destroy thy strong holds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and behold : aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done ?

20 Moab is confounded : for it is destroyed : howle and cry, tell yee it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste,

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine country, vpon Holon, and vpon Iahazai, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon,

24 And vpon Kiriath, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the land of Moab farre or neere.

25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord : Moab shall wallow in his vomite, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For diddest thou deride Israel, as though he had been found among theeues ? for when thou speakest of him, thou art moued.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 * Wee haue heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the haughtinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, but it shall not be so: and his dismulations: for they do not right.

31 Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab : mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer : thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer : the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, & vpon thy vintage, 33 And ioy, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull field, and from the land of Moab : and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepresse: none shall tread with shouting : their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the cite of Heshbon vnto Elaleh, and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noise : from Zoar vnto Horonaim the heifer of three yeeres old shall goe lowing : for the waters also of Nimrim shall be wasted.

35 Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a shawme, and mine heart shall sound like a shawme for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.

37 * For euery head shall be bald, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the hands shall be cuttings, and vpon the loines sackcloth.

38 And mourning shall be vpon all the house tops of Moab, and in all the streetes thereof : for I haue broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is he destroyed ! how hath Moab turned the backe with shame ! so shall Moab be a derision and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, he shall see as an Eagle, and shall spread his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are wonne, & the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

42 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 Feare, and pit, and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for I wil bring vpon it, vnto vpon Moab, the yere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fledde stood vnder the shadow of Heshbon, because of the force: for the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditions children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab : the people of Chemosh perisheth : for thy foannes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, saith the Lord. Thus saith the iudgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The word of the Lord against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Edom, Vnto the children of Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no foes ? Or hath he none heire ? Why then hath their King possessed Gad ? and his people dwell in his cities ?

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will cause a noife of warre to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire : then shall Israel possess those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted : cry yee daughters of Rabbah : gird you with sackcloth : mourne and run to and fro by the hedges: for their King shall goe into captiuitie, and his priests, and his princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the valleys : thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter : thou trustedst in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me ?

5 Behold, I will bring a feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shall be scattered euery man right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 * To Edom thus saith the Lord of hostes, Is wisdom no more in Teman ? Is counsell perished from their children ? Is their wisdom vanished ?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan (they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes ? If theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.

10 For I haue discovered Esau : I haue vncovered his secrets : and hee shall not be able to hide himselfe : his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, 11 Leaueth thy fatherlesse children, and I will preserve them a line, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou hee that shall escape free ? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworn by my selfe, saith the Lord, that Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

Or, shall be full, or slap his hands.

Isa. 16. 6.

Isa. 25.
2, 3. reb.
7. 18.
Or, shall be.

Kedar, and

14 I haue heard a rumor from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against her, and rise vp to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy feare, and the pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rock, and keepst the height of the hill: though thou shouldst make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, sayeth the Lord.

17 Also Edom shalbe desolate, euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the ouerthrow of Sodome and of Gomorrah, and the places therof neere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, he shal come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euene I will make him to halfe away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepheard that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsel of the Lord that hee hath denised against Edom, & his purpose that hee hath conceived against the inhabitants of Teman: surely he shal make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moued at the noyse of their fall: the cry of their voice is heard in the red sea.

22 Behold, he shal come vp and fly as the eagle, and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shal the heart of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

23 Vnto Damascus hee sayeth, Hamath is confounded, and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted, as one on the fearefull sea that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, & turneth herselfe to flight, and feare hath seized her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauell.

25 How is the glorious citie not reserved, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all her men of warre shalbe cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hostes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shal consume the palaces of Ben-hadad.

28 Vnto Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel shal smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and go vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flockes shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their curtains, and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall cry vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off: they haue consulted to dwell O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath taken counsel against you, and hath denised a purpose against you.

31 Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthy nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shall bee a booty, and the multitude of their cattell a spoyle, and I will scatter them into all winds, and to the vrmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for cuer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 The words of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah, saying, 35 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will breake the bowe of Elam, namely the chiefe of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure winds from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these winds, & there shalbe no nation, whither the fugitives of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seek their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euene the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword aiter them till I haue consumed them.

38 And I will set my throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the king and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

C H A P. L.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel which was in captiuitie.

The word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ministry of Ieremiah the Prophet.

† E b b m d

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standard, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Babel is confounded, Mero-dach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in peeces.

3 For out of the North there cometh vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein, they shall flee and depart, both man and beast.

4 In those dayes, & at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they goe, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall covenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their shepherds haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies said, Wee offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, euene the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 Flee from the mids of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be yee as the bee goats before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mighty nations from the North country, and they shall set themselves in aray against her, whereby the shalbe taken: their arrowes shalbe as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoile: all that spoile her shall be satisfied, saith the Lord.

11 Because yee were glad and reioycied in destroying mine heritage, and because yee are grown fat, as the calves in the grasse, and eyed like strong horses,

12 Therefore your mother shall be sore confounded, and she that bare you, shalbe ashamed: behold, the the vttermost of the nations shall be a desert, a drie land and a wilderness.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonied, and hisse at all her plagues.

Or, yeelded, or made peace.

14 Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bow, shoot at her, spare no arrows: for she hath sinned against the Lord.

15 Cry against her round about: shee hath giuen her haud: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy the sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sibe in the time of haruest. because of the sword of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall see euery one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lions haue disperfed them: first the king of Ashur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the king of Babel and his land, as I haue visited the king of Ashur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: hee shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soules shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, & they shall not be found: for I will be merciful vnto them whom I reterace.

*Sek. 23.
23.
Nor, of them that should be visited.*

21 Go vp against the land of the rebels, euem against it, and against the inhabitants * of I Pekod: destroy and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commaunded thee.

22 A crie of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken: how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in the land of the Caldeans.

† Eb. from the end.

26 Come againe her † from the vtmost border: open her storehouses: treade on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her bullocks: let them go down to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

28 The voyce of them that flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

Rev. 18. 6

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bowe, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done doe vnto her: for she hath bin proud against the Lord, euem against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of warre shall be destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Behold, I come vnto thee, O proud man, saith the Lord God of hostes: for the day is come, euem the time that I will visit thee.

32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, & none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were pressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, helde them, and would not let them goe.

34 But their strong redeemer, whose name is the Lord of hostes, hee shall maintaine their cause, that he may giue rest to the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sword is vpon the Caldeans, saith the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wisemen.

36 A sword is vpon the † soothsayers, and they shall dote: a sword is vpon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.

37 A sword is vpon their horses, and vpon their charrets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the mids of her, and they shall be like women: a sword is vpon her treasures, and they shall be spoiled.

38 A drought is vpon her waters, and they shall be dried vp: for it is the land of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idols.

39 Therefore the Ziims with the Iims shall dwell there, and † the ostriches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

40 As God destroyed * So lome and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 Behold, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation and many kings shall be raised vp from the coasts of the earth.

42 They shall hold the bow and the buckler: they are cruell and vnmmerciful: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: forow came vpon him, euem forow as of a woman in tranell.

44 Behold, hee * shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: 19. for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepherd that will stand before me?

45 Therefore heare the counsel of the Lord that he hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that he hath conceiued against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the stocke shall draw them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noise of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, and the crie is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vain confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanity of idolaters. 59 Tereniah giueth his booke to Seraiah.

Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel and against the inhabitants I will lift vp their heart against me, a destroying wind, and I will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, & shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble trouble they shall be against her on every side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her young men, but destroy all her hoste.

4 Thus the flaine shall fall in the lande of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust thorowe in her streets:

5 For Israel hath bene no widow, nor Indah from his God, from the Lord of hosts, though their land was filled with sinne against the holy One of Israel.

6 ¶ Flee out of the mids of Babel, and deliner every man his soule: bee not destroyed in her iniquity: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompense.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations rage:

Ysa. 11. 9. 8 * Babel is suddenly fallen and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We would haue cured Babel, but shee could not be healed: forsake her, and let vs go euery one vnto his owne country: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the clouds.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteousnesse: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather the shields: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the Standard vpon the wals of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the scouts for the Lord hath both deuided, and done that which hee spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come, even is the end of thy couetousnes.

14 The Lord of hosts hath sworn by him selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillars, and they shall cry and shout against thee.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 He giueth by his voice the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

17 Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery fonder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but fallshood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanitie and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

19 The portion of Iakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

20 Thou art mine hammer, & weapons of war: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horsemann, and by thee will I breake the charer, and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake old & yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maid.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepherd and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, & to all the inhabitants of y Caldeans at their euil, that they haue done in Zion, even in your sight, faith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, faith the Lord, which dost reioice all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt bee destroyed for euer, faith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among y nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, & Ashchenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause hostes to come vp as the rough caterpillars.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, & the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the deuice of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remained in their holds: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, & her bars are broken.

31 A post shall run to meet the post, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the king of Babel, that his city is taken on a side thereof, 32 And that the passages are stopped, & the reeds burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus faith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel: The daughter of Babel is like a threshing floor: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harvest shall come.

34 Nebuchad nezzar the king of Babel hath deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an empty vessel: hee swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, & hath cast me out.

35 The spoyle of me, and that which was left of mee, is brought vnto Babel, (shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, shall Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus faith the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springs.

37 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like lions, and yell as the lions whelps.

39 In their heate I will make them feastes, and I will make them drunken that they may reioice, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayth the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambs to the slaughter, and like rammes, and goats.

41 How is Sheshach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The sea is come vp vpon Babel: she is covered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, go out of the mids of her, and deliuer ye euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Left your heart euen faint, and yee feare the rumour, that shalbe heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yere, and after that in the other yere shall come a rumour, and cruelty in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visit the image of Babel, and the whole land shalbe confounded, and all her saine shal fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shal reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shal come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the slaine of Israel to fall: so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Yee that haue escaped the sword, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord as farre off, and let Ierusalem come into your mind.

51 We are confounded because we haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lordes house.

52 Wherefore behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and thorow all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to heauen, and though the should defend her strength on hie: yet from mee shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A sound of acrie commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans, 55 Because the Lord hath laid Babel waste, and destroyed from her the great voice, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noise.

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenseth, shall surely recompense.

57 And I will make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not awake, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hosts.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The thick wall of Babel shalbe broken, and her high gates shal be burnt with fire, and the people shall labor in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shalbe weary.

59 The word which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the son of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah into Babel, in the fourth yere of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the enill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah said to Sheraiah, When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these words, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an end of reading this booke, thou shalt bind a stone to it, and cast it in the mids of Euphrates,

64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned, and shall not rise from the euil that I will bring vpon her: and they shall be weary. Thus saith the words of Ieremiah.

C H A P. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The city is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison, and fed like a king.

Zedekiah was one and twenty yere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euill in the eyes of the Lorde, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had cast them out of his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel.

4 But in the ninth yere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, he & all his host against Ierusalem and pitched against it, and built forts against it, round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was fore in the city, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the city round about) and they went by the way of the wilder nesse.

8 But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the King, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king, and caried him vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then hee put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 Now in the fifth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yere of the king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward, which stood before the King of Babel in Ierusalem, 13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake down all the walles of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the city, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land to dresse the vines and to till the land.

17 Also the pillars of brasse were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, and the brazen sea, that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse thereof to Babel.

18 The pots also and the besoms, and the instruments ments of musicke, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasle wherewith they ministred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the alhans, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, & the cups, and all that was of gold, and that was of siluer tooke the chiefe steward away.

20 With the two pillars, one sea, and twelue brassen bulles that were vnder y<sup>e</sup> bases, which king Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasle of all these vessels was without weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubits, and a threed of twelue cubits did compasse it, and the thicknesse thereof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapter of brasle was vpon it, and the height of one chapter was siue cubits with networke, and pomegranats vpon the chapters round about, all of brasle: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninety and six pomegranats on a side, and all the pomegranates vpon the networke were an hundred round about.

24 And the chiefe steward tooke Sheratah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 Hee tooke also out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the ouersight of the men of warre, and seven men that were in the kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captain of the hoste, who mulcted the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the city.

26 Nebuzar-adan y<sup>e</sup> chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue in the seuenth yere, even three thousand Iewes, and three and twentie.

29 In the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar he caried away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundred thirtie and two persons.

30 In the three and twentieth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue of the Iewes seven hundred fortie and siue persons, all the persons was foure thousand and six hundred.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, in y<sup>e</sup> twelfth month, in the siue and twentieth day of the month, Euil-merodach king of Babel in the first yere of his reigne, lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, and brought him out of prison,

32 And spake kindly vnto him, & set his throne about the throne of the kings that were with him in Babel, 33 And changed his prison garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion was a continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, every day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntill he died.

CLAMENTATIONS.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, & sheweth that they are plagued because of their finnes. The first and second chapters be euery verse according to the letters of the Hebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

How doeth the citie remaine solitarie that was full of people: she is as a widow: shee that was great among the nations, and princeesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

2 Shee weepeth continually in the night, and her teares runne downe by her cheekes: among all her loners, shee hath none to comfort her, all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue because of affliction, and because of great seruitude: shee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straits.

4 The wayes of Zion lament, because no man cometh to the solemne feasts: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh, her virgins are discomfited, and she is in heavinesse.

5 Her aduersaries are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become like harts that finde no pasture: and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Ierusalem remembered the dayes of her affliction and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that she had in times past, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries saw her, and did mocke at her Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore she is in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backward.

9 Her filthinesse is in her skirts: shee remembereth her last end: therefore shee came downe wonderfully: shee had no comfort: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemy is proud.

10 The enemy hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for shee hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuary, whom thou didst commaund that they should not enter into the Church.

11 All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meat to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, al ye that passe by this way: behold and see if there be any sorow like into my sorow which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboute hath he sent fire into my bones which preuaileth against them: he hath spread a net for my feet, and turned me backe, he hath made me desolate, and daily in heavinesse.

14 The yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand, they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered mee into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foot all my valiant men in the mids of me: he hath called an assembly against mee to destroy my young men: the Lord hath troden the winepresse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 * For these things I weep, mine eye, even mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy prevailed.

17 Zion stretcheth out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iakob round about him. Ierusalem is as a menstruous woman in the mids of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his † commandment: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceived me: my Priestes and mine Elders perished in the citie, whiles they fought their meate to refresh their soules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me: for I am full of heavinesse: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou hast pronounced, and they shall be like unto me.

22 Let all their wickednesse come before thee: I doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, & mine heart is heauie.

C H A P. II.

How hath the Lord darkened y<sup>e</sup> daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast down from heauen vnto the earth the beauty of Irael, & remembered not his footstool in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all y<sup>e</sup> habitations of Iakob & not spared, he hath thrown down in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: hee hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the home of Irael, he hath drawn back his right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Iakob like a flame of fire which deuoured round about.

4 Hee hath bent his bow like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduerfarye, and slewe all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: hee hath deuoured Irael, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holds, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to bee forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his Altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuary: hee hath giuen into the hand of the enemy the wallles of her palaces: they haue made a noyse in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a line: hee hath not withdrawn his hand from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: hee hath destroyed and broken her barres: her king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more: neither can her Prophets receiue any vision from the Lord.

Dr. 24-ber them like grapes.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heads: they haue girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings swoone in the streetes of the citie.

12 They haue said to their mothers, Where is † bread and drinke? when they swooned as the † Ebr. wounded in the streetes of the citie, and when they gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome.

13 What thing shall I take to witness for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 The prophets haue looked out vaine & foolish things for thee, and they haue not discovered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false † prophesies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we haue found and seene it.

17 * The Lord hath done that which hee had purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that hee had determined of old time: he hath thrown downe and not spared: he hath caused thine enemy to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart * cried vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares ruine downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of y<sup>e</sup> Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes.

20 Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruit, and children of a y<sup>e</sup> spanne long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The yong and the olde lie on the ground in y<sup>e</sup> streetes: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my teares round about, so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemy consumed.

C H A P. III.

I Am the man that hath seene affliction in the red of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkness, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against me: hee turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skin hath he caused to waste old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 Hee

6 Hee hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath ledged about mee, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crie and shout, hee shutteth out my prayer.

9 Hee hath stopped vp my wayes with hewen stones, and turned away my pathes.

10 He was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

11 Hee hath stopped my wayes, and pulled mee in peeces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow, and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused the arrowes of his quier to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision vnto all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternesse, and made me drunken with wormewood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with althes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie.

18 And I said, my strength and mine hope is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembre mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lords meries that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The Lord is my portion, faith my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust and to waite for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that hee beare the yoke in his youth.

28 He sitteth alone and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

29 Hee putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 Hee giueth his cheek to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for euer.

32 But though hee send affliction, yet will hee haue compassion according to the multitude of his meries.

33 For he doth not punish willingly, nor afflict the children of men,

34 In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth,

35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High, 36 In subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord seeth it not.

37 Who is hee then that seeth, and it commeth to passe, and the Lord commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the liuing man forsworld? man suffereth for his sinne.

40 Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp our hearts with our hands vnto God in the heauens.

42 We haue sinned and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared.

44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe thorow.

45 Thou hast made vs as the * offscouring and refuse in the mids of the people. 1. Cor. 4. 13.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.

47 Feare and asnare is come vpon vs with desolation and destruction.

48 Mine eye casteth out riuers of water for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without stay, and ceaseth not,

50 Til the Lord looke downe, and behold from heauen.

51 Mine eye breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my cite.

52 Mine enemies chased me fore like a birde, without cause.

53 They haue shut vp my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer my head, then thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voice, stoppe not thine eare from my sigh, and from my crie.

57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saidest, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my soule, and hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuiCES against me.

61 Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their inuaginations against me:

62 The lips also of those that rose against mee, and their whispering against me continually.

63 Behold their sitting downe, and their rising vp, how I am their song.

64 * Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their hands. Psal. 138. 4.

5 Giue them sorrow of heart, euen thy curse to them. 10r. an obsequie hearts.

66 Persecute with wrath, and destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

7 Her *Nazarites were purer then the snow, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddie in bodie then the red precious stones: they were like polished saphir.

8 Now their visage is blacker then a cole: they cannot know them in the streetes: their skin clea- weth to their bones: it is withered like a stocke.

9 They that be slaine with the sword, are bet- ter then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away, as they were stricken thorow for the fruites of the field.

10 The handes of the pitifull women haue fod- den their owne children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignati- on, he hath powred out his fierce wrath, hee hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and al the inhabitants of the world would not haue belceued that the ad- versarie and enemy should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

13 For the sinnes of her Prophets, and the in- iquities of her priests, that haue sined the blood of the iust in the mids of her.

14 They haue wandered as blinde men in the streets, and they were polluted with blood, so that they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cried vnto them, Depart, ye pollu- ted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue said among the hearthen, They shall no more dwell there.

Or, face.

16 The danger of the Lord hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: they reuerenced not the face of the Priests, nor had compassion of the Elders.

17 Whiles wee waited for our vaine help, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a na- tion that could not saue vs.

18 They hunt our steps that wee cannot goe in our streets, our end is neere, our daies are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the eagles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the moun- taines, and laid wait for vs in the wilderness.

20 The breath of our nostrils, the Anointed of the Lord, was taken in their nets, of whom we said, Vnder his shadow wee shall be preferred aliue a- mong the hearthen.

row vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken [and vomit].

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, O daugh- ter Zion: he will no more cary thee away into cap- tivity, but he will visit thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he will discouer thy sinnes.

The prayer of Ieremias.

R Emember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: con- sider, and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our hooues to the alians.

3 We are, fatherlesse, enen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 Wee haue drunke our water for money, and our wood is sold vnto vs.

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: wee are wearie, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our hands to the Egyptians, and to Asihur, to be satished with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would sa- liue vs out of their hands.

9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword of the wilderness.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen, because of the terrible famine.

11 They desiled the women in Zion, and the maides in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children sell vnder the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the gate, and the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: woe now vnto vs that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our eyes are dimme, 18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for euer: thy Throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore dost thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?

21 Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and wee shalbe turned: renew our dayes, as of old.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

¶ THE ARGVMENT.

A fter that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremias and Ezekiel had yielded himselfe to Nebuchad- nezzer, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, at that time began to repent, and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should bee still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason wherof he comforted his former prophesies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the cite should most certainly bee destroyed, and the people grievously tormented by Gods plagues, in so much that they shalbe brought into cruel bondage. And lest the quail should dispaire in these great troubles, he assured them that God will dehuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies, which eir- ther afflicted them, or reioiced in their miseries. The effect of the one, and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glorie of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. Hse prophesied these things in Caldeas, at the same time that Ieremias prophesied in Iudah, and soere began in the first yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel prophesied, and in what place. 3 His kiured. 4 The vision of the foure beasts. 26 The vision of the Throne.

ET came to passe in the thirtieth yeere, in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I saw visions of God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fiftiyeere of King Ichoiachins captiuitie)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest the sonne of Buzi in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a whirlewind came out of the North, a great cloud, and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the mids thereof, so was, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenesse of amber.

5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likenesse of foure beasts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feet were straight feet, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calves foot, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasie.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces and their wings.

9 They were ioyned by their wings one to another, when they went forth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as the face of man: and they foure had the face of a Lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out about two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beasts, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ranne and returned like vnto lightning.

15 Now as I beheld the beasts, behold a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The fashion of the wheelles, and their worke was like vnto a chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went:

18 They had also j rings, and height, and were farside to behold: and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheelles went with them: and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheelles were lifted vp.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheelles lead them, and the wheelles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beast was in the wheelles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheelles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheelles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beasts was wonderfull like vnto chrystall spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which couered them, and euery one had two, which couered their bodies.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noise of their wings, like the noise of great waters, and as the voice of the Almighty, even the voice of speech as the noise of an hoste: and when they stood, they let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And about the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to looke to, even from his loines downward I saw as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe that is in the cloud in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell vpon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their error.

And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feet, and I will speake vnto thee.

2 And the spirit entred into mee, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feet, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Son of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against mee: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, even vnto this very day.

4 For they are fimpudent children & stiffe hearted: I doe send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say of face vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither indeed will they cease: for they are a rebellious house, yet shall they know that there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels and thornes be with thee, and thou remainst with scorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: bee not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eat that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, an hand was sent vnto me, and loe, a roll of a booke was therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

C H A P. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true Ministers.

Moreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: eate this roule, and goe and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweet as hony.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

El deef 5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknown tongue, or of a heard language, up, but to the house of Israel.

6 Not to many people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language whose words thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiff hearted, 8 Behold, I haue made thy face strong against their faces, & thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their looks: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, and speak vnto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease.

12 Then the Spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noyse of a great rushing, saying, Blessed bee the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beasts that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I went in bitterness, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tel-abib that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they fate, and remained there astonied among them seuen dayes.

16 And at the end of seuen dayes the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shal lay vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou guest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and hee turne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, hee shal die in his iniquitie: but thou hast deliuered thy soule,

20 Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and hee shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: hee shal die in his sinne, and his righteous deeds which he hath done shall not bee remembered: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that hee doeth not sinne, hee shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the hand of the Lord was there vpon mee, and he said vnto mee, Arise, and goe into the field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the field, behold, the glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which set me vp vpon my feete, and spake vnto mee, and said to mee, Come, and shut thy selfe within thine house.

25 But thou, O sonne of man, behold, they shall put bands vpon thee, and shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not goe out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue cleaue to the roofof thy mouth, that thou shalt bee dumbe, and shalt not bee to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, & thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueth off, let him leaue: for they are a rebellious house.

C H A P. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophesied to come.

Thou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke and lay it before thee, and portray vpon it the citie euen Ierusalem.

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engines of warre against it round about.

3 Moreover take an yron panne, and set it for a wall of yron betwene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall bee a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleep thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue layd vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundredth and ninetie dayes, so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine arme shall be vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And behold, I will lay bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt also take vnto thee wheat, & barlie, and beanes, & lentils, and miller, and fitches, and put them in one vessel, & make thee bread thereof, according according to the number of the daies that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euē three hundredth and ninety dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meat whereof thou shalt eat, shall be by weight, euē twentie shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt also drinke water by measure, euē the sixt part of an hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it in the dung that commeth out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah Lord God, behold, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp euē vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he said vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullocks dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover, he said vnto me, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall bee astonished one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the haire, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

And thou sonne of man, take thee a sharp knife, or take thee a barbers razor, & cause it to passe vpon thine head, & vp on thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and diuide the haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the mids of the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, & thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part shalt thou scatter in the winde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and bind them in thy lap.

4 Then take of them againe, and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the mids of the nations, and countreys, that are round about her.

6 And shee hath changed my iudgements into wickednes more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreys, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, & ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue you kept my iudgements: no, yee haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I euē come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, euē in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the mids of thee the fathers shall eat their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgment in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely, because thou hast defiled my Sanctuary with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitié.

12 The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the mids of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee, and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be comforted, and they shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproch and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

16 When I shall send vpon them the euill arrowes of famine, which shall be for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will increase the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

17 * So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beasts, and they shall spoile thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe thorow thee, and I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

He sheweth that Ierusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatry. & He prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliurance.

Againe the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Son of man, Set thy face towards the *mount. taines of Israel, and prophesie against them,

3 And say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines, and to the hills, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Behold, I euē I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:

4 And your altars shall be desolate, & your images of the sunne shall be broken: and I will cast down your laime men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the hie places shall bee laid waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall be broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shall be cut in pieces, and your works shall be abolished.

7 And the laime shall fall in the middes of you, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered thorow the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you, shall remember me, among the nations where they shall be in captivity, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shall be displaced in themselves for the euils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not been in vaine, that I would doe this euill vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, Smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foote and say, Alas for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then ye shall know that I am the Lord, when their slaine men shall be among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the tops of the mountaines, & vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweet sauour to all their idoles.

14 So will I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste and desolate from the wilderness vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The ende of all the lande of Iffrael shall suddenly come.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, Thus saith the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Israel: The end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pite: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee, and thine abominations shall be in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, one euill, Or, be- hold, one euill

6 And end is come, the end is come, it watched for thee: behold, it is come.

7 The morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the founding againe of the mountaines.

8 Nowe I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pite, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall be in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the rod flourisheth: pride hath budded.

11 Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednes: none of them shall remaine, nor of the riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the buyer reioyce, nor let him that selleth mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For hee that selleth, shall not returne to that which is sold, although they were yet aliue, for the vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 They haue blowne the trumpet and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell, for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within, hee that is in the field, shall die with the sword, and hee that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the dones of the valleys, all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 All hands shall be weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

18 They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

19 They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their gold shall bee cast farre off: their siluer and their gold cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their soules neither fill their bowels: for their ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 He had also set the beauty of his ornament in maifestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the hands of strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to bee robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 Make a chaine: for the land is full of the iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of cruelty.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their holy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction cometh, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall be vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but I will not be heard from the Priest, and counsell from the ancient.

27 The king shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people in the land shall bee troubled: I will doe vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An appeerance of the similitude of God. 2 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 3 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

And in the sixth yere, in the sixth month, and in the fifth day of the month, as I sat in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sat before mee, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of fire, to looke to, from his loynes downward, and from his loynes upward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And he stretched out the likenes of an hand, and tooke me by a hairy locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betwene the earth & the heauen, and brought me by a diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner gate that lieth toward ward the North, where remained the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, according to the vision that I saw in the field.

5 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North and behold Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entry.

6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe, even the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuary: but yet turne thee, and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And hee caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said hee vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore.

9 And he said vnto me, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping things and abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall roundabout.

11 And there stood before them seventy men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the mids of them stood Iazaniah the son of Shaphan, with euery man his cenfer in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloud.

12 Then he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, Hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagery? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Again he said also vnto mee, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and beholde, there sate women mourning for Tammuz.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And hee caused mee to enter into the inner Court of the Lords house, and beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar were about fise and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they do here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke mee: and loe, they haue cast out stinkie before their noses.

18 Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pittie, and though they cry in mine eares with a loude voice, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the cite. 4 They that shall be saved are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

HE cried also with a loude voice in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the cite draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

2 And behold, six men came by the way of the high gate, which lieth toward the North, and euerie man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among the was clothed with linnen, with a writers inkehome by his side, & they went in, and stood beside the brazen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was, and stood on the threshold of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers inkehome by his side.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Goe through the mids of the cite, even through the mids of Ierusalem, and set a marke vpon the foreheades of those them that mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the cite, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pittie.

6 Destroy vterly the olde and the young, and the maides, and the children, and the women: but touch no man vpon whom is the marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the ancient men which were before the house.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out and slew them in the cite.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, & cried, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then said he vnto mee, The iniquitie of the house of Israel & Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full of blood, and the city full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pittie, but will recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And beholde, the man clothed with linnen, which had the inkehome by his side, made report and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that tooke host burning coales out of the middle of the wheelles of the Cherubims. 8 A vnto hear all of the vision of the wheelles of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

AND as I looked, beholde, in the firmament that was above the head of the Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

2 And he spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and said, Go in betweene the wheelles, even vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coles of fire from between the Cherubims, and scatter them out the cite. And he went in in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord went vp from the Cherub, and stood over the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the Court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glorie.

5 And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter Court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaketh.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheelles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went up and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betwene the Cherubims, vnto the fire that was betwene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it, and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had becne in another wheele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went, but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, and their fings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in my hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: *this is the beast that I saw at the riuer Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lifted vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselves vp also: for the spirit of the beast was in them.

18 Then the glory of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lords house, at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

20 *This is the beast that I saw vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans handes was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the cherubims was the selfe same, and they went euery one straight forward.

C H A P. X I.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 2 Against these hee propheseth, shewing them how they shall bee dispersed abroad. 3 The renewing of the heart cometh of God. 4 Hee threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsells.

Moreouer, the spirit lift mee vp, and brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lords House, which lieth Eaſtward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were sixe and twentie men: among whom I saw Iazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah the princes of the people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For they say, it is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophetic against them, soane of man, prophetic.

5 And the spirit of the Lord fell vpon me, and said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O yee house of Israel, this haue ye said, and I know that which riseth vp of your mudds.

6 Many haue ye murdered in this citie, and ye haue filled the streets thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue laid in the mids of it, they are the flesh, and this citie is the caldron: but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

8 Ye haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.

10 Yee shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of Israel, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shall not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the mids thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the manners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cried with a lowd voice, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinned, & all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart yee far from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys, yet will I be to them as a little Sanctuary in the countreys where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where you haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: and I will take the stony heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, & keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But vpon them whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22 Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

23 And the glory of the Lord went vp from the mides of the citie, and stood vpon the mountain which is toward the East side of the citie.

34 After

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me vp, & brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were ledde away captiues : so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were ledde away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

The word of  $\gamma$  Lord also came vnto me, saying, 2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man,  $\gamma$  prepare thy russe to go into captiuitie, and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it bee possible that they may consider it for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy russe by day in their sight, as the russe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt goe forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou thorow the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my russe by day, as the russe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged thorow the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said vnto thee, What doest thou?

10 Thus say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This  $\gamma$  burden cometh the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall go into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefeest that is among them shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge thorow the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yett shall hee not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward euery wind all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreies.

16 But I will leaue a litle number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

17 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, cate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse,

19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eat their bread with carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shall be desolate from her abundance, because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyd, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that proverbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged, and all visions  $\gamma$  faile.

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this proverbe to cease, and they shall have no more vse it as a proverbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord, I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake shall come to passe, it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, Behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth is for many daies to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsells of their owne hearts.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophetic against the prophets of  $\gamma$  Israel, that prophetic, and say thou vnto them that prophetic out of their owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes in the waste places.

5 Ye haue not risen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanitie and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanitie, and haue seene lies, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God,

9 And mine hand shall bee vpon the prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel: neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a wal, and beheld the others daubed it with vntempered mortar, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great thowre, and I will send hailestones, which shall cause it to fall, & a stormie wind shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not bee sayd vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a stormie wind to breake forth in my wrath, and a great shoure shall be in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the mids thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered mortar, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.

16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see vision: of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise, thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sowe pillowes vnder all armeholes, and make vailles vpon the head of every one that standeth vp to hunt foules: will ye hunt the foules of my people, and will ye giue life to the foules that come vnto you?

19 And wil ye pollute me among my people for handfulls of barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the foules of them that should not die, and to giue life to the foules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherewith ye hunt the foules to make them to flee, and I will teare them from your armes, and wil let the foules goe, ~~even~~ the foules that ye hunt to make them to flee.

21 Your vailles also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies ye haue made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I haue not made sadde, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that hee should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, 23 Therefore yee shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, & ye shall know that I am the Lord.

C H A P. XIIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 Hee reserueth a small portion for his Church.

Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and sate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them.

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the Prophet, I the Lord wil answere him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idoles:

5 That I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answere him for my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be deceived, when hee hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceived that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the prophet shall be euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may bee my people, & I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against me by committing a trespass, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, and will breake the stiffe of the bread thereof, and wil send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

14 Though these three men, Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer ~~but~~ their owne foules by their righteousnesse, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring noisome beastes into the land, and they spoile it, so that it bee desolate, that no man may passe thorow because of beasts, 16 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall save neither sonnes nor daughters: they only shall be deliuered, but the land shall be waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe thorow the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it.

18 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they only shall be deliuered themselves.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and poure out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast,

20 And though Noah, Daniel, & Iob were in the mids of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne, nor daughter: they shall ~~but~~ deliuer their owne foules by their righteousnesse.

21 For thus saith the Lord God, How much more when I send my foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, ~~even~~ the sword and famine, and the noisome beast, beast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shall be left a remnant of them that shall bee caried away, both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises, and ye shall be comforted concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euem concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you when ye see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnpromisable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shall be burnt.

And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree about all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is amongst the trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any worke? or will men take a pinn of it to hang any vessel thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the quires of it, & the mids of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meet for no worke: how much lesse shall it be meet for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of fy forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to bee consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall go out from one fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them,

8 And when I make the land wast, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declares the benefits of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their unkindnes. 46 He iustifieth the wickednes of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercy is promised to the repentant.

And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation & thy kintred is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy natiuitie when thou wast borne, thy navel was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swaddled in clouts.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee: for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euem when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiply, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, & thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine haire is grown, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirts ouer thee, and couered thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a covenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I annointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broidered worke and shod thee with badger skinae: and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earrings in thine eares, and a beautifull crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy rayment was of fine linnen, and silke, and broidered worke: thou didst eat fine flour, & hony, and oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou didst grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spered among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my beauty, which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didst trust in thine owne beauty, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowne, and hast powred out thy fornications in euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou didst take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my gold, & of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selle images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookest thy broidered garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meat also which I gaue thee, as fine flour, oyle, and hony, wherewith I fed thee: thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Moreouer, thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whome thou hast borne vnto mee, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to bee deuoured: is thou thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe thorow fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse (woe, woe, vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an high place, and hast made thee an high place in euery streete.

25 Thou hast built thine high place at euery corner of the way, and hast made thy beauty to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy seete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome. [Or, head]

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Behold,

27 Behold, therefore I did stretch out mine hand over thee, and will diminish thine ordinary, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, Or, cities even to the daughters of the Philistims, which are alshamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast plaid the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast plaid the harlot with them, and yet couldst not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreover multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weak is thine heart, saith § Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, even the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman?

Or, that will beare vail.

31 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery street, and hast not bene as an harlot that despiteth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, & rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shalt be after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

Or, ne- per parts

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy § shame was poured out, and thy filthinesse discovered thorow thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didst offer vnto them.

37 Behold, therefore I will gather all thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and I will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

38 And I will iudge thee after the manner of them that are harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

39 I will also giue thee into their hands, & they shall destroy thine hie place, & shall breake downe thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, & shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, & thrust thee thorow with their swords.

2. King.
25.9.

41 And they shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So wil I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Beholde, all that vse proverbes, shall vse this proverb against thee, saying, As the mother, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sifter of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her daughters that dwell at thy left hand, and thy younger sister that dwelleth at thy right hand, § Sodom, and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after thy wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither the nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquity of thy sister Sodom, Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I tooke them away as pleased me.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine own shame for thy sinnes that thou hast committed more abominable then they, which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughter: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the midst of them.

54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest bee confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom † was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickednesse was discovered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about her, which despise thee on all sides.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination, saith the Lord.

59 For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee as thou hast done: when thou didst despise the other, in breaking the couenant.

60 Neuertheless, I will remember my couenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will continue vnto thee an euertlasting couenant.

61 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue thy sisters, both thy elder, and thy younger, and I wil giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not by thy couenant.

62 And I will establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord, 63 That thou mayest remember & be ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more because of thy shame, when I am pacified toward thee for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

The parable of the Lord Eagles.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

1 Sonne of man, put forth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

2 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great Eagle with great wings, ma long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and cooked the highest branch of the cedar,

3 And brake off the top of his twig, and caried it into the land of merchants, and set it in a citie of merchants,

4 He tooke also of the seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitful ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

5 And it budded vp, and was like a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rebbes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, & shot forth buds

6 There was also another great Eagle with great wings, and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her rootes toward it and spread forth her branches toward it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

7 It was planted in a good soile by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.

8 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall he not pull vp the roots thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to dry? all the leaues of ner bud shall wither without great power or many people, to plucke it vp by the roots thereof.

9 Behold, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches where it grew.

10 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

11 Say now to this rebellious house, Know yee not what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the king of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken the King thereof, and the Princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel,

12 And hath taken one of the kings seed, & made a covenant with him, and hath taken an oath of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land,

13 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keep their covenant and stand to it.

14 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadors into Egypt, that they might giue him hostes, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape that doth such things? or shall he breake the covenant, and be deliuered?

15 As I liue, saith the Lord God, hee shall die in the mids of Babel, in the place of the king, that had made him king, whose oath he despised, and whose covenant made with him he brake.

16 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty hostes, and great multitude of people, mai maine him in the war, when they haue cast vp mounds, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

17 For he hath despised the oath, & broken the covenant, (yet loe, hee had giuen his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

18 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine oath that he hath despised, and my covenant that hee hath broken, vpon his owne head, 20 *And I will spread my net vpon him, and hee shall bee taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespass that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his host, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall be scattered toward all the winds: and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take of the top of this he cedar, and will set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughs and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and euery soule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the green tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

C H A P. XVIII.

2 Hee sheweth that euery man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth his saluation promised. 24 Death is prophesied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THE word of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

2 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all soules ate mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mines the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man be iust, and do that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath * defiled his neighbors wife, Leuit. 18. neither hath * lien with a * menstruous woman, 20

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtor: he that hath spoiled none neere, by violence, * but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment, 18.

8 And hath not giuen forth vpon * vsury, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawn his hande from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man, Exod. 22.

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truly, he is iust, hee shall surely liue, saith the Lord God. 25. 37. deu. 30.

10 ¶ If he beget a son that is a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he doe any one of these things, 15. 5.

11 Though he do not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountains, or defiled his neighbors wife, Or a crime

12 Or hath oppressed the poore & needy, or hath spoiled by violence, or hath not restored his pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen forth vpon vsury, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, hee shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that feeth all his fathers sinnes, which hee hath done, and seareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholdē the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawn his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he that nor die in the iniquity of his father, but he shall surely liue.

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, so, he euen dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the son beare the iniquity of the father? Because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquity of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednes of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his finnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not bee mentioned vnto him, but in his righteousness that hee hath done, hee shall liue.

23 Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? or shall he not liue, if he returne from his owne waies?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations that the wicked man doth, shall he liue? all his righteousness that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sin that hee hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall: heare now, O house of Israel, Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, hee shall euen die for his iniquity that he hath done.

27 Again, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, hee shall saue his soule aliuē.

28 Because hee considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that he hath committed, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayeth the Lord God: returne therefore, and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquity shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The captiuitie of the kings of Iudah signified by the lions whelps, and by the lion. 10 The prosperitie of the city of Ierusalem that is past, and the misery thereof that is present.

1 Thou also take vp a lamentation for the princes of Israel,

2 And say, Wherefore lay thy mother as a li- nesse among the lions? shee nourished her young ones among the lions whelps,

3 And shee brought vp one of her whelpes, and it became a lion, and it learned to catch the pray, and it deuoured men.

4 The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaine vnto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when the saw that she had waited, and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her whelps, and made him a lion.

6 Which went among the lions, and became a lion, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured men.

7 And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein, by the noise of his roaring.

8 Then the nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and laid their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

9 And they put him in prison, and in chaine, and brought him to the king of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.

10 Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought forth fruit and branches by the abundant waters, 11 And shee had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, & she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But shee was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, and the East wind dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rod of her strength the fire consumed it.

13 And now she is planted in the wilderness in a drie and thirstie ground.

14 And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that the hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that hee will answere them when they pray, because of their unkindnesse. 33 He promisseth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the fire that should bee burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

AND in the seventh yeere, in the fifth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to inquire of the Lord, and sate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto mee, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speak vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to inquire of mee? As I liue, sayth the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? I cause them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God,

In the day when I chose Israel, and lift vp mine hand vnto the seed of the house of Iacob, and made my selfe knowne vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt into a land that I had provided for them, flowing with milke and honie, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowne vnto them, in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared <sup>Leu. 18.5</sup> my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man doe, he <sup>Leu. 18.12</sup> shall liue in them.

12 Moreover I gaue them also my * Sabbaths to <sup>Exod. 20.</sup> be a signe betwene me and them, that they might <sup>Leu. 24.8</sup> know that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against mee in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, hee shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wilderness to consume them.

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheles, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen thee, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleasant aboute all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuerthelesse, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walke yee not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither observe their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and doethem, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betwene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Neuerthelesse I withdrew mine hand, and had respect vnto my Name, that it should not bee polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them forth,

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne gifts in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the end that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery hie hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, & there they presented their offering of prococation: there also they made their sweet saour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I said vnto them, What is the hie place wherunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit yee not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answer you when I am asked, O house of Israel: as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that be done that cometh into your minde, for ye say, Wee will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood and stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys wherinye are scattered with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the coucnant.

38 And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgressed against mee: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Go you, & serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye wil not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts, & with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy Mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings and the firstfruits of your oblation, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweet favour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein yee have bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted up my hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherein ye have been defiled, and ye shall iudge your felues worthy to bee cut off for all your euils that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God

45 ¶ Morcouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward the South, and prophesie toward the foret of the field of the South.

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame shall not bee quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shall bee burnt therein.

48 And all flesh shall see that I the Lorde haue kindled it, and it shall not be quenched. Then said I, Ah Lord God, they say of me, Doeth not he speake parables?

CHAP. XXI.

3 Hee threatneth the sword, and destruction to Ierusalem. 25 Hee sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 Hee is commaunded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lorde threatneth to destroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

THe word of the Lord came to me againe, saying, 2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop my word toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword go out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North,

5 That all flesh may know, that I the Lord haue drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answer, Because of the brute: for it commeth, and euery heart shall melt, and all hands shall be weake, and all minds shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and shall be done, saith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Say, A sword, a sword both sharpe and fourbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a fore slaughter, and it is fourbished that it may glitter: how shall wee reioyce? for it containeth the rod of my sonne, as all other trees.

11 And he hath given it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe and is fourbished, that he may give it into the hand of the slaier.

12 Cry and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrours of the sword shall be vpon my people: smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a trial, and what shall this be, if the sword contemne euen the rod? It shall be no more, saith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and smite hand to hand, and let the sword be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entering into their priue chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates, to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee alone: goe to the right hand, or get thyselfe to the left hand, whither soeuer thy face turneth.

17 I wil also smite mine hands together, and will cause my wrath to cease: I the Lord haue said it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou son of man, appoint thee two waies, that the sword of the king of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land & chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoynt a way that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie.

21 And the king of Babel stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: hee consulted with idoles, and looked in the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint capitaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shewing, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortesse.

23 And it shalbe vnto them as a false diuination in their fight for the others made vnto them: but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to bee remembered, in discovering your rebellion, that in all your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that yee are come to remembrance, ye shall bee taken with the hand.

25 And thou prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an ende, 26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shalbe no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is high.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shalbe no more vntill he come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn forth, and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they see vanitie vnto thee, and prophesied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the necks of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an end.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, even in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of *ba*stly men, and skilfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the mids of the land, and thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Jerusalem is reproved for cruelty. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their vnshakable couetousnesse. 27 The army of rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou son of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody city, wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The city sheddeth blood in the mids of it, that her time may come, and maketh idoles against herselfe to pollute herselfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreyes.

5 Those that be neere and those that bee farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in name, and sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherles and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that eary tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

Leuit. 20. 11. 3. 10 *In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

Leuit. 24. 17. 3. 11 And euery one hath *committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, even his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnesse that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood which hath bene in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine handes be strong in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreyes, and will cause thy filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto mee

as drosse: all they are brasie, and tinne, and yron, and lead in the mids of the furnace: they are euery the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God. Because ye are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem, 20 As they gather siluer, and brasie, & yron, and lead, & tinne into the mids of the furnace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there, and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the mids of the furnace, so shall yee be melted in the mids thereof, and yee shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference between the holy and prophane, neither discerned between the vncleane and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the * middes thereof are like Mich. 3. 11. xph. 3. 3. wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her prophets haue doubted them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I fought for a man among them, that should make vp the hedge, and stand in the gappe before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

31 Therefore I haue powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendered vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatry of Samaria and Ierusalem vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother,

3 And they committed fornication in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breastes pressed, and there they bruised the teares of their virginity.

4 And the names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot † when shee † Eccl. 7. 34. was mine, and shee was set on fire with her louers, as mine.

to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blew silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus shee committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Ashtur, and with all on whom she doted, and defiled herselfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left shee her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginite, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her loners, euen into the hands of the Assyrians vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sons and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and she had an evil name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah saw this, shee marred herselfe with inordinate loue more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 She doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbors, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers suits, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when shee saw men painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes and with died attire vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea the land of their natiuitie)

16 Alsooung, I say, as shee saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So shee discouered her fornication, and disclofed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein shee had plaid the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teats were brused by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy loners against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, & I will bring them against thee on euery side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, Peked, and Shosh, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

Eze. I will giue iudgements before them,
Or, myselfe.

24 Euen these shall come against thee with charres, wagons, and wheeles and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield and helmet round about: and it will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall cary away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them whom thou hatest, euen into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy labour and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shall be discouered, both thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large, thou shalt bee laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with drunkennesse and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregs, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breasts, for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast mee behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreouer vnto mee, Some of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue plaid the whores, and blood is in their hands. And with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meat.

38 Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto mee: they haue defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it, and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from farre, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whom thou didst wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And satest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voice of a multitude being at ease, was with her, and with the men, to make the companie great, were brought men of Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her, Thou wast old in adulteries, Now shall she & her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her, as they goe to a common harlot, so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them after the manner of harlots, and after the manner of murderers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoyle.

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse.

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon you, and ye shall beare the finnes of your idoles, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

3 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

A Gaine in the ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day euen of the same day: for the king of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them; Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, euen every good piece, as the thigh, and the shoullder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

Heape 5 Take one of the best sheepe, and I burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, & feede the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the broody citie, euen to the pot, whose scum is therein, and whose scum is not gone out of it: bring it out piece by piece: let no lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the mids of her: she set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to cower it with dust,

8 That it might cause wrath to arise and take vengeance: euen I haue let her blood vpon an high rocke, that it should not be covered.

Nel. 3. 1. 9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Woe to the bloody city, for I will make the burning great.

Nel. 3. 12. 10 Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

Nel. 3. 12. 11 Then set it emptie vpon the coales thereof, that the brasse of it may bee hote and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may bee molten in it, and that the scum of it may be consumed.

Nel. 3. 12. 12 She hath wearied herselfe with lies, and her great scum went not out of her: therefore her scum shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse, and wickednesse: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged: thou shalt not bee purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy works shall they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee

the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague, yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares run downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tire of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shooes vpon thy feet, and cower not thy lips, and eat not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the mornings, and at euen my wife died: and I did in the morning as I was commanded.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou dost so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, euen the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And ye shall do as I haue done: ye shall not cower your lips, neither shall ye eat the bread of men.

23 And your tire shall bee vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feet: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall doe, and when this cometh, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart their sonnes and their daughters, 26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake and bee no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

C H A P. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which rejoiced as the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

T He word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, because thou saidest, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a theepcoat, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped thy hands and stamped with thy feet, and rejoiced in heart with all thy despight against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the † Ebr. lifting up of their sonles.

countryes, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore behold, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities of his cities, say, in his frontiers with the plaſtair country, Beth-ieshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom, according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

Hee propheseth that Tyrus shall be overthrowen because it is reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem.

15 The wounding, and astonishment of the merchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

ANd in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying

2 Sonne of man, Because that Tyrus hath sayd against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me. for seeing thee is desolate, I shall be replenished.

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the wallies of Tyrus, and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God, and it shall be a spoyle to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field shall bee slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of kings, from the North with horses & with chariots, and with horsemen, with a multitude, and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and hee shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engins of war before him against thy wals, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee for their multitude: thy wallies shall shake at the noise of the horsemen and of the wheelles, and of the chariots when hee shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streetes: hee shall slay thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall rob thy riches, and spoile thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy wals, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones, and thy timber, & thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harps shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, sayeth the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shalt not the yles tremble at the found of thy fall, and at the crye of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the Sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broidred garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonied at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renowned city, which was strong in the sea, both the and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein.

18 Now shall the yles bee astonied in the day of thy fall: yea the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the old ruines with them, say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not bee inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the liuing.

21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou bee sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Prophet bewaileth the desolation of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power and authoritie thereof in times past.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Tyrus,

3 And say vnto Tyrus that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the mart of the people for many yles, Thus saith the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfect beautie.

4 Thy borders are in the mids of the sea, and the builders haue made thee of perfect beautie.
 5 They haue made all thy ship boards of firre trees of Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make masts for thee.
 6 Of the okes of Bashan haue they made thine oares: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy banks of yuetic, brought out of the yles of Chittim.
 7 Fine linnen with broidered worke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to bee thy sayle, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elifha was thy couering.
 8 The inhabitants of Zidon, and Arad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy pilots.
 9 The ancients of Gebal, & the wise men thereof were in thee thy calkers, all the ships of the sea with their mariners, were in thee to occupie thy merchandise.
 10 They of Persia, and of Lud, and of Phut, were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shield and helmet in thee: they set forth thy beautie.
 11 The men of Arad with thine army were vpon thy walls round about, and the Gammadims were in thy towers: they hanged their shields vpon thy walls round about: they haue made thy beauty perfect.
 12 They of Tarshish were thy merchants for the multitude of all riches, for silver, yron, tinne, and lead, which they brought to thy faires.
 13 They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy merchants, concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brass for thy merchandise.
 14 They of the house of Togamah brought to thy faires, horses, and horsemen, and mules.
 15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: and the merchandise of many yles were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present, hornes, teeth, and peacocks.
 16 They of Aram were thy merchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faires with iemerauds, purple, and broidered work, and fine linnen, and corall, and pearle.
 17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy merchants: they brought for thy merchandise wheat of Minnith, and Pannag, and honie, and oile, and balsme.
 18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll, 19 They of Dan also and of Iauan going to and fro, occupied in thy faires yron worke, casia, and calamus were among thy merchandise.
 20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the charrets.
 21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar occupied with thee in lammes, and rams & goats: in these were they thy merchants.
 22 The merchants of Sheba and Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold.
 23 They of Haran and Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Asshur, and Chilmad, were thy merchants.
 24 These were thy merchants in all sortes of things, in raiment of blue silke, and of broidered worke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with coards: channes also were among thy merchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished and made in company very glorious in the mids of the sea.
 26 Thy robbers haue brought thee in a great shee, waters, the East wind hath broken thee in the mids of the sea.
 27 Thy riches, and thy faires, thy merchandise, thy mariners and pilots, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the mids of thee, shall fall in the mids of the sea in the day of thy ruine.
 28 The suburbs shall shake at the sound of the crie of thy pilots.
 29 And all that handle the oare, the mariners and all the pilots of the sea shall come down from their ships, and shall stand vpon the land,
 30 And shall cense their voice to be heard against thee, and shall crie bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, and wallow themselves in the ashes.
 31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee, and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weep for thee with sorow of heart, and bitter mourning.
 32 And in their mourning they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What cite is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the mids of the sea?
 33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people, & thou didst enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches, and of thy merchandise.
 34 When thou shalt bee broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise, and all thy multitude, which was in the mids of thee, shall fall.
 35 All the inhabitants of the yles shall be astonied at thee, and all their kings shall be sore afraid, and troubled in their countenance.
 36 The merchants among the people shall hiss at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt be any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The word of God against the king of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promisseth that hee will gather together the children of Israel.

¶ He word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

1 Sonne of man, say vnto the Prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, I am a god, I sit in the seat of God in the mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man, and not God, and though thou didst thinke in thine heart that thou wast equall with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiser then Daniel: there is no secret that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom, and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold, and silver into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom, and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou didst thinke in thine heart that thou wast equall with God,

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beautie of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee down to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them that are slaine in the mids of the sea.

† Ebr. though thou see thine heart as the heart of God.

9 Wilt thou say these before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt bee a man, and no god in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the vnicircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wisdom, and perfect in beautie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: enery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze, and the ¶ diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the lasper, the saphire, ¶ emeraud, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the Holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise they haue filled the mids of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the middes of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the middes of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonied at thee: thou shalt be ¶ a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 ¶ Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it,

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets, and the flaine shall fall in the mids of her: the enemy shall come against her with the sword on enery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land that I haue given to my seruant Iakob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vp-on all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

2 Hee prophesies against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promisseth that hee will restore Egypt after fourtie yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Zedekiah for the labour, which hee took against Tyrus.

IN the tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put hookes in thy iawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the mids of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wildernesse, with thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field, thou shalt not bee brought together, nor gathered: for I haue given thee for meate to the beasts of the field, and to the fowles of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they haue bene a staffe of reed to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou didst breake and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaped vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to ¶ stand vpright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall bee desolate and waste, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord: because he hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it,

10 Behold therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate from the tower of Seueach, euen vnto the borders of the ¶ blacke Moores.

11 No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it bee inhabited fourtie yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate for fortie yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, ¶ At the end of fortie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people where they were scattered,

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a small kingdome.

15 It shall be the smallest of the kingdoms, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more about the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shalbe no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them: so shall they knowe that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the seuen and twentieth yere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Son of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his army to serue a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made bald, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his army for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoile her spoile, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages of his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the lande of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to grow, & I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

The word of the Lord came again vnto me saying.

2 Sonne of man, prophetic and say. Thus saith the Lord God, Howle and cry, Woe be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, & feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundation shall be broken downe.

5 Ethiopia, and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword:

6 Thus saith the Lord, they also that maintaine Egypt shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of Seuench shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the mids of the countreyes that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lorde, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall their messengers goe forth from me in ships, to make their carelesse Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for loe it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nation shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers drie, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idols, and I will cause their idols to cease out of the land of Egypt, and I will lend a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and wil set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the mul-

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorrow, and No shall be destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorrowes dayly.

17 The yong men of Auen, and of Phibeseth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captiuitie.

18 At Tephnehes the day shall restraine his light, when I shall break there the barres of Egypt, and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt: and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the eleuenth yere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

21 Son of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it: and so make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, & wil breake his arme that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them thorow the countreyes.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, & he shall cast out sighings as the sighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I wil strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreyes, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He propheseth a like destruction to them both.

And in the eleuenth yere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and it stood vp very high, and his top was among thicke boughs.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on his wich her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, & his boughs were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their yong, & vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his braches: for his roote was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no time tree was like his branches, & the cheffnut chestnut trees were not like his boughes, all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden that were in the garden of God, eniued him.

Or, than multitude
up.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the mightiest among the heathen: he shal handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And y strangers haue destroyed him, even the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountains, and in all the valleyes his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the field shall be vpon his branches, 14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water. for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in y mids of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when hee went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I couered the deepe for him, and I did restraints the floods therof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: even all that are nourished with waters shalbe comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom art thou thus like in glorie and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the vncircumcised, with them that bee slaine by the sword, this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

3 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt, 12 He propheseth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

And in the twelfth yere, in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Son of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say vnto him. Thou art like a lion of the nations, and art as a dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their riuers.

Or, whole.

Chap. 12.
23. and
37. 30.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shal make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and wil cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and

I will fill all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleyes with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimdest, even to the mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall put thee out, I will coner the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: I will couer the sunne with a cloud, and the moone shall not shine her light.

8 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkenesse vpon thy land, saith y, the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreyes which thou hast not knowne.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, & their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shal make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shalbe afraid at euery moment, euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shalbe terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts therof from the great water sides, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hooves of beasts trouble them.

14 Then wil I make their waters deep, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein shalbe laid wast: when I shall smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 In the twelfth yere also, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast thee downe, even them & the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom doest thou passe in beauty? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the mids of them that are slaine by the sword: she is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The most mighty and strong shall speake to him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe, and sleepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by the sword.

22 Ashtur is there and all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There is Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselves to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are goe downe to the pit.

Or, of the multitude.

Chap. 17

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the flaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are flaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them, that goe downe to the pit: they are laid in the mids of them that be flaine.

26 There is Mehech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were flaine by the sword: though they caused their feare to bee in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the grane with their weapons of warre, & haue layd their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquity shalbe vpon their bones, because they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are flaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are layd by them that were flaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be all the princes of the North, with all the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the flaine with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be flaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his army shalbe flaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused my teare to be in the land of the liuing: and he shall be laid in the mids of the vncircumcised, with them that are flaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh, and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernour and ministers. 14. He strengtheneth them that despise, and boldeneth them with the promise of mercy. 30. The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

Again the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, & make him their watchman,

3 If when hee seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and wil not be warned, if the sword come and take him away, his blood shalbe vpon his owne head,

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished, therefore his blood shal be vpon him: but he that receiueh warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people bee not warned: if the sword come and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death: if thou doest not speake and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shal die for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Neuerthelesse, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if hee doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, If our transgressions and our finnes bee vpon vs, and wee are consumed because of them, how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you from your euill wayes, for why will yee die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnesse of the righteous shal not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shal cause him to fall therein in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shal the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his own righteousnesse, and commit iniquity, all his righteousnesses shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Again, when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life without committing iniquitie, hee shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his finnes that hee hath committed shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way Chai. 13. of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is as vnequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, hee shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in the euening afore he that had escaped came, and had opened my mouth, vntill he came to mee in the morning: and when hee had opened my mouth, I was no more dumb.

23 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shall be giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Ye eate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood, should ye then possesse the land?

26 Ye leane vpon your swords: yee worke abomination, and ye desile euery one his neighbours wife:

wile : should ye then possesse the land ?

27 Say thus vnto them , Thus saith the Lord God, As I lue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword : and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured, and they that be in the forts, and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

Ch. 7. 24
Ez. 24. 21
Ez. 30. 6, 7
28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the * pompe of her strength shall cease : and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe thorow.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue laid the land desolate and waste because of all their abominations, that they haue commiced.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the walles, and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord.

31 Forthey come vnto thee as the people vnto to come : and my people sit before thee, and heare thy words, but they will not doe them : for with their mouthes they make iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

Or, pleasures and loue song.
32 And lo, thou art vnto them, as a iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, and can sing well : for they heare the words, but they doe them not.

33 And when this commeth to passe (for loe it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepheards that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promyseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepheards of Israel, prophesie, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Woe be vnto the shepheards of Israel, that feede themselves : should not the shepheards feed the flocks ?

Jer. 23. 1

3 Yee eate the fat, and yee clothe you with the wooll : ye kill them that are fed, but ye feed not the sheepe.

4 The weake haue ye not strengthened : the sick haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue yee ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepherd : and when they were dispersed, they were deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thorow all the mountaines, and vpon euery high hill, yea, my flocke was scattered thorow all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I lue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, & my sheep were deuoured of all beasts of the field, hauing no shepherd, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fed themselves, and fed not my sheepe, 9 Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheep at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe : neither shal the shepheards feed them. selues any more : for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, & they shal no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath been among his sheep that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe, and will deliuer them out of all places where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreys, and wil bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the high mountaines of Israel shal their folde be : there shall they lie in a good folde, and in fax pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rams and the goats.

18 Seemeth it a final thing vnto you, to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but yee must tread downe with your feete the residue of your pasture : and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feet ?

19 And my sheepe eate that which ye haue troden with your feet, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, euem I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the lean sheepe.

21 Because yee haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and push all the weake with your hornes till ye haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shal no more be spoiled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepherd ouer them and he shall feed them, euem my seruant Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shalbe their shepherd.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shalbe the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land : and they shal dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will fet them as a blessing euem round about my mountaine : and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shalbe raine of blessing.

27 And the tree of the field shal yeeld her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruit, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cords of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselves of them.

28 And they shal no more be spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them, but they shal dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a plant of righteousness now me, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Israel are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me,

3 saying,

4 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

5 And say vnto it, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

6 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt bee desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

7 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquity had an end,

8 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou hate blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

9 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out, and him that returneth.

10 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hilles, and in thy valleys, and in all thy riuers shall they fall that are slaine with the sword.

11 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not returne, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Because thou hast sayde, These two nations and these two countreys shalbe mine, and wee will possesse them (seeing the Lord was there)

13 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will even doe according to thy wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vtred in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe knownen among them when I haue iudged thee.

14 And thou shalt knowe that I the Lord haue heard all the blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

15 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, and haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them.

16 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce when I shall make thee desolate.

17 As thou diddest reioice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt bee desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promisseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles.

9 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed vnto the mercie of God, and not to their desertings. 26 God reneweth our heartes that wee may walke in his Commandements.

10 As thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the enemy hath said against you, Aha, even the high places of the world are ours in possession.

12 Therefore prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that yee might bee a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people,

13 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hils, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste & desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

14 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely, in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which haue taken my land for their possession with the ioy of all their heart, and with despitfull minds to cast it out for a pray.

15 Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hils, to the riuers and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the shame of the heathen.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

17 But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall shoot forth your branches, and bring forth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

18 For behold, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and lowen.

19 And I will multiply the men vpon you, even all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

20 And I wil multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase, and bring fruite, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestow benefites vpon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 Yea, I wil cause men to walke vpon you, even my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and yee shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth deprive them of men.

22 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people, 23 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God.

24 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

25 Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

26 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne wayes, & by their deeds: their way was before me, as the filthines of the menstruous.

27 Wherefore I powdered my wrath vpon them for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, where with they had polluted it.

28 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were disperfed thorow the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deeds, I iudged them.

Isa. 52. 5. 20 * And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

Rom. 2. 24. 21 But I fauoured my holy Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which yee polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom ye haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall bee sanctified in you before their eyes.

Or, yow.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane water vpon you, and ye shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

Iere. 32.

39. chap.

11. 19.

26 * A new heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthines, and I will call for corne, and wil increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I wil multiply the fruit of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthy to haue beene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Bee it knownen vnto you, that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O yee house of Israel, be ashamed & confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they saide, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to perform it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

¶ He prophesieth the bringing againe of the people, bring in captivity. 16 He sheweth the union of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caried mee out in the Spiric of the Lord, and set mee downe in the mids of the field, which was full of bones.

2 And he led me round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very dry.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he said vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O yee drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, and couer you with skin, and put breath in you, that yee may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophecied as I was commaunded: and as I prophecied there was a noise, and behold, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and about the skin couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then sayd hee vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winds: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the wind, Thus sayth the Lord God, Come from the foure winds, O breath, and breathe vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophecied as hee had commaunded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel, Beholde, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel.

13 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue opened your graues, O my people, & brought you vp out of your sepulchres.

14 And shall put my spirit in you, and yee shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then ye shall know that the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreover, thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And thou shalt ioyn them one to another in to one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meapest by these?

19 Thou shalt answer them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will take the tree of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellows, and will put them with him, & men with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood, whercon thou wast, shall be in thine hand in their sight.

21 And

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land vpon the mountaines of Israel, * and one King shall be King to them all, and they shall be no more two peoples, neither be diuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes.

23 Neither shall they be polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them, so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my * seruant shall be King ouer them: 25. them, and they all shall haue one shepheard, they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

25 And they shall dwell in the land that I haue giuen vnto Iakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, & they shall dwell therein, euens they and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall be their prince for euer.

26 Moreover, I will make a * couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euermorelasting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuary among them for euermore.

27 My Tabernacle also shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall know, that I the Lord doe sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuary shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 Hee prophesieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God.. 21 Their destruction.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Gog, and against the land of Magog, the chiefe Prince of Melchec, and Tubal, and prophesie against him,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Melchec, and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hooks in thy iawes, and wil bring thee forth, and all thine hoste, both horses and horiemen, all clothed with all sorts of armor, euens a great multitude with bucklers and shields, all handling swords.

5 They of Paras, of Cuith, and Phut with them, euens all they that beare shield and helmet.

6 Gomer and all his bands, & the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and make thee ready, both thou and all thy multitude that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safeguard.

8 After many dayes thou shalt bee visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vnto the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend & come vp like a tempest, & shalt be like a cloud to couer the land, both thou and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke euill thoughts.

11 And thou shalt say, I will goe vp to the land that hath no walled towers: I will go to them that are at rest, and dwell in safety, which dwell all without wals, and haue neither barres nor gates, 12 Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people that are gathered out of the nations, which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the mids of the land.

13 Sheba, and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarshish, with all the lions thereof shall say vnto thee, Art thou come to spoyle the pray? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to cary away siluer and gold, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray?

14 Therefore sonne of man, prophesie, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee: all shall ride vpon horses, euens a great multitude and a mightie armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel as a cloud to couer the land: thou shalt be in the latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my land, that the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he of whom I haue spoken in old time by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophesied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, sayth the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel,

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beastes of the field, and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be ouerthrowen, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him thou rowout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I wil plead against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a fore raine, and haile stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be * magnified and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know that I am the Lord. (Chap. 38. 37. 38.)

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog, 12 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shall be deuoured of birds and beastes. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie, is promised.

Therefore, thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Melchec and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee, and leaue but the sixth part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, & will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bow out of thy left hand, and I will caue thine arrows to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands and thy people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds, and to euery feathered fowle and beast of the field to bee deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the isles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knownen in the middes of my people Israel, and I wil not suffer them to pollute mine holy name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the holy One of Israel.

8 Beholde, it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall goe forth, and shal burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the stauces in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the Forrests: for they shal burne the weapons with fire, & they shall rob those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for buriall in Israel, even the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the Sea: and it shal cause them that passe by to Rop their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamongog.

12 And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shal bury them, and they shal haue a name when I shal be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shal chuse out men to go continually through the land with them that trauele, to burie those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the traualers that passe thorow the land, if any see a mans bone, then shal he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamongog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall bee Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered toyle, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may cate fleish, and drinke blood.

18 Ye shal eat the flesh of the valiant, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullocks, even of all fat beasts of Bashan.

19 And ye shal eat fat till ye be full, and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shal be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue laide vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shal know, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquity, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their vncleannesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iakob and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ialous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me when they dwelt safely in their land and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

28 Then shal they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne lande, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue poured out my spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

IN the nine and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the month in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought me thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought hee me by a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very high mountaine, whereupon was the building of a citie, to ward the South.

3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasie, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a reed to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, & heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shal shew thee: for to the intent that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the ourside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reed to measure with of sixe cubits long, by the cubit, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the post of the gate, which was one reed broad, and the other post of the gate, which was one reed broad.

7 And euery chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betwene the chambers were five cubits, and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate with in with one reed.

Or, of the multitude of Gog.

Or, multitude.

9 Then measured he the porch of  $\frac{5}{2}$  gate of eight cubits, and the posts thereof of two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the posts had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubits, and the height of the gate thirteene cubits.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cubit on that side, and the chambers were fixe cubits on this side, and fixe cubits on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the rooſe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, doore against doore.

14 He made also posts of threescore cubits, and the posts of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fifty cubits.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, and in their posts within the gate round about, & likewise to the arches: and the windowes were round about within. and vpon the posts were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee mee into the outward court, and lo, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirty chambers were vpon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubits Eastward, and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court that looked toward the North, measured he after  $\frac{5}{2}$  length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fifty cubites, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood ouer against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that he brought me toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was five cubites, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

26 And there were seven steps to go vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, & the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about it was five cubits long and five and twenty cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the posts thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Again he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and hee measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, & the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was five cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After he brought me to the Northgate, and measured it according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was five cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

37 And the posts thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And euery chamber, and the entry thereof was vnder the posts of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the fume offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entry of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side by the side of the gate, euery eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the four tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubit and a halfe long, and a cubit and a halfe broad, and one cubic hie: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, & vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, & one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And hee sayd vnto mee, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priests, that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the Altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Levi, which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubits long, & an hundred cubits broad, euery square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the posts of the porch, five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubites, and the breadth eleven cubites, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the posts, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

Afterward he brought mee to the Temple, and measured the posts six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twenty cubits.

3 Then went he in and measured the posts of the entrie two cubits, and the entrie fixe cubits, and the breadth of the entrie seven cubits.

4 So hee measured the length thereof twentie cubits, and the breadth twentie cubits before the Temple: and he said vnto me, This is the most Holy place.

5 After he measured the wall of the house fixe cubits, and the breadth of every chamber four cubits round about the house on every side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber three and thirrie foot high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the posts might bee fastned therein, and not bee fastned in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpward round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the hiest by the middles.

8 I sawe also the house hie round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reed of six great cubits.

9 The thickeesse of the wall which was for the chamber without was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betwene the chambers was the wide- nesse of twenty cubits round about the house on every side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was feuentie cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thicke round about, and the length ninetie cubits.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubits long.

14 Also the bredth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundred cubits.

15 And hee measured the length of the building

ouer against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubits with the temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The posts and the narrow windowes, & the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the posts, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from about the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betwene a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: shin was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto about the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The posts of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The Altar of wood was three cubits hie, and the length thereof two cubits, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shall bee before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euery two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of y Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke plancks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLIII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests and the holy things.

Then brought he me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubits broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubits, which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pavement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubit, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers above were narrower for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath, and from the middlemost, euery from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the fore- front front of the chambers, ~~was~~ fifty cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vttter court ~~was~~ fifty cubits, and loe, before the Temple ~~were~~ an hundred cubits.

9 And vnder these chambers ~~was~~ the entry on the Eastside, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers ~~were~~ in the thickeſſe of the wall of the court toward the Eaſt, ouer againſt the ſeperate place, and ouer againſt the building.

11 And the way before them ~~was~~ after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North as long as they, ~~and~~ as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their faſhions, and according to their doers.

12 And according to the dores of the chambers that were toward the South, ~~was~~ a dore in the corner of the way, ~~even~~ the way directly before the wall toward the Eaſt, as one entreth.

13 Then ſaid he vnto me, The North chambers ~~and~~ the South chambers, which are before the ſeperate place, they bee holy chambers, wherein the Prieſts that approach vnto ~~ſ~~ Lord ſhall eat the moſt holy things: there ſhall they lay the moſt holy things, and the meat offering, and the ſinne offering, and the treſpaſſe offering: ~~for~~ the place ~~is~~ holy.

14 When the Prieſts enter therein, they ſhal not goe out of the holy place into the vttter court, but there they ſhal lay their garments wherin they miniſter: for they are holy, ~~and~~ ſhall put on other garments, and ~~ſo~~ ſhall approach to thoſe things which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of meaſuring the inner houſe, hee brought me forth toward the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the Eaſt, and meaſured it round about.

16 He meaſured the Eaſtſide with the meaſuring rod, ſue hundred reedes, ~~even~~ with the meaſuring reed round about.

17 He meaſured ~~also~~ the Northſide, ſue hundred reedes, ~~even~~ with the meaſuring reed round about.

18 And hee meaſured the South ſide ſue hundred reedes with the meaſuring reed.

19 Returned about ~~also~~ to the Weſtſide, ~~ſ~~ meaſured ſue hundred reedes with the meaſuring reed.

20 He meaſured it by the four ſides: it had a wall round about, ſue hundred reedes long, and ſue hundred broad, to make a ſeparation betweene the Sanctuary and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIIII.

2 Hee ſeeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Iſrael, for the which they were conſumed and brought to nought. 9 Hee is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward he brought me to the gate, ~~even~~ the gate that turneth toward the Eaſt.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Iſrael came from out of the Eaſt, whoſe voice was like a noiſe of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the viſion which I ſaw ~~was~~ like the viſion, ~~even~~ as the viſion that I ſaw when I came to deſtroy the citie: and the viſions ~~were~~ like the viſion that I ſaw by the riuer Chebar: ~~and~~ I fell vpon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the houſe by the way of the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the Eaſt.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought mee into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the houſe.

6 And I heard one ſpeaking vnto me out of the houſe: and there ſtood a man by me,

7 Which ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, ~~this~~ place is my throne, and the place of the ſoles of my ſeete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Iſrael for euer, and the houſe of Iſrael ſhall no more deſile mine holy Name, neither they nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeiſes of their Kings in their high places.

8 Albeit they ſet their thresholds by my thresholds, and their poſts by my poſts (ſo there ~~was~~ but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they deſiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue conſumed them in my wrath.

9 Now ~~therefore~~ let them put away their fornication, and the carkeiſes of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou ſonne of man, ſhew this Houſe to the houſe of Iſrael, that they may bee aſhamed of their wickedneſſe, and let them meaſure the patterne.

11 And if they be aſhamed of all that they haue done, ſhew them the forme of the houſe, and the patterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole faſhion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof, and write it in their ſight, that they may keepe the whole faſhion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the ~~†~~ deſcription of the houſe, ~~it ſhall~~ ~~†~~ ~~Ebr. law~~ be vpon the top of the mount: all the limites thereof round about ſhall be moſt holy. Behold, this is the deſcription of the houſe.

13 And theſe are the meaſures of the Altar, after the cubits, the cubit ~~is~~ a cubit and an handbreath, ~~even~~ the bottome ~~shall~~ be a cubite, and the breadth a cubit, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about ~~shall~~ be a ſpanne: and this ~~shall~~ be the height of the Altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece ~~shall~~ be two cubites, and the breadth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece ~~shall~~ be foure cubits, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the Altar ~~shall~~ be foure cubits, and from the Altar vpward ~~shall~~ be foure hornes.

16 And the Altar ~~shall~~ be twelue cubits long, and twelue broad, and lowe ſquare in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame ~~shall~~ be foureteene cubites long, and foureteene broad in the foure ſquare corners thereof, and the border about it ~~shall~~ be halfe a cubit, and the bottome thereof ~~shall~~ be a cubit about, and the ſteps thereof ~~shall~~ be turned toward the Eaſt.

18 ¶ And he ſaid vnto mee, Sonne of man, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Theſe are the ordinances of the Altar in the day when they ſhall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to ſprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou ſhalt giue to the Prieſts, ~~and~~ to the Leuites, that bee of the ſeed of Zadoc, which approach vnto mee to miniſter vnto me, ſaith the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a ſinne offering.

20 And thou ſhalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus ſhalt thou cleaſe it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou ſhalt take the bullocke alſo of the ſinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the houſe without the Sanctuary.

22 But the ſecond day thou ſhalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the Altar as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullocke without blemish, and a ram out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering to the Lord.

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare every day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a young bullocke, and a ram out of the flocke without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seven daies purifie the Altar, and cleanse it, and † consecrate it.

† Heb. sek
ou bami.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day, and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the Altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reprooueth the people for their offences. 7 The vncircumcised in heart and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

¶ Then he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shall be shut, & shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he me toward the Northgate before the House: and when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the House of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

† Heb. sek
ou bami.

5 And the Lord said vnto mee, Sonne of man, ¶ marke wel, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares all that I say vnto thee concerning all the ordinances of the House of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke wel the entering in of the House with euery going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue yough of all your abominations.

7 Seeing that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary, saie, strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute my house: when wee offer my bread, even fat and blood, and they haue broken my Couenant, because of all your abominations.

8 For ye haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your felices haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the Leuites that are gone backe from mee, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the house, and minister in the house, they shall lay the burnt offering, and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neere vnto me, to doe the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame, and their abominations which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the house for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from mee, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my Table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, and no wooll shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, & within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonnets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not gird themselves in the sweating places.

19 But when they go forth into the vtter court, even to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shall not also haue their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long, but round their heads.

21 Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their wives, saie, widows, or her that is divorced: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discern betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my Lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my tabernacles.

25 And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves, except their father, or mother, or son, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they be defiled.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall seek vnto him seuen dayes.

27 And when he goeth into the Sanctuary vnto the inner court, to minister in the Sanctuary, hee shall offer his sinne offering, saith the Lord God.

28 And the Priesthood shall be their inheritance: therefore shall ye give them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession.

29 They shall eat the meat offering, and the fine offering, and the trespass offering, and euery dedication thing in Israel shall be theirs.

30 And all the first of the first borne, and euery first born oblation, even all of euery sort of your oblations shall be the Priests, Ye shall also giue vnto the priests the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house.

31 The Priests shall not eat of any thing that is dead or torne, whether it be foule or beast.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise as e there separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priests and to the Temple, the second to the Lewites, the third to the eise, the fourth to the prince. 2 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 3 Of sin weights and measures 4 Of the first fruits, &c.

Moreouer, when ye shall diuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord, an holy portion of the land five and twentie thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, a square round about, and fiftie cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twentie thousand, & the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be fy Priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five & twenty thousand of length, and the tenne thousand of breadth, shall the Lewites that minister in the house, haue their possession for swarey chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad: and five & twentie thousand long ouer against the oblatio of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O Princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

10 Ye shall haue iust ballances, & a true ephah, and a true bath.

11 The ephah and the bath shall be equal: a bath shall containe the tenth part of an homer, and an ephah the tenth part of an homer: the equalitie thereof shall be after the homer.

12 *And the shekel shall be twentie gerahs, and twenty shekels and five and twentie shekels, and fiftene shekels shall be your maneh.

13 *This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the sixt part of an ephah of an homer of wheat, and ye shall giue the sixt part of an ephah of an homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a bath out of the Cor (ten bathes are an homer: for ten baths is an homer)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel, for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the Prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the Princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts, and in the new Moones and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel, he shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meat offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 * Thus saith the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the moneth, thou shalt take a young bullocke without blemish, and cleanse the Sanctuary.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the foure corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seventh day of the moneth for euey one that hath erred, and for him that is deieuned, so shall you reconcile the house.

21 * In the first moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Pascheouer, a feast of seven dayes, and ye shall eat vneleuened bread.

22 And vpon that day shall the Prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seven dayes of the feast, hee shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seven bullocks, and seven rammes without blemish daily for seven dayes, and an hee goat daily for a sin offering.

24 And he shall prepare a meat offering of an ephah for a bullocke, an ephah for a ramme, and an hin of oyle for an ephah.

25 In the seventh moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seven dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meat offering, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath, and of the new Moones. 2 Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut, the sixe working dayes, but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new Moone it shall be opened.

2 And the Prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, & shall stand by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after he shall goe forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new Moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the Prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day shall be sixe lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the meat offering shall be an Ephah for a ram: and the meat offering for the lambs a gill of his hand, and an hin of oyle to an ephah.

6 And in the day of the new Moone, it shall be a young bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambs and a ram: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meat offering, euen an ephah for a bullocke, and an ephah for a ram: and for the lambes according as his hand shall bring, an hin of oyle to an ephah.

8 And when the Prince shall enter, hee shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, hee that entred in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entred by the way of the South gate, shall go forth by the way of the North gate, he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe forth they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnitie, the meate offering shall be an ephah to a bullocke, and an ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes the gift of his hand, and an hin of oyle to an ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering, or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate that turneth towards the East, and he shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, as he did on the sabboth day: after, he shall goe fourth, and when he is gone fourth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the sixth part of an ephah, and the third part of an hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a persequall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the Lambe, and the meate offering and the oile, euery morning for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall be his to the yeere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreover the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession, but hee shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 ¶ After, hee brought me thorow the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes which flood toward the North, and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said he vnto me, This is the place where the Priestes shall seeke the trespass offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the yter court, to sanctifie the people.

21 Then hee brought mee fourth into the yter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners of the court, and behold, in euery corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourtie cubites long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there was a wall about them, euery about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the wals round about.

24 Then said hee vnto mee, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seeke the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The coastes of the land of promise, and the diuision thereof by tribes.

Afterward he brought me vnto the doore of the house: and behold, waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house flood toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the Altar.

2 Then brought he mee out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the yter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came fourth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me thorow the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, and brought mee thorow the waters: the waters were to the knees: again he measured a thousand, and brought me thorow: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a riuer that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many trees on the one side and on the other.

8 Then said he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East country, and run downe into the plaine, and shall go into one sea: they shall run into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which mooueth, whersoever the riuers shall come, shall liue: and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer cometh.

10 And then the fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euē vnto En-eplaim, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of the maine Sea, exceeding many.

11 But the myrie places thereof, and the marishes thereof shall not be wholesome: they shall be made salt-pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof on this side and on that side shall grow all fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters ranne out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meat, and the leafe thereof shall be for medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border whereby yee shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as wel as another * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you or inheritance.

15 And this shall be the border of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibram, which is between the the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath: and Hazar, Hatticon which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea, shall be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North Northward, & the border of Hamath: so shall be the North part.

18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, & from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea. and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall bee toward Teman for, first, from Tamar to the waters of Meriboth in Kadesh, and the river to the maine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shall be the West part.

21 So shall yee diuide this land vnto you according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, & to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall bee vnto you as borne in the country among the children of Israel, they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall yee giue him his inheritance, sayth the Lord God.

C H A P. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

Now these are the names of the tribes, From the North side, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward, the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall bee a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah, from the East part vnto the West part shall be the offering, which they shall offer of five and twentie thousand reedes broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuary shall be in the mids of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shall be of five and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priests, shall bee this holy oblation toward the North, five & twentie thousand long, and toward the West ten thousand broad, and toward the East tenne thousand broad, and toward the South five and twenty thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shall bee in the mids thereof.

11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shall bee theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Leuites shall haue five & twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be five and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sel of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the five and twentie thousand shall bee a prophane place for the citie, for housing and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the mids thereof.

16 And these shall bee the measures thereof, the North part five hundred & foure thousand, and the South part five hundred and foure thousand, and the East part five hundred and foure thousand, and the West part five hundred and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shall be toward the North two hundredth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundredth and fiftie, and toward the East two hundredth and fiftie, and toward the West two hundredth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward and ten thousand Westward: and it shall bee ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall bee for foode vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie shall bee of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shall be five and twentie thousand with five and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation fourequare for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the citie.

21 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side, and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the citie ouer against the five and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, & Westward ouer against the five and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the mids thereof.

22 Moreouer from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the city that which is in the mids, shall be the princes: betwene the border of Iudah, and betwene the border of Benjamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part Benjamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon, from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun, from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward Temath, the border shall be euen from Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the river that runneth into the main sea.

29 This is the land which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the citie, on the North side five hundredth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the city shall be after ſ names of the tribes of Iſrael, ſ gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the Eaſtſide five hundredth and foure thouſand, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South ſide five hundredth and foure thouſand meaſures, and three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Iſſachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the Weſt ſide, five hundredth and foure thouſand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Aſſer, and one gate of Naphali.

35 It was round about eightene thouſand meaſures, and the name of the citie from that day ſhall be, † THE Lord is there.

¶ DANIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his ſingular mercie toward his Church are moſt lively beere ſet forth, who neuer leaueſt his deſtinate, but now in their greateſt miſeries and afflictions giueſt them Prophecies, as Ezeziel and Daniel, whom hee adorned with ſuch graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel alone alſo other had moſt ſpeciall revelations of ſuch things as ſhould come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captiuitie to the laſt end of the world, and to the generall reſurrection, as of the ſure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Perſians, Grecians, and Romanes. Alſo of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Chriſt, when all Sacrifices and Ceremonies ſhould ceaſe, becauſe hee ſhould bee the accompliſhment thereof: moreover he ſheweth Chriſts office, and the cauſe of his death, which was, by his ſacrifice to take away finnes, and to bring euerlaſting life. And as from the beginning God euer exerciſed his people vnder the croſſe, ſo hee teacheth here, that after that Chriſt is offered, hee will ſtil leave this exerciſe to his Church vntill the dead riſe againe, and Chriſt gather hu into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim King of Iudah. 4 The King chuſeth certaine yong men of the ſerues to learne hu Law. 5 They haue the Kings ordinarie appointed. 8 but they abſtaine from it.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ieruſalem, and beſieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand, with part of the veſſels of the houſe of God, which hee caried into the lande of Shinar, to the houſe of his god, and hee brought the veſſels into his godſtreauſerie.

3 And the king ſpake vnto Aſhpenaz the maſter of his Eunuches, that hee ſhould bring certaine of the children of Iſſrael of the Kings ſeede and of the Princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemiſh, but well fauoured, and inſtruct in all wiſdome, and well ſcene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and ſuch as were able to ſtand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the learning, & the tongue of the Caldeans.

5 And the king appointed them prouiſion euerie day of a portion of the kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, ſo nouriſhing them three yeere, that at the end thereof they might ſtand before the king.

6 Now among theſe were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belſhezzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Miſhael, Melſach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not deſile himſelfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore hee required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not deſile himſelfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches ſaid vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and you drinke: therefore if he ſee your faces worſe liking then the other children, which are of your fort, then ſhall you make me loſe mine head vnto the king.

11 Then ſaid Daniel vnto Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had ſet ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah, 12 Proue thy ſeruants, I beſeech thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulſe to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the kings meate: and as thou ſeeſt, deale with thy ſeruants.

14 So hee conſented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes their countenances appeared fairer, and in † better liking then all the children which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate and the wine that they ſhould drinke, and gaue them pulſe.

17 As for theſe foure children, God gaue them knowledge and vnderſtanding in all learning and wiſdome: alſo he gaue Daniel vnderſtanding of all viſions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was expired that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah: therefore ſtood they before the king.

20 And in all manners of wiſdome and vnderſtanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them ten times better then all the enchanters and aſtrogians that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto the firſt yeere of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 12 The king commeth with all the wiſemen of Babylon to bee ſaued, becauſe they could not interpret his dreame. 16 Daniel requirerth time to ſolue the queſtion. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king, and ſerueſt him in dreames

dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the everlasting kingdome of Christ.

ANd in the second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the King commaunded to call the inchanters and the Astrologians, and the forcerers, and the Caldians for to shew the king his dreames: so they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said vnto them. I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldians to the king in the Aramites language, O king lue for euer: shew thy seruants thy dreame, and we shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the king answered and said to the Caldians. The thing is gone from me. If yee will not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawn in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and said, Let the king shew his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered, and saide, I knowe certainly that ye would † gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye wil not declare me the dream, there is but one iudgment for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt words to speake before mee till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know, if yee can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldians answered before the king, and said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea there is neither king, nor prince nor lord, that asked such things at an inchanter, or Astrologian, or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry, and in great fury, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisdom to Arioch the Kings † chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 ¶ And he answered, and said vnto Arioch the Kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the King? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leasure, and that he would shewe the king the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, *The Name Psal. 113 of God be prayed for euer and euer: for wisdom 2. & 115 and strength are his. 18.

21 And he changeth the times and seasons: hee taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wife, & vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 He discouereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkenes, and the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee, and praye thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen mee wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went & said thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring mee before the King, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before † the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that wil declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame which I haue seen, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king and said, The secret which the king hath demaunded, can neither the wife, the Astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto † the king.

28 But there is a God in heauen, that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchadnezzar, what shall be in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head, vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and he hath reuealed secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As for me, this secret is not shewed me for any wisdom that I haue more then any other liuing, but onely to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest know † the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and beheld, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was to excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine gold, his breist and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighs of brasle, 33 His legges of yron, and his feet were part of yron and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it til a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his seate that were of yron and clay and brake them to peeces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasle, the siluer & the golde broken altogether, & became like the chaffe of the Summer flowers, & the wind caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and wee will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a King of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen hath hee giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferior to thee, of silver, and another third kingdome (shalbe) of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruisth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces and bruite all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall be diuided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And wheras thou sawest yron mixt with clay & earth, they shall mingle themselves with the feed of men: but they shall not ioine one with another, as yron cannot be mixt with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest that the stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasce, the clay, the silver, & the gold: so the great God hath shewed the king what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell vpon his face, and bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweete odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, & sayd, I know of a truth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reuealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, & gaue him many and great gifts. He made him gouerneur ouer the whole prouince of Babel, & chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel made request to the king, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Dauid saue in the gate of the king.

C H A P. III.

1 This king sisseth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they disobeyed the kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. 25 By beleife in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchadnezzar confesseth the power of God after the sights of the miracle.

Nebuchadnezzar the king made an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof sixe cubits: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernors of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchadnezzar the king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellors, the officers, & all the gouernors of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set vp: and they stood before the image which Nebuchadnezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herauld cryed aloud, Be it knowne to you, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchadnezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the mids of an hote fiery furnace.

7 Therefore as soone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and sayde to the king Nebuchadnezzar, O king liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, That every man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fiery furnace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, Shadrach Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchadnezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchadnezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, & all instruments of musike, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made: for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the mids of an hote fiery furnace: for whos that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the king, O Nebuchadnezzar, we are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serue is able to deliuer vs from the hote fiery furnace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowne vnto thee, O king, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchadnezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heare the furnace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his army, to bind Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fiery furnace.

21 So these men were bound in their coats, their hosen and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the mids of the hote fierie fornace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commandement was strait, that the fornace should bee exceeding hot, the flame of the fire slewe those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, fell downe bound into the mids of the hot fiery fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king was astonished and rose vp in haste, and spake, and sayd vnto his counsellors, Did not wee cast three men bound into the mids of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the mids of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the Sonne of God.

26 Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hot fierie fornace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruants of the high God, go forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came forth of the mids of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the Kings counsellors came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coats changed, nor any smel of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and yielded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shalbe drawn in pieces, and their houses shalbe made a iakes, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King, vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward mee.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdome is an euermlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, Which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king he should become as a beast. 31 After hee confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

[Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

1 Saw a dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

2 Therefore I made a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

3 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans, and the soothsayers, to whom I told the dreame, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof,

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I told the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar chiefe of the inchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tel me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed: and behold, I saw a tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reacheth vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughs thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman, and an Holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cried aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruit, that the beasts may flee from vnder it, and the fowles from his branches.

12 Neuertheless, leaue the stumpe of his roots in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasie binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it bee wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grasse of the field.

13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men might know that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giuen it to whom soeuer hee will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I king Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the Spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dreame lete them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof thorow all the world.

18 Whole leaues were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the fowles of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mighty: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the King saw a watchman, and an Holy one that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe stump of the roots thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seuen times passe ouer him.

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the king.

22 That they shal drine thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giue it to whomsoever he will.

23 Whereas they said, that one should leaue the stump of the tree rootes, thy kingdom shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt know, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and breake of thy sinnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there be an healing of thine error.

25 All these things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king spake, and said, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the word was in the Kings mouth, a voice came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, thy kingdom is departed from thee.

29 And they shall drine thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, until thou knowest that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giue it to whomsoever he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driven from men and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heauen, till his haire was grown as Eagles feathers, and his nailes like birds clawes.

31 And at the end of these dayes, I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, & I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him that lueth for euer, whose power is an euermolting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay in his hand, nor say vnto him, What dost thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom, my glory and my beauty was restored vnto me, and my counsellers & my princes sought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar praise and extoll, and magnifie the King of heauen, whose works are all true, and his wayes iudgement, and whose that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

C H A P. V.

5 Belshazzar king of Babylon seeth a band writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers, called of the king, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The king is slain. 32 Darius enioyeth the kingdom.

King Belshazzar make a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while he tasted the wine, <sup>for</sup> commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the king and his princes, his wiues and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels that weretaken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem: and the king and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine, and praised the gods of gold and siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood, and of stone.

5 At the same time appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlestick vpon the plaster of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his lornes were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they should bring the Astrologians, the Caldeans, and the soothsayers. And the king spake, and said to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can read this writing, and declare mee the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of gold about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the Kings interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonished.

10 Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the king and his princes, came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and said, O king, lue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light, and vnderstanding, and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods was found in him: whom the King, Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, for thy father, made chiefe of the incliners, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding, <sup>for</sup> hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and disclosed doubts were found in him, when in Daniel, whom the King named Belshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the King spake, and said to Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding, and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore wifemen and astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if thou canst read the writing, & shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet will I read the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, beare thou. The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiesty, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiesty that hee gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, & feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would; whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his mind hardened in pride, he was depozed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, & his dwelling was with the wilde asses. they fedde him with grasse like oxen, & his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till he knew that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that hee appointeth ouer it whomsoeuer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belhazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest al these things:

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer, and gold, of brasie, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and al thy waies, him hast thou not glorified.

24 Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written: MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN 26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE. God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the balance, and art founde too light.

28 PERES, Thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commaundement of Belhazzar they clothed Daniel with purple and put a chaine of gold about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should bee the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belhazzar the King of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yere old.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made a ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An angel appeareth vnto Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lions by the commaundement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put into the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundred and twenty gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accounts vnto them, and the king should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers & gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, We shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the king, and said thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors & dukes haue consulted together, to make a decree for the king, & to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirty dayes saue of thee, O King, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, & scale the writing, that it bee not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius scaled the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his windowe being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed & praised his God as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came and spake vnto the king concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that every man that shall make request to any god or man within thirtie dayes saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the den of lions? The king answered, and said, The thing is true according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, hee was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him, and hee laboured till the sunne went downe to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the king, Vnderstand, O king, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth may be altered.

16 Then the king commanded, & they brought Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions: now the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and laid vpon the mouth of the den, & the king sealed it with his owne signet, & with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went into his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and the king spake and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the servant of the li-ing God, is not thy God (whome thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue
for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel, and hath shut the lions mouthes: that they haue not hurt me: for my iustice was found out before him, & vnto thee,
O king, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because he beleued in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the king, these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the den of lions, euem they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones in pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the den.

25 ¶ Afterward King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations, and languages y dwell in all the world:
Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel: for he is the liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perill, and his dominion shalbe euerslaining.

27 He refueth and deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel.
4 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerslaining kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar king of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head vpon his bed: and hee wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and said, I sawe in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stouoe vpon the great sea.

3 And foure great beasts came vp from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, and had egles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were plucked off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feet as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast, which was the second, was like a beare, & stood vpon the one side: and hee had three ribs in his mouth betwene his teeth, & they said thus vnto him, Arise and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this I beheld, and lo, there was another like a leopard, which had vpon his backe foure wings of a fowle: the beast had also foure heades, and dominion was giuen him.

7 After this, I sawe in the visions by night, and behold, the fourth beast was fearefull and terrible, and very strong. It had great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feet: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had ten hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde there came vp among them another little horne, before whome there were three of the first hornes plucked away: and behold, in this horne were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the thrones were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snowe, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fiery streame issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and ten thousand thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the books opened.

11 Then I behelde, because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire;

12 As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion, yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, behold, one like the Sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerslaining dominion which shall neuer be taken away, and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middelt of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told me, & shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are foure Kings which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the kingdome of the saints of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feet.

20 Also to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose looke was more stout then his fellows.

21 I beheld, and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preailed against them.

22 Vntill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then hee said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shalbe vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall tread it downe, and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of his kingdome, are ten kings that shall rise, and another shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue three kings.

25 And shal speake words against the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that hee may change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand vntill a time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen, shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerslaining kingdome, and all powers shall serue and obey him.

18 Then this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cognitions which troubled me, and my conscience changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betwene a ramme and a goat. To The utter standing of the vision.

IN the third yere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, each vnto me Daniel, after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

1 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shulhan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the river of Vlai.

2 Then I looked vp, and saw, and behold, there stood before the river a ram, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were high; but one was higher then another, and the higheste came vp last.

3 I saw the ram pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beasts might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but hee did what hee listed, and became great.

4 And as I considered, behold, a goat came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an horne that appeared betwene his eyes.

5 And he came vnto the ram that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the river, and ran vnto him in bitterness rage.

6 And I saw him come vnto the ram, and being moued against him, hee smote the ram, and brake his two hornes, and there was no power in the ram to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ram out of his power.

7 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when hee was at the strongest, his great horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward the foure windes of the heauen.

8 And out of one of them came forth a little horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

9 Yea it grew vp vnto the hofte of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hofte, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them.

10 And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hofte, from whom the dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was cast down.

11 And a time shall be giuen him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquity: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

12 Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquity of the desolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the annie vader foot?

13 And he answered me, Vnto the evening and the morning, two thousand and three hundred: then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed.

14 ¶ Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

15 And I heard a mans voice betwene the banks of Vlai, which called, and said, Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision.

16 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shall the vision.

17 Now as hee was speaking vnto me, I being a sleep fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

18 And hee said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last wrath: for in the end of the time appointed is shall come.

19 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

20 And the goat is the king of Grecia, & the great horne that is betwene his eyes, is the first king.

21 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.

22 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shall be consumed, a king of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

23 And his power shall be mightie, but not in his strength: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.

24 And through his policie also hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stand vp against the Prince of princes, but hee shall be broken downe without hand.

25 And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes.

26 And I Daniel was stricken, and sicke certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings businesse, and I was astonied at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue the performance of God, which hee had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 4 A true confession. 5 Daniels prayer heard. 6 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the vision of the seuentie weekes. 7 The mourning of Christ. 8 The building againe of Ierusalem. 9 The death of Christ.

IN the first yere of Darius the sonne of Abasmetrosh of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the Realme of the Caldeans,

1 Such in the first yere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by bookes the number of the yeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

2 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

3 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepest couenant and mercy toward them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandments,

4 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

5 For we would not obeye thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

6 O Lord, righteousness belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs open shame, as appeareth this day, vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farr off, through all the countries, whither thou hast driven them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs. appertaineth open shame, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walke in his Lawes, which hee had layd before vs by the ministerie of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea all Israel haue transgressed thy Law, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Law of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And he hath confirmed his words, which hee spake against vs, and against our Iudges, that Iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs as it is written in the law of Moses: yet inade we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for we would not heare his voice.

15 *And now, O Lord our God that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath bee turned away from thy city Ierusalem thine holy mountaine: for because of our finnes and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that I yetn waste for the Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the cite wherupon thy Name is called: for we do not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgive, O Lord consider, and doe it: deferre not for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy cite, and vpon thy people.

20 * And whiles I was speaking and praying and confessing my sinne, and the sin of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, enen the man * Gabriel, whom I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the euening oblation.

22 And he informed mee, and talked with mee, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seuenie weekes are determined vpon thy people, and vpon thine holy cite, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the finnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euertlasting righteousness, and to seale vp the vision and prophesie, and to anoint the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand that from the going forth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to build Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the Prince, shall be seuen weekes and threescor and two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall, euen in a troubleous time.

26 And after threescor and two weekes shall Messiah bee slaine, and shall haue nothing, and the people of the Prince that shall come, shall destroy the cite and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linen, 11 which sheweth him wherefore he sent.

IN the third yeere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was long, and hee vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time, I Daniel was in heaven: for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth: neither did I anoint my self at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I liſt vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man clothed in linen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of * Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasle, and the voice of his words was like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with mee, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in mee, for my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I reitened no power.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, I slept on my face and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand touched mee, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands, 11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had said this word vnto mee, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto mee, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy self before thy God, thy words were heard, & I am come for thy words.

13 But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me one and twentie dayes: but loe, Michael one of the chiefe princes came to helpe mee, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Nowe I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the vision vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these words vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and sayd vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon mee, and I haue retained no strength.

17 For how can the servant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in mee.

18 Then there came againe and touched mee one like the appearance of a man, and hee strengthened mee, 19 And said, O man greatly beloued, feare not: peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and sayd, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened mee.

20 Then sayd hee, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth loe the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: & there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

Apophise of the kingdomes which shall bee enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Rommes.

After I stood to encourage & to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet three kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength and by his riches hee shall stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a mightie king shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shall stand vp, his kingdome shall be broken, and shall bee diuided toward the foure windes of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen to bee for others besides those.

5 And the king of the South shall bee mighty, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall bee a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeeeres they shall be ioyned together: for the kings daughter of the South shall come to the king of the North to make an agreement, but hee shall not retain the power of the arme, neither shall he continue, nor his armie: but shee shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and hee that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her root shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the forrest of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile.

8 And shall also cary captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of silver and of gold, and he shall continue moe yeeeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mighty great armie, and one shall come, and ouerflow: and shall passe thorow: then shall he returne, and be stirred vp at his forrest.

11 And the king of the South shall be angry, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for hee shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proud, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for he shall cast down thou sands: but he shall not sit preuaile.

13 For the king of the North shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth after certaine yeeeres with a mighty armie, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the king of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to withstand.

16 But hee that shall come shall doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Again he shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederats with him: thus shall hee doe, and he shall giue him the daughter of women to destroy her: but he shall not stand on his side, neither be for her.

18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the yles, and shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the sorts of his owne land: but hee shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more found.

20 Then shall stand vp in his place in the glory of the kingdome one that shall raise taxes: but after few dayes he shall bee destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a vile person to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by Rattories.

22 And the armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the covenant.

23 And after the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a small people.

24 Hee shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and hee shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: hee shall diuide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and hee shall forecast his deuiCES against the strong holds, euen for a time.

25 Also he shall stirre vp his power, & his courage against the king of the South, with a great army, and the king of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great & mighty army: but he shall not stand: for thy shall forecast, and praue against him.

26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of his meat, shall destroy him: and his armie shall ouerflow: and many shall fall and be slaine.

27 And both their kings hearts shall be to dominie chiefe, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auail, for yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall he returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall bee against the holy Couenant: so shall he doe and returre to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed hee shall returre, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be fury, and returre, and fret against the holy Couenant: so shall he doe, he shall euen returre and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy Couenant.

31 And times shall stand on his part, & they shall pollute the Sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly breake the Couenant, shall he cause to come by flattery: but the people that do know their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie, and by spoyle many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little helpe, but many shall cleaue vnto them faierly.

35 And some of them of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time come out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the long shal due what him list: he shall exalt himselfe and magnifie himselfe against all that is God, and shall speake marvellous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall he honor the god Mauzim: and the god whom his fathers knew not shall he honour with gold and with silver, and with precious stones: and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the holdes of Mauzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glorie, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the king of the South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde with charrets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shall enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflow and passe thorow.

41 He shall enter also into the pleasant land, and many countreys shall be ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But hee shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde, and of silver, & ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East, and the North shall trouble him: therefore he shall goe forth with great wrath to destroy and root out many.

45 And he shall plant the Tabernacles of his palace, between the seas in the glorious & holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuurance of the Church by Christ.
And at that time shall Michael stand vp, the great Prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to bee a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shall bee found written in the booke.

2 And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth, shall awake: some to euellast ing life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be wise, shall shine as the brightness of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starrs for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, & seale the booke till the end of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And ouer sayd vnto the man clothed in linen which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shall be the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when hee held vp his right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall last for a time, two times and a halfe, and when he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then sayd I, O my Lord, what shall bee the end of these things?

9 And he sayd, Goe thy way Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there shall bee a thousand two hundredth and ninety dayes.

12 Blessed is he that wayeth & commeth to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty dayes.

13 But goe thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest, and stand vp in thy lot at the ende of the dayes.

HOSEA. THE ARGUMENT.

After that the true tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtill counsell of Ieroboam the son of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commanded by his worde, worshipped him according to their own fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselves to most vile idolatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse and worse, and still despised Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboams (the sonne of Iasah), God sent Hosea & Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to conuince them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to be greatly in the fauour of God, and so to be his people people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie, and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdom, and give them to the Assyrians to be led away captives. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seventy yeres, though they remained still in their vices, and wickedness, and derided the Prophet, and scorned Gods judgments. And because they should never be reconciled with their wives only nor ye. Rather than this by the sweetness of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principal parts of the Law, which are the promise of salvation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part be distressed the Jews, for the second, he useth threatenings and rebukes to bring them from their wicked manners and vices, and thus he sheweth the scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promise, to draw them to be good, or els by threatenings of his judgments to scare them from vice, and altho that the whole Law contains these two points, yet the Prophets use rather more peculiarly both the one of Gods judgments, and the other.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatry of the people. 3 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 The heart of a people.

He word of the Lord that came unto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies of Vzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioath King of Israel.

1 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife of fornications and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredomes, departing from the Lord.

2 So he went, and tooke Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

3 And the Lord said vnto him, Cal his name Izzel: for yet a litle, and I will visit the blood of Izzel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdom of the house of Israel.

4 And at that day will I strip breake the bow of Israel in the valley of Izzel.

5 She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pittie vpon the house of Israel: but I will vterly take them away.

6 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will haue them by the Lord their God, and will not take them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.

7 Now when she had waigned Lo-ruhamah, shee conceived and bare a sonne.

8 Then said God, Cal his name Lo-ammi, for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

9 Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the land of the sea, which cannot be measured: nortold: and in that place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

10 Then shall the children of Iudah, & the children of Israel be gathered together, & appoint them selues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Izzel.

CHAP. II.

1 The people called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatry, & threateneth them except they repent.

6 Aay vnto your brechren, Ammit, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

7 Plead with your mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries from betweene her breasts,

8 Left I strip her naked, and let her as in the day that she was borne, & make her as a wilderness, and leaue her like a drie land, and slay her for this.

9 And I will haue no pittie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications.

10 For their mother hath played the harlot: shee hath conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she did, I will go after my lovers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, my oyle and my drinke, 11 Therefore, behold, I will strip away with thornes, and make an hedge, that they may not find her pathes.

12 Though she follow after formers, yet shall she not come at them: though she beke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall I say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

13 Now he did not know that I gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her silver and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

14 Therefore will I reuenge, and take away my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will reuenge my wooll and my flaxe, as it comes her shame.

15 And now will I discover her lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliue her out of mine hand.

16 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast daies, her new Moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feasts.

17 And I will destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof shee hath fed: These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me, and I will make them as a forest, and the wild beasts shall eat them.

18 And I will visit vpon her the daies of Baalim, wherein shee burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her rare ringes, and heriewels, and shee followed her louers, and forgot me, saith the Lord.

19 Therefore, behold I will allure her and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her.

20 And I will giue her her vineyard from thence, and the valley of Achor for the dapre of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the daies of her youth, and as in the day when shee came vp out of the land of Egypt.

21 And at that day saith the Lord, thou shalt call me Ihi, and shalt call me no more Baali.

22 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall no more be remembered by their names.

23 And in that day will I make a conuenant for them with the wild beasts, and with the fowles of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth, and I will breake the bow, and the sword, and the bastell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

24 And I will marry thee vnto me for ever: yet I will marry thee vnto mee in righteousnesse, and in iudgement, and in mercy, and in compassion.

25 I will euen marry thee vnto me in faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

26 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lorde, I will euen heare the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, Ro 9.

15. 1. pet.
2. 10.

21 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oile, and they shall heare Izrael.

23 And I will show her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her that was not pittied, and I will say to them which were not my people, *Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shall be cast off for their idolatry. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to me, Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord towards the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and loued the wine bottels.

2 So I bought her to mee for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barley, and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: Thou shalt not play the harlot: and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be fo vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall remaine many dayes without a King, and without a prince, and without an eking, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and Dauid their king, and shall feare the Lord and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

CHAP. IIIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel.

Heare the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a contumacie with the inhabitants of the land, because they say, We haue no mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein shall be cut off, with the beastes of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the Sea shall bee taken away.

4 Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to mee: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They eat vp the finnes of my people, and lift vp their minds in their iniquity.

9 And there shall be like people like priest: for I will visit their waies vpon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eat and not haue ynough: they shall commit adultery, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of the mountains, and burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oaks, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall bee harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou Israel play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not yee vnto Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to Beth-anen, nor swear, The Lord lieth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as a vntuly heifer, Now the Lord will feed them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is cloyed to idols: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring ye.

19 The wind hath bound them vpin her wings, and they shall be ashamed of their sacrifices.

CHAP. V.

Against the priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The holie of man is in wine.

O yee priests heare this, and hearken yee, O house of Israel, and gine ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is towards you, because you haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not gine their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the mids of them, and they haue not known the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord, but they shall not find him: for he hath withdrawn himself from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blowe yet the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shame in Ramah: erie out at Beth-anen, after thee, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to knowe the truth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that remoune the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppress'd, and broken in iudgement, because hee willingly walked after the commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottenesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Ashur, and sent vnto king Iareb: yet could hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a Lion, and as a Lyons whelp to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle and go away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault and seeke mee: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction casteth man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for hee hath spoyled, and hee will heale vs: hee hath wounded vs, and hee will bind vs vp.

3 After two dayes will hee reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall lue in his fight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and endeour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I increate thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and by iudgements more as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired mercy and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like men haue transgressed the Couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theues waite for a man, so the companies of priests murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene villany in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue delt falsly: and the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednes now their owne inuentions haue defet them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very ouen heated by the baker, which craketh from raising vp, and from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 This is the day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: hee stretcheth out his hand to the scornors.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in y morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue deuoured their Iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath mixt himselfe among the people, Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and hee knoweth it not: yea, gray haire is here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face: and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a donee deceiued, without heart: they call to Egypt: they goe to Ashur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me, destruction shall bee vnto them, because they haue transgressed against mee: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against mee.

14 And they haue not cried vnto mee with their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: they assemblen themselves for corne and wine, and they rebell against mee.

15 Though I haue bound, and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most High, they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues; this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah, and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

Set the trumpet to thy mouth, he shall come as an eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my Couenant, and trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall cry vnto mee, My God, wee know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They haue let vp a King, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their silver and their golde haue they made them idols: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy cause, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without innocencie!

6 For it came euen from Israel, the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the cause of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwind: it hath no staikes: the bud shall bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is denounced, now shall they bee among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Ashur: they are as a wilde ass alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sowe a little for the burden of the King and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law, but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and vilize their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his Maker, and buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will fend a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

Reioyce not, O Israel, for ioys as other peoples: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hadst loued a reward vpon euery corne floor.

2 The floure and the winepresse shall not feede them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Ashur.

4 They shall not offer wine to the Lord, neither shall all their sacrifices bee pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof shall be polluted: for their bread for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will yee doe then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from destruction, but Egypt shall ga her them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their Tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come, the dayes of recompense are come, Israel shall know it: the prophet is a fool: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim should bee with my God: but the Prophet is the inare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the House of his God.

9 They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeon: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, hee will visit their finnes.

10 I found Israel like grapes in the wildernesse: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figtree at her first time: but they went to Baal-peor, and separated themselves vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to their louers.

11 Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a bird: from the birth, and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will deprime them from being men: yea, wo to them when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, was as a tree in Tyros planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murderer.

14 O Lord giue them: What wilt thou giue them? Giue them a barren wombe, and dry breasts.

15 All their wickednes in Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inventions I will cast them out of mine House: I will lose them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is fawten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles. 4 His destruction for the same.

Israel is an emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruite thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is diuided: now shall they be found faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, Wee haue no king because wee feared, not the Lord: and what should a King doe vnto vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsly in making a covenent: thus iudgement groweth as wormwood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the Chemarims thereof shall reioyce on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Ashtur, for a present vnto King Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 O Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the foune vpon the water.

8 The high places also of Auen shall be destroyed, as the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, Couer vs, and to the hills, Fall vs. 1/2. 1. 19

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the dayes of Gibeon: there they stood: the battell in Gibeon as 6. 16. and gainst the children of iniquity did not touch them. 9. 6.

10 It is my desire that I should chastise them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two furrowes.

11 And Ephraim as an heifer vnto delight in threshing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plough, and Iakob shall breake his clods.

12 Sow to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercie: breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seke the Lord, till he come and raighe righteousness vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: yee haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruite of lies: because thou didst trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you because of your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

When Israel was a childe then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as a sone should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cordes of a man, even with bands of loue, and I wroste to them as be that takerh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layed the meat vnto them.

5 Hee shall no more returne in to the land of Egypt: but Ashtur shall be his King, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most High, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as Admah? how shall I see thee, at Zeboim, mine heart is turned wth me: my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the herences of my wrath: I will not enter to destroy Ephraim: for I am God and not man, the Holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a Lion: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 They shall leare as a sparow out of Egypt: and as a done out of the land of Ashtur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, and the the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with God, and is faithfull with the Saturs.

CHAP. XII.

He a monisheth by Iakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

Ephraim is fed with the wind, and followeth after the East winde: he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a covenant with Aschur, and oyle is caried into Egypt.

1 The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and will visite Iakob according to his wayes: according to his workes will he recompense him.

2 Heeooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had power with God.

3 And had power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and prayed vnto him: hee found him in Beth el, and there he spake with vs.

4 Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.

5 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

6 Hee is Canaan, the ballances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppress.

7 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me our riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, that were wickedesse.

8 Though I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles as in the diues of the solemne feasts, 9 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, & I haue multiplied visions, and vied similitudes by the ministration of the Prophets.

10 Is there iniquitie in Gilgal? surely they are vanities: they sacrifice bullockes in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

11 And Iakob fled into the countrey of Aram and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept Joseph.

12 And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was hee returned.

13 But Ephraim prouoked him with his places: therefore shall his blood be powdered vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 and cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was trembling: hee exalted himselfe in Israel, but hee hath sinned in Baal, and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their silver, and idols according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a man, Let them kille the calues.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud, and as the morning dewe that passeth away as the chaffe that is druen with a winde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but mee: for there is no Saviour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will bee vnto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Aschur.

8 I will meet them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the caule of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion: the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 I am: where is thy king, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy Iudges of whom thou saidst, Giue me a king, and princes?

11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a trauailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, else would hee not stand still at the time, even at the breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though hee grow vp among his brethren, an East wind shall come, when the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wilderness, and dry vp his veine, and his fountaine shall be dried vp: hee shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 Hee exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requirerh praye and thanks.

Samaria shall be desolate: for shee hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the swords: their infants shall be dashed in peeces, and their women with child shall be ripe.

2 O Israel, returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you words and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calues of our lips.

4 Aschur shall not saue vs, neither will wee ride vpon horses, neither will wee say any more to the worke of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 I will heale their rebellion: I will lone them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will bee as the dew vnto Israel: hee shall grow as the lillie, and fasten his rootes, as the vines of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell vnder his shadow, shall returne: they shall reioyce as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the seat thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to do any more with idoles? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon mee is thy fruit found.

10 Who is wise, and hee shall vnderstand these things: and prudent, and hee shall know them: for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

IOEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threateth greater plagues, because they grew daily to a more hardnesse of heart, an rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, hee exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceed from the heart, because they had grievously offended God. And so dauid, hee promisseth that God will be mercifull and not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers: but so: "Find his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheep, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead."

CHAP. I.

1 A prophesie against the Iewes. 2 Hee exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting for their miserie that was at hand.

IHe word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitants of the land, whether such a thing hath beene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grasshopper eaten: and the residue of the grasshopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake ye drunkards, and weep and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, a nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pisteth out the bark of my figtree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe, the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering and the drinke offering is cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vinedressers, for the whrate, and for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figtree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, nam all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the soones of men.

13 Gird your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: Come, and lie all night in sackcloth, yee ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord.

15 Alas for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seed is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed, the barnes are broken downe for the cornes is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne? the herds of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beasts of the field cry also vnto thee: for the rivers of water are dried vp, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness.

CHAP. II.

He propheseth of the coming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18 The love of God toward his people.

Blow the trumpet in Zion, and shoute: imminet holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A day of darkenesse, and of blacknesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon the mountaines, for there a great people and a mighty, there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it vnto the yeres of many generations.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of Eden before him: and behinde him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne.

5 Like the noyse of charrets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they scape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blacknesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and every man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their pathes.

8 Neither shall one thrust another, but every one shall walke in his path, and when they fall vpon the sword they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall run to and fro in the city, they shall run vpon the wall: they shall climbe vp vpon the houses, & enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the Sunne and the Moone shall bee darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shall utter his voice before his host: for his host is very great: for hee is strong that doeth his word: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also woe the Lord saith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning,

C H A P. I I I.

Of the iudgements of God against the enemies of his people.

FOr behold, in those dayes, & in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem.

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the valley of Iehoshaphat, and will plead with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue cast lots for my people, and haue giuen the child for the harlot, and sold the girl for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and what haue ye to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestina? will ye render me a recompense? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and freely will I render your recompense vpon your head.

5 For ye haue taken my silver and my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly & pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah, and the children of Ierusalem haue ye sold vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

7 Behold, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head.

8 And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, & they shall sell them to the Sabrans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

10 Breake your plowshares into swordes, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, & come all ye heathen, and gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord cast downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your sithes: for the harvest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the wine presse is full: yea, the wine presses run ouer, for their wickednes is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne and moone shall be darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and utter his voice from Ierusalem, and the heauens & the earth shall shake, but the Lord wilbe the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall yee knowe that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers go thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe new wine, and the hills shall flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall run with waters, and a fountain shall come forth of the house of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shall be waste, & Edom shall be a desolat wilderness, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their blood that I haue not cleansed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

A M O S.

13 And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth, if hee will returne and repent, and leaue a blessing behinde him, as a meat offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemn assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation: gather the elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priests, the ministers of the Lord, weepe betweene the porch and the altar, & let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproch, that the heathen should rule ouer them. * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be ialous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answere and say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you corne and wine, and oyle, and you shall be satisfied there with: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen.

20 But I will remoue farre off from you the Northern army, and I will drive him into a land barren and desolate, with his face toward the East sea, and his head to the vtmost sea, and his sinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to do thus.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad and reioyce: for the Lord will do great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye heathen of the field: for the palaces of the wilderness are greener: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figtree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion and reioyce in the Lord your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of righteousness, * and he will cause to come downe for you the raine, even the first raine, and the latter raine in the first month.

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheat, and the presses shall abound with wine and oyle.

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the grasshopper hath eaten, the cankerworme and the caterpillar, and the palmer worme, my great host which I sent among you.

26 So ye shall eate and be satisfied, and prayse the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt mercifully with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also knowe that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward will I poure out my spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesie: your old men shall dream dreames, and your yong men shall see visions.

29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maides in those dayes will I poure my spirit.

30 And I will shew wonders in the heauens, and in the earth, blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The sunne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whosoever shall call on the Name of the Lord shall be saved: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem shall be deliuerance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant whom the Lord shall call.

A M O S.

THE ARGUMENT.

AMONG many other Prophets that God raised up to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickedness and idolatry, he stirred up Amos, who was an herdsman or shepherd of a poor town, and gave him both knowledge and confidence to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible judgments against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had lived as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their times will punish them, that they could look for nothing but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by restrained repentance. And finally he comforted the godly with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whom they should have perfect deliverance and salvation.

C H A P. I.

1 The time of the prophete of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord against Damascus, 6 The Philistines, Tyrus, Judah, and Ammon.

He wordes of Amos who was among the herdmen at Tecoah, which he saw vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioath king of Israel, two yeres before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and utter his voice from Ierusalem, & the dwelling places of the thepicares shall perith, and the top of Carmel shall wither.

3 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ben hadad.

5 I will breake also the battes of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bekeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they carried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Aindod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ahkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perith, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, for three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembered the brotherly covenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off al pittie, and his anger spoiled him enermore, and his wrath watched him alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iemau, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Buzrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces therof with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whislewind, 15 And their king shall go into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

C H A P. II.

Against Moab, Iudah and Israel.

THUS saith the Lord, For their transgressions of Moab, & for foure I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, & Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandments, and their lyes caused them to erre, alter the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for siluer, & the poore for shoes.

7 They gave ouer the head of the poore in the dust of the earth, and peruerit the waies of the meek: and a man and his father will goe in to a maide to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie down vpon clothes laid to pledge by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the Amorites before them, whose height was like the height of the Cedars, and he was strong as the oaks: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you forty yeres thorow the wilderness to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And traifed vp of your Ions for Prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites: Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Behold, I am pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves.

14 Therefore the sight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

15 Nor he that handled the bow shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse saue his life.

16 And he that is of mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

He reproveth the house of Israel of ingratitude, 11 For the which God will punish them.

HEARE this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, even against the whole familie, which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You onely haue I knowne of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they bee agreed?

4 Will a lion roare in the forrest when he hath no pray? or will a lions whelpc cree out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?

5 Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fowler is? or will hee take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or shall a trumpet be blown in the citie, and the people bee afraid? or shall there bee euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he revealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lion hath roared: who wil not be afraid? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but prophesie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the places in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

10 For they knowe not to doe right, sayeth the Lord: they store vp violence, and robbrie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, An advertisement shall come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepheard taketh out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an eare, so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus: in a couch.

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hosts.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the horses of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shall bee consumed, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEARE this word, yee kine of Bathan that are in the mountaine of Samaria. which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his Holinesse, that so, the dayes shall come vpon you, that he will take you away with thorns, and your posterity with fishhookes.

3 And yee shall goe out at the breaches euery low forward: and yee shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to Beth-el, & transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three yeeres.

5 And offer a thanksgiving of leauen, publish, and proclaime the free offerings, for this liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenes of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three moneths to the harvest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one peece was rained vpon, and the peece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildew: your great gardens, and your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your olive trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto mee, sayth the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your herdes: and I haue made the flinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nestles: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, 23 God ouerthrew Sodome and Gomorah: and ye were as a firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to meet thy God, O Israel.

13 For loe, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought, which maketh the morning darknesse, and walketh vpon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of hosts is his name.

CHAP. V.

Lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEARE yee this word, which I lift vp vpon you, heuen a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The virgin Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: mee is leie vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an hundred: and that which went forth by an hundred, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and goe not to Beer sheba: for Gilgal shall goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shall liue, lest he breake our like hie in the house of Ioseph, and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteouesitie in the earth.

8 He maketh Pleiades and Orion, and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 Hee strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him that rebuked in the gates and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and yet take from him burdens of wheate, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleiades vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I knowe your manifold transgressions and and your mighty sin: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shall be in all streetes: and they shall say in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the viues shall be lamentation: for I will passe therow thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you that desire the day of the Lord: what haue ye to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darkenesse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a heare met him: or went into the house, and leaped his hand on the wall, and the serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkenesse, and not light: euen darkenesse, and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solenne assemblies.

22 Though you offer mee burnt offerings and meat offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beausts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy viols)

24 And let iudgement run downe as waters, and righteousness as a mighty riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices & offerings in the wilderness fortie yeeeres, O house of Israel?

26 But you haue borne Siccuth your king, and Chium your images, and the star of your gods, which ye made to your ielues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel liuing in pleasure.

Woe to them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaines of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them,

1 Go you vnto Calneh, & see: and from thence goe you to Hamoth the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistines: bee they better then their kingdomes, or the border of their land greater then your border,

2 Yee that put farre away the euill day, and approach to the fear of iniquitie.

3 They lie vpon beds of yuorie, & stretch themselves vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

4 They sing to the found of the vicle: they inuent to themselves instruments of musicke like Dauid.

5 They drinke wine in bowles, & anoint themselves with the chiefe ointments, but no man is forry for the affliction of Ioseph.

6 Therefore now shall they go captiue with the first that goe captiue, and the sorrow of them that stretch themselves is at hand.

7 The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellencie of Iakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver vp the sitie with all that is therein,

8 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

9 And his vnkle shall take him vp and burne him to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And hee shall say, Noe, Then shall he say, Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

10 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and hee will hitte the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

11 Shall horses run vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into worme-wood.

12 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: ye say, Haue not we gotten vs horses by our owne strength?

13 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entering in of Hamath, vnto the riuer of the wil-dernesse.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth the destructions, wherof he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counsell.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto mee, and behold, hee formed stratiagers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and so, it was in the latter growth after the kings moouing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land then said, O Lord God, spare I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto mee, and behold, the Lord God called vnto iudgement by fire, and it deuoured the great deeps, and did eat vp a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the high places of Iisak shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall bee led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also Amaziah sayd vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread, and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappel, and it is the Kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a Prophets loue, but I was an herdsman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

15 And the Lord tooke mee as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto mee, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel, 16 Nowe therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophesie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Iſhak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Thy wife shall bee an harlot in the citie, and thy ſennes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall bee diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captiuitie tooch of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Iſrael. 7 The Lord ſwearth. 11 The ſinning of the word of God.

Thus hath the Lord God ſhewed vnto mee, and behold, a basket of Summer fruit.

2 And hee ſayd, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A basket of Summer fruit. Then ſaid the Lord vnto me, The end is come vpon my people of Iſrael, I will paſſe by them no more.

3 And the ſongs of the temple ſhal be howlings in that day, ſayeth the Lord God: many dead bodies ſhall be in every place, they ſhall caſt them forth with ſilence.

4 Heare this, O yee that ſwallow vp the poore, that ye may make the needy of the land to ſaile,

5 Saying, When will the new moneth be gone, that we may tell corned? & the Sabbath that we may ſet forth wheat, and make the Ephah ſmall, and the ſhekel great, and falſifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for ſiluer, and the needy for ſhoes: yea, and ſel the reſidue of the wheat.

7 The Lord hath ſworne by the excellencie of Iakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it ſhall riſe vp wholly as a flood, and it ſhall bee caſt out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, ſayeth the Lord God, I will euen cauſe the Sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feaſts into mourning, and all your ſongs into lamentation: & I will bring ſackcloth vpon all ſhoines, and baldneſſe vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an only ſonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord God, that I will ſend a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirſt for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they ſhall wander from ſea to ſea, and from the North euen vnto the Eaſt ſhall they runne to and fro to ſecke the word of the Lord, and ſhall not finde it.

13 In that day ſhall the faire virgines and the yong men periſh for thirſt.

14 They that ſware by the ſinne of Samaria, and that ſay, Thy God, O Dan, lieth, and the manner of Beer ſheba lieth, euen they ſhall fall, and neuer riſe vp againe.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings againſt the Temple, 2 and againſt Iſrael. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I ſaw the Lord ſtanding vpon the Altar, and hee ſaid, Smite the lintell of the doore, that the poſtes may ſhake, and cut them in pieces, ſewen the heads of them all, and I will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſword: hee that ſleeth of them, ſhall not flee away: and hee that eſcapeth of them, ſhall not bee deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them: though they climb vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themſelues in the top of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them out thence: and though they bee hid from my ſight in the bottom of the ſea, thence will I command the ſerpent and he ſhall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I command the ſword, and it ſhall ſlay them: and I will ſet mine eyes vpon them for euill and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hoſtes ſhall touch the land, and it ſhall melt away, and all that dwell therein, ſhall mourne, & it ſhall riſe vp wholly like a flood, and ſhalbe drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 Hee buildeth his ſpheres in the heauen, and hath laid the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the ſea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians vnto me, O children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord? Hauent I brought vp Iſrael out of the land of Egypt? and the Philiftines from Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the ſiſul kingdome, and I will deſtroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheleſſe, I will not utterly deſtroy the houſe of Iakob, ſaith the Lord.

9 For loe, I will command, and I will ſit the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, like as come is ſited in a ſieue: yet ſhall not the leaſt ſtone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the ſinners of my people ſhall die by the ſword, which ſay, The euill ſhall not come, nor haſten for vs.

11 In that day will I raiſe vp the Tabernacle of Dauid that is fallen downe, and cloſe vp the breaches thereof, and I will raiſe vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of old.

12 That they may poſſeſſe the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, becauſe my Name is called vpon them, ſaith the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that the plowman ſhall touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that ſoweth ſeed: and the mountains ſhall drop ſweete wine, and all the hills ſhall melt.

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Iſrael: and they ſhall build the waſte cities, and inhabit them, and they ſhall plant vineyards, and drinke the wine thereof: they ſhall alſo make gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, & they ſhall no more be pulled vp againe out of their land which I haue giuen thee, ſaith the Lord thy God.

COBADIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

The Iſtaurians which came of Eſau, were moſtall enemies alwayes to the Iſraelites, which came of Iakob, and therefore did not only vexe them continually with ſundry kindes of crueltie, but alſo ſinned vpon others so fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised up his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set up the kingdom of Messiah which he had promised.

THe wisdom of Obadiah. Thus sayth the Lord God against Edom, Wee haue heard a rumour from the Lorde, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocks, whose habitation is high, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the Eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, sayth the Lord.

5 Came thieves to thee, or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stolen, till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

6 How are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue decyued thee, & preuailed against thee: they that eat thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shall not I, in that day, sayth the Lord, even destroy the wife men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shalbe afraid, because every one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy brother Iakob, shame shall coner thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever.

11 When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, even thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue laid hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stood in the crosse-ways to cut them off that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day of the Lord is neere vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall retorne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue drunke vpon mine holy mount, taine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall be as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall bee deliuerance, and it shall bee holy, and the house of Iakob shall possesse their possessions.

18 And the house of Iakob shall be a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims, and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Benjamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdom shall be the Lords.

IONAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

WHen Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gave him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe cite of the Assyrians, because he had appointed that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three daies preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres had not conuered to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iosiah and Ieroboam, as 2. King 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah staid when he was sent to preach. 4 As scrupelous ariseth, and bee cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THe word of the Lord came also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to Nineueh, that great city, and crie against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

3 But Ionah rose vp to flee into Tarsheish from the presence of the Lorde, and went downe to Iapho, and he found a ship going to Tarsheish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that hee might goe with them vnto Tarsheish from the presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and sayd vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? arise, call vpon thy God, if so bee that God will thinke vpon pray.

vs, that we perish not.

7 And they said euery one to his fellow, Come, and letvs cast lots, that wee may know for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Hebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraide, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that hee fled from the presence of the Lord, because hee had told them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the Sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the Sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And hee said vnto them, Take mee, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuerthelesse, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, wee beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, & offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vov'es.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the bellie of the fish three dayes and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes bellie. 2 His prayer. 3 He is deliuered.

Then Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly,

2 And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly of hel cryed I, and thou heardest my voice.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome in the mids of the sea, and the floods compassed mee about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer mee.

4 Then said I, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed mee about vnto the soule: the depth closed mee round about, and the weeds were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaynes: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembered the Lord, and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thanksgiving, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 3 The repentance of the king of Nineueh.

And the word of the Lord came vnto Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great city, and preach vnto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose, and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie, of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fortie dayes, and Nineueh shall be ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh beleued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came to the king of Nineueh, & he rose from his throne, & he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed & said through Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king, and his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor beast, bullocke, nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feed nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and cry mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell, if God will turne, and repent, and turne away from his fierce wrath, that wee perish not?

10 And God saw their workes that they turned from their euill ways: and God repented of the euill that he had said that he would do vnto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I prevented it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, & of great kinde-nesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die, then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Doest thou well to be angry?

5 So Ionah went out of the citie, and sat on the East side of the city, and there made him a boother, and sat vnder it in the shadow, till hee might see what should be done in the city.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, & made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadow ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East wind: & the sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that he fainted, & wished in his heart to die, & said, It is better for me to die then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Ionah, Doest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pittie on the gourd, for the which thou hast not laboured neither made it grow, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, 11 And should I not spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are sixscore thousand persons, that cannot disceiue betweene their right hand & their left hand, and also much cattell?

QMICAH,

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah served in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the least thirte yeeres. at what time Iſaiah prophesied. Hee declareth the destruction first of the one kingdom, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednesse, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this end he noteth the wickednesse of the people, the crueltie of the princes and governors, and the permission of the false prophets, and the delighting in them. Then he setteth forth the coming of Christ, his kingdom, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resided Abab, and all his false prophets, as 1 King. 22.8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatrie.

He word of the Lord that came unto Micah the Morashite, in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which hee saw concerning Samaria and Ierusalem.

2 Heare all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God bee witness against you, even the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For beholde, the Lord cometh out of his place, and will come downe, and tread vpon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleave) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are poured downward.

5 For the wickednesse of Iacob a all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iacob? Is not Samaria? and which are the high places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble down into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof shall bee broken, and all the gifts thereof shall bee burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for shee gathered it of the hire of an harlot, & they shall returne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will go without clothes, & naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, & mourning as y<sup>e</sup> ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemies is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare ye it not at Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: shee that dwelleth at Zaanan shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel, the enemies shall receive of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charret to the brasse of price: thee is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth Gath: the houses of Achizib shall be as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Maresbah, hee shall come vnto Adullam, the glorie of Israel.

16 Make thee bald: and haue thee for the delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton and daintie people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

Woe vnto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednes vpon their beds: when the morning is light they practise it, because their hand hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man & his house, even man & his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord. Behold, against this family haue I deuised a plague whereof yee shall not plucke your neckes, and yee shall not goe so proudly: for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, We be vtterly wasted: hee hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a cord by lot in the Congregation of the Lord.

6 They that prophesied, prophesie ye not. They shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take name.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iacob, is the spirit of the Lord thortwed? are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him that walketh vprightly?

8 But he that was yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemy: they spoile the beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue yee cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, even with a sore destruction.

11 If a man walke in the spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euill be the Prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather thee wholly, O Iacob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, even as the flocke in the mids of their fold: the cities shall be full of bruit of the men.

13 The breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out and passe by the gate, and go out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shall be vpon their heads.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes & false prophets. And I said, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iacob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: should thou

power.

nor ye know iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skinned from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they ate also the flesh of my people and flay of their skinned from them, and they breake their bones and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the cauldron.

4 Then shall they cry vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: hee will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and crye peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him,

6 Therefore night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shall be vnto you for adiuination, and the Sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shall be darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers bee ashamed, and the Soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their lips: for they haue none answer of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding, I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iakob his transgression, and to Irael his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iakob, and princes of the house of Irael: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? so euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of the forest.

CHAP. lliii

1 Of the kingdom of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

BUt in the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it shall be exalted aboue the hilles, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come, and say, Come and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iakob, & he will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Law shall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

3 And he shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mighty nations a farre off, and they shall breake their swords into mattocks, & their speares into sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation: neither shall they learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his fig tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke, euery one in the name of his god, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, sayth the Lord, will I gather her that halte, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halte a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mighty nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth, euen for euer.

8 And thou, O tower of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen the first dominion, and kingdom shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out with lamentation? Is there no king in thee? Is thy counsellor perished? for sorrow hath taken thee as a woman in traueil.

10 Sorrow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in traueil: for now shalt thou goe forth of the cite and dwell in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou bee deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsel, for he shall gather them as the sheaves in the barn.

13 Arise and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, & I will make thine hooves brass, & thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-lehem.

NOW assemble thy garisons, O daughter of garisons: he hath laid siege against vs: they shall smite the Iudge of Irael with a rodde vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah art little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me that shall be the ruler in Irael: whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning, and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he gine them vp vntil the time that she which shall beare, shall trauel: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Irael.

4 And he shall stand and feed in the strength of the Lord, & in the maiesty of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he shall be our peace when Ashur shall come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherds, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy Ashur with the sword, & the land of Nimrod with their swords, thus shall he deliuer vs from Ashur, when hee cometh into our land, & when he shall tread within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Iakob shall be among many people, as a dew from y Lord, and as the shewes vpon the grasie that waiteth not for man, nor hope in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iakob shall be among the Gentiles, in the mids of many people, as the lion among the beasts of the forest, & as the lions whelp among the flocks of sheepe, who when hee goeth thorow, treadeth downe and reareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine horses out of the mids of thee, and I will destroy thy charrets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine inchauters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I eat off, and thine images out of the mids of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the mids of thee: fo will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath & indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being unkind. 6 What manner of sacrifices doe please God.

HEarken ye now, what the Lord saith, Arise thou and contend before the mountaines, and let the hills heare thy voyce.

2 Heare ye O mountaines, the Lords quarell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and he will plead with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieved thee? testifie against me.

4 Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruaunts, and I haue sent before thee Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may know the righteousnesse of the Lord.

6 Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow my selfe before the hie God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yeete ole?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle: shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruit of my body for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to lone mercie, and to humble thy selfe to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce crieth vnto the citie, and the man of wisdom shall see thy Name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abominable?

11 Shall I iustifie the weighted balances, and the bagge of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, & in making thee desolate because of thy sins.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and thy eating downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer: & that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sow, but not reape, thou shalt tread the oliues, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, & make sweet wine, but shalt not drink wine.

16 For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore yee shall beare the reproch of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prospering of the Church.

WOe is me, for I am as the Summer gathering, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat: my soule desired the first ripe fruits.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lie in waite for blood: euery man hantereth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euil of their hands, the Prince asked, and the Iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as a bribe, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: then shall be their confusion.

5 Trust yee not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellour: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuleth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Saviour: my God will heare mee.

8 Reioyce not against mee, O mine enemies: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkness, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill he plead my cause & execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

10 Then shall hee that is mine enemy, shall looke vpon it, and shall shame his couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall thee beec troden downe as the mire of the streetes.

11 This is the day, that thy walles shall be built: this day shall drine farre away the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Asshur: and from the strong cities, and from the strong holds, euen vnto the riuier, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of their inuentions.

14 Feede thy people with thy rod, the focke of thine heritage (which dwell solitary in the wood) in the mids of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead as in old time.

15 According to the dayes of thy coming out of the land of Egypt, will I shew vnto him marvellous things.

16 The nations shall see and be confounded for all their power: they shall lay their hand vpon their mouth, their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shall lick the dust like a serpent: they shall mooue out of their holes like wormes: they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? Hee retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities and cast all their finnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy trust to Isakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworn vnto our fathers in old time,

Q N A H V M.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Nineueh shewed themselves prompt and ready to receive the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certayne time, rather giving themselves to worldly pleasures to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had learned, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomit, and provoked Gods iust judgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke, Nebuchad-nezzar) enjoyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church he stirreth up his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophesied about the time of Ezechiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Jewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliverance of Israel.

He burden of Nineueh. The booke of the vision of Nahum the Elkeshite.
2 God is ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, & he reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The Lord is slow to anger, but hee is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked, the Lord hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the clouds are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and he drieth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, & the hills melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world and all that dwell therein.

6 Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is poured out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good, and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, he will utterly destroy the place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What do ye imagine against the Lord? he will make an utter destruction: affliction shal not rise vp the second time.

10 For he shal come as vnto thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkardes in their drunkennes: they shal be denoured as stubble fully dried.

11 There commeth one out of thee, that imagineth quill against the Lord, euen a wicked counseller.

12 Thus saith the Lord, Though they be quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they bee cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in funder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name bee soken: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen and the molten Image: I will make it thy game for thee, for thou art vile.

15 Beholde vpon the mountaines thee feet of him that declareth and publisheth peace: O Indah, keepe thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe throw thee: he is utterly cut off.

CHAP. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

The destroyer is come before thy face: keep the munition, looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath turned away the glory of Iakob, as the glory of Iisrah: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and marred their vine branches.

3 The shilde of his mighty men is made red, the valiant men are in scarlet: the charrets shall bee as in the fire, and flames in the day of his preparation, and the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charrets shal rage in the streets: they shal run to and fro in the high wayes: they shal seeme like lamps: they shal shooe like the lightening.

5 He shal remember his strong men: they shal stumble as they goe: they shal make haste to the wals thereof, and the defence shalbe prepared.

6 The gates of the riuier shalbe opened, and the palace shal melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shal be led away captiue, and her maydes shal leade her as with the voyce of doves, smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineueh is of old like a poole of water: yet they shall see away: Stand, stand, shall they cry: but none shall looke backe.

9 Spoile ye the silver, spoile the gold, for there is none end of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 She is empty, and voyde, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all loynes, & the faces of them all gather blacknesse.

11 Where is the dwelling of the Lions, and the pasture of the Lions whelpes? where the Lion and the Lionesse walked, & the Lions whelp, and none made them afraid.

12 The Lion did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and worried for his Lionesse, and filled his holes with pray, and his dens with spoyle.

13 Beholde, I come vnto thee, sayth the Lord of hosts, and I will burne her charrets in the smoke, and the sword shal deuoure thy yong Lions, and I will cut off thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy messengers shal no more be heard.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

O Bloody citie, it is all full of lies and robbery: the pray departeth not:

2 The noyse of a whip, and the noyse of the mauling of the wheelles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charrets.

3 The horsman lifteth vp both the bright sword and the glittering spear, and a multitude is slain, and the dead bodies are many: there is none end of their corpses: they stumble upon their corpses.

4 Because of the multitude of the fornications of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistress of witchcraft, & selleth the people through her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hosts, and will discover thy skirts vpon thy face, and will shew the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdoms thy shame.

6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will see thee as a gazing stocke.

17 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee shall see from thee, & say, Nineveh is destroyed, who will haue pity vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then No, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

9 Ethiopia, and Egypt were her strength, and for thine, there was none end: Put and Lubim were her helpers.

10 Yet was she caried away, and went into captivity: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streets: and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chains.

11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, & shalt seeke helpe because of the enemy.

12 All thy strong cities shall be like figtrees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall to the mouth of the eater.

13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shall be opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shall deuoure thy barres.

14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holds: go into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong bricke.

15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the locusts, though thou be multiplied like the locusts, and multiplied like the grasshopper.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy merchants about the staires of heauen: the lescut spoileth, and fleeth away.

17 Thy princes are as the grasshoppers, and thy capitaines as the great grasshoppers which remaine in the hedges in the cold day: but when the Sunne ariseth they flee away, & their place is not knowne where they are.

18 Thy shepheards doe sleepe, O King of Assur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grievous: all that heare the bruite of thee, shall clap the hands ouer thee: for vpon whom hath not thy inalice passed continually?

CHABAKKUK.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicity of the wicked, and the miserable affliction of the good, which indure all kind of affliction and cruelty, and yet can see none end. Therefore he had this reuelation shewd him of God, That the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could seeke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their subtil wittnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the goodly should dispaire, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by this, That God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty shall be at height: wherefore hee exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his own example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, whereby they should comfort themselves, and their dignity shall proceed of themselves.

CHAP. I.

1 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

He burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

2 O Lord, how long shall I crie, and thou wilt not heare: when I crie out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why dost thou shew me iniquitie, and cause me to behold wrong? for spoiling and violence are before mee: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is dissolved, and iudgement doeth neuer goe forth: for the wicked doeth compass about the righteous: Therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Beholde among the heathen and regard, and wonder, and maruaile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: ye wil not belecue it, though it be told you.

6 For lo, I raise vp the Caldeans that bitter and furious nation, which shall go vpon the breadth of the land, to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible & fearful, their iudgment, and their dignity shall proceed of themselves.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the cuening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall see as the eagle hasting to meat.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an East wind, and they shall gather the captiuitie as the sand.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, & the princes shall be a scorn vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they take a conrage, & transgreffe and do wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordained them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore dost thou looke vpon the transgressours, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the fishes of the sea & as the creeping things that haue no ruler ouer them?

15 They take vp all with the angle, they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net, and not spare continually to slay the nations?

CHAP. II.

1 A vision 5 against pride, comenousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

I Will stand vpon my watch, and set me vpon the tower, and will looke and see what he would say vnto mee, and what I shall answer to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that hee may runne that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appoynted time, but at the last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tary, wait, for it shall surely come, and shal not stay.

4 Behold, he that lieth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith.

5 Yea, indeede the proud man is as he that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, & is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a taunting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, hee that increaseth that which is not his? how long and he that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall they not rise vp suddenly that shal bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoile thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the city, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coueteth an euill conetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou hast consulted shame to thine owne house by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the stone shall crie out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answer it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the Lord of hosts that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen weare themselves for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shalbe filled wth the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour drinke: thou ioynest thine heate and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame for glory: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shalbe turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shalbe for thy glory.

17 For the cruelty of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beasts which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it trust therein, when hee maketh dumbe Idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: behold, it is layed ouer with gold and silver, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

CHAP. III.

2 A praier for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignerances,

2 O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraid: O Lord, reuise thy worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the yeeeres make it known: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from Teman, and the Holy one from mount Paran, Selah, His glory conereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise,

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: he had hornes coming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 He stood and measured the earth: he beheld, and dissolued the nations, & the euertlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his waies are euertlasting.

7 For his iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtains of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angrie against the riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou didst ride vpon thine horses? thy charrets brought saluation.

9 Thy bowe was manifestly reueiled, and the othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, Thou diddest cleane the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines saw thee, & they trembled: the streame of the water passed by: the deepe made anye, and lift vp his hand on high.

11 The Sunne and Moone stood still in their habitation: at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and didst thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest strike thorow with his owne stauers the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlwinde to scatter me: their reioicing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou didst walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in the day of trouble, for when he commeth vp vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the figtree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vines: the labour of the olue shall faile, and the fields shall yeeld no meate: the sheepe shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feete like hinds feete, and hee will make me to walke vpon mine high places. To the chiefe singer on Neginoth.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the great judgement of God, which was at hand, showing that their country should be utterly destroyed and they carried away captives by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithful hee prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians, and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care over them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so hee exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham, and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem because of their idolatry.

THe word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cuthi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the son of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of Amon king of Iudah,

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the fowles of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, & ruines shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house toppes, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Bee still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his gifts.

8 And it shall be in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visit the princes, and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visit all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noyse, and crye from the fish gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hills.

11 Howle ye inhabitants of the low place: for the company of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with lights, and visite the men that are frozen in their dregs, and say in their hearts, The Lord wil neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shall be spoyled and their houses waster: they shall also build houses, but not inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall crye there bitterly.

15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction & desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of clouds and blacknesse.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towres.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blinde men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, & their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their gold shall be able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the whole land shall be deuoured by the fire of his ieaousie: for he shall make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

Hee denounceth to returne to God, & prophesying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites, and others.

Gather your selues, euen gather you, O nation that is not worthy to be ioued,

2 Before the decree come soorth, and see bee as chaffe, that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the mecke of the earth, which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteouines, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For Azzah shall bee forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall drie out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall bee rooted vp.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the sea coasts: the nation of the Cherethims, y word of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistims I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the Sea coast shall be dwellings and cotages for shepheards and sheepfolds.

7 And that coast shall bee for the remnant of the house of Iudah, to feed thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and magnified themselves against their borders.

9 Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles, and salt piers, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoile them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them.

10 This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched, and magnified themselves against the Lord of hosts people.

11 The Lord will be terrible vnto them: for hee will consume all the gods of the earth, and euery man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.

14 And flocks shall lie in the mids of her, and all the beasts of the mations, and the pelicane, and the towle shall abide in the vpper parts of it: the voice of birds shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shall bee vpon the postes: for the cedars are vncovered.

15 This is the reioycing city that dwelt carelesse, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides me: how is she made waste, and the lodging of the beasts: euery one that passeth by her, shall hiss and wag his hand.

CHAP. III.

4 Against the gouernours of Ierusalem. 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the residue of Israel.

Woe to her that is filthy and polluted, to the robbing citie.

1 Shee heard not the voyce: shee received not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: shee drew not neere to her God.

2 Her princes within her are as roaring lions, her Iudges are as wolues in the evening, which leaue not the bones till the morrow.

3 Her prophets are light, and wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the Sanctuary: they haue wrested the Law.

4 The iust Lord is in the mids thereof: he will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth he bring his iudgement to light: he faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

5 I haue cut off the nations: their towers are desolate, I haue made their streetes waste that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant.

6 I said, Surely thou wilt feare mee: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling should not be destroyed howsoever I visited them, but they rose early and corrupted all their works.

7 Therefore waite yee vpon mee, sayth the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to the pray: for I am determined to gather the nations, & that I will assemble the kingdoms to powre vpon them mine indignation, even all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

8 Surely then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lord, to serue him with one consent.

9 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my disperfed praying vnto mee shall bring me an offering.

10 In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy workes wherein thou hast transgressed against me: for then I will take away out of the middest of thee, them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proud of mine holy mountaine.

11 Then will I leaue in the mids of thee a humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

12 The remnant of Israel shall doe none iniquity, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shall be fed and lie downe, and none shall make them afraid.

13 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Israel: bee glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

14 The Lord hath taken away thy iudgements: he hath cast out thine enemy: the king of Israel, auen the Lord is in the mids of thee: thou shalt see no more gall.

15 In that day it shall be said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine hands be faint.

16 The Lord thy God in the middes of thee is mighty: he will saue, he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: he will quiet himselfe in his lone: hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.

17 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for it.

18 Behold, at that time will I bruiseth all that afflict thee, and I will saue her that hath cried, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the lands of their shame.

19 At that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name, and praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

¶ Haggai.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophesied by Ieremiah was expired, God raised up Haggai, Zachariah and Malachi to comfort the leaue, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiritual Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, hee declareth that that plague of famine which God then sent among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods house, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, so far as the Lord will finish the worke that he hath begun, and send Christ whom he had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yee of King Darius, in the sixt moneth. the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your felled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore, thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 Ye haue sown much, and bring in little: yee eat,

eat, but ye haue not enough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and I will be famous in it, and I will be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and loe, it came to little, and when yee brought it home, I did blow vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine house that is waste, and yee runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heaven ouer you staied it selfe from dew, and the earth staied her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountains, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, & vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men, and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the son of Iehozadak the hie Priest, with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hosts their God.

C H A P. II.

We sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceed the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the sixth moneth in the second yeere of king Darius,

1 In the sixth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

2 Speake now vnto Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

3 Who is left among you that saw this house in his first glory, and how doe you see it now? is it not in your eyes in comparison of it, as nothing?

4 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes.

5 According to the word that I covenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shall remaine among you, saith the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the drie land:

7 And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

8 The siluer is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The glory of this last house shall bee greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

11 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, and say, 12 If one beare holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread or the pottage, or the wine, or oile, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No.

13 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered and said, It shall be vncleane.

14 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, & so is this nation before me, saith the Lord, and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

15 And now I pray you, consider in your minds from this day, and afore, when afore a stone was laid vpon a stone, in the Temple of the Lord:

16 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the winepresse for to drawe out fiftie vessels out of y<sup>e</sup> presse, there were but twentie.

17 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

18 Consider, I pray you, in your minds, from this day, and afore, from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, even from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid, consider it in your minds.

19 Is the seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bless you.

20 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

21 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heauens and the earth, 22 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charrets, and those that ride in them, and the horse, and the riders shall come downe euery one by the sword of his brother.

23 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

TWO moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and so confirme the same doctrine. First therefore hee putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them if they will repine vnfeignedly, and not abuse this great benefite of God in their delinquance, which was a figure of this was delinquance, that all the faithfull should haue from sinne and death by Christ. But because they still remaine in their wickednes and coldnes to set forth Gods glory, & were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharply for the comfort of the repentant, he euen mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receive Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

C H A P. I.

He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, & to shew the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

1 The Lord hath bin sore displeased with your fathers.

2 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes.

3 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the former Prophets haue cried, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto mee, saith the Lord.

4 Your fathers where are they? and do the prophets liue for euer?

5 But did not my words and my statutes, which I commaunded by my seruants the Prophets, take hold of your fathers? and they returned & said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne waies, and according to our works, so hath he dealt with vs.

6 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

7 I saw by night, and behold, a man riding vpon a red horse, & he stood among the mirrhe trees that were in a bottome, and behind him were there red horses speckled and white.

8 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

9 And the man that stood among the mirrhe trees answered, and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

10 And they answered the Angel of the Lord that stood among the mirrhe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

11 Then the Angel of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmmerciful to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, of whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeres?

12 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with mee, with good wordes and comfortable words,

13 So the Angel that communed with me, sayd vnto me, Cry thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 14 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Cry yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet be broken with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and saw, and behold, foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to do? And he answered and said, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

C H A P. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

ILift vp mine eyes againe, & looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And hee sayd vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to meete him,

4 And said vnto him, Run, speake to this yong man and say, Ierusalem shall be inhabited without wals for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, & will be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come forth and see from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure winds of the heauen, saith the Lord.

7 Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this glory hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoiled you, for he that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye.

9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand vpon them: and they shalbe a spoile to those that serued them, and ye shal know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me.

10 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the mids of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shalbe ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I wil dwell in the mids of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherit Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

C H A P. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdom.

ANd he shewed me Iehoshua the hie Priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord reprocue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem reprocue thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered, and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he said, Beholde, I haue caused thine iniquity to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I said, Let them set a faire diadem vpon his head. So they set a faire diadem vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my courts, and I will giue thee place among these that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the high Priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: for they are monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the stone that I haue laide before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes: behold, I will cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquity of this land in one day.

10 In that day saith the Lord of hostes, shal ye call every man his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the figtree.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with me, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe.

2 And said vnto mee, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and behold, a candlestick all of gold, with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lamps therein, & seuen pipes to the lamps which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, & spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then hee answered & spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an army, nor strength, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou, O great mountain, before Zerubbabel: thou shalt be a plaine, and he shall bring forth the head stone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel haue laide the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of tyme in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe through the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and sayd vnto him,

What be these two oliue branches, which thorow the two golden pipes empty themselves into the golde?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two oliue branches that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke signifying the curse of iherusalem, & such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the bredth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then said he vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer y whole earth: for every one that Realeth shalbe cut off, as well on this side, as on that: and every one that sweareth, shall be cut off, as well on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, sayth the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him that falsely sweareth by my name, and it shall remaine in the mids of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, went forth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an Ephah that goeth forth. He said moreouer, This is the sight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a talent of leade, and this is a woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And he said, This is wickednesse, and he cast it into the mids of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of leade vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither do these beare the Ephah?

11 And he said vnto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shalbe established and set there vpon her owne place.

CHAP. VI.

1 By the foure charres he describeth the foure monarchies.

Againe I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came foure charres out from betweene two mountaines, & the mountaines were mountaines of brasle.

2 In the first charret were red horses, and in the second charret blacke horses.

3 And in the third charret, white horses, and in the fourth charret horses of diuers colours, and red-dish.

4 Then I answered, and said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said vnto me, These are the foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the South country.

7 And the reddish went out, and required to go and paffe thorow the world, and he sayd, Goe paffe thorow the world. So they went throughout the world.

8 Then cryed he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward the North Country, haue pacified my spirit in the North Country.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Helaï and of Tobiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe into the house of Ioshiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen silver & gold, and make crownes, and set them vpon the head of Iehohua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest.

12 And spake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, and saith, Behold the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall grow vp out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and hee shall be a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betwene them both.

14 And the crownes shall be to Helem, and to Tobiah, and to Iedaiah, and to Hea the sonne of Zephaniah, for a memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are far off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people in the cause of their affliction.

And in the fourth yere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in Chisleu.

2 For they had sent vnto the house of God Sharezzer, and Regem-melech, and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to spake vnto the Priests which were in the House of the Lord of hosts, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I weep in the fifth moneth, and separate my selfe as I haue done these so many yeres?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hosts vnto me, saying,

5 Spake vnto all the people of the land, and to the Priests, and say, When ye fasted and mourned in the fifth and seuenth moneth, euen these seuenth yeres, did ye fast vnto me? do I approve it?

6 And when ye did eat, & when ye did drinke, did ye not eat for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the words which the Lord hath cried by the ministry of the former Prophets, when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperity, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shew mercy and compassion euery man to his brother.

10 And oppresse not the widow nor the fatherless, the stranger, nor the poore, & let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should heare the Law & the words which the Lord of hosts sent in his spirit by the ministry of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hosts.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cryed, and they would not heare, so they cryed, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hosts.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed thorow nor returned: for they layd the pleasant land waste.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good works.

20 The calling of the Gentiles.

A Gaine the word of the Lord of hosts came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I was ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

5 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called, A city of truth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hosts, the holy Mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, There shall yet old men and old women dwell in the streets of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streets of the city shall be full of boyes and girles playing in the streets thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Though it be vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hosts?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East country, and from the West country.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God in truth and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Let your hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hosts was layd, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in, because of the affliction: for I set all men euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now I will not entreat the residue of this people, as aforetime, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 For the seed shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heavens shall giue their dew, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hosts, and repented not, so againe haue I determined in these dayes to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Indah : feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do, Speake ye euery man the truth vnto his neighbour : execute iudgement truly and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe : for all theie are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hosts came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the tenth shall be to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous high feasts : therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus sayth the Lord of hosts, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

mic. 4. 1. 21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, * Vp, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hosts : I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people, and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hosts in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jewe, and say, We will goe with you : for we haue heard that God is with you.

C H A P. IX.

1 The threatening of the Gentiles. 2 The coming of Christ.

THe burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Hadrach; and Damascus shall be his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

3 And Hamath also shall border thereby : Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise.

4 For Tyrus did build her selfe, a strong hold, and heaped vp silver as the dust, and gold as the myre of the streets.

5 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her power in the sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

6 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron : for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

7 And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

8 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth : but he that remaineth, euen hee shall be for our God, and he shall bee as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a Iebusite.

9 And I will campe about mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more : for now haue I seene with mine eyes.

10 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion : shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem : behold, thy king cometh vnto thee : he is iust and saved himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

11 And I will cut off the charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem : the bow of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall be from sea vnto sea, and from the riuier to the end of the land.

12 Thou also shalt be saved through the blood of thy Covenant : I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

13 Turne you to the strong hold, ye prisoners of hope : euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee.

14 For Iudah haue I bent as a bow for me : Ephraims hand haue I filled, & I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a giants sword.

15 And the Lord shall seeke ouer them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning : and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewinds of the South.

16 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with slingstones, and they shall drinke, and make a noise as through wine, & they shall be filled like bowlers, and as the hornes of the altar.

17 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people : for they shall bee as the stones of the crowne liited vp vpon his land.

18 For how great is his goodnesse ! and howe great is his beauty : come shall make the yong men cheerefull, and new wine the maids.

1 The vanitie of idolatrie. 2 The Lord promisseth to visit and comfort the house of Israel.

ASke you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine : so shall the Lorde make white clouds, and giue you showeres of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely the idoles haue spoken vanity, and the soothsayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing : they comfort in vaine : therefore they went away as sheepe : they were troubled because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepherds, and I did visite the goates : but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Indah, and will make him as his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out of him shall the corner come forth : out of him the naile, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall be as the mighty men, which tread downe their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded,

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitie them : and they shall bee as though I had not cast them off : for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a giant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine : yea, their children shall see it, and be glad : and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will bisse for them, and gather them : for I haue redeemed them : and they shall increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I will low them among the people, and they shall remember me in far countreys : and they shall lue with their children, and turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur : and I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebannon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waves in the sea, and all the depths of the riuier shall drie vp : and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

C H A P. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithful is committed to Christ. 7 A gracious vision against Jerusalem and Iudah.

Open thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall devour thy cedars.

2 Howle, fire trees: for the cedar is fallen, because al the mighty are destroyed: howle, O ye oaks of Balhan, for the defenced Forrest is cut downe.

3 There is the voice of the howling of the shepherds: for their glorie is destroyed: the voice of the roaring of lions whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feed the sheep of the slaughter.

5 They that possesse them slay them, and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed bee the Lord: for I am rich, and their own shepherds spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but lo, I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his King, and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fedde the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flock, and I tooke vnto me two stauies, the one I called Beauty, & the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 Three shepherds also I cut off in one moeth, and my soule loathed them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perissheth, let it perish, and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I took my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disannull my Couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon mee: knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto mee, Cast it vnto the potters: goodly price that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, & cast them to the potters in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepherd.

16 For lo, I will raise vp a shepherd in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambs, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feed that that standeth vp: but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in peeces.

17 O idole shepherd that leaueh the flocke: the sword shall be vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be vtterly darkened.

C H A P. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Jerusalem.

The burden of the word of the Lord vpon Israel, saith the Lord, which spread the heavens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of poison vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be in the siege against Jerusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp shall be to rne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with inadnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindness.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheate, and they shall devour all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preferre the tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and hee that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will poure vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the spirit of grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue pierced, and they shall lament for him, as one mourneth for his only sonne, and be serie for him as one is serie for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the laud shall bewaile euery familie apart, the familie of the house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart, the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The familie of the house of Ieni apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

1 Of the fountains of grace. 2 Of the cleane ridance of idolatrie. 3 The scale of the godly against false prophets.

In that day there shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem for sinne and for uncleannesse.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will cut off the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the prophets, and the vnclane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not lue: for thou speakest lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, shall thrust him thorow when hee prophesieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets bee ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deccie.

5 But hee shall say, I am no Prophet: I am a husbandhusbandman: for man taught me to be an herdman from my youth vp.

6 And one ſhall ſay vnto him, What are theſe wounds in thine hands? Then he ſhall anſwer, Thus was I wounded in the houſe of my friends.

7 ¶ Arife, O ſword, vpon my ſhepherd, and vpon the man that is my fellow, ſayeth the Lord of hoſtes: ſmite the ſhepherd, and the ſheepe ſhall be ſcattered: and I wil turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, ſaith the Lord, two parts therein ſhalbe cut off, and die: but the third ſhalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and will fine them as the ſiluer is fined, and will trie them as golde is tried: they ſhall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will ſay, It is my people, and they ſhall ſay, The Lord is my God.

CHAP. XIII.

8 Of the doctrine that ſhall procede out of the Church, and of the reſtauration thereof.

BEhold, the day of the Lord cometh, and thy ſpoile ſhalbe diuided in the mids of thee.

2 For I wil gather all nations againſt Ieruſalem to battell, and the city ſhalbe taken, and the houſes ſpoiled, and the women deſiled, & halfe of the city ſhall go into captiuitie, and the reſidue of the people ſhall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then ſhall the Lord goe forth, and fight againſt thoſe nations, as when hee fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feet ſhall ſtand in that day vpon the mount of Oliues, which is before Ieruſalem on the Eaſt ſide, and the mount of Oliues ſhall cleaue in the mids thereof: toward the Eaſt and toward the Weſt there ſhall be a very great valley, and halfe of the mountaine ſhall remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And ye ſhall flee vnto the valley of the mountaimes: for the valley of the mountaimes ſhall reach vnto Azal: yea, yee ſhall flee like as yee fled from the earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah: and the Lord my God ſhall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day ſhall there be no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there ſhall be a day, (it is knowne to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the evening time, it ſhall be light.

8 And in that day ſhall there waters of life goe out from Ieruſalem, halfe of them toward the Eaſt ſea, and halfe of them toward the winter ſea, and ſhalbe both in Summer and Winter.

9 And the Lord ſhalbe king ouer all the earth:

in that day ſhall there be one Lord, and his Name ſhalbe one.

10 All the Land ſhall be turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ieruſalem, and it ſhalbe liſted vp, and inhabited in her place, from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the ſtreet gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Manaiel, vnto the kings wine preſſes.

11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhall be no more deſtruction, but Ieruſalem ſhall be ſafely inhabited.

12 And this ſhall be the plague, wherewith the Lord will ſmite all people, that haue fought againſt Ieruſalem: their fleſh ſhall conſume away, though they ſtand vpon their feet, and their eyes ſhall conſume in their holes, and their tongue ſhall conſume in their mouth.

13 But in that day a great tumult of the Lord ſhall be among them, and euery one ſhall take the hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhall riſe vp againſt the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah ſhall alſo fight againſt Ieruſalem, and the arme of all the heathen ſhall bee gathered round about with gold and ſiluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this ſhalbe the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camell, and of the aſſe, and of all the beaſts that be in theſe tents as this plague.

16 But it ſhall come to paſſe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came againſt Ieruſalem, ſhall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſtes, and to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

17 And who ſo will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ieruſalem to worſhip the king the Lord of hoſtes, euen vpon them ſhall come no raine.

18 And if the family of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it ſhall not raine vpon them. Thus ſhalbe the plague wherewith the Lord will ſmite all the heathen that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

19 This ſhall bee the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

20 In that day ſhall there bee written vpon the bridles of the horſes, The holineſſe vnto the Lord, and the pots in the Lords houſe ſhall bee like the bowles before the Altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ieruſalem and Iudah, ſhalbe holy vnto the Lord of hoſtes, and all they that ſacrifice, ſhall come & take of them, and ſeech therein: and in that day there ſhall be no more the Canaanite in the houſe of the Lord of hoſtes.

¶ MALACHI.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS Prophet was one of the three, which God raiſed up for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was none more vntill Iohn Baaptiſt appeared, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they ſhould with more ſeruent deſires looke for the coming of Meſſiah. He confirmed the ſame doctrine that the two former doe, but chiefly hee reprimandeth the Priests for their conſcienceleſſe, and for that they ſerued God after their owne fantaſie, and not according to the preſcript of his word. Hee alſo noteth certaine peculiar ſinners, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wives, worshipping againſt God, impatientie, and ſuch like. Notwithſtanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promiſe made vnto their fathers, but would ſend Chriſt his meſſenger, in whom the Covenant ſhould be accompliſhed: whoſe coming ſhould be terrible to the wicked, and bring all conſolation and joy vnto the godly.

C H A P. I.

A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.
Hearken of the word of the Lord to Israel, by the ministration of Malachi.
 1 I have loved you, saith the Lord: yet you say, Wherein hast thou loved us? Was not Esau Iakobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loved Iakob,

2 And I hated Esau, and made his mountains waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

3 Though Edom say, We are impowdered, but we will returne, and build the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people with whom the Lord is angry for ever.

5 And your eyes shal see it, and ye shal say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hostes vnto you, O Priests, that despise my Name? and ye say, Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

7 Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blind for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sickle, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, pray before God, that hee may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath beene by your meanes: will he regard your persons, saith the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you that would shut the doores and kinde not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne, vnto the going down of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in every place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meat is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Behold, it is a wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the sickle: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiver, which hath in his booke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

C H A P. II.

Threatnings against the Priests being seducers of the people.

And now, O ye Priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If ye wil not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to give glory vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt your seed, & cast dung vpon your faces, euen the dung of your solemne feasts, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And ye shall know, that I haue sent this commandement vnto you, that my covenant which I made with Levi, might stand, saith the Lord of hostes.

5 My covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and he feared me, and was afraid before my Name.

6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests lippes should preferre knowledge, and they should seeke the law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye haue caused many to fall by the Law: yee haue broken the covenant of Levi, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to bee despised and vile before all the people, because yee kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the law.

10 Haue we not all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the covenant of our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel, and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord, which he loved, and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iakob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, & covered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping & with mourning: because the offerings is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye say, Wherein? Because the Lord hath beene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth against whom thou hast transgressed: yet is she thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant.

15 And did not he make one? yet had he abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because hee sought a godly seed, therefore keepe ye selues in your spirit, and let none trespass against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue wearied the Lord with your wordes: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that doth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them. Or where is the God of iudgement?

2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall endure when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And he shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of Levi, and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they might bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousness.

4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem bee acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time and in the yeres afore.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

These Bookes that follow in order after the Prophet unto the new Testament are called Apocrypha, that is, Books which were not received by a common consent to be read and expounded publicly in the Church, neither yet served to prove any point of Christian religion, (save in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonical) to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as books proceeding from godly men, were received to be read for the advancement & furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly manners: which books declare that at all times God had an especial care of his Church, and left them not utterly destitute of teachers and means to confirme them in the hope of his promised Messiah, and also witness that those calamities which God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophet, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the trial of his children.

1 Josias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passover. 7 Offerings for the Priests & the people. 11 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Josias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentations for him. 34 Inachaz appoynted king. 53 The destruction of Ierusal. m.

And Josias kept the Passover to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passover in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the house which Salomon the sonne of King David had built,

4 And said, Ye shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: now therefore serve the Lord your God, & take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of David king of Israel, and according to the maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passover, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passover after the Lords commandment given to Moses.

7 And Josias gave to the people that was present, thirty thousand lambes and kids, with three thousand calves.

8 These were given of the kings possessions according to the promise to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias, and J Syelus the gouernours of the temple, to the Priests for the Passover, two thousand and hundred sheepe, and three hundred calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias, and Nathaniah, and J Sabias, and J Chielus, and Iehonathan, gaue to the Levites for the Passouer, five thousand sheepe, & seven hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Levites stood in order, having unleavened bread according to the Tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord as it is written in the bookes of Moises: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Passover with fire, as * appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in cauldrons and pots, 13 And set it before all them that were of the people, & afterward they prepared for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the evening, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appoynted ordinances of David, so was, Asaph, and Azarias, and Edin, which was of the kings appoyntment.

16 And the porters were at every gate, so that it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinarie watch: for their brethren the Levites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished that they might offer the Passover.

18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of King Josias.

19 So the children of Israel which were present at that time kept the Passover, and the feast of unleavened bread seven dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passover kept in Israel, since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passover as did Josias, and the Priests & the Levites, and the lewes, and all Israel which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Josias was this Passover kept.

23 The works of Josias were vpright before his Lord, with an heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe pass in his time, they are written before, so wis, of those that sinned, & did wickedly against the Lord, about every nation and kingdom, and grieved him with fensible things, so that the words of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

Ex. 12. 1

35 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh King of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

36 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?

37 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee, but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

38 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the words of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

39 But he set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megiddo, and the princes came down to king Iosias.

40 And the king said to his seruants, Conuicy me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

41 So he gate vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem, hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

42 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel to be done continually.

43 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, and euery one of the acts that Iosias did and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are registered in the booke of the kings of Israel & Iudea.

44 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, & made him king in stead of his father Iosias, when he was three and twenty yere old.

45 And hee reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

46 Hee taxed also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

47 And the king of Egypt made Ioachim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

48 And he bound Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

49 Twentie and five yere old was Ioachim when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

50 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who whē he had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

51 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his temple at Babylon.

52 But all his acts, and his prophanation, and his reproch, are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

53 And Ioachim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king he was eighteen yere old.

54 And he reigned three moneths and ten daies in Ierusalem, & he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

55 ¶ So 2 yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

56 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ie-rusalem, when he was one and twenty yere old, and he reigned eleuen yeres.

57 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

58 For after that he was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, & transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

59 Also the gouernours of the people, & the Priests committed many things against the lawes & passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

60 Neuerthelesse, the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

61 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 62 So that he being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commanded the kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

63 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor maiden, neither old man, nor childe among them.

64 But he deliuered them all into their hands, & all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great & small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke and caried away the kings treasures into Babylon.

65 And they set fire in the House of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towers with fire:

66 They consumed also al the precious things thereof, and brought them to nought, & those that were left by the sword, he caried away into Babylon.

67 And they were seruants to him, & to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias.

68 And that the land might enioy her Sabbaths all the time that it was desolate till seventy yeres were accomplished.

C H A P. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the kings letters for the same.

17 * the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus King of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias.

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and he made proclamation thorowout all his kingdome, enen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, enen the most high Lord, hath made me king ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, enen his Lord be with him, and let him goe vp to Ierusalem which is in Iudea, & build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about those, I say, that are in his place, let them help him with gold and siluer,

7 With gifts, with herbes & cattel, & other things, which shall bee brought according to the vowes, into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, den, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests and Levites, and all whose mind the Lord had moved to goe vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with silver and golde, horses and mules, and with diners vowes of many, whose minds were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, he deliuered them to Michrdates his treasurer,

12 By whom they were given to | Abassar the gouernour of Iudea,

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cuppes, basins of silver for the sacrifice nine and twentie, vials of gold thirtie, and of silver two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and silver, which they caried away, were hie thousand, foure hundred threecore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the capitaine of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, | Belemus, and Michridates, and TABELLIN, and Rathumus, and Beeltechmus, and | Semellius the Secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following, against them that dwelt in Iudea and Ierusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that came to passe, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest of their counsell, and the Iudges which are in Coelolyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knownen to our lord the King, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the wals be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, goe forward, wee thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing.

21 But to declare it to our lord the King, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the books of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt knowe that this citie did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both Kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellions, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the King, we declare it, that if this city be built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelolyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the King wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, & to Beeltechmus, and to Semellius the Secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria, & Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which ye sent to me, therefore I commanded that it should be sought out, and it was found that this citie hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were given to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which took tribute of Coelolyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heede that no more be done.

29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the King, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they mooued their tents with speed to Ierusalem, with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which build, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

2 And to all the gouernours, and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia, of an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till hee wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three young men of the gard, keepers of the kings body, said one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shall ouercome, & whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the King shall giue him great gifts and great things in token of victory.

6 As to weare purple, & to drinke in gold, & to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tirc of fine linen, & a chaine about his necke.

7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shall be called Darius counsil.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence, and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of King Darius.

9 And said, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King and the three princes of Persia should iudge to bee wisest, to him should the victory be giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The King is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but Truth ouercometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the King rose, they tooke the writings, and gaue them to him, and he read them.

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia, and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls, 15 And sate him downe in the counsell, and the writing was read before him.

16 Then hee said, Call the young men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then hee said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And said on this manner, O ye men, how strong is wine! it deceiveth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the mind of the King and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bondman and of the freeman, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also every thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no manner of sorrow nor debt.

80r. pounds.

21 It maketh every heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor governour, and causeth to speake all things by iudgments.

22 When men are drunke, they haue no minde to lone either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out swords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they do not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and he helde his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. III.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of Truth, which sentence is approved, 47 and his prison granted.

Then the second, which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

1 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

2 But the king is yet greater: for hee ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they do all things which he commandeth them.

3 If hee bid them make warre one against another, they do it: if he fend them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines, and walles, and towres,

4 They kill, and are killed, and do not passe the commandement of the king: if they overcome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoiles as all other things.

5 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowed it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

6 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

7 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if hee bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

8 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

9 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, hee eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeeth.

10 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne businesse, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

11 O yee men, how should not the king be strongest, seeing hee is thus obeyed? So hee helde his tongue.

12 ¶ Then the third, which had spoken of women, and of the Truth, (this was Zorobabel) began to speake.

13 O yee men, neither the mightie king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them, or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

14 Women haue borne the king, and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

15 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

16 They also make mens garments, & make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

17 And if they haue gathered together gold, and silver, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

18 Doe they not leane all those things, and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gape and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then golde, or silver, or any precious thing?

19 A man leaueh his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne couatrey, and is ioyued with his wife.

20 And for the woman hee iecopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother, nor countrey, 21 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and trauaile, and giue, and bring all to the women?

22 Yea a man taketh his sword, and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 23 And he seeth a lyon, and goeth in darkenesse, and when hee hath stollen, rauished and spoiled, hee bringeth it to his loue.

24 Wherefore a man loneth his owne wife more then father or mother.

25 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue been seruants for them.

26 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

27 Now therefore doe ye not beleue me? is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

28 Yes I sawe him and Apame the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bactacus, sitting on the right hand of the king.

29 And she tooke the crowne off the kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and stroke the king with her left hand:

30 Yet in this meane season the king gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: and if she were angry with him, hee did flatter her, that he might be reconciled with her.

31 How then, O yee men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

32 ¶ Then the king and the princes looked one vpon another, & he began to speake of the Truth.

33 O yee men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is hie, and the Sunne is swift in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

34 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the Truth is greater & stronger then all.

35 All the earth calleth for Truth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

36 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquities.

37 But Truth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

38 With her there is no deceiuing of persons, nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

39 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgment, and she is the strength and the kingdom, and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of Truth.

40 So he ceased to speake, and then all the people cryed, and said, Truth is great and strong.

42 Then the king said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will give it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee, and shalt be called my counsaill.

43 ¶ Then hee said to the King, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when hee made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Caldeans.

46 And now, O lord the king, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence which I require of thee: I require therefore, that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of Heauen.

47 Then king Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards & lieutenants and capitales, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phenicia, & to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring Cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the city with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes which went vp out of his kingdom vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held, 51 And that euery yeere there should be given for the building of the Temple twenty talents, vntill it were built.

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer) seuenteen) other ten talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the city should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges, and the Priests garment wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Levites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoever Cyrus had commanded to doe, hee also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lilt vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gave thanks to the King of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thee is the victory, and of thee is wisdom, and of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed bee thou which hast given me wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So hee tooke the letters, and went out, and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedome and libertie.

63 To goe up and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple where his Name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musick and joy seuen dayes.

CHAP. V.

- 35 All the ministers of the Temple, and the sons of the seruants of Salomon, were three hundred, seuentie and two.
- 36 These came vp from Thermoelch, and Thelerias: Carathalal and Asalar leading them.
- 37 Neither could they shewe their families, nor their stocke how they were of Israel, the sonnes of Ladan, the sonne of Ban, the sonnes of Necodan, fixe hundred fiftie and two.
- 38 And of the Priests, those which exercised the office of Priests, and were not found, the sonnes of phelia, Obdia, the sonnes of Accos, the sonnes of Addus, of Phab.
- 39 ¶ Or Sabin. ¶ Or Sparia. ¶ Or Addu. ¶ Or Subab. ¶ Or Thermoelch, and Thelhasa: Carathalal and Alar. ¶ Or Dalasia. ¶ Or Tubia. ¶ Or Necolia. ¶ Or Hobia. ¶ Or Hator.
- which had taken for wife Augias, one of the daughters of Berzelaius,
- 39 And was called after his name, and when the description of the kindred of these men had bene sought in the Register, and could not be found, they were let apart from the office of Priests.
- 40 For ¶ Neemias and Athazias said to them that they should not bee partakers of the holy things, till there arose an high Priest clothed with doctrine and truth.
- 41 So all they of Israel from them of twelue yeere old and little children, were forty thousand, besides men seruants and women seruants, two thousand three hundred and sixtie.
- 42 Their seruants and handmaids were seven thousand three hundred fourtie and seuen: the singing men and women, two hundred forty and fixe.
- 43 Camels, foure hundred thirte and fixe: and horses, feuen hundred thirte and fixe: mules, two hundred fortie and fixe: beasts that bare the yoke, fixe thousand fixe hundred twentie and foue.
- 44 And there were of the gouernours after their families, which when they were come to the temple in Ierusalem, vowed to build the house in his owne place according to their power,
- 45 And to giue to the treasure of the workes [a thousand pound in golde, and fixe thousand pound in silver, and an hundred priestly garments.
- 46 And the Priests and the Leuites, and the people dwelt in Ierusalem and in the countrey, and the holy singers, and the porters, and all Israel in their villages.
- 47 ¶ But ¶ when the seuenth moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.
- 48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren rising vp, made ready the altar of the God of Israel.
- 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it, according as it is written in the booke of Moyses the man of God.
- 50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they distressed the Altar in his owne place although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lorde, morning and euening.
- 51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles as it is ordained in the Law, and offered sacrifices euery day as was requisite,
- 52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths, and of the new moonths, and of all holy Feasts.
- 53 And all they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.
- 54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meat and drinke with gladnesse,
- 55 And charrets to the Sidorians, and to those of Tyrus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by flotes to the haven of Ioppe, according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.
- 56 And in the second yeere and second moneth, came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and their brethren, and the Priests and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem;

57 And * laide the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere old ouer the workes of the Lord, and Iesus, and his sonne, & his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon, with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes and brethren, euens all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the House of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests stood clothed with their long garments with muscall instruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbals, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with loud voice songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercy and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with loud voice, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, & chiefe men, in vs, the ancients which had seene the former House,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets and loy cryed with loud voice,

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was.

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they coming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of Asbafareth king of the Assyrians which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an House to the Lord our God.

71 For wee alone will build to the Lord God of Israel, as it becometh vs, and as * Cyrus the king of the Persians bade vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Iudea, & letted them to build the worke, and by their ambassments, and seditious, and conspiracies hindred the finishing of the building.

73 All the time of king Cyrus life: so that they were let from the building two yeeres vnto the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sissines would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The kings answer to the contrary.

¶ ¶ In the second yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophesied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Iudea and Ierusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called vpon.

¶ Then Zorobabel son of Salathiel, & Iesus the sonne of Iosafed stood vp, and began to build the house of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sissines the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement build you this House, and this building, and enterprise all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord, after that he had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to build vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 ¶ The copy of the epistle which he did write and send to Darius, SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute king Darius.

8 It may please the king our master plainly to vnderstand, that when wee came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ierusalem, wee found in the city of Ierusalem the ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord great and new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already laid vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will be finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then wee asked their ancients, saying, By whose commandement build yee this House, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And * this House was built vp many yeeres 2. King. 6. 3 agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, * he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 2. King. 24. 1.

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this House should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold & of silver, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to Sanabassar ruler.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should carry away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar, being come hither, laid the foundations of the House of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Nowe therefore, if it please the king, let it be sought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the House for, Shafha bazar.

House of the Lord at Jerusalem hath bene done by the consent of king Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the lord our king, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then king Darius commanded to search in the kings libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecabane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were laid up for memory.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Jerusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the bredth of threescore cubites with three rowes of hewen stones, and one row of new wood of that countrey, and that the costs should be payed out of the house of king Cyrus,

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of golde as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Jerusalem, and brought into Babylon, should be restored to the House, which is in Jerusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also he commanded that Sisinnes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, should take heed to restraîne from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne and salt and wine, and oyle continually every yeere without faile, as the Priests which are in Ierusalem shall testifie to be spent every day, 31 That offerings may be made to the high God for the king and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded, that whosoever should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods should be the kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroy euery king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or do ouill to that house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem.

34 <sup>Esd. 6. 13</sup> *I Darius the King haue ordained that it should be diligently executed according to thele things.

C H A P. VII.

1 Sisinnes and his companions followe the Kings commandements, and helpe the Iewes to build the Temple. 2 The time that it was built. 3 They keepe the Pascheouer.

4 <sup>Esd. 6. 13</sup> Then Sisinnes the *gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions obeying king Darius commandements, 5 Assisted diligently the holy workers, working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuary.

6 And the holy workers prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which propheted.

7 So they finished all things by the commandement of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darins, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

8 Thus the holy House was finished in the threen and twentieth day of the moneth Adar, in the first yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

9 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyse.

10 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambes, 11 And twelve goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

12 And the Priests, and the Leuites stood according to their kindred clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyse, and also the porters in euery gate.

13 And the children of Israel offered the Pascheouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Leuites were sanctified.

14 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together: but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

15 And they offered the Pascheouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselves.

16 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, when all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

17 And they kept the feast of vnleavened bread seven dayes, reioicing before the Lord.

18 Because he had turned the counsell of the king of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

C H A P. VIII.

1 Esdras cometh from Babylon to Ierusalem. 2 The copy of the commission giuen by Artaxerxes. 3 Esdras giueth thanks to the Lord. 4 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 5 His prayer and confession.

¶ And after these things, when Artaxerxes king of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of [Sathrabouza], the sonne of Exeraias, the sonne of Melchias, the sonne of Salum,

2 The sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of [Ezias], the sonne of [Memeroth], the sonne of [Zaraias], the sonne of [Sathrabouza], the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abihum, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Raiah, Aaron was the high Priest.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a Scribe well taught in the Law of Moyse, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the king gaue him great honour, and hee found grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites and of the holy singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,

6 In the seventh yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fifth moneth: this was the fourth yeere of the king, (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem, according as the Lord gaue them speed in their iourney.)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge of the

that he would let nothing passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the Commandments, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by king Artaxerxes was given Eldras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie therof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Eldras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pity, I have commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Leuites which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my true friends the counsellors.

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iuda and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord.

14 And carie the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the golde and siluer which shall be found in the countreys of Babylon, appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem.

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well siluer as golde for bulles and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining.

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord their God which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will doe with the golde or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy G O D, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things sooner thou shalt remember for the vse of the temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also king Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria & Phenice, that whatsoever Eldras the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the highest God, shall send for, they should giue it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of siluer.

21 And likewise vnto an hundred cores of corne, and an hundred peeces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdom of the king and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy fingers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taske bee taken, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.

24 Thou also Eldras, according to the wisdom of God, ordaine Iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Law of thy God, and teach those which are not instructed.

25 And let all those that shall transgresse the Law of God and the king, be diligently punished, either with death or other punishment, either with penaltie of money or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Eldras the scribe said, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his House which is in Ierusalem.

27 And hath honoured me before the king, and the counsellors, and all his friends, and gouernours.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the king.

30 Of the sonnes of Phisees, Gersou, of the sonnes of Ithamar, Gamael, of the sonnes of Dauid ¶ Lettus.

31 Of the sonnes of Sechenias, of the sonnes of Ima. Pharez, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundred and fiftie men.

32 Of the sonnes of Salomon, Abeliacnias, the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundred men.

33 Of the sonnes of Zathoe, Sechenias the sonne of Iezolus, and with him three hundred men: of the sonnes of Adin, ¶ Obeth sonne of Ionathas, and with him two hundred and fiftie men.

34 Of the sonnes of Elam, ¶ Iesias, sonne of Getholias, and with him seuentie men.

35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias sonne of Machael, and with him seuentie men.

36 Of the sonnes of Ioab, ¶ Badias sonne of Iezelus, and with him two hundred and twelue men.

37 Of the sonnes of ¶ Baid, Alsalimoth sonne of Iosaphias, and with him an hundred and threescore men.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.

39 Of the sonnes of ¶ Aftah, Iohannes sonne of Acatan, and with him an hundred and ten.

40 Of the sonnes of Adoniam the last: and these are the names of them, Eliphalt, ¶ Ieouel, and ¶ Marias, and with them seuentie men: of the sonnes of ¶ Bagouthi sonne of Iseacours, and with him seuentie men.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called ¶ Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbered them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came ¶ Maafman and Alnathan, and Samaias, and ¶ Ioribon, and Nathan, Ennatas, Zacharias, and Mosollomon the chiefe and best learned.

44 And I bade them to goe to Daddes the captaine, which was in the place of the treasure.

45 With charge to bidde Daddes and his brethren and the treasurers that were there, to send to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by ¶ mighty hand of our Lord, learned men of the sonnes of Moli, the sonne of Levi, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ¶ Sisebebran and his sonnes and his brethren being eightene.

47 And Alebis, and ¶ Annon, and Oslaw his brethren of the sonnes of ¶ Camaineus, with their sonnes, twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundred and twentie, of whom all the names were registered.

49 ¶ And ¶ there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney both for vs and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the king footmen, or horicemen, or conduct for safegard against our enemies, 51 Because we had said to the king, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord againe, according to these things, whom we found fauourable.

1 Or, Senalia.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, so wis, E-stherias and Asanias, and with them teene of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the silver and the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them fixe hundred and fiftie talents of silver, and silver vessels of an hundred talents, and an hundred talents of gold, 56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasie of fine brasie shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold and the silver is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch & keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the House of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the silver and the gold, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs; and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So wee came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the silver that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the house of our Lord to Marmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri.

1 Or, Ma-
muth,
the sonne
of Iouri of Trie.
1 Or, Ma-
muth,
the sonne
of Iouri.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees and there were with them Iosabab the sonne of Iesus, and Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered to them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes fourescore and sixteen;

65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the king to the kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice, who honoured the people and the Temple of God.

Sec. 9. 1.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priests, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, and Chetites, and Phereites, and Iebusites, and Mosabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And assoone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my beard, and sat me downe sorowfull and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel came to me while I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And I said, O Lord, I am ashamed and confounded before thy face.

74 For our finnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our finnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our kings and Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy meue bene, O Lord, that these should be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldst reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meat in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when wee were in bondage we were not left of our God, but hee gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians that they should giue vs meat.

80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, & raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, hauing these things? for wee haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 82 * Because the land which ye goe to inherite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land which haue filled it by their filthinesse.

83 Therefore now ye shal not ioyne your daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes:

84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great finnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forborne our finnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but we againe haue turned back to transgresse thy law, & to mixe vs with the vneloynesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vus destiny vs, so that thou shouldst neither leaue vs a roote nor seede, nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Beholde, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can wee endure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And as Eidsras prayed and confessed and wept and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and young children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of I Ieel of the sons of Israel, crying out, said, O Eidsras, wee haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away and Iacobus Sabatias, Autanias, Maianias, and Cal-litas, Azarias, and Iosabbus, and Ananias, and Biratas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord,

49 And taught the Lawe of the Lord, and stood also earnestly vpon the reading.

10r, Ne-

50 Then said i Aththarates to Efdras the chiefe Priest and reader, & to the Leuites that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Go therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the sweete drinckes, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be neefory: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord:
be not sad,

54 Then they departed all to eate and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheare,

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, & despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them, for they haue not bin o-dernes.

19 I had pittie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eate: * so ye did eate Angels food.

20 * When ye were thirstie, did not I cleane the stone, and waters did flow out to satisfie you? from the heat I couered you with the leaues of the trees,

21 And I gaue you fat countrys: I cast out the Canaanites, the Phereizes and Philistines before you: * What shal I do more for you, saith the Lord?

22 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, * When ye were in the wilderness at the bitter waters, being thirstie, and blaspheming my Name,

23 I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, and made the ruer sweet.

24 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou * Iuda wouldst not obey: I will turne me to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name that they may keepe my Lawes.

25 Seeing ye haue forsaken mee, I will also forsake you: when yee aske mercie of mee, I will not haue pittie vpon you.

26 * When ye call vpon mee, I will not heare you: for you haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are swift to commit murder,

27 Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her young babes,

29 That ye would be my people, as I am your God, and that yee would be my children, as I am your father?

30 * I gathered you together, as an hen gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I will cast you out from my sight.

31 * When you bring gifts vnto me, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feasts dayes, your new moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom ye haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doeth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandment, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

17 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleene me though they heare mee not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall do the things that I command them.

18 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

19 I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioice in gladnesse, and though they haue not sene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

20 Now therefore brother, beholde what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

21 Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Io-

22 Nahum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is also called the messenger of the Lord.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

1 Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage, I gaue them all my Commandements by my seruants the Prophets, whome they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe ye away, O children: for I am a widowe and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorrow and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widowe and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and take mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnes for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my Couenant, 6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kined be not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my Couenant.

8 Woe vnto thee Assur, for thou hast defiled the righteous in thee: O wicked people, remember what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorrah, 9 Whose land is mixed with clouds of pitch, and heaps of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto Efdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get mee glory by them, and giue them the euertlasting Tabernacles, which I had prepared for thee.

12 They shall haue as will the tree of life, smelling of oymment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 Goe ye, and ye shall receive it: pray that the time which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witness: for I haue abolished the euil, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, & bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feet as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp from their places: and bring them out of the graves: for

I haue known my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants, Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits, 19 And as many fountaines flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mightie mountaines whereupon there grow roses and lillies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked, 21 Heale the wounded and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blind come into the light of my clearenesse.

22 Keepe the old and the young that are within thy walls.

23 * Wherefoerer thou findest the dead, take them and burie them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse: stablish their feet.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble & heauines commeth, other shall weepe & be sorrowfull, but thou shalt be merry and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shal do nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercy vnto them: for I am merciful, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come, and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines run ouer, & my grace shall not faile.

33 I Efdras received a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Wait for your shepherd who shall giue you euertlasting rest: for he is nere at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euertlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world: receive the ioy of your glory: I testifie my Saviour openly.

37 Receive the gift that is giuen you, & be glad, giuing thanks vnto him that hath called you to the heavenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, and haue received glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whome thou longest for, is fulfilled: beleeue the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the

the beginning may be sanctified.

Gen. 7. 9. 31 * I Edras saw upon mount Sion a great people, whom I could not number, and they all prayed the Lord with songs.

43 And in the mids of them there was a young man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads he set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much maruelled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and said, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered and said vnto mee, These be they that haue put off the mortall clothing, & haue put on the immortal, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered, and said vnto mee, It is the Sonne of God, whome they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel saide vnto me, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast scene.

CHAP. III.

4. The wonderous works which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Edras maruelled that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yeece after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, & my thoughts came vnto mine heart,

2 Because I sawe the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my Spirit was sore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull wordes to the most High, and said,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantdest the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

Gen. 2. 7. 5 * And a body vnto Adam without soule, who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that hee liued before thee,

6 And ledst him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth I brought forth.

10v. word forward. 7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kindred out of number.

Gen. 6. 13 8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandments.

Gen. 7. 10 9 * But at the time appoynted thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam.

1. Pri. 30 30. 11 Yet thou leste one, namely Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth began to multiply, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

Gen. 12. 7 Gen. 17. 5 13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou didst chuse thee a man from among them whose name was * Abraham.

14 Whom thou lovest, and vnto whome ouerly thou shewest thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him, promising him, that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seed.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau, * and didst chuse Jacob, and cast off Esau, and so Jacob became a great multitude. Gen. 25. 25, 26

17 And when thou ledst his seede out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sion, Mat. 1. 19 Rom. 9. 31

18 And includedst the heauens, and bowedst downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and diddest astenish the world. Ex. 19. 18 Amos. 4. 10

19 And thy glory went through foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him. Gen. 4. 6

22 Thus remained weakenesse ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeres were brought to an end, * till thou didst raise thee vp a servant called David, 1. Sam. 16 17.

24 * Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice. 2. Sam. 6 1. Sam. 7 5, 11.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forooke thee,

26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominiou of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, & saw their wicked deeds without number (for this is the thirtieth yere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw how thou Iufferdest them that sinned, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preferred thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue how this cometh to passe. Are the deeds of Babylō better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or wha: generation hath beleueed thy testimonies, as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here & there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandments.

34 Weigh thou the score our wickednes now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath lo kept thy commandments?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 The Angel reproveth Edras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

AND the Angel that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Higheft.

3 Then ſayd I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and ſaid, I am ſent to ſhew thee three waies, and to ſet forth three ſimilitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canſt declare me one, I will ſhew thee alſo the way that thou deſireſt to ſee, and I will ſhew thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I ſayd, Tell on my Lord. Then ſayd he vnto me, Go thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or meaſure me the blaſt of the wind, or call me againe the day that is paſt.

6 Then answered I, and ſayde, What man is borne, that can doe that which thou requireſt me, concerning theſe things?

7 And he ſaid vnto me, If I ſhould aſke thee how deepe dwellings are in the mids of the ſea, or how great ſprings are in the beginning of the depth, or howe great ſprings are in the ſtretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldeſt ſay vnto mee, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer climbe vp to heauen.

9 But nowe haue I aſked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day whereby thou haſt paſſed, and from the which things thou canſt not bee ſeparated, and yet canſt thou giue me none anſwere of them.

10 Hee ſayde moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, and ſuch as are growen vp with thee, canſt thou not know:

11 How ſhould thy veſſel then be able to comprehend the wayes of the Higheſt, & now outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderſtand the corruption that is euident in my ſight?

12 Then ſaid I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we ſhould liue in wickednes, and to ſuffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered mee, and ſaid, * I came to a foreſt in the plaine, where the trees held a counſel, 14 And ſayde, Come, let vs goe fight againſt the ſea, that it may giue place to vs, and that wee may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the ſea tooke counſel, and ſaide, Come, let vs goe vp and fight againſt the trees of the wood, that wee may get another country for vs.

16 But the purpoſe of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and conſumed it.

17 Likewise alſo the purpoſe of the floods of the ſea: for the ſand flood vp and ſtopped them.

18 If thou were iudge between theſe two, whom wouldeſt thou iuſtifie, or whome wouldeſt thou condemne?

19 I anſwered and ſaid, Verely it is a fooliſh purpoſe, that they both haue deuifed: for the ground is appointed for the wood, & the ſea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he mee, and ſayd, Thou haſt giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgeſt thou not thy ſelfe alſo?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the ſea for his floods: ſo they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderſtand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and ſaid, I beſeech thee, O Lord, let vnderſtanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpoſe to inquire of thine hie things, but of ſuch as wee dayly meddle withall, namely, wherefore Iſrael is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cauſe the people whom thou haſt loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, & why the law of our fathers is aboliſhed, and the writen ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why wee are teſted to and fro through the world as the graſhoppers, & our life is a very teare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercy.

25 But what will hee doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of theſe things haue I aſked thee the queſtion.

26 Then anſwered hee mee, and ſaid, The more thou ſearcheſt, the more thou ſhalt marueile, for the world haſteth faſt to paſſe away.

27 And cannot comprehend the things, that are promiſed to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of varighteouſnes and weaknes.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou aſkeſt, the euill is ſowen, but the deſtruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is ſowen, be not turned vptide downe, and if the place where the euill is ſowen, paſſe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is ſowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill ſeed hath bene ſowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlineſſe hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and how much ſhall he bring forth vntil the harueſt come?

31 Ponder with thy ſelfe how much fruit of wickednes the corne of euill ſeed bringeth forth.

32 And when the ſtalkeſ ſhall bee cut downe, which are without number, howe great an harueſt muſt be prepared.

33 Then I anſwered, and ſayde, How, and when ſhall theſe things come to paſſe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, ſaying, Haſte not to be about the moſt High: for thou laboured in vaine to be about him, though thou endeavour neuer ſo much.

35 Did not the ſoules alſo of the righteous aſke queſtion of theſe things in their chambers, ſaying, Howe long ſhall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruit of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremelt the Archangel answered, and ſaid, When the number of the ſeeds is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the ballance.

37 The meaſure of the times is meaſured: the ages are counted by number, and they ſhall not be mooued or ſhaken, till the meaſure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and ſaid, O Lord, Lord, wee are all euen full of ſinne.

39 And, for our ſake peraduenture the harueſt of the righteous is not fulfilled, becauſe of the ſinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and ſaid, Goe and aſke a woman with child, when ſhe hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then ſaid I, No, Lord, ſhe cannot. And he ſaid vnto me, In the graue the places of ſoules are like the wombe.

42 For as the that is with child, haſteth to eſcape the neceſſity of the trauell, ſo doe theſe places haſte to deliuer thoſe things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou deſireſt to ſee, ſhall be ſhewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and ſayd, If I haue found grace in thy ſight, and if it be poſſible, and if I be meet therefore, 45 Shew mee whether there bee more to come then is past, or more things past then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, & beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a watric cloude, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormy raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then sayd hee vnto mee, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, for the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the drops and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and said, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me, & said, Of the tokens, whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

C H A P. V.

1 In the latter times trib shall be hid. 10 Vnrighteousnes and all wickednes shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reuelled, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

N Euer the selfe concerning the tokens, beholde, the time shal come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shalbe taken in a great number, & the way of the trueth shalbe hid, and the land shalbe barren from faith.

2 And * iniquitie shal be increased more then thou hast scene now, or hast heard in time past.

3 And it shal come to passe, that one shall set in foot, & thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the Sunne shal suddenly shine againe in the night, and the Mooue three times a day.

5 Blood shal drop out of the wood, & the stone shal giue his voyce, and the people shalbe moued.

6 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules shal change place.

7 And the sea of Sodom shal cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shalbe a confusion in many places, and the fire shal oft breake forth, and the wilde beasts shal change their places, and menstruous women shal beare monsters.

9 And salt waters shal be found in the sweet, and all friends shal fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shal be sought of many, and yet not bee found: then shall vnrighteousnesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? and it shal say, No.

12 At the same time shall man hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shewe thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe, as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went through all my body, and my mind was feeble, and fainted.

15 But the Angel ¶ was come to talke with me, held me, comforted me, & set mee vp vpon my feet.

16 And in the second night Salathiel ¶ capitaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou bene: and why is thy countenance so heauy?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and fortake vs not as the shepheard that leaueh his flock in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then saide I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not nere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen daies, mourning and weeping, as Vriel the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grieuous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe.

23 And said, O Lord, Lord, of euery forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast choosen thee one only vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the world thou hast choosen thee one pit, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast choosen thee one lillie.

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuier, & of all builded cities, thou hast sanctified Zion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue: and of all the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a law, that is proued of all.

28 And nowe, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They tread thee down, which haue withstood thy promises, and I beleuee not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou didst so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punished with thine owne hauds.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me.

32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I wil teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speake on my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better then hee doeth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not scene the trouble of Iaakob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto mee the things that are not yet come, or gather me ¶ drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the windes that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voyce, & then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest, and labourst to know.

38 And

38 And I sayd, O Lord, Lorde, who can know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefit that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bene before mee, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he said vnto me, I wil compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slackenesse of the ball, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered and said, Couldst thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me, The creature, said he, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold him at once that shall be created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou, which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also containe all men at once.

46 And he said vnto mee, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seed is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong child begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and sayd, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceed to speake before thee: for our mother whom thou hast told me is yong, draweth the neere vnto age?

51 Hee answered me, and sayd, Aske a woman that traueleth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answere thee, Some were borne in the floure of youth, others were borne in the prime of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that ye are lesse of stature then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you lesse then yee, as the creatures which now begin to bee old, and haue passed ouer the strenght of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shew thy seruant, by whom dost thou governe thy workmanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

And he said vnto me, In the beginning when the A round world was made, and before the borders of the world were set, and before the windes blew one against another:

1 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were laid:

2 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

3 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimnies in Sion were hote:

4 Before the present yeeres were fought out, and before the afflictions of them that now Sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layd vp the treasure of faith were sealed,

5 Then did I purpose these things, & they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they shall be ended, and by some other.

6 Then answered I, and sayd, what shall be the diuision of times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

7 And hee layd vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Isaac & Esau were borne of him, * Isaac's hand held first the heele of Esau. Gen. 25. 26.

8 For Esau is the end of this world, and Isaac is the beginning of it that followeth.

9 The hand of man is bewixt the heele and the hand. Other things, Eldras, aske thou not.

10 ¶ I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 11 I beseech thee, make an end to shew thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewdest me part the last night.

12 So he answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feet, and heare a mighty sounding voice.

13 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be moued.

14 And therefore when he speaketh, be not afraid: for of the end shall be the word, and of the foundation of the earth, shall it be vnderstood,

15 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth, and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

16 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feet, and hearkened: and behold, there was a voice that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters.

17 And it said, Behold, the dayes come that I will come and enquire of them that dwell vpon the earth.

18 And when I begin to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled, 19 And the world that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the booke shall be opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

20 And the children of a yeere olde shall speake with their voyces: the women with child shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths old, and they shall liue that are raised vp.

21 Then suddenly shall the sownen places appeare as the vn-sownen, and the full storehouses shall suddenly be found empty.

22 And the trumpet shall found, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

23 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, & the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the wells shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

24 Whosoever remaineth from all these things that I haue told thee, shall be saved and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

25 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall bee changed and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish : corruption shall bee ouercome, and the trueth which had bene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And when hee talked with mee, behold, I looked a little vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these wordes said he vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen dayes more, I will tell thee moe things and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest : sorely ¶ mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing : hee hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent mee to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not.

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seuen dayes in like manner, that I might fulfill that three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was my heart vexed within me againe: and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (even the first day) and commaundedst * that the heauen and the earth should bee made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit and the darknesse was on euery side with silence : there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commaundedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly aire, and commaundedst it that going between it should make a diuision between the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commaundedst, that the waters should be gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: six parts didst thou dry, and kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being sown of God, and tilled.

43 Assoone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste and flowers of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

Gen. 1. 14 45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order

Gen. 1. 15. of the Starres,

Leut. 4. 19 46 And gauest them a charge to doe * seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fifth day thou saydest vnto the seventh part, * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth bestes, as foules and fishes : and it was so.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandment of God, that the nations might praise thy wondrous worke.

Cr. Fa. 49 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things : the one thou calledst ¶ Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Liuiathan,

50 And didest separate the one from the other: for the seventh part where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that hee should dwell in the same part wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Liuiathan thou gauest the seventh part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixth day thou gauest commandment vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell, and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the workes which thou hast created, of him come we al, and the people also whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell, 57 And now, O Lorde, behold these Heathen which haue been reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And wee thy people, (whome thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy seruice louer) are given into their hands.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The coming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection & last iudgement, 42 after the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

And when I had made an end of these wordes, there was sent vnto mee an Angel, which had been sent downe to me the nights afore.

2 And he said vnto mee, Vp Esdras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on my God. Then said he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow and like the riuers.

5 Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a city is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things.

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand and a deepe water at the left.

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betweene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man go there.

9 If this citie were given vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: & when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorrow and trauel: they are but few and and euill, and full of perils, and very painfull.

13 For the entrances of y foreworld were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these frait and brittle things, they cannot attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, *seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Law, that y righteous should inherit these things, & that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffer straightnes, shall not see the large things.

19 Then hee said vnto mee, There is no Iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue to auoide punishment.

22 Neuertheles they were not obedient vnto him but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselves by their wicked deeds, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes.

25 And therefore, Eldras, vnto the emptie are emptye things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shal come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and she shall come forth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth, 27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, hee shall see my wonders.

28 For my Sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine shall reioyce within foure hundred yeres.

29 After these same yeres shall my Son Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the olde silence for seven dayes, as in the tore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seven dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence and the secret places shal deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seat of Iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an end.

34 Iustice only shall continue: the truth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow and the reward shall be shewed: the good deede shall be of force, and vngodlynesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomiters, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Aenaz and Samuel,

38 And * David for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie,

39 * And Elias for those that receiued rain, and for the dead that he might liue, 40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time Sennacherib, and diners others for many.

41 Euen fo now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, therefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 I then he answered me, and said, This present life is not the end, oft times honor is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortallitie to come, where in all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: righteousness shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bin better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauines, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sined, thou art not fallen alone, 18, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortall life, when wee doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euercasting hope should be promised vs, seeing that we betide our selues to deadly vanity?

51 And that there should be appointed vs dwellings of health & safety, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them, which haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall paradise should be shewed, whose fruit remaineth vncorruptible, wherein is safety and health, if wee will not enter into it?

54 (For we haue beene conuerfant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abstained, should shine more then starrs, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56 For while we liued, wee did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that wee should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the maner of the battel, which man that is borne in the earth, shall fight, 58 That if he be overcome, hee should suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victorie, he should receiue the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life whereof Moyses spake vnto the people while he liued, saying, * Chuse thee life that thou mayest liue.

60 Neuertheles, they beleued him not, neither the prophets after him, nor mee also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauinesse should not so be to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whom saluacion is perfwaded.

62 I answered the and said, I know Lord, that the most hie is called mercifull in that he hath mercie

C H A P. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is ſmall. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Eſdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promiſe of ſaluation to the iuſt.
55 The deſtruction of the uniuſt.

AND hee answered mee, ſaying, The moſt High made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a ſimilitude, O Eſdras. As when thou aſkeſt the earth, it ſhall ſay vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little duſt that gold cometh of, ſo is it with the worke of this world.

Mat. 20. 3 There be many created, but few ſhal be ſaued.

16.

4 Then answered I, and ſaid, Then ſwallow vp the wit, O my ſoule, and deuoure vnderſtanding.

5 For thou haſt promiſed to heare, and thou wiſt propheticke: for thou haſt no longer ſpace, but the life giuen thee,

6 O Lord, if thou ſuffer not thy ſeruant, that we may intreate thee that thou mayeſt giue ſeed vnto our heart, & prepare our vnderſtanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is conſcript, may line, who can ſet himſelfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, and we all are one workmanſhip of thine hands, as thou haſt ſaid.

8 For when the body is faſhioned now in the wombe, and thou haſt giuen it members, thy creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee doth ſuffer nine moneths the creature which is faſhioned in it.

9 But the thing that containeth, & that which is contained, ſhal both be preferred, & when time is come, the wombe being preferred, deliuereth the things that grow in it.

10 For thou haſt commaunded the members, euen the breſtes, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breſts,

11 That the thing which is created may bee nouriſhed for a time, till thou diſpoſeſt it into thy mercie.

12 Thou bringeſt it vp with thy righteousneſſe, nouriſheſt it in thy Law, and reſormeſt it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou ſlayeſt it as thy creature, and giueſt it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou deſtroyeſt him which with ſo great labours is faſhioned, it is an eaſie thing to appoint by thy Commandement, that the thing alſo which is made might be preferred.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will ſpeake (as tow-ching men in generall thou ſhalt rather provide) but concerning thy people, for whoſe ſake I am ſorie,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whoſe cauſe mourne: for Iſrael, for whom I am wofull, and for Jacob, for whoſe ſake I am grieved.

17 For them will I pray before thee, aſwell for my ſelfe as for them: for I ſee our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the ſudden coming of the Iudge which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voice, and vnderſtand my words which I will ſpeake before thee. The beginning of the wordes of Eſdras before he was taken vp:

20 O Lord that liueſt for euer, which beholdeſt from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whoſe throne is inſeſtimable, and his glory incomprehenſible, before whome the hoſt of the Angels ſtand with trembling,

22 Whoſe keeping is turned in wind and fire, whoſe word is true, & ſayings ſtedfaſt, whoſe commandement is ſtrong, and gouernment terrible,

23 Whoſe look drieth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away, as the thing beareth witneſſe,

24 Heare the prayer of thy ſeruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue I will ſpeake, and ſo long as I haue vnderſtanding, I will anſwere.

26 Look not vpon the finnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull ſeruants.

27 Haue not reſpect vnto the wicked deedes of men rather then to them that haue thy teſtimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon thoſe that haue walked fai-nedly before thee, but remember them that reue-rence thy will.

29 Let it not be thy will to deſtroy them which haue liued like beaſts, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take not diſpleaſure with them which ap-peare worſe then beaſts, but loue them that alway put their truſt in thy righteousneſſe and glory.

31 For we and our fathers haue all the ſame ſickneſſes: but becauſe of vs that are ſinners thoſe ſhal be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou ſhalt be called mercifull toward vs which haue no workes of righteousneſſe.

33 For the righteous which haue layed vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man that thou ſhouldeſt take diſpleaſure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou ſhouldeſt be ſo grieved toward it?

35 ¶ For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doeth confeſſe thee, which hath not done amiſſe. 1. King 8. 46. 2. Cor. 6. 36.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousneſſe and thy goodneſſe ſhal be praized, if thou be mercifull vnto them which haue not ſubſtance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, and ſaid, Some things haſt thou ſpoken aright, and according vnto thy words it ſhal be.

38 For I will not verely conſider the workes of them before the death, before the iudgement, before deſtruction:

39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the ſaluation and the reward that they ſhall haue. Gen. 44

40 Like as I haue spoken now so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sown commeth not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted take root: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world be saued.

42 I answered then, and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seed perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raue in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raue:

44 So perisheth man which is created with thine hands and thou art called his paterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, & likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Be not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldst lone my creature about me: but I haue oft times drawn nere vnto thee, and vnto it: but neuer to the vn-righteous.

48 In this also art thou maruailous before the Highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becometh thee, & hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is Paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnes made ready, the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfit goodnesse and absolute wisdom.

53 The roote of euill is sealed vp from you, the weaknesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell flieth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his Law, and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 * Saying in their heart, That there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish:

60 But they after that they were created, haue deſiled the name of him that made them, and are vthankfull vnto him which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Behold now, O Lord, thou hast shewed me the many wonders which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time thou hast not shewed mee.

CHAP. IX.

1 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 25 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The leues ingratitude. 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

He answered mee then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe: and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High wil begin to visit the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shalbe seene an earthquake in the world, and an vprere of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his works, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleueed,

8 Shalbe preferred from the said perils, & shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

9 Then shal they haue pity of themselves which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefits, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my Law, while they were yet in liberty, & whie they had yet leisure of amendment, and would not vnderstand, but despised it,

12 They must be taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore bee thou no more carefull to know how the vngodly shall bee punished, but enquire how the righteous shall be saued, and whole the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now, & wil speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that I shalbe saued, 16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, so are the colours also, such as the workman is such is the worker: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandrie: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely, when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now line, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the manners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seed, and by a Law whereout they cannot rid themselves.

20 So I considered the world, and behold, there was perill, because of the deuises that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, & haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 Neuer the lesse, if thou wilt cease seven daies moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt go into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the floures of the fields, and eate no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the floures onely,

25 And pray vnto the most High continually, then will I come and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as bee had commanded mee, into the field which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eate of the herbs of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied mee.

27 And after seuen dayes as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say,

Exod. 19. 9. and 24. 3. deut. 4. 12. 29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shewethy selfe vnto vs, *thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wilderness in a place where no man dwelleth in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and make my wordes, thou seede of Iakob.

31 For behold, I sowe my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for ever.

32 But, our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruite of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

Exod. 32. 28. 33 * For they that receiued it perished, because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

34 And loe, it is a cutoome when the ground receiueh seed, or the Sea a ship, or a vessel meat and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs, but in vs it commeth not so to passe

36 For we that haue receiued the Law perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiueh it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the right side * I saw a woman which mourned fore, & lamented with a lowd voice, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had alhes vpon her head.

Chap. 10. 44.

39 Then I left my thoughts wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And said vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in mind?

41 And she said vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorow: for I am fore vexed in my minde, and brought very low.

42 Then I said vnto her, What aileth thee? tell mee.

43 And she said vnto me, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no child, hauing an husband thirty yeeres.

44 And euery houre and euery day these thirtie yeeres, I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres, God heard me thine handmaid and looked vpon my misery, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my country, and wee gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauaile.

47 So when he grew vp and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

C H A P. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

¶ Vt when my sonne went into his chamber, hee fell downe and died,

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they all had left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angrily, and said,

6 Thou foolish woman aboute all other, seest thou not our heauines, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull, and is fore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing we be all now in heauinesse, ann make our mone (for we be all sorowful) art thou sory for one sonne?

9 Demand the earth, and she shall tel thee that it is shee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sorie but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruite of my wombe which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueh her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said,

20 Doe not so, but be counsell'd: for how many fals hath Sion? be of good comfort because of the sorow of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuarie is layed waste: our Altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away. and the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Arke of our covenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priestres are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues ranshed, and our righteous men spoiled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought into bondage, and our strong men are become weake.

23 And which is the greatest of all, Sion the scale hath lost her worship, for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almighty may be merciful vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest, and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might be.

26 And behold, immediatly she cast out a great voyce, very fearful, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a city builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cryed with a loud voyce, and said, 28 Where is Vriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deep considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand, and comforted me, and set me vpon my feet, and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorie?

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto mee, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my mind, being brutie, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee, that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me and said, Heare me, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 Hee hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sory continually for thy people, & makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou begandest to comfort her.

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas shee told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution.

44 This woman which thou sawest, shee is Sion, and whereas shee told thee (euen shee which thou seest now as a citie builded.)

45 And as touching that she said vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there were euen thirtie yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres Salomon built the city and offered offerings, then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas shee told thee that shee nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem, 48 But whereas shee told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is to come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou begandest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced, these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth that thou art sorie in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearnesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shewe these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatness of the building, as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this thou shalt heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remaine here.

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High wil do vnto them that dwell vpon earth in the last daies. So I slept the same night and another, as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an Eagle comming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lion comming out of the Forrest.

Then saw I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the sea an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings and three heads.

2 And I saw and behold, shee spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew on her and gathered themselves.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still and the head in the mids was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I saw that the Eagle flew with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the Eagle stood vp vpon her claws, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not all together: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preferred for the last.

10 Neuerthelesse, I saw that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the mids of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So y next stood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also,

also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voice vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more,

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold, in proceesse of time the fethers that folowed, stood vpon the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelue fethers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles bodie, but two heads that rested, and fixe wings.

24 Then sawe I also that two wings diuided themselves from the fixe, and remained vnder the head that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnderwings thought to set vp themselves, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second was sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the mids, for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I saw that the two heads were ioyued therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnder wings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth, with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the mids, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and lo, the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voice which said vnto mee, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I saw, and behold, as it were a Lion that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that he sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and spake and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beasts remainedst, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beasts that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulnesse, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the world with truth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meek, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loured liars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast downe the wals of such as did thee no harme.

43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mighty.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and behold they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked claws, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may bee refreshed, and come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that she may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

ANd when the Lion spake these wordes to the Eagle, I saw,

1 And behold, the head that had the vpper hand appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more that came to it, and set vp themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vprours.

2 And I saw, & behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and traunce of my minde, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit,

3 Loe, this thou hast done vnto me, in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

4 Loe, yet am I wearie in my minde, and very weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me for the great feare that I receiued this night.

5 Therefore now I will beseech the most High, that he will comfort me vnto the end.

6 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer indeed be come vp before thy face,

7 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule,

8 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shew me the last times.

9 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision,

10 The Eagle, whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the *kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. De. 7.1

11 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

12 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared aboute all kingdomes that were before it.

13 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another.

14 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

15 And this do the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

16 As for the voyce that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not goe out from the head, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

17 That after the time of that kingdome there shall shall arise great strife, and it shall bee in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation.

20 In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yerres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be sure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may bee ended, but two shall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation.

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth.

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they call'd the heads of the Eagle.

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more: it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall hee fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, that is the interpretation, 30 These are they whome the most High hath preferred for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble, as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the words that thou hast heard, 32 This is the wind which the most High hath kept forthem, and for their wickednesse vnto the end, and hee shall reprove them, and cast before them their spoiles.

33 For he shall set them alieue in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them, and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preferred vpon my borders, and he shall make them ioyfull vntill the coming of the day of iudgement, wherof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dream that thou sawest, & these are the interpretations.

36 Thou only hast been meete to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke, and hide them.

38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But wait thou here yet seven daies moe, that it may bee shewed thee whatfoeuer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that hee went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued that the seven dayes were past and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together from the least vnto the most, and came vnto mee, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou only art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a dark place, and as an haueu or ship preferred from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it bene for vs that we had been burnt alioas Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loud voice. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie, thou house of Iacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercy for the low estate of your Sanctuary.

49 And now go your way home euery man, and after these dayes, I will come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them.

51 But I remained still in the field, seven daies, as he had commanded mee, and did eate onely of the flowers of the field, and had my meate of the hearbs in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a winde coming from th of the sea, & which became a man. 5 His proprietie and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

And after these seven daies I dreamed a dream by night.

2 And beholde, there arose a winde from the sea, and it moued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked and beheld, there was a mighty man with the thousandes of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voice, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and beholde, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and beholde, hee graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I saw after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him were fore afraide, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuerthelesse, when hee saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely as I saw hee sent out of his mouth as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue hee cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, even this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraide.

12 ¶ Afterward I saw the same man come down from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sick through great feare, and awaked, and said,

14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receive my prayer, 15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Wo vnto them that shalbe left in those dayes, and much more wo vnto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauines.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are laid vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities as these dreames declare.

20 Yet it is easer that he that is in danger should fall into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloud out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shew thee, and I will open vnto thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation.

23 He that shall beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith towards the most Mightie.

24 Know therefore, that they which be left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the mids of the sea.

26 The same is hee whome the most High hath kept a great season, who by his own selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall order them that are left behinde.

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast with fire and storme, 28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his hercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation.

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, cite against cite, & place against place, * and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

32 When this cometh to passe, then shall the tokens come that I shewed thee before, and then shall my sonne be reuealed, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voice, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shalbe gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him:

35 But hee shall stand vpon the toppe of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen forth without any hands.

37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inventions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shall bee tormented: and without any labour will hee destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered an other peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne land, * in the time of Oseas the King, whom Salmanasar the King of the Assyrians took captiue, and caried the beyond the riuier: so they were brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a farre country, where neuer mankind dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuier Euphrates.

44 For the most High then shewed them signes, * and stayed the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.

45 For thorow the countrey there was a great journey, euen of a yeere and a halfe, and the same region is called I Afareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most High shall hold still the springs of the riuier againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that be left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shall defend the people that remaine.

50 And then shall he shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shew mee this, wherefore haue I seene the man comming vp from the mids of the sea?

52 And hee said vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of my dream which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightned.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wildome, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewardes with the most High: and after three other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wondrous things.

57 Then I went forth vnto the field, glorifying and praising the most High for the wonders which hee did in time, 58 Which hee gonneth, & such things as come in their seasons: and there I sate three dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

Vpon the third day I sate vnder an oke, and behold, there came forth a voice vnto me out of the bush, and said, Esdras, Esdras.

thou shew secretly vnto the wife: to morrow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth as he commanded mee, and gathered all the people together, and said,

28 Hear these words, O Israel.

29 * Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered, Gen. 47.

30 And receiued y<sup>e</sup> law of life,* which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them. A2.7.53

31 Then was the land, euen y<sup>e</sup> land of Sion, parted among you hy lot, but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes which the most High commanded you.

32 And forsomuch as he is a righteous Iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that hee had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that yee will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, yee shall be kept aliuie, and after death shall ye obtaine mercy.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue againe: and then shal the names of the righteous be manifest, and the workes of the godly shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therfore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fortie dayes.

37 So I tooke the five men as hee commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold a voyce called me, saying, Esdras,* open thy mouth, and drinke that I Ezek. 3. 2 giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, hee reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vaderstanding, and wise-domes grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, & shut no more.
42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the five men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstoode not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourty dayes they wrote two hundred and four bookes.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vn-worthy may reade it.

46 But keepe the ſeuentie laſt, that thou mayeſt giue them to the wiſe among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge : and I did so.

CHAPTER XV.

1 The prophesie of Eſay is certaine. 3 The evils that ſhall come on the world. 9 The Lord will avenge the innocent blood. 13 Egypt ſhall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 and puniſhments upon the Kings of the earth. 24 Curſed are they that ſinne. 29 Troubles and warres upon the whole earth. 53 God is the renewer of his elect.

BEholde, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee : let not the vnfaihtfulnes of the speakers trouble thee, that

49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, poverty, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power shall be dried vp, as a flowre when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt bee sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, faith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hand, and said ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beauty of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bowels: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, sayth the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, & thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread, and thirst of water.

59 And thou as vnhappy, shalt come therow the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy lande, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt bee cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall bee to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, & thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woodys, and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carie away captiue, and shall spoile thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt, & Syria. 18.

38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the world, with admision howe to gouerne themselves in afflictions.

54 To acknowledge their sinnet, and to commit themselves to the Lord, 55 whose mighty providence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

Woe to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

3 Gird your selues with sacke and hairecloth, and mourne your children, and bee sory: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungry lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrow that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 Hee shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, & who shall not vterly bee broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh & the foundations thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues ther-of are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand that bendeth the bow: his arrowes that hee shooteth, are sharpe and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, & shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mighty archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, victuals shall be so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to bee in good case: but then shall the euils bud forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sow it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voice.

22 For of one city there shall be ten left, and two of the field, which shall hide themselves in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where oliues growe, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall bee three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shall waxe olde, and her wayes and all her pathes shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauell therethrough.

27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: there daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, & their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But ye seruants of the Lord heare these things and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it, because not the gods of whom the Lord speaketh: behold, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a travelling woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three heures afore the paines paines come vpon her body, and when the child commeth to the byrth, they tary not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slack to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorow shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battel, & in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as hee that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein.

36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruits, & spoyle their good, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupy their merchandise with couetousnes, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angry against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As an whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousness hate iniquity, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall bridle the authour of all sin vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it bee long, iniquity shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

Luke 16. 46 Behold, the Lord * knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts.

Gen. 1.1. 47 * For assoone as he said, Let y<sup>e</sup> earth be made, it was made: let the heauen bee made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them.

Psal. 147. 49 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 Hee hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vauertyp on the waters: hath he founded it.

52 In the desert he hath made springs of water, and pooles vpon the toppes of the mountaines, to powre out floodes from the high rockes, to water the earth.

53 He made man, and put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, & hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth.

55 Hee knoweth your inuentiones, and what ye imagine in your heart, when ye sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and fought out all your works, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, ye shall bee confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the Iudge, feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them, so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, & shall slay you for meat to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall bee had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall bee great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord: be holde, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: bee not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commaundements and precepts, sayeth the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselves vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, wherby no man may traueille: it is that vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

TOBIT.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobit's parentage. 3 His godliness. 5 His equity. 8 His charity and prosperity. 19 Hee fleeth, and his goods are confiscate, 24 and after restored.

THE book of the words of Tobit, sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananuel, the sonne of Aduel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seede of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephtalim.

10r, Sal. manasser. 2 Who in the time of] Enemessar King of the Assyrians was * ledde away captiue out of Thisbe, 2. King which is at the right hand of that city, which is called properly Nephtalim in Galile about Aser.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the bretheren, which were of my nation, and came with me, 9 Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne country in the land of Israel, being but young, all the tribes of Neph-

Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated and built up for all ages.

5 *Now all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

6 But I, (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerslitting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem, at the feasts, *bringing the first fruits, and the tenths of beasts, with that which was first thorne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests, the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priestesses the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem: the other tenth part I sold, and came and bestowed it euery yeere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meet, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupill.

9 *Furthermore when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 * But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eat of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating,

12 Because I remembered God with my heart.

13 Therefore the most High gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purueior,

14 * And I went into Media, and deliuered ten talents of silver to Gabael the brother of Gabrias in the land of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

16 * But in the time of * Enemessar, I gaue manacles to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them, which were hungry, 17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kinred dead, or cast about the wals of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if the king Sennacherib had slaine any, when hee * was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them priuily (for to his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

19 Therefore when a certaine Nineuite had accused mee to the king, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuerthelesse, * within fise and fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts, and ouer all his domesticall affaires, Achiacharus my brother Anais sonne.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Nineue: now Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward and ouersawer the accounts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and hee was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

1 Tobias calleth the fishfall to his table, 3 He leaueh the feast to bury the dead, 10 How hee became blinde, 13 His wife labour eth for her liuing, 14 She reprocheth him bitterly.

NOW when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto me with my son Tobias in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weeks, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eate.

2 And when I saw abundance of meat, I said to my sonne, Goe and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt find of our brethren which doth remember God, and loe, I will tary for thee.

3 But he came againe, & said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, & is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meat, I starr vp, and brought him into mine house, vntill the going downe of the sunne.

5 Then I returned, and washed, & ate my meat in heauinesse.

6 Remembering that prophesie of * Amos, which had said, Your tolemme feasts shall bee turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going down of the sunne, I went and made a graue, and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, & said Doest he not feare to die for this cause, who * fled away, and yet loe, he burieth the dead againe?

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered,

10 And I knewe not that sparrows were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrows cast downe warme dung into mine eyes, and a whiteness came in mine eyes, and I went to the Physicians: but they helped me not. Moreouer Achiacharus did nourish me, vntill I went into Helimais.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens workes to doe.

12 And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kid,

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to bleat, I said vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stolen? render it to the owners: * for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stolen.

14 But she said, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleene, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blush, because of her. Furthermore she said, * Where are thine almes and thy righteousnes? behold, they all now appeare in thee.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobias. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 17 The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I being sorrowfull did weepe, and in my sorrow, prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy workes, and all thy wayes are mercie and truth, and thou iudgetruly and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my finnes or mine ignorances, or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandments: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs * for a spoyle, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whome we are disperfed, and now * thou hast many & iust causes.

5 To doe with me according to my finnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commandments, neither haue I walked in truth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and command my spirit to be taken from mee, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue

haue heard false reproches, and am very sorowfull: command therefore that I may be disloosed out of this distresse, & go into the euertlasting place: turne not away thy face from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day, that in Ecba-tane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her faders maids,

8 Because shee had bene married to seuen husbands, whom Asmodeus the euil spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not know, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husband is? thou hast had now seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doest thou beat vs for them? If they be dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When the heard these things, there was very sorowfull, so that the thought to haue strangled her selfe. And the said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shal slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorow.

11 Then shee prayed toward the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praye thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lord, I see mine eyes, and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any man could be to his helpe, neither any kinsman or childe borne of him, to whome I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, & why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, command to looke on mee, and to pite me, that I doe no more heare reproch.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that he to take away the whitenes of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to bind Asmodeus the euil spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. III.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobias to his sonne.

¶ In that day Tobit remembreth * the siluer which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media,

1 And saide with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias, that I may admoone him before I die?

2 And when he had called him, hee said, My sonne, after that I am dead, burie mee, and despire not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

3 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers the sinned, when thou wast in her wombe:

4 And when the dieth, bury her by mee in the same graue.

5 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne, or to transgresse the commandements of God. Doe vp-rightly all thy life long, and folow not the wayes of vnrighteousnes: for if thou deale truly, thy doings shall prosperously succede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

6 Giue * almes of thy substance: & when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neither turne thy face from any poure, lest that God turne his face from thee.

7 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraid to giue a litle almes.

8 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessitie, 9 * Because that almes doth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darkenesse.

10 For almes is a good gift before the most Hie, to all them which vie it.

11 Beware of all * whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers looke: for wee are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember, my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kined, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shal inherit the land.

12 Now therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despire not in thine heart thy brethren the sons and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcitie and great povertie: for fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

13 Let not the * wages of any man which hath wrought for thee, tarie with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: bee circumspect my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conuersation.

14 * Do that to no man which thou hasteest drink not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkenesse goe with thee in thy iourney.

15 * Giue of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and * of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be enuious when thou giuest almes.

16 Powe out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

17 Aske counsell alway of the wise, and despire not any counsell that is profitable.

18 Bless the Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be made straight, and that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for every nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements. neither let them at any time bee put out of thy mind.

19 * Furthermore I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

20 And feare not, my sonne, forasmuch as we are made poure: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God and see from all sin, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

¶ Tobias sent to Rages: 4 Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael which dyd conduct him.

Tobias then answered, and said, Father, I will doe all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then hee gaue him the handwriting, and sayd vnto him, Seeke thee a man which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages,

¶ Or, when shee was whom for shee said.

wages, and goe and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when he was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I go with thee into the land of Media? & knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I will go with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tary for me till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Goe, and tary not: so he went in, and saide to his father, Beholde, I haue found one which will go with me. Then he said, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and familie thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doeſt thou seeke a stocke or family, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I would knowe brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he said, I am of the kindred of Azarias, and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit said, I Thou art welcome brother, be not now angry with me, because I haue enquired to know thy kindred & thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I know Ananias and Ionathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for wee went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not deceived with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell me, what wages shal I giue thee? will thou a goats day, and things necessary as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea moreouer, if ye returne safe, I will add something to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father said, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keep you company. So they went forth both, and departed, and the dog of the yong man with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God we had not laid money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Bee not carefull my sister: he shall returne in safety, and thine eye shal see him.

21 For the good Angel doeth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and hee shall returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias delivered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines. 10 Hee conducteth him toward Sarra.

And as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

3 And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the river, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish, and the yong man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel said, Cut the fish, & take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had roasted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecabane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a deuill or an euil spirit trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he shall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages, the Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: he hath also one onely daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that she may be giuen thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doeth the right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred.

12 And the maid is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father, that we may make the marriage when we are returned from Rages: for I knowe that Raguel cannot marrie her to another according to the law of Moyses: els he should deserue death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee, then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maide hath bene giuen to seven men, who all died in the marriage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, lest I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit leueth her, which hurteth no body but those which come in to her: wherefore, I also feare lest I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life, because of me, to the graue with sorrow: for they haue no other sonne to burie them.

15 Then the Angel laide vnto him, Doeſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldest marry a wife of thine owne kindred? wherefore heare me, O my brother: for she that be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euil spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hot coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish.

17 Which if the spirit do smel, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pity on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appoynted vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall go with thee: moreover, I suppose that she shall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyed to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

And when they were come to Ecabane, they came to the house of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, they brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you my brethren? to whom they sayd, that they were of the tribe of Nephthali, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then hee sayd vnto them, Doe ye know Tobit our kinsman? and they sayd, We know him. Then sayd he, Is he in good health?

5 And they sayd, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias sayd, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped and kissed him, and wept, and blessed him, and sayd vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blind, hee was sorowfull and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they receiued the with a ready mind and after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they set much meate on the table. Then said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this busines may be dispatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel sayd to Tobias, Eat, and drinke, & make merrie.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marrie my daughter: neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the truth, 11 I haue giuen my daughter in mariage to seven men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neither the selfe, be thou of a good courage and merrie. But Tobias said, I will eat nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marrie her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and thee is thine God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, & she came to her father, and hee tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them, 14 And called his wife Edna, and hee tooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After Raguel called his wife Edna, and sayd vnto her, Sister, Prepare another chamber, & bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done as he had bidden her, shee brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And sayd vnto her, Bee of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorow: bee of good comfort thy daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 Hee prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel prayeth the Lord.

And when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and the liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smel when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the yvtmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise, and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs,

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thy holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him *Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankind: thou hast said, It is not good that a man should be alone, let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly, therefore grant me mercie, that we may become aged together.

8 And he said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, & Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He said vnto his wife Edna, Send one of the maids, and let them see whether he be aliue: if not: that I may burie him, and none know it.

13 So the maid opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe, 14 And came forth and told them that hee was aliue.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure & holy praise: therefore let thy Saints praye thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praye thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercie.

17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercy of two that were the only begotten children of their fathers, grant them mercie, O Lord, and finish their life in health, with ioy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an oth that hee should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired,

21 And then hee should take the halfe of his goods and returne in safety to his father, and should haue the rest when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him, 2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shal not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tarry long, he will be very fory.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore

3 Therefore he was very foty.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarish: and she began to bewaile him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes,

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: be not carefull: for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead: and he went out euery day by the way which they went, neither did they eate meat on the day time, & did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the fourtene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that he should tary there, Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me go to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money, 11 And he blessed them and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and he killed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee my deare brother, and praunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold now I commit to thee my daughter as a pledge: doe not increat her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How hee was receiued. 10 His father hath his sight restored and praisth the Lord.

After these things Tobias went his way praising God that hee had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew nere to Nineue.

3 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou didst leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gill of the fish. So they went their way, and the dogge followed them.

5 Now Anna late in the way looking for her sonne.

6 Whom when shee saw comming, she said to his father, Behold, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 Then Anna ran forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and humbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke holde on his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, hee rubbed them,

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when hee saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke,

14 And hee wept, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pity on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne being glad, went in, and told his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in lawe, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, maruilled because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pittie on him. And when he came nere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, hee blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, 5 the which he would recompense. 11. 15 Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man which went with thee, & thou must giue him more.

3 And hee said vnto him, O father, it shall not grieve me to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, & hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the old man said, It is due vnto him.

5 So hee called the Angel, & said vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and goe away in safetie.

6 But he tooke them both apart, and said vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not wearie to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a king, but it is honourable to reueale the workes of God: do that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting and almes and righteousnes. A little with righteousness is better then much with vnrighteousnes: it is better to giue almes then to lay vp gold.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousnes, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I said it was good to keepe close the secret of a King, but that it was honourable to reueale the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou didst pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the Holy one: and when thou didst bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieved to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deed deed was not hid from me: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the seven holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But hee said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

Gen. 28. and 19. 3. Judges 13. 16. 19 * All these daies I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eat nor drinke, but you saw it in vision.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they arose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared vnto them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiving of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

Then Tobit wrote a prayer of reioicing, and said, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 Hee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations among whom we are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole mind, and deale vprightly before him, then will he turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what he will do with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of righteousness, and extoll the euerlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power and greatnesse to a sinfull nation. O ye sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercie, and haue pitie on you?

7 I wil extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the king of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousness.

9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, hee will scourge thee for thy childrens workes: but he will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lord duely, and praise the euerlasting King, that his Tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands, euen gifts to the king of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Curied are all they which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shall be gathered, and shall blese the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace, Blessed are they which haue bene sorrowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blese God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shall be built vp with saphires, and emeralds, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers and thy bulwarks with pure gold.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shall be paved with Beral and Carbuncle, and stones of Opheir.

18 And all her streets shall say, Halleluiah, and ye the they shall praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled it for euer.

CHAP. XIII.

3 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 Hee prophesieth the destruction of Ninue, 7 and the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wfe.

14 Tobit age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praising God.

2 And he was eight and fiftie yere old when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeres, and he gaue almes, and bee continued to reare the Lord God and to praise him.

3 And when he was very aged hee called his sonne and fixe of his sonnes fones, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life)

4 Goe into Media, my sonne: for surely I beleeue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Ninue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather bee in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned, and shall bee desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and build vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the House of God shall bee built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne and feare the Lord God truly, and shall bury their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lord in trueth and iustice shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercie to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Ninue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Lawe and the Commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury me honestly, and thy mother with me: but tary no longer at Ninue. Remember my son, how Aman handled Achatachus that brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darknesse, & how hee rewarded him againe: yet Achatachus was faued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darknesse. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death which they had set for him: but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousness doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, I hee gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eight and fiftie yere olde, and he buried him honourably.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in law, 13 Where he became old with honor, & he buried his father and mother in law honourably, and he inherited their substance, and Tobias his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundred and seuen and twentie yere old.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

I V D E T H.

C H A P. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 13 He threateth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the wals round about of hewen stone three cubits broad, and fixe cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundred cubits, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on high, seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fortie cubits, for the going forth of his mightie armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen)

5 Euen in those dayes king Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coasts of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris, and Hydaspes, and the countrey of Arioeh the king of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galilee, and the great field of Eldrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samsria, and the citie thereof, and beyond Iorden vnto Ierusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Kades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Rameffe, and all the land of Selem, 10 Vntil one come to Tanais, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and til one come to the mountaines of Ethioopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him, yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, and sware by his throne and kingdom, that hee would surely be auenged vpon all those coasts of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt til one come to the borders of the two seas,

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against King Arphaxad in the fourteenth yeece, and he preuailed in his battell: for hee ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his noblesmen, and all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his cities, & came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towres and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

15 Hee tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him thorow with his darts, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineue, both he and all his companie with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee palled the time and banketted, both hee, and his armie an hundred and twentie dayes.

C H A P. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commueth his presumptuously that all people should be brought in subjection, 6 and to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Oloferus armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies

AND in the eighteenth yeece, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the houle of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So hee called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Oloferus his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus sayeth the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen an hundred and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand.

6 And thou shalt go against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feet of mine army, and I will glue them as a spoile vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their riuers and the flood shall overflow being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reuerse them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them whersoever thou goest.

12 For as I live, and the power of my kingdome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

13 And take thou heed that thou transgresse not any of the commandments of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And he mustered the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundred and twentie thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And he set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And he tooke camels and asses for their burdens a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goats without number for their prouision,

18 And victuall for euery man of the armie, and very much gold and silver out of the kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charrets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry forts came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes journey toward the countrey of Bechileth, and pitched from Bechileth neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footmen, and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines.

23 And he destroyed Phnd and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rassef, and the children of Iimael which were to the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates and went thorow Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were vpon the riuer of Arborea, vntill one came to the Sea.

25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their Tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damascens, in the time of wheate harvest, and burnt vp all their fields, and destroyed their flocks, and the heards: he robbed their cities, and spoiled their countrey, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocima, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Aflaton feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 Hee destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might ouerly bee worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

Behold, wee are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: wee lie downe before thee:

vse vs as shall be good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheat, and our flocks, and our herds, and all our lodges, and our tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleareth thee.

4 Behold, euery our cities, and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this manner.

6 Then came hee downe toward the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in the high cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about received them with crownes, and dancs, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for he was enioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Efracton, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great strait of Iudea.

10 And hee pitched betwene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there he taried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIIII.

The Israelites were afraid and defended their countrey. 6 Ioachim the Priest writeth to Bethulia that they should fortifie themselves. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

NOW the children of Israel that dwelt in Iudea heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coasts of Samaria and the villages, and to Bethora and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Efora, and to the valley of Salein.

5 And tooke all the tops of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in victuals for the prouision of warre, for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Ioachim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomeltham, which is ouer against Efracton toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim.

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Iudea, and it was easie to lett them that would come vp, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioachim the high Priest had commaunded them with the Ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalem.

9 Then cried euery man of Israel to God with great sequencie, and their soules with great affliction.

10 Both they and their wiues, and their children, and their castell, and euery stranger and hireling, and and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loines.

11 Thus euery man, and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar.

12 And cried to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that he would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many daies in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord almighty.

14 And Ioachim the hie priest, and all the priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loines girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers and the fire gifts of the people.

15 And had ashes on their miters, and cried vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israelites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had had the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the high hills, and had laid impediments in the champaign country.

1 Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he said vnto them, Shew me, O ye sonnes of Chanaan, who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabit? and what is the multitude of their army? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their army?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete mee, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 ¶ Then * said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the worde of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the truth concerning this people that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shal come no lie out of the mouth of thy seruant.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwell before in Mesopotomia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many daies.

9 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwell, and were increased with gold and siluer, and with very much cattell.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their lineage.

11 * Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against him, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

13 And * God dried the red sea in their presence.

14 And * brought them into mount Sina, and Cades Barne, and cast forth all that dwelt in the wilderness.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Eschbon, and passing ouer Iorden, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 * And they cast forth before them the Canaanites, and the Peresites, & the Iebusites, and them of Sicheim, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many daies.

17 And whilst they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way, which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, * and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But * now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering, wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines, which were desolate.

20 Now therefore my lord & gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shal be their ruine, & let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lett their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and wee become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people standing round about the tent, murmured, and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, as they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lord Olofernes, and they shalbe meat for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 13 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crye vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell was ceased, Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the Armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, & of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophecied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, * because their God will defend them: and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?

3 He will fend his power and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man, for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For we will tread them vnder feet with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fields shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footstepps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall utterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth hath said, euen he hath said, None of my wordes shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquity, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of the people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of my army, and the multitude of them that serue me, passe thorow thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carry thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy minde, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my wordes shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the mids of the plaine into the mountaines, & came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the city saw them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the city vnto the toppes of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp by casting stones against them.

13 But they went praisely vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him, and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie.

15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, & Chabris the son of Gothoniell, and Charnis the sonne of Melchiell.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the city, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and what Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe, and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercie on the balensse of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are taunted vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, & made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doth besiege Bethulia, & The counsell of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THE next day Olofernes commanded all his army and all his people which were come to take his part, that they should remooue their campes against Bethulia, and that they should take all the straites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remooued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundred thousand and senentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were aloofe among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine nere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, & they spred abroad toward Dothaim, vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Siamon, which is ouer against Eldraelem.

4 Now the children of Israel when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Now they will shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the high mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hilles are able to abide their burthen.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their city, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, and set garisons of men of warre ouer them, and remooued towards his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Eban, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, & all the capitaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our capitaine now heare a word, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speeres, but in the height of the mountaines wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore, my lord, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the country, that commeth forth at the foot of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their waters thereof: so shall thirst kill them: and they shall giue vp their city: and we and our people will go vp to the tops of the mountaines that are nere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none go out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shall be consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall be ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Olofernes and all his fouldiers, and hee appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then

18 Then the children of Eſau were vp, with the children of Ammon, & camped in the mountaines ouer againſt Dothaim, and they ſent ſome of themſelves toward the South, and toward the Eaſt, o- uer againſt Rebel, which is neere vnto Chufi, that is vpon the river Mochemur: and the reſt of the army of the Affyrians camped in the field, & couered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Iſrael cried vnto  $\gamma$  Lord their God, becauſe their heart failed: for all their enemies had compaſſed them about, and there was no way to eſcape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Aſſur remained about them, both their footmen, charets, and horſemen, ſoure and thirtie dayes: ſo that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the ciſternes were emptie, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: ſet they gaue them to drinke by meaſure.

22 Therefore their children ſwooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirſt, & fell downe in the ſtreets of the city, and by the paſſages of the gates, and there was no ſtrength in them.

23 Then all the people aſſembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the city, both yong men and woman, and children, and cried with a loud voice, and ſaid before all the Elders, 24 The * Lord iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniury, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Aſſur.

25 For now wee haue no helper: but God hath ſold vs into their hands, that we ſhould be thrawn downe before them with thirſt & great deſtruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a ſpoile to the people of Ololeims, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a ſpoile vnto them, then to die for thirſt: for wee will be his ſeruants that we may liue, and not ſee the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 Wee take to witneſſe againſt you the heauen and the earth, & our God and Lord of our fathers, which puniſhed vs according to our finnes and the finnes of our fathers, that he lay not theſe things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cry of all with one conſent in the mids of the aſſembly, and they cried vnto the Lord God with a loud voice.

30 Then ſaid Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet ſiue dayes, in the which ſpace the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he will not forſake vs in the end.

31 And if theſe dayes paſſe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will do according to your word.

32 So he ſeparated the people, euerie one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towers of their citie, and ſent their wiues and their children into their houſes, and they were very low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parauage, life and conuerſation of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the ſiunneſſe of the gouernours. 12 She ſheweth that they ſhould not truſt God, but waite vpon him for ſuccour. 33 Her enterpriſe againſt the enemies.

Now at that time Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the ſonne of Ox, the ſonne of Ioseph, the ſonne of Oziel, the ſonne of Elcis, the ſonne of Ananias, the ſonne of Gedcon, the ſonne of Raphaim, the ſonne of Acira, the ſonne of Eliu, the ſonne of Eliab, the ſonne of Nathanael, the ſonne of Samael, the ſonne of Salafadai, the ſonne of Iſrael.

2 And Maſſes was her husband, of her ſtocke and kindred, who died in the barley harueſt.

3 For as he was diligent ouer them that bound ſheaves in the field, the hee came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed and died in the city of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her houſe a widow three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And ſhe made her a tent vpon her houſe, and put on ſackcloth on her loines, and ware her widowes appaill.

6 And ſhe faſted all the dayes of her widowhood, ſauethe day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feaſts and ſolemne dayes of the houſe of Iſrael.

7 Shee was alſo of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Maſſes had left her gold and ſiluer, and men ſeruants, and maide ſeruantes, and cartell, and poſſeſſions where the remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for the feared God greatly.

9 Now when ſhee heard the euill words of the people againſt the gouernour becauſe they ſiunted for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the words that Ozias had ſpoken vnto them, and that he had ſworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Affyrians within ſiue dayes)

10 Then ſhe ſent her a ſaid, that had the gouernment of all things that ſhee had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmiſte the Ancients of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and ſhee ſaid vnto them, Hear me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that yee haue ſpoken before the people this day, are not right touching this oth which ye made and pronounced betweene God and you: and haue promiſed to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vniuſe within theſe dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, & ſet your ſelues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now ye ſeek the Lord Almighty, but you ſhall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot ſinde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that he thinketh: then how can yee ſearch out God that hath made all theſe things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpoſe? Nay, my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe vs within theſe ſiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs whē hee wil, euen every day, or to deſtroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counſels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man, that hee may be threatened, neither as the ſonne of man, to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for ſaluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and hee will heare our voice if it pleaſe him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in theſe dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worſhip the gods made with handes, as hath bene aforetime.

19 For the which cauſe our fathers were giuen to

and 4. 1.

to the sword and for a spoile, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God : therefore we trust that he will not despise vs, nor any of our lineage.

21 Neither when we shall be taken, shall Iudea be so famous : for our Sanctuary shall be spoiled, & hee will require the prophation thereof at our mouth, 22 And the teare of our brethren and the captivity of the country, and the desolation of our inheritance, will be returne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, where soeuer we shall be in bondage, and we shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by shame, but by Lord our God shall turne it to dishonor.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuary, and the house, and the altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreover let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs, euen as he did our fathers.

Gen. 22. 1. 26 Remember what things he did to Abraham, Gen. 28. 7. and how he tried Isaac, & all that he did to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For hee hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is known, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue known thy wisdom: for the deuil of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirsty, & compelled vs to do vnto them as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an oath which we may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing which shall be declared in all generations to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stand this night in the gate, & I will goe forth with mine handmaid : and within the dayes that ye haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies, by Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you till the things be finished that I doe.

35 Then said Ozias and the princes vnto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbled her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 2 Again the pride of the Assyrians. 3 God is the helpe of the humble.

Then Iudeth fel vpon her face, & put ashes vpon her head, & put off the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed, And about the time that the incense of the evening was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a loud voice, and said,

Gen. 34. 2, 5. O Lord God of my father Simcon, to whom thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of this maide, and defiled her, and discomered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch, (for thou hadst commanded that it should not to be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter: for they were deceived and washed their beds with blood) and hast striken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones.

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, & their daughters to be captiues, and all their spoiles for a booty to the children that thou louedst : which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for aid, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, & say, Behold we are here : for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknown,

7 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselves with horses & horsemen: they glory in the strength of their foemen: they trust in shield, speare and bow, and slings, and do not know that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, & to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name is seth, and to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand, which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceived.

10 ¶ Smite by the deceit of my lips the servants Iud. 4. 21. and 5. 26. with the prince, and the prince with the servant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

11 ¶ For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men : but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble & little ones, the defender of the weak, and the protector of them that are forsaken, and the Saviour of them that are, without hope. Iud. 5. 26.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the king of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And grant me words and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the top of Sion, and against the House of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew evidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power and strength, & that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her selfe and goeth forth of the citie. 2 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Olofernes.

Now after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, and had made an ende of all these words,

2 Shee rose where shee had fallen downe, and called her maide, and went downe into the house, in the which she abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes.

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith shee was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, she washed her body with water, and annointed anointed it with much oynement, and dressed the haire of her head, and put a tire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And he put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeues, and rings, and eareings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her maid a bottel of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with floure, and with dry figs, and with fine bread: so the lapped vp all these things together, and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, & the ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marvelled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and saide vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to bee opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken vnto me. So they commanded to the young men to open vnto her as he had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she and her maid with her, and the men of the city looked after her, vntill shee was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be given you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie to declare him true things, and I will shew before him the way whereby hee shall goe and win all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast fled to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee, vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will intreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a chaire for her, and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro thorow out the campe: for her coming was bruited among the tents: and they came & stood round about her: for she stood without the tent of Olofernes, vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marvelled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and every one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes guard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was woven with purple and golde, and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and he came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lamps of silver before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marvelled at the beautie of her countenance, and she fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 and awaketh the cause of her coming 5 Shee deceiveth him by her false words.

Then said Olofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore, if thy people that dwellett in the mountaines had not despised mee, I would not haue liued vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things vnto themselves.

3 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt lue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well, as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth said vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaid to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the wordes of thine handmaid, God will bring y thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shalbe made subiect to him by thee, but also the beasts of the fields, and the cattell, and the fowles of the heauens shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisdom, and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feats of warre marueilous.

9 Now<sup>as</sup> concerning the matter which Achior did speak in thy counsel, we haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them, all that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sin against their God.

11 Now therefore, lest my lord should be frustrated, and void of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne while they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not be- seeming.

12 (For because their victuals faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eat by his lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheat and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle, which they had reserved and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreover, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaid, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whoſoeuer shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, & worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I wil pray vnto God that he may reueale vnto me when they shall commit their finnes.

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shalt be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee thorow the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throe in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepheard. And a dogge shall not barked with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto mee according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to thee here.

20 ¶ Then her words pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they maruelled at her wisdom, and said,

21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face and wisdom of words,

22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her, God hath done this to send thee before the people, & strength might be in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And nowe thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy words: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meates of the Gentiles. 3 Shee maketh her request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

Then he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were laid, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that shee should drinke of his owne wine.

3 But Iudeth said, * I may not eat of them, lest there should be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes saide vnto her, If the things that thou hast should faile, how should we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thy handmaid may goe forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his guard that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meat at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe, and perswade this Hebrew woman that is with thee, that shee come vnto vs, and eat and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if wee should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and said, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, & to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Whom am I now, that I should gaine say my lord? Surely whatsoever pleasest him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So she arose & trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, & her maid went, and spread forth her skins on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vte, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Now when Iudeth came and fate downe, Olofernes heart was raniſhed with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her companie, for he had waited for the time to deceiue her, from the day that he had sene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merrie with vs.

18 So Iudeth said, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euert was since I was borne.

19 Then shee tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things that her maid had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had drunke at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Olofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia, and reioyceth her people.

Now when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas that his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 ¶ Now Iudeth had commanded her maid to stand without her chamber, & to wait for her coming forth as she did daily: for she said the would goe toorth to her prayers, and shee spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth in her presence, & none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the works of mine hands, for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises to the destruction of the enemies, which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed, which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchion from thence,

7 And approached to the bed, and tooke holde of the haire of his head, and said, strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And she smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled down the canopie from the pillars, and anon after shee went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her maid.

10 And she put it in her scrip of meat: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and preising throw the tents, went about by that valley, and went vnto the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then said Iudeth aske off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs, to shew his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie,

13 And they ranne all together both small and great: for it was about their expectation, that shee should come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then shee said to them with a loud voyce, Praise God, praise God: for he hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So she tooke the head out of the scrip, and shewed it, and said vnto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, and behold the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkenness, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villeny.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed bee thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people, 18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God, above all the women of the earth, & blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall prayse, and visit thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life. because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang up the head of Olofernes.
2 Achior ioyne himselfe to the people of God. as the Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

2. Mee.
13. 35.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and let you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coasts of Israel, shal pursue them, and ouertrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call mee Achior the Ammonite, that hee may see and knowe him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come, and saw the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, hee fell at Iudeths feet, and reuerenced her, and saide, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shall be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell me all the things that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the mids of the people all that shee had done from the day that she went forth, vntill that houre that she spake vnto them.

9 And when she had lefte off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleecued in God vnfeinedly, & circumcised the foreskinne of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ As soone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, & euery man rooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue beene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may bee destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cryed with a loud voyce, with weeping & mourning, and a mightie crie, and rent his garments.

17 After, he went into the tent of Iudeth, where shee vied to remaine, and found her not: then hee leaped out to the people, and cryed, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lyeth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When

Ecclaj

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians arrie heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a cry and a very great noyse thorowout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioachim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth, and to prayse God for her.

And when they that were in the tents heard, they were astonied at the thing y<sup>e</sup> was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amased, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: the children of Israel, euery one that was a warrior among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomalthem and to Bethai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had tolde them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galilee chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur, and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages, and the cities that were in the mountaines & in the plaine, had a great bpoitie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioachim the high Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her,

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast don all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, & God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer, and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and she tooke it and laid it on her mules, and made ready her charrets, and laid them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and shee tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, and her char was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: & all the men of Israel followed in their armour with crownes and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth prayseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her commendeth, life and death. 24 All Israel launnieth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in al Israel, & all the people sang this song with a loud voice,

2 And Iudeth said, Begin vnto my God with cymbrels: sing vnto my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalme: exalt his praise and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the mids of his people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines forth of the North: he came with thousands in his army: whole multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemens haue couered the valleys.

5 He said that he would turne vp my borders, and kill my yong men with the sword, and dain the sucking children against the ground, & make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoile.

6 But the Almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mightie did not fall by the yong men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the hie giants inuade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For shee put off the garment of her widowhood for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anoynted her face with ointment, and bound vp her haire in a coile, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers ranshed his eyes: her beautie tooke his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed thorow his necke.

10 The Persians were astonied at her boldnes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardihood.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, & my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voice, and turned backe.

12 The children of maids peared them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song and prayse: O Lord, thou art great & glorious, maruiculous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou <sup>Gal. 11</sup> hast spoken, and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like waxe: yet art thou merciful to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too litle for a sweet savour, and all the fat is too litle for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kintred: the Lord Almighty wil take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall seele them and weepe for euer.

18 After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, & assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Iudeth also offered all the stuffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopy which he had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuary for the space of three moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her companie company all the dayes of her life, after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to his people.

23 But she increased more and more in honour, & waxed old in her husbands house, being an hundred and five yere old, and made her maid free. so she died in Bethulia: and they buried her in the grave of her husband Manasses.

24 And the *house of Israel lamented her seven dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were nearest of kinred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the nearest of her kinred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

Q E S T H E R.

¶ Certaine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations, which follow the tenth Chapter.

Hen Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dream, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther, whom the king married, and made Queene.

7 And the two Dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled, to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God and are saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all their euils, and God hath wrought signes and great wonders, which haue not bin done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations at the houre and time appointed and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembered his owne people, and iudged his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shall be vnto them in the moneth Adar, the fourteenth and fiftenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

C H A P. XI.

IN the fourth yere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said hee was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of J Phurrai, which the said Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolemeus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted,

2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Iarus, the sonne of Semei, the son of Cis of the tribe of Benjamin, had a dreame,

3 A lew dwelling in the cite of Susis, a noble man that bare office in the kings court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Behold, a noyse of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes, and uproare in the land.

6 Behold, two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their crye was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenes and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish yea, aduersitie and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die cryed vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the little well grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and denounced the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seen this dream, he awoke, and rose vp, & thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

C H A P. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the kings court with Bagathas and Thara, the kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.

2 *But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, he perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the king to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the king caused to be put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the king commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, and for the aduertisement he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king, that were put to death.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THE copie of the letters was this, The great king Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia, in an hundred and seven and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to let them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely go thorow on euery side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now

Joseph.
Ant. lib.
11. cap. 6.

3 Now when I asked my counsellors how these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuerfant with vs, of excellent wildome, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdom, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commandements of kings, and so that this generall emperie that we haue begun cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now wee perceiue that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vying strange and other manner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdom should not come to good estate.

6 Therefore haue we commanded that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wives and children be destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without almercy: & that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of old, and now also haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the works of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almighty, for all things are in thy power, and it thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wondrous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bow downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will, for the saluation of Israel, to haue knit the sole of his feet.

14 But I did it because I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, & would not worship any but only thee, my Lord, and thus haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God, and King, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea they would destroy the inheritance that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despise not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorrow into ioy, that we may loue. O Lord, and prayse thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praye thee.

18 All Israel in like manner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her and her people.

Queene Esther also being in danger of death, referred vnto the Lord,

2 And laid away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing & mourning. In the stead of precious ointment, she scattered ashes and dung vpon her head: and the humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled thee with the haire that the pluckt off.

3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: help me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kindred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predecessours for a perpetuall inheritance, & thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.

6 Now Lord, we haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the hands of our enemies,

7 Because we worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue broken hands with their idoles.

9 That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praye thee, and to quench the glory of thy temple, and of thine altar.

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idols, and to magnifie a fieshy king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuice vpon themselves, and make him an example that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue mee an eloquent speech in my mouth before the lyon: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and help me that am solitary, which haue no defence but only thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest that I hate the glory of the vnrigheteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, and that I abhorre it as menstrous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe.

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings.

18 And that I thine handmaid haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither, vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus mooueth Esther to go in to the king, and make intercession for her people. 2 And the persfirmeth his request.

Mardocheus also bade Esther to go in vnto the king, and pray for her people, and for her country,

3 Remember, saith he, the dayes of thy low estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman, which is next vnto the king, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, and speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when she had ended her prayer, she laid away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparel,

5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and fauourer of all things, and tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one she leaned her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then he went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the King, and the King sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray all glittering with gold and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then he lift vp his face that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned her selfe vpon the head of the maid that went with her.

11 Neuerthelesse, God turned the kings minde, that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and took her in his armes, til he came to herselfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said, 12 Ester, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare.

13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandment toucheth the Commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 Also he held vp his golden scepter, and laid it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.

16 Then said she, I saw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled, for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he remembreth those which he first sent forth.

The great king Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, over an hundred and fiftie and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnesse of princes, and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And endeavour not only to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankfulness away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be vnnimdfull of benefites, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many which be set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by vaine intisements doe wrap them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie & gentleness of princes with lying tales

7 This may be proued not onely by old histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pettillences, and are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take heed hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change sooner shall come,

9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentleness.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being indeede a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of every man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deprive vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifest deceit also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preferuer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Ester, the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was, (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay wait for vs, & by this meane to translate the kingdom of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man, that they might bee destroyed) are no euill doers, but vie most iust lawes,

16 And that they be the children of the most High and almightie, and euerming God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preferred vnto vs & our progenitors in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall do well, if ye do not put in execution those letters that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that inuented them hangeth at Susa before the gates with all his family, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserving.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And ye shall aide them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes yee shall keepe this day with all gladnesse, 23 That both now and in time to come this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs, and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreyes that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and that not only not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wild beaists, and foules, for euer,

CHAP. I.

1 How we ought to search and enquire after God.
2 Who be those that hate him. 3 The holy Ghost.
8. 11 We ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 Wherof death commeth. 13 Righteousness and vnrighteousnesse.

1. Kin. 3. 3
15. 4. 1.

Oue * righteousnesse, ye that be Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simpli-tite of heart.

Deut. 4.
29. 2. 1.
15. 4.

2 * For he wil be found of them that tempt him not, and appeereh vnto such as be not vntaithfull vnto him.

Iere. 4. 22

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tried, reprooueth the vawise.

4 Because wifedome cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sin.

Gal. 5. 22

5 For the holy * spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

6 For the spirit of wifedome * is louing, and wil not abshome him that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witnesse of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and as hearer of the tongue.

7 For the spirit of the Lord filleth all the world,
& the same that maintaineth all things hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that speaketh vnrighteous things cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shalbe made for the thoughts of the vngodly, & the found of his word shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the care of searouse heareth all things, and the noyse of the grudging shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring which pro-fitteth nothing, and reaine your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret that shall go for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lies slayeth the soule.

Deut. 4. 23

12 Seeke not death in the error of your life:
* destroy not your felues through the workes of your owne hands.

Ezek. 18.
23. and
33. 11.

13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things that they might haue their being: and the generations of the world are preferred, and there is no payon of destruction in them, and the kingdom of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousnesse is immortal, but vnrighteousnesse bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call it vnto them both with hands and words: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to bee partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsell against the faithfull.

Iob. 7. 1.
and 14. 1.
mat. 22.
23. 1. cor.
13. 3.

For the vngodly say, as they falsly imagine with themselues, * Our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recovery, neither was any known that hath returned from the graue.

1 For we are borne at all adventure, and wee shall be hereafter as though wee had neuer bene:
for the breath is a smoke in our nostrils, and the words as a sparke raised out of our heart.

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, & the spirit vanissheth as the soft aire

4 Our life that passe away as the trace of a cloud, and cometh to nought as the mist that is driuen away with the beames of the Sunne, and cast downe with the heat thereof. Our name also shalbe forgotten in time, and no man shall haue our works in remembrance.

5 * For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.

6 * Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures that are present, and let vs cheerefully vse the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fil our felues with costly wine and ointments, and let not the floure of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our felues with rose buds afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnes: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppress the poore that is righteous:
let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haire of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength be the law of vnrighteousnes: for the thing that is feeble is reprooued as vn-profitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraud the righteous: for he is not for our profit, and he is contrary to our doings: hee checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressours of discipline.

13 He maketh his boalt to haue the knowledge of God: and hee calleth himselfe the foone of the Lord.

14 He is made * to reprove our thoughts.

15 It grieveth vs also to looke * vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 He counteth vs as bastards, and hee with-draweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthinesse: he commendeth greatly the latter end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his Father.

17 Let vs see if his words be true: let vs proue what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the * sonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes, and torments, that we may know his meeknes, and prove his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shameful death:
for he shall be preferred as he himselfe saith.

21 Such things do they imagine, and go astray:
for their owne wickednesse hath blind d them.

22 As if they did not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousnes, nor can discern the honour of the foules that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption,
& made him after the * image of his owne likeness.

24 * Neuertheless, through enute of the deuil came death into the world: and they that hold of his side, proue it.

CHAP. III.

1 The conuersation and assurance of the righteous.
7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miserable.

But

BV the * foules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

2 * In the fight of the vniuersite they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous,
3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is their * hope full of immortalitie.

5 They are punished but in fewe things, yet in many things shall they be well rewarded: * for God proueth them, and findeth them meet for himselfe.

6 He trieth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiveth them as a perfect fruite offering.

7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, & run thorow as the sparks among * stubble.

8 They * shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shall reigne for ever.

9 They that trust in him shall vnderstand the truth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercie is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 * But the vngodly shall be punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who in despiseth wisdom and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their workes vnprofitable.

12 Their wnes are vndercreepe, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the filthfull bed: * she shall haue fruite in the visitation of the foules.

14 And the Eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall be given the especiall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the roote of wisdom shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not bee partakers of the holy things, and the seede of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall be without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue, and the commoition thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

Better is barrenesse with vertue, for the memoriall thereof is immortal: for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is present men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned, and triumpheth, and winneth the battell, and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of * vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable, and the bastard plants shall take no deep root nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, * yet they shall be shaken with the wind: for they stand not fast, and through the vberencie of the winde they shall be rooted out.

5 For the vnpurged branches shall be broken, and their fruite shall be vnprofitable and fowre to eate, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witnesse of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous be preuented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisdom is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

10 * Hee pleased God, and was beloued of him, Grn. 5. 24. heb. 11. 5. so that whereas hee liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 He was taken away, lest wickednes should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12 For wickednes by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, and the vntedfastnesse of conscience peruertheth the simple minde.

13 Though hee was soone dead, yet fulfilled hee much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hastened he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see, and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercie is vpon his Saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous: hat is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are lining: and the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrigheteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath desired for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preferred him in fauour.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorn.

19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, & shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voice shall he burst them & cast them downe, and shake them from the foundation, so that they shall be vterly wasted, and they shall be in sorow, and their memoriall shall perish.

20 So they being afraid, shall remember their finnes, and their owne wickednesse shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constancie of the righteous before their persecuters. 12 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine, 13 The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

Then shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderful deliuerance.

3 And shall change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of minde, and say within themselues, This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.

4 * Wee fooles thought his life madnesse, and Chap. 3. 3 his end without honour.

5 How is hee counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints?

6 Therefore wee haue erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined vnto vs, and the Sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 Wee haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and we haue gone thorow dangerous wayes: but wee haue not known the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profit 1. Chron. 29. 15. hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are * passed away like a shadow, chap. 2. 9.

dow, and as a poſt that paſſeth by:

10. As a ſhippe that paſſeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the flood: Pro. 30. 11. Or, as a *bird that flieth thorow in the aire, and no man can ſee any token of her paſſage but only heare the noiſe of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the aire through the vehemencie of her going, and ſilenth on ſhaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found:

12. Or, as when an arrow is hot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly commeth together againe, ſo that a man cannot knowe where it went thorow.

13. Euen ſo we aſſoone as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue ſhewed no token of vertue, but are conſumed in our owne wickednes.

14. For * the hope of the vngodly is like the duſt that is blown away with the wind, and like a thin ſoame that is ſcattered abroad with the ſtorme, and Job 8. 9. 15. as the ſmoke which is diſperſed with the wind, and 1. Pet. 1. 7. 16. as the remembrance of him paſſeth that tarieth but for a day.

17. But the righteous ſhall liue for euer: their reward alſo is with the Lord, and the moſt High hath care of them.

18. Therefore ſhall they receive a glorious kingdom, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand ſhall hee couer them, and with his arme ſhall he defend them.

19. He ſhall take his iellouſie for armour, & ſhall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

20. He ſhall put on righteouſnes for a breſtplate, and take true iudgement in ſtead of an helmet.

21. He will take holines for an inuincible ſhield.

22. He will ſharpen his fierce wrath for a ſword, & the world ſhall fight with him againſt the vnwiſe.

23. Then ſhall the thunderbolts goe ſtraight out of the lightnings, and ſhall ſie to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth ſtones ſhall thicke hail be caſt, and the water of the ſea ſhall be wroth againſt them, and the floods ſhall mightily overflow.

24. And a mighty winde ſhall ſtand vp againſt them, and like a ſtorme ſhall ſcatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie ſhall bring all the earth to a wilderneſſe, and wickedneſſe ſhall ouerthrow the thrones of the mightie.

5. Horribly and iudenly will he appeare vnto you: for a hard iudgement ſhall they haue that beare rule. 2. Chr. 19. 7.

6. For he that is moſt low is worthy mercy, but the mighty ſhall be mightily tormented.

7. For he that is Lord ouer all will ſpare no *perſon, neither ſhall he ſeare any greatneſſe: for he hath made the ſmall and great, and careth for all alike. 34. Rom. 6. 9.

8. But for the mighty abideth the ſorer triell.

9. Vnto you therefore, O Tyrants, do I ſpeake, that ye may learne wiſdome, and not go amiſſe. 2. 1. Pet. 2. 17.

10. For they that keepe holines holly, ſhall be holy, & they that are learned there ſhall find a defence.

11. Wherefore ſet your delight vpon my wordes, and deſire them, and ye ſhall be inſtructed.

12. Wiſedome ſhineh, and neuer ſadeth away, and is eaſily ſcene of them that loue her, and found of ſuch as ſeeke her.

13. She preuenteth them that deſire her, that ſhe may firſt ſhew her ſelle vnto them.

14. Who ſo awaketh vnto her betimes, ſhall haue no great trauell: for hee ſhall find her ſitting at his doores.

15. To thinke vpon her then is perſite vnderſtanding: and who ſo watcheth for her ſhall bee ſoone without care.

16. For the goeth about, ſeeking ſuch as are meet for her, and ſheweth her ſelle cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17. For the moſt true deſire of diſcipline is her beginning: and the care of diſcipline is loue.

18. And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the aſſurance of immortality:

19. And immortality maketh vs nere vnto God.

20. Therefore the deſire of wiſedome leadeth to the kingdom.

21. If your delight be then in thrones and ſcepters, O kings of the people, honour wiſedome, that you may reigne for euer.

22. Now I will tell you what wiſedome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the myſteries from you, but will ſeeke her out from the beginning of her naturie, & bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the truth.

23. Neither wil I haue to do with conſuming enuy: for ſuch a man ſhall not be partaker of wiſdome.

24. But the multitude of the wiſe is the preſervation of the world: and a wiſe king is the iſay of the people.

25. Be therefore inſtructed by my wordes, and ye ſhall haue profite.

C H A P. VII.

Wiſedome ought to be preferred alone all things.

I My ſelle am alſo mortal, and a man like al other, and am come of him that was firſt made of the earth.

2. And in my mothers wombe was I faſhioned to be ſiſh in ten moneths: I was * brought together into blood of the ſeed of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with ſleepe. Job 10. 10, 11.

3. And when I was borne, I received the common aire, and ſet vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the firſt, as all other do.

4. I was nourished in ſwadling clothes, and with cares.

5. For there is no King that had any other beginning of birth.

6. All * men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out. Job 1. 13.

7. Wherefore I prayed, and vnderſtanding was giuen me: I called, and the ſpirit of wiſedome came vnto me.

8. I preferred her to ſcepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in compariſon of her.

9. *Neither did I compare precious ſtones vnto her: for all gold is but a little grauel in reſpect of her, and ſilver ſhall be counted but clay before her. Job 28. 15.

10. I loved her about health and beauty, and purpoſed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11. All * good things therefore came to me to gether with her, and innumerable riches through her hands. 1. King. 3. 13.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the author thereof, and I knew not that there was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfeinedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vie, become partakers of the lone of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my mind, and to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisdom, and the director of the wife.

16 For in his hand are both wee, and our words, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For hee hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, to that I know how the world was made and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning and the ende, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, and the change of the seasons,

19 The course of the yeeare, the situation of the starres,

20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnesse of beastes, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes,

21 And all things both secret and knowne doe I know: for wisdom, the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the only begotten, manifold, subtil, inuincible, cleare, vndeiled eident, not hurtful, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, fable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing thorow all intellectuall, pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimbler then all nimble things, the gorth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her parentell.

25 For shee is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almighty, therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 * For shee is the brightnesse of the euerglissing light, the vndeiled mirrour of the Maicesty of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one shee can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe,仁eneweth all, and according to the ages shee entrench into the holy foules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if hee dwell not with wisdom.

29 For shee is more beautifull then the Sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night cometh vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

She also reacheth from one end to another mightily and comely doeth the order all things.

2 I haue loued her, & fought her fū my youth, I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beauty

3 In that shee is conuerfant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the scholemistresse of the knowledge of God, and the chauer out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom that worketh all things?

6 For if prouidencie worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then shee?

7 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth sobrienesse, and prouidencie, righteousness and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can lase in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, & discern things to come, she knoweth the subtilities of words, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeeth the signes and wonders or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my companie, knowing that shee would countell me good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shal I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders, though I be yong.

11 I shal be found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shal be maruelous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tonge, they shal abide my leisure: when I speake, they shal heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shal lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shal obtaine immortality, and leaue an euerglissing memorall among them that come after me.

14 I shal gouerne the people, and the nations shalbe subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shal be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shal be counted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home, I shal rest with her: for her companie hath no bitterness, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdom is immortality,

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prouidencie, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndeiled body.

21 Neuertheless, when I perceived that I could not enioy her, except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisdom also to know whole gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisdom.

O God of fathers and Lord of mercy, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordained man through thy wisdom, that he should haue * dominion ouer the creatures Gen 1.1, which thou hast made, 38.

3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousness, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart.

4 Giue * me that wisdom, which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

5 For I * thy seruant, and sonne of thine hand. Psal. 116. maid, am a feeble person and of a short time, and yet I 16.

lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgment & the lawes.

6 And though a man be neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shalbe nothing regarded. 1. Cro. 28

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a king of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters. 5. 2. Cro. 19.

R r 4 8 Thou

8 Thou hast commanded me to build a Temple vpon thine holy Mount, and an altar in the citie wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy * wisedome with thee which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy Commandements.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy Maicstie, that shee may be with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For she knoweth & vnderstandeth all things, and shee shall leade me soberly in my workes, and preserve me by her glory.

12 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meet for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is he that can know the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecalls are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can wee discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde wee out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things which are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou giue him wisedome, & send thine holy spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth, are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserved thorrow wisedome.

C H A P. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisedome.

Shee preferred the first father of the world that was formed, and kept him when hee was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

Gen. 2.20 2 And * gaue him power to rule all things.

Gen. 4.8 3 * But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his iurie.

Gen. 7.17 4 For whose cause the * earth was overflowen, but wisedome preferred it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little word.

Gen. 11. 5 Moreover, * when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, & preferred him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him sure, because shee loued him tenderly as a sonne.

6 Shee preferred the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fene cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste lande that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruitte that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnlustfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisedome had not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memorial of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisedome deliuered them, that serued her, Gen. 28.5 10 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, shee ledde him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnesse of such as defrauded him, shee flood by him and made him rich.

12 Shee saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waite, and shee gaue him the price in a mightie battell, that hee might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 * When the righteous was folde, shee forooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: (hee went downe with him into the dungeon.

14 And failed him not in the bands, till she had brought him the scepter of the Realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him, (hee declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 * Shee deliuered the righteous people, & faultlesse from the nations that oppressed them.

16 Shee entered into the soule of the seruant of the Lord, and flood * by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings.

17 Shee gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a maruailous way: on the day time (hee was a shadow vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * Shee brought them thorow the red Sea, and caried them thorow the great water.

19 But shee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoiles of the vngodly, * and praised thine holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand with one accord, 21 For wisedome openeth the mouth of the dumbe, and maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

C H A P. XI.

The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 21 The great power and mercy of God.

Shee prospered their workes in the hands of thine Holy Prophet.

2 * They went thorow the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

3 * They Lord against their enemies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.

4 * When they were thirstie, they called vpon thee, & water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby thy enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their neede.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnto looked for:

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, * how thou hadst punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercie, they knew how the vngodly were indged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proved them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, & the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceived that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whose afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had an other thirst then the iust.

19 Because of the foolish deuises of their wickednes wherwith they were deceiued, and worshipped serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beasts, thou sendest a multitude of vnreasonable beasts vpon them for a vengeance, that they might know that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

20 For vnto thee Almighty hand, that made the world of * nought, it was not vnpossible to send among them a multitude of * bears, or fierce lions, or for such beasts newly created, and vnknown, which should breathe out blasts of fire, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoot horrible sparks like lightnings out of their eyes.

21 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible fight.

22 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one wind being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number and weight.

23 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme?

24 For as the small things that the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dew, that talleth downe vpon the earth.

25 But thou hast mercie vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, & makest as though thou sawest not the finnes of men because they should amend.

26 For thou louest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

27 And how might any thing endure, if it were worthy will. Or how could any thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?

28 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which are the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

1 The mercy of God toward sinners. 2 The works of men are unreprouable. 3 God giueth leisure to repent.

For thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things. 2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things, wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou didst hate them.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries, and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where the raging Priests shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules destitute of all helpe whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.

8 * Nevertheless, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendest the forerunners of thine holie, euen hornets to destroy them by litle and litle.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them to gether.

10 But in punishing them by litle and litle, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well that it was an vnrighteous nation, & wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, * What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

13 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy fight require accounts of them, whom thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfect power, thou declarest thy power, and reproofest the boldnesse of the wife.

18 But thou ruling the power iudgeth with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserved death, with so great consideration, and requesting unto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse,

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made covenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercie.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of error, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue no vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should be in desirous as children without reason.

26 But they that will not be reformed by those seemefull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdaind: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All thing, be vaine except the knowledge of God. 2 Idolaters and idolers are mocked.

Verely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes the workemaster.

Deut. 4.
19. and
17.3.

2 *But they thought the fire, or the winde, or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heaven to be gouernours of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie, that they thought them gods, yet should they haue known how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first authour of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marvelled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceived thereby, how much hee made these things is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beaustie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these that serke God, and would finde him, and yet peraduenture doe erre.

Rom. 1.
21.

7 For * they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perfwaded by the sight, because the things are beautiful that are seene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discern the world, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, & among the dead is their hope that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold and silver, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beausts, or any vaine fowles that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

Isa 44.13
Isa. 10.3.

11 *Or, as when a carpenter cutteth down a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vse of life,

12 And the things that are cut off fro his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing, (for it is a crooked peece of wood, and full of knobs) he carneth it diligently at his leisure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Providing so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image which hath need of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake, for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead, for life: he requieth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his journey, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, he requieth furtherance of him that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of Images, 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 13 Whereof idolatry proceeded. 23 What evils come of idolatry.

A Gaine, another man purposing to faile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, calleth vpon a rocke more rotten then the shippe that carrieth him.

1 Or, the ship.

2 For as for him, couetousnesse of money hath found it out, and the craftsman made it by cunning.

3 But thy providence, O Father, gouerneth it: *for thou hast made a way, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues.

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheless, thou wouldest not that the workes of thy wisdom should be vaine, and therefore doe men commit their liues to a small peece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship and are saued.

6 *For in the olde time also when the proud giants perilled, the hope of the world went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seed of generation to the world.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteoussnes commeth.

8 But that is cursed that is made with handes, *both it, and he that made it: he became he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

9 *For the vngodly and his vngodlinesse are both like hated of God: so truly the worke, and he that made it shall be punished together.

10 Therefore shall there be a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, *and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feete of the vniuers.

11 For the inuention of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for ever.

13 The vainglory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whome now hee worshippeth as a god, and ordained to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by processe of time this wicked custome preuailed and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeite the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of aking whome they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

17 Again, the ambition of the craftsman thrust forward the ignorant to encrease the superstition.

18 For hee peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so through the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, and so tooke him now for a god, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men being in seruitude through calamitie and tyrannie, ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreover, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warres of ignorance, those too great plagues called they peace.

22 For either *they flew their owne children in sacrifice, or vied secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutenesse by strange rites, 33 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or els vexed him by adultery.

34 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaythfulnesse, tumults, perurie, 35 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulnesse, desling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, aulterrie and vicianesle.

36 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning, and the cause, and the end of all euill.

37 For either they be mad when they bee merry, or prophesie lies, or lue vngodly, or els lightly forswear themselves.

38 For inso much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsly, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

39 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, adding themselves vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniuistly to deccieue, and despise holinesse.

30 For it is not the power of them by who they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voice of the faithfull, praising the mercie of God, whose grace they serue not wold.

Blessed thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercy.

1 Though we sinne, yet are wee thine: for wee know thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

2 For to know thee is perfect righteousness, and to know thy power is the roote of immortality.

3 For neither hath the wicked invention of men deccieued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of painters nor an image spotted with diuers colours,

4 Who fight flurrie vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he conereth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

5 They that loue such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

6 *The potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessel with labor to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels that serue to cleane uses and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessel serueth the potter is the iudge.

7 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen he which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, & within a little while after goeth thither againe whence hee was taken.

8 *When he that maketh account for the losse of his life, 9 Nowwithstanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is there, but he trimmeth with the goldsmiths, and siluer smiths, and counterfeith the copper smiths, and taketh it for an honor to make deceivable things.

10 His heart is alies, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For hee knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power, and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to bee but a pastime and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaines for they say, We ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill means.

13 Now hee that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboute all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwile, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to gripe, and their feet are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that he maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himself is better then they whom he worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired in respect of other beasts: for they are delitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefits done vnto the faithfull.

Therefore by such things are they worthily punished, and tormented by the multitude of beasts.

1 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meat of a strange taste, euen such qualities,

2 To the intent that they that desire meate, by the things which were inewed & sent among them, might turne away their necessary desire, and that they which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feelee a new taste.

3 For it was requisite that they which vsed tyranny, should fall into extreme poeuerie, and that to these only it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented,

4 *For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruel serpents,

5 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were trouble I for a litle season, that they might be reformed, hauing a signe of saluation to remember the commandement of thy law.

6 For he that turned toward it was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Saviour of all.

7 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is is thou which deliuerest from all euill.

8 *For the biting of grasshoppers & flies killed them, and there was no remedy found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

9 But the teeth of the venomous dragons could not overcome thy children: for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.

10 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, & were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulness, that they could not be recalled backe by thy benefit.

11 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lorde, which healeth all things.

12 For thou hast the power of life & death, & leadeest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe.

13 A man indeed by his wickednes may slay another: but when the spirit is gon forth, it turneth not againe, 17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that because they should see and knowe that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water about the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vnjust thow.

24 For the creature which serueth thee which art the maker, is ferce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, & flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

FOr thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

1 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darknesse and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rooofe, did lie there to escape the everlasting prouidence.

2 And while they thought to behidde in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulness, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

3 For the denue that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull fights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might give light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them only a ladden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw, to be worke.

7 *And the illusions of the magicall arts were brought downe, and it was a most shameful reproch for the boasting of their knowledg.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke perion, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearful thing did feare them, yet they were afraid at the beasts which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and said they saw not the aue, which by no means can be avoided.

10 For it is a fearful thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succours which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth hee esteeme the ignorance of the thing that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe.

14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare, not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoever sell downe, he was kept and shut in prison, but without chaires.

16 For whether hee was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that hee could not avoid:

17 (For with one chaine of darknes they were all bound) whether it were an hissing wind, or a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hallic running water,

18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beasts that could not be scene, or the noyse of cruell beasts that roared, or the sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauie night, an image of that darkenesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselves more grievous then darkenesse.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The fiery pillar that the Iudaues had in Egypt.
 8 The obedience of the faithfull. 20 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people as the wilderness. 21 Aaron stood betweene the living and the dead with his censer.

BUt thy Saints had a very great * light, whose voice because they heard, and sawe not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 *Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnknown way, and made the sunne that it hurted not them in their boundable iourney.

4 But they were worthy to bee deprived of the light, and to be kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the Law should be giuen to the world.

5 *Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one childe that was cast out, and presumed to reprove them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them all together in the mighty w.ter.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what others they had giuen credit, might be of good cheare.

7 Thus thy *people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a Law of righteousness by one content, that the Saints should receiue good and euil in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing crie was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the *master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the king.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kind of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to burie them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest of spring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeeue nothing because of the enchantments confessed this people: to be the children of God, in y destruction of the first borne.

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the mids of her swift course,

15 Thine almighty word leapt d. wne from heauen out of thy royal throne as a fierce man of warre in the mids of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnsinied commandment as a sharpe sword, and stood vp, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the fight of the fearful dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearfulness came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant wherefore they perished.

20 Now temptation of death touched the righteous also: and *among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministrati. on, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the persome, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought y miserie to an end, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For he overcame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued him that punished, alledging the othes and euenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For whē the dead were fallen down by heaps one vpon another, he stood in the mids and cut off the wrath, & parted it from comming to the liuing.

24 *For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient that they had tasted the wrath.

C H A P. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meat that was giuen as the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the will of God.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end: for he knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to lee them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorrow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnes, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had cast out afore with prayer.

4 For the desinie whereof they were worthy, brought them to this end, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment which remained by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a maruiculous passage, and that they might find a strange death.

6 For eury creature in his kind was fashioned of new, and serued in their owne offices enioyed them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloud overshadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Thorow the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wondrous maruels.

9 For they shepheard like horses, and leaped like lambs, praising thee, O Lord, which hadst deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindfull of those things which were done in the land, where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth flies in stead of cattel, and how the riuer scrawled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 *But at the last they saw a new generation of birds, when they were entised with lust, and desired delicate meats.

12 *For the quailles came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the flinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily, according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruel hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one fort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other fort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things, some would not suffer, that any regard should bee had of them: for they handled the strangers despitesfully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to be parakers of the same lawes, did as stick them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the *righteous, so that eury one being compassed with darkness sought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swim, went upon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary unto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kind to quench.

20 Again the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be yce, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortal meat.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in every time and place.

THE WISEDOME OF IESVS THE sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

This Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirach his father was also called Iesus, and he lived in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captive, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great wisedome and wisedome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graine sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but he himselfe also made many full of great knowledge and wisedome. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISEDOME, intitling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisedome to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences and similitudes, with certaine divine histories, which are notable and ancient, even of men that were approved of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreover, what benefits the Lord had bestowed upon his people, and what plagues he had heaped upon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deed.

The Prologue of the Wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Whereas many and great things have bene given vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that have followed them (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisedome, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent study thereof to be profitable unto strangers, both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had given himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, & other books of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something pertaining to learning and wisedome, to the intent that they which are desirous to learne, and would give themselves to these things, might profit much more in living according to the Law. Wherefore I exhort you to receive it longingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be exprest: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, have another force in the niches then when they are translated into another tongue, and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other books have no final difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and travell to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie, I gave my selfe to the finishing of this booke that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply the niches unto good maners, and live according to the Law.

18 Who fo seareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his end he shall be blessed.

19 She hath built her euermlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their seed.

20 To feare God is the fulticelle of wifedome, and fillet men with her fruits.

21 She fillet their whole house with all things defieable, and the garners with the things that the bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wifedome, and giueh peace and perfic health: he hath ferue her, and numbred her.

23 She raineth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wifedome, and hath brought vnto honour them that posselled her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the root of wifdom, and her branches are long liue.

25 In the treasures of wifedome is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wifedome is abhorred of finners.

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne: and when this is present, the driueth away anger.

27 For wicked anger cannot be iustified: for his rascunne in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of roy.

29 He will hide his words for a time, and many menslips shall speake of his wifedome.

30 In the treasures of wifedome are the secrets of knowledge, but the finner abhorreth the worfhip of God.

31 If thou desire wifedome, keepe the commandments, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, and will fill her treasures.

32 For the feare of the Lord is wifedome and discipline: the hath pleasure in faith and meeknesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 For he is not an hypocrite, that men should speake either, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, lest thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and lo God discouer thy secrets, and call thee downe in the mids of the Congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

C H A P. II.

1 Hee exhorteth the seruants of God vnto righteousness, lone, vnderstanding, and patience. 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faine hearted and impatient.

My sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, stand fast in righteousness and feare, and prepare thy soule to temptation.

2 Settle thine heart and be patient, bow downe thine care, and receiue the words of vnderstanding, and thinke not away when thou art assailed, but waite vpon God patiently.

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be increased at thy last end.

4 Whatsoeuer cometh vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

5 For as gold and siluer are tried in the fire, euen so are men acceptable in the furnace of aduersities.

6 Beleeue in God, and he will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: holde fast his feare, and grow old therein.

7 Yee that feare the Lord, wait for his mercie: shrinke not away from him, that ye fall not.

8 Yee that feare the Lord, beleeue him, & your reward shall not faile.

9 O ye that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euermlasting ioy and mercie.

10 Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, and your hearts shall be lightened.

11 Consider the old generations of men, ye children, and make them well: * was there euer any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whom did he euer despise that called vpon him?

12 For God is gracious and mercifull, and forgiveth sinnes, and saueh in the time of trouble, and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the truth.

13 Woe vnto them that haue a fearefull heart, and to the wicked lips, and to the faint hands, and to the finner that goeth two manner of wayes.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for hee beleueth not: therefore shall he not be defended.

15 Woe vnto ynn, that haue lost patience, and haue forsaken the right wayes, and are turned back into forward wayes: for what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you?

16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word: & they that * loue him, will keepe his waies.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his Law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandments, and will be patient till he see them, 20 Saying, If we doe not repent, we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnesse is, so is his mercie.

C H A P. III.

2 To our father and mother ought wee to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

The children of wifedome are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and lone.

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiven him, and he shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his daily desires.

5 And he that honoureth his mother is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that leareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parents as vnto lords.

9 * Honour thy father and mother in deed and in word, and in all patience, that thou mayest haue Gods blessing, and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reuoyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a forreile for thee against sinners, and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be soulded for thee in righteousnesse.

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy finnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, performe thy doings with meeknesse, for thou shalt be beloued of them that are approved.

Psal. 3. 19 The greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe in all things, and thou shalt find fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renoume: but the secrets are reuealed vnto the mecke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

Psal. 137. 22 ¶ Seeken not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither seatch the things rashly which are too mighty for thee.

25 The meddling with such hath beguiled many, and an euil opinion hath deceived their iudgment.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A subburne heart shall fare euil at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and he that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorowes, and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proud is without remedie, and his steps shall be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, and he shall not be esteemed.

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentive eare is the desire of a wise man.

Deu. 15. 7 My sonne, despayre not the poore of his liuing, and make not the needy eyes to wait long.

2 Make not an hungry soule forswiull, neither weeke a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and deferre not the gift of the needie.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: ¶ turne not away thy face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside in anger from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euil of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder, and bow downe thine head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bowe downe thine eare vnto the poore, but pay thy debt, and giue him a friendly answer.

9 ¶ Deliuer him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, and bee not faint hearted when thou iudgeth.

10 Bee as a father to the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the founte of the most High; and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisdome exalteth her children, and receiveth them that seeke her, and will goe before them in the way of righteousnesse.

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherit glory: for vnto whom she entrencheth, him the Lord will blese.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, & he that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first the will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto feare, and dread, & torment him with her discipline, vntill he haue tried his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will she retorne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousnesse.

19 But if he goe wrong, she will forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 ¶ My sonne, make much of time, and ¶ eschew the thing that is euill.

21 And be not ashamed to say the truth for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decay, and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisdome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdome knownen, and learning by the words of the tongue, and counsell, wisdome and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the works of righteousnesse.

25 In no wise speake against the word of truth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine own ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy finnes, and resist not the course of the riuier.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Strive for the truth vnto death, and defend iustice for thy life, and the Lord God shall fight for thee against thine enemies.

2 *Trust not vnto thy * riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.*

3 Follow not thine owne mind & thy strength, to walke in the wayes of thine heart.

4 Neither say thou, How haue I had strength? for who will bring me vnder for my works? for God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

5 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euil hath come vnto me? for the Almighty is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

6 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

7 And say not, The mercy of God is great: he will forgive my manifold sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners.

8 Make not tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy securitethou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

9 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not help thee in the day of punishment and vengeance.

10 Be not caried about with euery wind, and go not into euery way: for so doth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

11 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding, and in the way and knowledge of the Lord, and haue but one manner of word, and follow the word of peace and righteousnesse.

12 Behemable to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdome.

13 * Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answer.

14 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, least thou be trapped in an vndiscreete word, and so be blamed.

15 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of man causeth him to fall.

16 Be not counted * a talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame and repentance follow the thiefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: but hee that is a backbiter shall be hated, enuied, and confounded.

17 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

2 Be not of a friend thy neighbours enemy: for much shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be in infame as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

3 Bee not proude in the deuise of thine owne mind, lest thy fouler rent thee as a bull.

4 And eate vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruit, and so thou be left as a drie tree in the wildernes.

5 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.

6 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends, and pacifieth them that be at variance, and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

7 Held friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

8 If thou gettest a friend, proue him first, and be not hasty to credit him.

9 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

10 And there is some friend that turneth to enemie, and taketh part against thee, and in contenti- on he will declare thy shame.

11 Again, some * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

12 But in thy prosperitie hee will be as thou thy selfe, and will visit thee ouer thy leaues.

13 If thou be brought low, hee will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

14 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

15 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

16 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight of golde and siluer is not to be compared to the goodnes of his faith.

17 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life and immortallitie, and they that feare the Lord, shall find him.

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

19 * My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou haue wisdome, which shall endure till thine old age.

20 Goe to her as one that ploweth and soweth, and waite for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruits right soone.

21 How exceeding sharpe is she to the vnlearned! he that is without iudgement, wil not remain with her.

22 Vnto such one, she is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

23 For they haue the name of wisdome, but there be few that haue the knowledge of her.

24 For with them that know her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.

25 Giue care, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell.

26 And put thy teet into her links, and thy necke into her chaine.

27 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bands.

28 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

29 Seeke after her, and teach her, and shee shall be thine friend, and when thou shalt gotten her, forsake her not.

30 For at the last thou shalt find rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy ioy.

31 Then shall her letters be a strong defence for thee, and a sure foundation, and her chaines a glorious raiment.

32 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

33 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

30 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe ? or honour him that dishonoureth his owne soule ?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge, and his feare, but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in ponertie, how much more shall he be when he is rich : and he that is vn-honest being rich, how much more will bee lee so when he is in ponertie ?

1 The praye of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought wee not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine house.

Ab. 12. 21, 23.
4 Be not proud of clothing and raiment, * and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour : for the workes of the Lord are wonderful and glorious, secret and vnknowne are his works among men.

5 Many tyrants haue sit downe vpon the earth, * and the vnlilikely hath worn the crowne.

7 * Blame no man before thou haue enquired the matter : vnderstand first, and then reforme righteously.

8 * Giue no sentence before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the midst of their tales.

Pro. 18. 13.
9 Strine not for a matter that thou hast not to do with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

Matt. 19. 22. 1. Tim. 6. 9.
10 My son, meddle not with many matters : * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be blameles, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape though thou flee from it.

Pro. 10. 3.
11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more hee wanteth.

Iob. 42. 10.
12 Again there is some that is slouthfull, and * hath need of helpe, for he wanteth strength, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his low estate.

13 And he listeth vp his head : so that many men maruell at him, and giue honour vnto God.

14 * Prosperitie and aduersitie, life & death, ponertie and riches come of the Lord.

15 Wisdom and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord : loue and good works come of him.

16 Errour and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, waxe old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giue prosperitie for euer.

18 * Some man is rich by his care and niggardship, and this is the portion of his wages.

19 In that he saith, I haue gotten * rest, & now will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thy age.

21 Maruell not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour : for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 * Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue ? and what good thing shall I haue hereafter ?

24 Again say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euill can come to mee hereafter ?

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death, to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure : and in a mans ende his works are discovered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death : for a man shall be known by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house : for the deceitfull haue many traines, and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.

30 As a partridge is taken vnder a basket, and the Hind is taken in the snare, so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in waite, and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praye he will find some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, and of one deceitfull man is blood increased : for a sinfull man layeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man : for hee imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetual blame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vnquietnes, and drue thee from thine owne.

2 Vnto whom we ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

W hen thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefices.

sinners, and hath mercy vpon them that repent.

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a siner.

5 Do well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: holde backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, lest hee ouercome thee thereby: elsse thou shalt receiue thus as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, & receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot be knownen in prosperitie, neither can an enemy be vnkownen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as an yron ruleth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though hee make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, lest he seeke thy roome, & thou at the last remember my words, and be pricked with my sayings.

14 Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished.

15 Who will haue pirie of the charmer that is stinged of the serpent: or of all such as come neere the beasts: so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will hee abide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

17 * An enemy is sweet in his lips: he can make many good wordes, and speake many good things: yea he can weep with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, hee will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, & though he pretend to helpe thee, yet shall hee vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clap his hands, and will make many wordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proud and of the rich are to be eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe company with their like.

18 * That toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: And he that is familiar with the proud, shall be like vnto him.

19 But then not thy selfe about thy power, whiles thou liuest, & company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

20 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth withall, but the poore being oppressed, must intreat, if the rich haue done wrong, he must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, hee shall straightwayes be threatned.

21 If thou be for his prosfite, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

22 If thou haue any thing, he will lue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

23 If he haue need of thee, he will defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, & giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?

24 Thus will hee shame thee in his meate, vntill hee haue supt thee cleane vp twice or thrise, and at the last hee will laugh thee to scorne: afterward, when he seeth thee, hee will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

25 Submit thy selfe vnto God, and wait vpon his hand.

26 Beware that thou bee not deceived in thine owne conceit, and brought downe by thy simplicitie: be not too humble in thy wisdom.

27 If thou bee called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shall hee call thee the more oft.

28 Praise not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest hee forget thee.

29 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speech, but beleeue not his many wordes: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.

30 He is vnmercifull, and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

31 Beware, and take good heede: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this awake in thy sleepe.

32 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

33 Every beast loueth his like, and every man loueth his neighbour.

34 All flesh will resort to their like, & every man will keepe company with such as hee is himselfe.

35 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

36 What fellowship hath Hyena with a dog? [Which and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore?] is a wilde beast that counterfeits the voice of men, and so enisfeth them out.

37 As the wilde alle is the lions pray in the wilderness, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

38 As the proud hate humilitie, so doe the rich abhorre the poore.

39 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends drine him away.

40 If a rich man offend, hee hath many helpers: he speaketh proud wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, & though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

41 When the rich man speaketh, every man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee sayth, they praise it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if hee doe amisse, they will destroy him.

42 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne in his conscience, and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

43 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

44 A cheerefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to know the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happy is he that continueth in wisdom.

22 Blessed is the man that hath not fallen by the sword of his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorrow of sinne.

23 Blessed is hee that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

24 Riches are not comely for a niggard: & what should an enuious man doe with money?

4 Hee that gathereth together from his owne soule, heepest together for others, that will make good cheere with his goods.

5 Hee that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will he be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse then when one enuieith himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednes.

7 And if he doe any good, he doth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last, hee declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: hee turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A courteous mans eye hath neuer enough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

Prov. 27.
28. 10 A wicked eye enuieith the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table.

11 My sonne, doe good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offerings.

Isa. 14. 3. 13 * Doe good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine abilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take, and sanctifie thy soule: worke thou righteousness before thy death: for in the hell there is no meat to finde.

E. 10. 17 * All flesh waxeth olde, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some grow, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one cometh to an ende, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 Euery excellent worke shall be iustified, and he that worketh it shall haue honour thereby.

Psal. 1. 3. 21 * Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisdom, and exerciseth himselfe in iustice, and hee that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding, 22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Go thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.

24 Hee shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.

25 Hee shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her wals: he shall pitch his tent besides her.

26 And he shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her he shall be couered from the heat, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodnest shal followeth him that feareth God. 8 God receiuethe and casteth off the sinner. 11 God is not the author of euill.

HE that feareth the Lord will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law will keepe it sure.

2 As an honourable mother shal she meet him, and she, as his wise married of a virgine, will receiue him.

3 With the bread of life and vnderstanding shall she feed him, and giue him the water of wholesome wisdom to drinke.

4 Hee shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be mooned, and shall hold himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 She shall exalt him about his neighbours, and in the mids of the congregation shall shee open his mouth: with the spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.

6 Shee shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euermore name.

7 But foolish men will not take hold vpon her: but such as haue vnderstanding will meet her: the sinners shall not see her.

8 For shee is farre from pride and deceit, and men that lie cannot remember her: but men of truth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euery waye the beholding of God.

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdom, and be plentiful in a faithfull mouth, then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to do the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre: for he hath no neede of the faithfull man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination of error: and they that feare God loue it not.

14 * He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell, and gaue him his Commandements and precepts.

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the Commandements, and testifie thy good will.

16 He hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 * Before man is life and death, good and euill: what him liketh shalbe giuen him.

18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, and he is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things continually.

19 * And the eyes of the Lord are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth all the workes of man.

20 He hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: for he desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of unhappy and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himselfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiving of instruction.

DDesire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many reioyce not in them, excepte the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children then to leaue behind him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shall be wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 * In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be set on fire.

7 * He spared not the old giants which were rebellious trusting in their owne strength.

Apocrypha.

Gen. 19. 8 Neither spared he whereas Lot dwelt, those whom he abhorred for their pride.

9 Hee had no pity vpon the people that were destroyed, and puffed vp in their finnes.

Num. 14. 20 * And so he preferred the fixe hundred thousand footmen that were gathered in the hardenesse of their heart, in assisting them and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with soeriy and with chastisement.

21 Therefore if there be one stiffnecked among the people, it is maruile if he escape unpunished: for mercie and wrath is with him: hee is mightie to forgive and to powre out displeasure.

Chap. 14. 12 * As his mercie is great, so is his punishment also: he iudgeth a man according to his workes.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoile, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deeds, and euery one shall finde according to his workes, and alter the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.

15 The Lord hardened Pharaon, that he should not know him, & that his workes should be known vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is known to all creatures: hee hath separate his light from the darkenesse with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboute? I shal not bee knownen in so great a heape of people: for what is my soule amongst such an infinite number of creatures?

1 Pet. 3. 18 Behold, the heauen, & the heauen of beaues, which are for God, the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shal be moued when he shal visit.

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shal shake for feare, when the Lorde looketh vpon them.

20 These things doth no heart vnderstand worthily, but he vnderstandeth euery heart.

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the forme that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousnesse? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is faire off, and the tryinge out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and eronious man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My soone hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my words with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weighey doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath he sundred from the other when he first made them.

27 Hee hath garnished his workes for euery, and their beginning so long as they shall endure: they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindereth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth, and filled it with his good things.

30 With all manner of liuing beasts hath he coned the face thereof, & they retorne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodnesse that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of almes, 22 and repentance.

The Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe.

Gen. 1. 2. 21 and 7. 1. 6. 1. cor. 15. 1. 7. coloss. 3. 10.

2 Hee gaue him the number of dayes, and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 Hee clothed them with strength, as they had neede, and made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that hee had the dominion ouer the beasts, and fowles.

5 * Hee created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe, and gaue them discretion, and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and finally he gaue them a spirit, and feuntly hee gaue them speech to declare his workes.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill.

7 He set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble workes.

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his workes, and that the clea should praise his holy Name together.

9 Besides this, hee gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the law of life for an heritage, that they might now know that they were mortall.

10 He made an eueralasting covenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes saw the Maiestie of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voice.

12 And he said vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. * He gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour.

13 Their wayes are euery before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their stonie hearts cannot become flesh.

15 He appointed a ruler vpon euery people when he diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 * And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom he nourished with discipline, as his first borne, and giueh him most louing light, and doeth not forsake him.

17 All their workes are as the Sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hidde from him, but all their finnes are before the Lord.

19 And as he is mercifull, & knoweth his worke, he doeth not leaue them, nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 * The almes of a man is as a thing sealed vp before him, and he keepeth the good deeds of man as the apple of the eye, and giueh repentance to their finnes and daughters.

21 * At the last shall hee arise and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

22 * But vnto them that will repent, hee giueh them grace to retorne, and exhorteth such as faile, with patience, and sendeth them the portion of the veritie.

23 * Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy finnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darknesse to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnes, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 Know the righteousnesse and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God, and goe in the parts of the holy world, with such as be liuing and confesse God.

26 * Who can praise the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

SI 4

27 Abide 18. 19.

27 Abide not thou in the error of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.

28 Thankiulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and hee that is found of heart, praiseth the Lord, and reioyceth in his mercie.

29 How great is the louing kindnes of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.

31 What is more cleare then the Sunne? yet shall it faile

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, shalbe reprooued.

33 He seeth the power of the hie heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marvellous works of God, 6. 7 The miserie and wretchednes of man, 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

Gen. 1.1. HEE that liueth for euer, made all things together: the Lord, who onely is iust, and there is none other but hee, and hee remaineth a victorious King for euer.

2 He ordereth the world, with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, & diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath hee giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble adoe?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnes? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercie?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing be put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, hee must begin againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an end, he must goe againe to his labour.

7 What is man? whereto serueth hee? what good or euill can hee doe?

Psal. 90. 8 * If the number of a mans dayes bee an hundred yeeer, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

10. 9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparision of the sand, so are a thousand yeeres to the dayes euertlasting.

2 Pet. 3.8 10 Therefore is God patient with them, and powreth out his mercie vpon them.

11 He saw and perceived that the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped he vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousness.

12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lord is vpon all flesh: hee chastiseth, and nurturcth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 He hath mercy of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 * My sonne, when thou dost good, reprocue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the dew assuage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Lo, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement, learne before thou speake, and vse thy sicke or cuer thou be sicke.

19 * Examine thy selfe before thou bee iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt haue iudgement.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whilst thou mayest yet sinne, shew thy confession.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, and deferre not vnto death to be reformed: for the reward of God endureth for euer.

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the * wrath that shall be at the end, and the houre of vengeance, when hee shall turne away his face.

24 * When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon poueritie and neede.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wife man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression, hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 Every wife man knoweth wisdomes, and knowledge, and praiseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in wordes: they vnderstand the truth and righteousness, and powre out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lord alone, for a mortal man hath but a dead heart.

30 * Follow not thy lusts, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, and entangle not thy selfe with such company.

33 Become not a beggar by making bankers of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse, else thou shouldest slanderously lye in wait for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Wine and whoredome bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy words use discretion. 22 The difference of the wisdomes of God and man, 27 Wherby thou mayest know what is in man.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkennesse, shall not be rich: and he that contemneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

2 * Wine and women lead wise men out of the way, and put men of vnderstanding to reproofe.

3 And hee that accompanieth adulterers, shall become impudent: rottennesse and wormes shall haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bold, shall be taken away, and be made a publike example.

4 * He that is hasty to giue credit, is lightly misled, & he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednesse, shalbe punished: he that hateth to be reformed, his life shall be shortened, and hee that abhorreth babbling of words quencheth wickednesse: but he that resisteth pleasures crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublesome man, and he that hateth babbling shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearse not to another that which is tolde vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindered.

8 Declare not other mens manners neither to friend nor foe, and if the same appertaine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, & marke thee, and when he findeth opportunity he will hate thee.

10 *If thou hast heard a word against thy neighbour, let it die with ther, and be sure it will not burst thee.

11 A foole trauaileth when he hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a child.

12 As an arrow that ticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

13 *Reprooue a friend, lest hee doe euill, and if he haue done it, that hee doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friend, that hee may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken it, that hee say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slander is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: * and who is hee that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisdom obtaineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruit of immortalitye.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wisdom, and the performing of the Law is perfect wisdom, and the knowledge of his Almighty power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward hee doe it, hee shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wisdom, neither is there prudence where as the counsel of finners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is void of wisdom.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdom, and transgresseth the Law of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is unrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Lawe: yet there is that is wise, and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that bring about wicked purposes, doe bowe downe themselves, and are fadde, whose inward parts burne altogether with deceit: hee looketh downe with his face, and feigneth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, hee will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though hee be so weake that he can doe thee no harme, yet when he may finde opportunity, he will doe euill.

27 *A man may be known by his looke, and one that hath vnderstanding may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 *A mans garment, and his excessive laughter, and going, declare what person hee is.

C H A P. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thief and the murderer. 28 Gifts blinde the eyes of the wise.

There is some rebuke that is not comely: againe some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is much better to reprove then to beare euill will: and he that acknowledgeth his fault shall be preferred from hurt.

3 As *when a gelded man through lust would defile a maide, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reprobured, to shewe repentance! for so shalt thou escape wiltull sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because hee hath not to answer: and some keepeth silence, waiting a conuenient * time.

7 *A wise man will hold his tongue, till hee see opportunity: but a criffer and a foole will regard no time.

8 He that vseth many words, shall be abhorred: & he that taketh authoritie to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is found, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humbleness liueth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seven times more.

13 *A wise man with his wordes maketh himselfe to be loued: but the merry tales of foolles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunity: for hee looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth little, and he vpbraideth much: hee openeth his mouth like a towne cryer: to day hee lendeth, to morow asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole sayth, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall he be laugh- ed to scorne: for hee comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one, as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a puaement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is often told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence looseth grace when it cometh out of a foolles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule because hee is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some man promisseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for nought.

23 *A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A thiefe is better then a man that is accostomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of liars are vn honest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and hee that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 *Hee that tilleth his land, shall encrease his heape: he that worketh righteousnesse, shall be ex- altd, and he that pleaseth great men, shall haue par- don of his iniquitie.

28 *Rewards and gifts blinde the eyes of the wife, and make them dumbe, that they cannot re- proue faults.

29 Wisdom that is hidde, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profite is in them both?

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and he that vpbraideth his friend, breakeh friendship.

21 Though thou drowest a sword at thy friend, yet despair not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, leaue not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbraiding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets, or a traiterous wound do not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to bee contented, nor the rich that is foolish to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill words, rebukes & threatenings goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend, neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe me harme: whosoever heareth it, shall beware of him.

he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vile not thy mouth to Ignorant rashnesse: For, inordinance therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 Remember thy father and thy mother, when thou art set among great men, lest thou be forgotten in their sight, and to through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou hadst not beene borne, and curse the day of thy natiuitie.

15 The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts of men that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath and destruction: a minde hote as fire that cannot be quenched till it bee consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 All bread is sweete to a whore-monger: hee will not leaue off till he perishe.

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, * Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darkenesse: the walls couer me: no bodie seeth me: whom need I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinne.

19 Such a man only feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are een thousand times brighter then the Sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, and the ground of the deepe, and considereth the most secret parts.

20 Hee know all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also hee looketh vpon them all.

21 The same man shall be punished in the streets of the city, & shall be chased like a yong horse foale, and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife that leaueh her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 For first shee hath disobeyed the law of the most High, and secondly shee hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly shee hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 She shall be brought out into the Congregation, & examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine shall know that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A praise of wisdom proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 2 Of her workes and place where shee dwelleth. 3 Shee is giuen to the children of God.

Wisdom shall praise her selfe, and be honoured in God, & reioyce in the mids of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most high shall she open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 In the mids of her people shall she be exalted, and wondred at in the holy assembly.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shall she be commended.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 2 Of others, blasphemous, and vaine communication. 3 Of three kindes of finnes. 4 Many finnes proceed of adulterie. 5 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, Father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsell, and let me not fall by them.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdom in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let their faults passe?

3 Left mine ignorances increase, and my finnes abound to my destruction, and lest I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is farre from their mercy.

4 O Lord, Father & God of my life, leaue me not in their imagination, neither giue me a proud look, but turne away from thy seruants a stout mind.

5 Take from me vaine hope and conscience, and retaine him in obedience, that deserveth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 Hear, O yee children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake trueth: who so keepeth it, shall not perishe through his lippes, nor be hurt by wicked workers.

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lippes: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

9 Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: for in it there are many falles: neither take vp for comfort the naming of the Holy One: for thou shalt not be vnpunished for such things.

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some skarne, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednesse, and the plague shall neuer goe from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, hee maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine,

Or, inordinance swearing.

commended, and among such as be blessed, she shall be praised, and shall say,

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to rise in the heaven, and covered the earth as a cloud.

7 My dwelling is above in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea and all the earth, and all people, and nation: and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both hie and low.

10 In all these things I fought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the Creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my cholen.

Pro. 8. 23 12 * He created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: * In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I stablished in Sion.

Psa. 132. 8 13 * In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on high like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

Isa. 41. 19 16 I am exalted like a palme tree about the banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire olive tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinnamon, and as a bagge of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onyx, and sweete storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the terebint, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

Job. 31. 19 19 * As the vine haue I brought forth fruite of sweete sauiour: and my flowres are the fruite of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whome God hath commanded.

21 In me is all grace of life and trecth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.

22 Come vnto me all yee that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruites

Psal. 119. 10. 11. 23 * For the remembrance of me is sweeter then heny, and mine inheritance sweeter then the hony combe: the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.

24 They that eat me shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: they that make use to be knownen shall haue eueralsting life.

Psa. 119. 10. 11. 26 All these things are the booke of life, and the covenant of the most high God, and the knowledge of the truth, * and the Law that Moyse in the precept of righteousnesse commanded for an heritage dem. 4. 1. vnto the house of Iacob, and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.

27 Be not weary to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that he may also confirme you: cleane vnto him: for the Lord Almighty is but one God, and besides him there is none other Sauour.

28 Out of Dauid his seruant he ordained to raise vp a most mightie king, that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.

29 Hee filleth all things with his wisdom, as * Phylon, & as Tygris in the time of the new fruits. Gall. 3. 26

30 Hee maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as * Iorden in the time of the harvest.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not known her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdom haue cast out floods: I am as an arme of the riuier: I runne into paradise as a water conduit.

35 I said I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 I will pierce thorow all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophetic, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 Behold that I haue not laboured for my selfe (he. 11. 16) onely but for all them that seeke wisdom.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which hee hateth. 7 Of four things that bee not so be fauour. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

Three things reioice me, and by them am I benedicted before God and men: * the vnyty of bre. Gen. 14. 16 thren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.

2 Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I utterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a lyar, and an olde adulterer that dotheth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 Oh how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh how comely a thing is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 There be nine things which I haue indged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

9 Well is him that findeth prudence, and bee that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 Oh how great is he that findeth wisdom: yet is there none about him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 Blessed is the man, vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God. Vnto whom shall he bee likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to bee ioyned vnto him.

14 ¶ The greatest heauineſſe is the heauineſſe of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.

15 Giue me any plague, saue only the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemies.

17 There is not a more wicked head, then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath about the wrath of an enemy.

18 ¶ I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednes of a woman chaungeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as y<sup>e</sup> sacke.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbors, because of her hee lighteth sore or he beware, 21 All wickednes is but little to the wickednes of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a fardie way is to the feet of the aged, so is a wise full of words to a quiet man.

23 ¶ Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, shee is angry, and impudent, and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a fory heart, an heauy countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands, and feeble knees, and cannot comfort her husband in heauineſſe.

26 Of the woman came the beginning of sinne: and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, nor not a little, neither ther giue a wicked woman libertie to goe out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, she shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies. Cut her off then from thy flesh: ¶ Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praye of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things and of the fourth. 6 Of the italous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth to ash.

Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shall be double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall be giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, hee hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There are three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a citie, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heavier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorrow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is iealous ouer another: and thee that commureth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that drawe diuers wayes: he that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredom of a woman may be knowne in the pride of her eyes, and eye lids.

10 ¶ If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, lest shee abase her selfe through ouer much libertie.

11 Take heed of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way and is thirstie, so shall hee open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall shee sit downe, and open her quier against euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart, is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent mind.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlestick, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feet with a constant mind.

19 Perpetuall are the foundations that bee layd vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandements of God in the heart of a holy woman.

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fields, sow it with thine owne seed, trusting in thy nobility.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobility.

23 An harlot is compared to a sow: but the wife that is married, is counted as a tower against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dog: but the that is shamefast reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wife of all: but shee that despiseth him, shall be blazed for her pride.

28 A lowd crying woman and a babler, let her be sought out to drie away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh mee angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousness vnto sinne: the Lord appoynteth such to the sword.

30 There be two things which me thinke to bee hard and perilous: a merchant cannot lightly keep him from wrong, & a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The inconsistency of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be uttered. 26 The wicked imagination euill which turneth vpon himselfe.

Because of pouertie haue many sinned: and he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

2 As a nayle in the wall flicketh fast betwene the ioynes of the floues, so doth sin flicke betwene the selling and the buying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone be ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sitteth, the filthines remaineth in the fence, so y<sup>e</sup> filth of man remaineth in his thought.

Pro. 29. 5 The fornice proueth the potters vessell: so doth temptation trie mens thoughts.

Math. 7. 6 * The fruit declareth if the tree hath bene trimmed: so the word declareth what man hath in his heart.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousness, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, and shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for ever: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde steadfastnesse.

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doth the truth turne vnto them that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscreet, obserue the time, but haunt not the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of foolles is grievous, and their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

Ecc. 33. 14 * The talking of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and to strue with such, stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proud is blood shedding, and their scoldings are grievous to heare.

Ecc. 19. 16 * Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will.

20. and 22. 22. 17 Lone thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird go out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too farre off: hee is a Roe escaped out of the snare: for his soule is wounded.

21 As for wounds they may be bound vp againe, and an euil word may bee reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

Pro. 10. 22 * He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he will speake sweetly, and praise thy words: but at the last he will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on high, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

Psal. 7. 15 26 Who so diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, and he that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon, and he that layeth a snare for another, shall be taken in it himselfe.

27. eccles. 30. 8. 27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euil, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproch follow the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lion.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall be taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despise and anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offence. 12 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the danger thereof.

2 That seeketh vengeance shall find vengeance. The Lord, and he will surely keepe his finnes.

3 Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done to thee, so shall thy finnes be forgiven thee also when thou prayest.

4 Should a man beare hatred against man, and desire forgiveness of the Lord?

5 He will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiveness of his owne finnes?

6 If he that is but flesh nourish hatred, & aske pardon of God, who will intreat for his finnes?

7 Remember the end, & let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but persevere in the Commandements.

8 Remember the Commandements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbour, consider diligently the Covenent of the most High, and forgive his ignorance.

9 Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy finnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife.

10 The sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

11 As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, & the more vehement the anger is, the more is he inflamed.

12 An halfe brawling kindleth a fire, and an halfe fighting sheddeth blood: a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.

13 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

14 * Abhorre the slanderer, & double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

15 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bin the decay of mighty nations.

16 The double tongue hath cast out many virtuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

17 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

18 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of y<sup>e</sup> tongue breaketh the bone.

19 There bee many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

20 Wel is him that is kept from an euil tongue, and cometh not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawn in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

21 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brasse.

22 The death thereof is an euil death: hell were better then such one.

23 It shall not haue rule ouer them y<sup>e</sup> feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

24 Such as forsake the Lord shall fall therein, and it shall burne them, and no man shall bee able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lion, and deuoure them as a leopard.

25 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doors doones and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy filer and golde, and weigh thy words in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, and a sure bridle for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in wait, and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Doe lend money, and do almes. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

HE that will shew mercy, lendeth to his neighbour: and he that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the Commandemens.

2 *Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keep thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway find the thing that is necessarie for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieved them that had helped them.

5 Till they receive, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a carelesse answer, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth hee scarce the halfe againe, and reckoneth the other as a thing found: els he deceiveth him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without a cause: he payeth him with cursing and rebuke, & giueth him euill words for his good deed.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to be defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and deferre not mercy from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the Commandemens sake, and turne him not away, because of his pouertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 *Bestow the treasure after the Commandement of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12 Lay vp thine *almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mighty.

15 An honest man is surety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath laid his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deed of his surety.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and he that is of an vnthankfull mind, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 Some man promiseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, he will forsake him.

20 Suretieship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remoued them as the waves of the sea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lord, shall fall into suretieship: and he that medleth much with other mens businesse, is intangled in controuersies.

22 *Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 *The chiefe thing of life is water, & bread, Chap. 34.

and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame. 24.

24 | The poore mans life in his owne lodge is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it litle or much, hold thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house for where thou art a stranger, thou darst not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feede vnthankful men, and after shalt haue bitter words for the same, say- ing,

28 Come, thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast ready:

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother cometh to be lodged, & I haue need of mine house.

30 These things are heauy to a man that hath vnderstanding: the vpbraiding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commodities of death. 17 Death is better then a forsworn full life. 23 Of the ioy and sorrow of the beare.

HE that loneth his sonne, *causeth him oft to seele the rodde, that he may haue ioy of him in the end. Prov. 13. 24. and 23. 13.

2 He that chastiseth his son, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 He that *teacheth his sonne, grieveth the enemy, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him. Deut. 32. 7.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behinde him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not sorry in his death, neither was he ashamed before his enemies.

6 He left behinde him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shewe fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieved at euery cry.

8 An vntrained horse will be Rabbotne, and a wanton child will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, he shall make thee afraid: and if thou play with him, hee shall bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him, lest thou bee sorry with him: and lest thou gnash thy teeth in the end.

11 *Giue him no libertie in his youth, & winke not at his folly. Chap. 23.

12 Bow downe his necke while he is young, and beate him on the sides while he is a childe, lest he waxe stubborne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorow vnto thine heart.

13 Chastiseth thy childe, and be diligent therein, lest his shame grieue thee.

14 *Better is the poore, being whole & strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body. 1 The praise of health.

15 Health and strength is about all gold, and a whole body about infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches about a sound body, and no ioy about the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, and long rest, then continuall sicknesse.

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as messes of meat set vpon a graue.

19 What good doth the offering vnto an idole? for for he can neither eat nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lord, and beareth the reward of iniquitie.
